SUMMARY

The following summary is qualified in its entirety by more detailed information that may appear elsewhere in the Form C-AR and the Exhibits hereto. This summary may not contain all of the information that may be important to you. You should read the entire Form C-AR carefully, including this Exhibit A and Exhibit B therein.

The Business

Follow-Mee, Inc. d/b/a Blue is a Delaware corporation, incorporated on March 22, 2016.

The Company is located at 3499 Tenth Street, Riverside CA 92501.

The Company's website is www.blue.social.

RISK FACTORS

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") requires the Company to identify risks that are specific to its business and financial condition. The Company is still subject to all the same risks that all companies in its business, and all companies in the economy, are exposed to. These include risks relating to economic downturns, political and economic events and technological developments (such as hacking and the ability to prevent hacking). Additionally, early-stage companies are inherently riskier than more developed companies. You should consider general risks as well as specific risks when deciding whether to invest.

Risks Related to the Company's Business and Industry

The novel coronavirus (and its variants) has had, and we expect it to continue to have, a material adverse impact on our business, results of operations, financial condition or product offerings.

Government efforts to contain the spread of the novel coronavirus (which causes the disease now known as COVID-19) through city lockdowns, restrictions on travel and quarantines, among others, as well as the efforts of businesses and individuals to reduce their exposure through the cancellation of conferences, meetings and networking and other events, among others, have caused significant disruptions to the global economy and normal business operations across all industries. As expected mass participation events such as conferences and networking events were cancelled or postponed, which continued from spring 2019 through mid-year 2021, and in some countries, states or cities, may continue for an undetermined period of time. The foregoing adversely affected, and may continue to adversely affect, business and consumer confidence, which further reduced, and may continue to reduce, economic growth and lead to a global recession.

Even with vaccinations developed and lower infection rates, we currently are unable to predict the duration, re-infection rates and severity of the spread of the coronavirus, and the responses of the government, businesses and consumers to the outbreak. The Company was adversely affected as a result of the coronavirus, with adverse effects on revenues, cashflow and profitability. While economic activity has begun to return towards pre-pandemic levels, city lockdowns, restrictions on travel and quarantines, among others, as well as the efforts of businesses and individuals to reduce their exposure through the cancellation of conferences, meetings and networking and other events, among others, may delay a return to normal for some time. This may continue to cause significant disruptions to the global economy and normal business operations across all industries, and the relapse and or extended non-elimination of the coronavirus, would likely adversely affect the Company, our business, results of operations, financial condition and/or product offerings.

Our patents and other intellectual property could be unenforceable or ineffective.

In addition, intellectual property is a complex field of law in which few things are certain. It is possible that competitors will be able to design around our intellectual property, find prior art to invalidate it, or render the patents unenforceable through some other mechanism. If competitors are able to bypass our patent protection without obtaining a sublicense, it is likely that the Company's value will be materially and adversely impacted. This could also impair the Company's ability to compete in the marketplace. Moreover, if these patents are deemed unenforceable, the Company will almost certainly lose any revenue it receives from sublicensees and be unable to enter into additional sublicenses. This would cut off a significant potential revenue stream for the Company. If we are issued the patent, patents are limited in their impact to the country of issue. Moreover, even though these patents have been issued, they can be challenged in a variety of ways such that it is possible that the Company will be competing without enforceable intellectual property protection in one or more of these markets.

There could be other patents or intellectual property in existence that we could be infringing on or that will prevent us from sublicensing our intellectual property.

It is possible that the holders of patents for other devices that are similar to our product will sue for infringement even if our products do not infringe. It is also possible that we are mistaken in our belief of non-infringement. Because of the inherent uncertainties in patent law and the associated costs of litigation, we may choose to settle these lawsuits instead of litigating them, or we may choose to litigate them. A settlement will likely have a negative impact on the value of the Company as will a defeat in litigation. Regardless of the outcome, the time we spend addressing patent issues will take away from the time we can spend executing our business strategy. As a result, even if we win an infringement challenge, the Company and your investment may be significantly and adversely affected by the process. If we lose an infringement action, we may be forced to shut down our operating subsidiary, pay past damages and future royalties on our products, and/or reduce the royalty rates for any sublicenses we grant to our intellectual property. Any of these contingencies could significantly and adversely affect the value of your investment in the Company.

This is a new and unproven industry.

The Company operates in a relatively new, and it is an unproven industry. Regardless of any current perceptions of the market, it is entirely possible that our product will not gain significant acceptance with any group of customers. In addition, it is possible that no company will be able to create a similar product or app that generates significant sales, rendering our intellectual property worthless.

There are several potential competitors who are better positioned than we are to take the majority of the market.

Facebook, LinkedIn, Google and certain location-based social search mobile apps and Web applications most often used as dating services, with much greater financial and marketing resources, are potential competitors that could choose to enter Blue's ambient social networking market space and take the majority of the market.

We may not have enough capital as needed and may be required to raise more capital, and capital constraints may affect ongoing operations.

We anticipate needing access to credit in order to support our working capital requirements as we grow. Although interest rates are low, it is still a difficult environment for obtaining credit on favorable terms. If we cannot obtain credit when we need it, we could be forced to raise additional equity capital, modify our growth plans, or take some other action. Issuing more equity may require bringing on additional investors. Securing these additional investors could require pricing our equity below its current price. If so, your investment could lose value as a result of this additional dilution. In addition, even if the equity is not priced lower, your ownership percentage would be decreased with the addition of more investors. If we are unable to find additional investors willing to provide capital, then it is possible that we will choose to cease our sales activity. In that case, the only asset remaining to generate a return on your investment could be our intellectual property. Even if we are not forced to cease our sales activity, the unavailability of credit could result in the Company performing below expectations, which could adversely impact the value of your investment. It is possible, that due to capital constraints at any time in the future, the Company could be forced to cease all operations and dissolve the corporation.

The loss of one or more of our key personnel, or our failure to attract and retain other highly qualified personnel in the future, could seriously harm our business.

To be successful, the Company requires capable people to run its day-to-day operations. As the Company grows, it will need to attract and hire additional employees in sales, marketing, engineering, operations, finance, legal, human resources and other areas. Depending on the economic environment and the Company's performance, we may not be able to locate or attract qualified individuals for such positions when we need them. We may also make hiring mistakes, which can be costly in terms of resources spent in recruiting, hiring and investing in the incorrect individual and in the time delay in locating the right employee fit. If we are unable to attract, hire and retain the right talent or make too many hiring mistakes, it is likely our business will suffer from not having the right employees in the right positions at the right time. This would likely adversely impact the value of your investment.

We have a short operating history and a new business model, which makes it difficult to evaluate our prospects and future financial results and increases the risk that we will not be successful.

We began commercial operations in 2016 and began monetizing Blue in 2019. We have a short operating history and a new business model, which makes it difficult to effectively assess our future prospects. You should consider our business and prospects in light of the challenges we face, including the ones discussed in this section.

We may face technological challenges.

We may find that our technology may not scale or is adversely impacted by changes in cellular phone operating systems, hardware or short-range wireless communications capabilities. Such technological challenges could prevent Blue from functioning with the necessary features and capabilities to attract users. This would thwart our ability to take Blue global and monetize it worldwide.

Our business could be negatively impacted by cyber security threats, attacks and other disruptions.

Like others in our industry, we continue to face advanced and persistent attacks on our information infrastructure where we manage and store various proprietary information and sensitive/confidential data relating to our operations. These attacks may include sophisticated malware (viruses, worms, and other malicious software programs) and phishing emails that attack our products or otherwise exploit any security vulnerabilities. These intrusions sometimes may be zero-day malware that are difficult to identify because they are not included in the signature set of commercially available antivirus scanning programs. Experienced computer programmers and hackers may be able to penetrate our network security and misappropriate or compromise our confidential information or that of our customers or other third-parties, create system disruptions, or cause shutdowns. Additionally, sophisticated software and applications that we produce or procure from third-parties may contain defects in design or manufacture, including "bugs" and other problems that could unexpectedly interfere with the operation of the information infrastructure. A disruption, infiltration or failure of our information infrastructure systems or any of our data centers as a result of software or hardware malfunctions, computer viruses, cyber-attacks, employee theft or misuse, power disruptions, natural disasters or accidents could cause breaches of data security, loss of critical data and performance delays, which in turn could adversely affect our business.

We rely on third parties to provide services essential to the success of our business.

We rely on third parties to provide a variety of essential business functions for us, including manufacturing, shipping, website design, accounting, legal work, public relations, advertising, retailing, and distribution. It is possible that some of these third parties will fail to perform their services or will perform them in an unacceptable manner. It is possible that we will experience delays, defects, errors, or other problems with their work that will materially impact our operations and we may have little or no recourse to recover damages for these losses. A disruption in one of our partner's operations or at one of our key suppliers could materially and adversely affect our business. As a result, your investment could be adversely impacted by our reliance on third parties and their performance.

The Company's founders and other stockholders have substantial control over all stockholder decisions because they control a substantial majority of our voting stock.

Jose Montero Sr. and Jose Montero II, the Company's founders, collectively control approximately 68% of the Company's outstanding capital stock. In addition, the Company has granted certain special approval and other rights to certain other holders of the Company's Series Seed Preferred Stock. As a result, the founders and such other preferred stockholders of the Company have the ability to control the outcome of all matters submitted to our stockholders for approval, including the election, removal, and replacement of directors and any merger, consolidation, or sale of all or substantially all of our assets. As officers of the Company, the founders have control over our day-to-day management and the implementation of major strategic investments of our company, subject to authorization and oversight by our board of directors. As board members and officers, the founders owe a fiduciary duty to our stockholders and must act in good faith in a manner they reasonably believe to be in the best interests of our stockholders. As stockholders, even controlling stockholders, the founders and such other preferred stockholders are entitled to vote their shares, and shares over which they have voting control, in their own interests, which may not always be in the interests of our stockholders generally.

Our objective is getting sufficient Blue app users to overcome the absence of the network effect. Tens of thousands of consumers and business professionals have purchased the Blue Smart Card — the business card REINVENTED, and downloaded the Blue app. We are also developing a Software as a Service (SaaS) digital business card enterprise management platform for medium to large enterprises to manage organization-assigned smart cards and digital profiles. Competition

Blue competes in the highly competitive app market against social media networks of many large and small companies, including well-known global competitors. All social media apps in a sense compete for screen time and engagement, and of the hundreds of thousands of apps introduced each year, few become ubiquitous. Blue is innovative and a game-changer and we believe has no "direct" substitute as Blue opens new market space uniquely focusing on real-time Bluetooth ambient discovery and making introductions easy. Ambient discovery enables users to see information about people and things around them and Blue's Auto-Networking™ technology works in the background making discovery effortless.

Notwithstanding, dormant and underlying competitors include several apps (Happn, Bumble, Tinder and many less well known) that are positioned as "dating" apps that generally show people miles away and are strictly GPS-based and may tend to drain batteries and require Internet/Cellular access to function. Tinder has tried unsuccessfully to re-position itself for use in general introductions, and Bumble added BFF and Bizz modes to its app with similar general friending intentions. These apps generally are not intended to discover people in the same room (ambient setting).

Facebook added in 2019 its meet-people (dating) feature onto its platform and has had limited success, and in 2018, two years after the iOS introduction of Blue, LinkedIn introduced its Nearby feature that shows names and limited profiles of people nearby that "have the nearby feature/screen on near you" at the exact same moment. This feature is cumbersome, requires Wi-Fi and has experienced limited success and you can't do anything else with your phone while using the feature, completely opposite to Blue's Auto-Networking technology.

We believe the Blue app's ability to see social profiles of other users in real life and it's all-in-one ability to consolidate access to selected social media profiles, websites, emails, phone numbers, payment applications, etc. is innovative and disruptive, and potentially culture and behavior-changing. The Blue app includes a user-defined virtual social networking profile platform, combined with Bluetooth and other short-range wireless technologies that make it fun and easy to share, follow, discover and be discovered by others nearby. Planned features include short-range wireless permission-based: messaging, directional and distance indicators, non-cellular Bluetooth phone calls, key-word search capabilities, and algorithms for recommended introductions. Presently there is no app with the same integrated suite of technologies, features, functions.

Similarly, the markets in which we sell our Smart NFC products are highly competitive. Our NFC products compete against similar products of many large and small companies, including well-known global competitors. In many of the markets and industry segments in which we sell our products, we compete against other branded products. Product quality, performance, value and packaging are also important differentiating factors.
