Fitch Ratings Inc.'s ("Fitch") previously separate Code of Conduct and Code of Ethics were combined into one document. The Firewall Policy was updated and separated into two policies. The new Firewall Policy continues to describe Fitch's policy regarding rating entities owned by or affiliated with the Fitch Group or its officers, directors or shareholders. The newly created Fitch Group Bulletin 8 outlines information firewalls between Fitch and its non-credit rating affiliates. The Rating Solicitation and Participation Disclosure Policy was updated: solicitation status was amended based on ESMA's guidance on the definition of "solicited" and "unsolicited" ratings. The policy outlining Restrictions on Providing Advice was updated to clarify the examples of prohibited and permissible communications; to enhance the requirements related to assessing, remediating, and disclosing potential policy violations; and to establish the Compliance Department as the point of contact for policy-related questions. The Global Confidentiality Policy was updated to enhance the guidance as to the steps employees are expected to take to protect confidential information. It also created several distinct tiers of confidential information (Material Nonpublic Information, Confidential Analytical Information, and Confidential Information), with the obligations of confidentiality different for each tier. It further addressed the different requirements in the EU with respect to sharing of Confidential Analytical Information. The Look Back Procedure Reviewing Analytical Work of Leavers was revised to comply with statutory requirements after extensive discussions beginning in July 2016 with the SEC.
