Ventura Partners was formed in Santa Cruz, California in 1994 and I opened the San Francisco office in 2003. In addition to owning and redeveloping its own small commercial projects, the firm works with others to manage the development of gallery and performing arts spaces, nonprofit office incubators, and retail and restaurant space (including incubators). Providing services for the full life-cycle of projects, Ventura Partners brings its expertise in acquisition, financing, commercial leasing, and property management to serve its partners and clients.

Every project includes work with partner organizations and a focus on supporting th ...see mor

Santa Cruz, California

This small Santa Cruz affordable housing developer cut its teeth on building limited equity cooperatives, founded on the ideal that home ownership should be available for even the lowest income residents. I joined their organizational management team as well as acted as project manager for multiple mixed use residential/commercial projects from 1990 - ...see mor
