2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of presentation

The accompanying financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP").

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP, requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Revenue recognition

In accordance with ASU No. 2014-09, "Revenue from Contracts with Customers" ("ASC Topic 606") revenues from contracts with customers is recognized when, or as, the Company satisfies its performance obligations by transferring the promised services to the customers. A service is transferred to a customer when, or as, the customer obtains control of that service. A performance obligation may be satisfied at a point in time or over time. Revenue from a performance obligation satisfied at a point in time is recognized at the point in time that the Company determines the customer obtains control over the promised service. Revenue from a performance obligation satisfied over time is recognized by measuring the Company's progress in satisfying the performance obligation in a manner that depicts the transfer of the services to the customer.

The amount of revenue recognized reflects the consideration the Company expects to receive in exchange for those promised services (i.e., the “transaction price”). In determining the transaction price, the Company considers multiple factors, including the effects of variable consideration, if any.

The Company provides advisory services on mergers and acquisitions (M&A). Revenue for advisory arrangements is generally recognized at the point in time that performance under the arrangement is completed (the closing date of the transaction) or the contract is cancelled. However, for certain contracts, revenue is recognized over time for advisory arrangements in which the performance obligations are simultaneously provided by the Company and consumed by the customer. In some circumstances, significant judgment is needed to determine the timing and measure of progress appropriate for revenue recognition under a specific contract. Retainers and other fees received from customers prior to recognizing revenue are reflected as contract liabilities.

As part of their corporate advisory work the Company will earn a success fee to assist clients with capital raising which includes introducing potential investors and or assisting in the sale of the company or the private placement of securities in furtherance of a capital raise. Management believes that the performance obligation is satisfied on the closing date of the transaction, which is when the pricing is agreed upon. Retainers received may be deducted when determining the success fee. Retainers and other fees received from clients before recognizing revenue are reflected as deferred revenues. Advisory fees and success fees were earned over time and at a point in time, respectively for the year ended December 31, 2020.

The following table provides information about receivables and contract liabilities from contracts with customers:

	December 31
	2019	2020
Accounts receivable	$ 387,052	$ 20,323

Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable are reported net of an allowance for doubtful accounts. The allowance is based on management’s estimate of the amount of receivables that will actually be collected. Management determined that at December 31, 2020, an allowance for doubtful accounts was not necessary,

Valuation of Investments at Fair Value

The Company applies the provisions of ASC 820, Fair Value Measurements, which, among other matters, requires disclosures about investments that are measured and reported at fair value. ASC 820 establishes a hierarchical disclosure framework which prioritizes and ranks the level of market price observability used in measuring investments at fair value. Market price observability is affected by a number of factors, including the type of investment and the characteristics specific to the investment. Investments with readily available active quoted prices or for which fair value can be measured from actively quoted prices generally will have a higher degree of market price observability and a lesser degree of judgment used in measuring fair value. Management reviews on a periodic basis financial information to determine the fairness of the valuation inputs obtained for any level 3 investment. Investments measured and reported at fair value are classified and disclosed in one of the following categories:

Level 1 – Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has the ability to access.

Level 2 – Observable inputs other than the quoted prices in level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability either directly or indirectly. These inputs may include quoted prices for the prices for similar assets and liabilities and other observable information that can be corroborated by market data.

Level 3 – Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability to the extent that relevant observable inputs are not available, representing the management's own assumptions about the assumptions that a market participant would use in valuing the asset or liability, and that would be based on the best information available.

The Company did not have any investments at December 31, 2020.

Uncertain tax positions

The Company applies the provisions of ASC 740 "Income Taxes" as they relate to uncertain tax positions. The Company was not required to recognize any amounts from uncertain tax positions as of December 31, 2020.

The Company's conclusions regarding uncertain tax positions may be subject to review and adjustment at a later date based upon ongoing analyses of tax laws, regulations and interpretations thereof as well as other factors. In the event that tax authorities assess interest and penalties on unrecognized tax benefits, the Company will reflect such amounts in tax expense and income taxes payable

Leases

In accordance with ASU No. 2016.02, Leases (Topic 842) ("ASC Topic 842"), the Company accounts for its existing operating lease as an operating lease using the practical expedients permitted under ASC Topic 842. The Company defines a short-term lease as a lease that, at the commencement date, has a lease term of 12 months or less and does not contain an option to purchase the underlying asset that the lease is reasonably certain to exercise. The Company elected to recognize short-term lease payments as an expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term. Related variable lease payments are recognized in the period in which the obligation is incurred. The Company's lease obligations are deemed to be short term. As such, there was no impact on the financial statements upon adoption.

Credit Losses

Effective January 1, 2020, the Company adopted ASC Topic 326, Financial Instruments – Credit Losses ("ASC 326"). ASC 326 impacts the impairment model for certain financial assets by requiring a current expected credit loss ("CECL") methodology to estimate expected credit losses over the entire life of the financial asset. Under the accounting update, the Company has the ability to determine that there are no expected credit losses in certain circumstances (e.g., based on the credit quality of the customer).

The Company identified fees and other receivables as impacted by the new guidance. ASC 326 specifies that the Company adopt the new guidance prospectively by means of a cumulative-effect adjustment to the opening member's equity as of January 1, 2020. Accordingly, the Company recognized no adjustment upon adoption.

3. CONCENTRATION OF CREDIT RISK

The Company's cash deposits are held by one financial institution and therefore, are subject to credit risk to the extent those balances exceeded the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") insurance limit of $250,000. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and does not believe it is exposed to any significant credit risk on cash.

In addition, the Member received a distribution of securities from the Company in the amount $20,000 which did not result in any gain or loss to the Company for the year ended December 31, 2020. It is the intention of the member to continue to support and operate the Company for the twelve-month period from the date that these financial statements are issued and contribute the necessary capital to maintain the operations, fund its ongoing expenses and meet the net capital requirements of the SEC's Uniform Net Capital Rule.

6. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Management of the Company has evaluated events and transactions that have occurred through February 28, 2021, the date these financial statements were available to be issued and determined that there are no material events that would require disclosures in the Company's financial statements.
