Experience

Co-Founder, CEO

70MillionJobs

Mar 2016 – Present • 2 yrs 2 mos

New York, NY

One is marketing to this vast, emerging market.

We have built the Internet's first for-profit recruitment platform designed for those with records and the many companies that are eager to hire them.

Ultimately, we aim to disrupt how Americans with records live. In doing so, we're seeking social and financial returns as a for-profit enterprise. Chosen to be part of Y Combinator's Summer 2017 batch.

Co-Founder & Advisor

DoYouRemember.com

Nov 2011 – Present • 6 yrs 6 mos

Miami, FL

Do You Remember is two websites (DoYouRemember.com, for Baby Boomers, and Throwback.co, for GenY 90s kids), and a series of mobile apps, designed to create communities of passionate people who are obsessed with the past. Whether it's vintage clothing, old TV and movies or sports memorabilia, DYR reaches tens of millions of people on all social media platforms.

Our high-quality, original content, is featured on nearly every major media outlet. We recently entered into an arrangement with AOL, whereby we provide AOL.com with front-page content.

DYR allows users to socialize, educate and transact business, while providing the tools to create, enhance, manage and share memories. Kind of like Facebook for our yesterdays. The site combines great content with commerce.

Do You Remember was chosen to be among the first Venture Hive- Miami companies. Additionally, it won first prize at Refresh Miami, South Florida's largest tech event, and was a presenting company at eMerge Americas. It was also named one of Florida's "hottest tech companies." The company recently completed a $1.5 million Seed round of funding.

Do You Remember. Changing the way we remember. Yesterday, back by popular demand.

Director

Defy Ventures

Dec 2014 – Mar 2016 • 1 yr 4 mos

New York, NY

Defy Ventures transforms the lives of people in prison and those with criminal histories through training them on becoming entrepreneurs. We equip ambitious, budding entrepreneurs with the tools and skills to go legit, and empower them to succeed as earners, parents and role models in their communities.

Our program has resulted in a recidivism rate of less than 5% among those participating (compared with nearly 80%, nationwide).

I work with individuals, corporations and foundations interested in disrupting the broken system of rehabilitation, as we scale out the thoughtful--and highly successful--Defy program.

I write a highly personal column from a Baby Boomer's perspective, on the confluence of nostalgia in a very modern world.
