Item 8 Supplement

In the United States, MIS's practice is to conduct background checks through a third-party vendor in connection with hiring employees. These checks include a limited criminal record search, and may also include verification of prior employment and education. We do not conduct criminal record checks for employees hired outside of the United States in all jurisdictions, in part because in certain jurisdictions, legal constraints prevent us from doing so. Although in rare circumstances, MIS may hire an individual despite the fact that he/she has been convicted of a crime in the past because MIS believes that the offense is not relevant to the individual's employment, it is not of a serious enough nature to preclude his/her employment, and/or the offense occurred far enough in the past, MIS does not currently maintain records reflecting such circumstances. For these reasons, we cannot say with certainty that no person within MIS has been convicted of a crime or committed an offense enumerated in Section 15(b)(4) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 or other offense punishable by imprisonment for one or more years, or of a substantially equivalent crime by a foreign court of competent jurisdiction in the ten years preceding the date of our initial application for NRSRO registration, or at any time thereafter.

Please note, when responding to Item 8 (A)-(C), we have interpreted "any person within the Applicant/NRSRO" to include only persons currently employed by the Applicant.

Moody's Investors Service ("MIS")

Disclosure Reporting Page Appendix

On April 10, 2001, MIS agreed to a settlement with the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice arising from an incident in 1996 involving the destruction of documents. Under the terms of the settlement, MIS pleaded guilty to one count of obstruction of justice in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1505 and agreed to pay a fine of $195,000. The settlement and guilty plea arose out of an isolated incident in March 1996 in which an employee destroyed some copies of documents called for under a Civil Investigative Demand served on MIS by the Antitrust Division in connection with a civil investigation into alleged anticompetitive practices in the credit rating industry. The Antitrust Division ultimately closed the civil investigation in 1999 without taking any action against MIS.
