Underlying Security Name: Series Seed - 1 Preferred Stock

Voting Rights:

Non-voting, except as required by law

Other Material Rights:

Powers, Preferences, Special Rights and Restrictions of Preferred Stock. The Preferred Stock authorized by this Certificate of Incorporation (the "Certificate") shall be divided into series as provided herein. 1,000,000 shares of Preferred Stock shall be designated "Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock". The powers, preferences, special rights and restrictions granted to and imposed on the Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock are as set forth below in this Article IV(B).

1. Dividend Provisions. The holders of shares of Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock shall be entitled to receive dividends, on a pari passu basis, out of any assets legally available therefor, payable when, as and if declared by the Board of Directors of the Corporation (the "Board of Directors"). Such dividends shall not be cumulative. Such dividends shall be distributed among the holders of Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock and Common Stock pro rata based on the number of shares of Common Stock then held by each holder (assuming conversion of all such Preferred Stock into Common Stock), calculated on the record date for determination of holders entitled to such dividend.

2. Liquidation.

(a) Preference. In the event of any Liquidation Transaction, the holders of Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock shall be entitled to receive, prior and in preference to any distribution of any of the assets of the Corporation to the holders of Common Stock, by reason of their ownership thereof, an amount per share equal to the original purchase price per share of the initial sale of Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reclassification and the like) (the "Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock Original Price") for each outstanding share of Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock, then held by them, plus any declared but unpaid dividends on such shares. If, upon the occurrence of such event, the assets and funds thus distributed among the holders of Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock shall be insufficient to permit the payment to such holders of the full aforesaid preferential amounts, then the entire assets and funds of the Corporation legally available for distribution shall be distributed ratably among the holders of Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock in proportion to the preferential amount each such holder is otherwise entitled to receive under this Section 2(a).

Remaining Assets. Upon the completion of the distribution required by Article IV(B)2(a) above, the remaining assets of the Corporation available for distribution to stockholders shall be distributed among the holders of the Common Stock pro rata based on the number of shares of Common Stock held by each.

(c) Deemed Conversion. Notwithstanding the above, for purposes of determining the amount each holder of shares of Preferred Stock is entitled to receive with respect to a Liquidation Transaction, as defined below, each such holder of shares of Preferred Stock shall be deemed to have converted (regardless of whether such holder actually converted) such holder's shares of such series into shares of Common Stock immediately prior to the Liquidation Transaction if, as a result of an actual conversion, such holder would receive, in the aggregate, an amount greater than the amount that would be distributed to such holder if such holder did not convert such series of Preferred Stock into shares of Common Stock. If any such holder shall be deemed to have converted shares of Preferred Stock into Common Stock pursuant to this paragraph, then such holder shall not be entitled to receive any distribution that would otherwise be made to holders of Preferred Stock that have not converted (or have not been deemed to have converted) into shares of Common Stock.

(d) Certain Acquisitions.

(i) Deemed Liquidation. For purposes of this Article IV(B)2,

a "Liquidation Transaction" shall be deemed to occur if the Corporation shall (I) sell, convey, exclusively license or otherwise dispose of all or substantially all of its assets, property or business, (II) merge with or into or consolidate with any other corporation, limited liability company or other entity (other than a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Corporation), or

(III) effect a liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the Corporation pursuant to the applicable provisions of Section 275 of the Delaware General Corporation Law; provided, however that none of the following shall be considered a Liquidation Transaction: (A) a merger effected exclusively for the purpose of changing the domicile of the Corporation, (B) a bona fide equity financing in which the Corporation is the surviving corporation or (C) a transaction in which the stockholders of the Corporation immediately prior to the transaction have sufficient rights (by law or contract) to elect or designate 50% or more of the directors of the surviving or acquiring entity following the transaction (as appropriately adjusted for any disparate director voting rights). In the event of a Liquidation Transaction pursuant to the provisions of subsection (II) above, all references in this Article IV(B)2 to "assets of the Corporation" shall be deemed instead to refer to the aggregate consideration to be paid to the holders of the Corporation's capital stock in such merger or consolidation. Nothing in this subsection (i) shall require the distribution to stockholders of anything other than proceeds of such transaction in the event of a merger or consolidation of the Corporation. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the treatment of any transaction as a Liquidation Transaction may be waived by the vote or written consent of the holders of at least a majority of the Corporation's outstanding Preferred Stock, voting together as a single class on an as-converted basis.

(ii) Valuation of Consideration. In the event of a Liquidation Transaction, if the consideration received by the Corporation is other than cash, its value will be deemed its fair market value. Any securities shall be valued as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the methods for valuing non-cash consideration to be distributed in connection with a Liquidation Transaction shall, with the appropriate approval by the stockholders under the Delaware General Corporation Law of the definitive agreements governing such Liquidation Transaction and Article IV(B)6 below, be superseded by the determination of such value set forth in the definitive agreements governing such Liquidation Transaction.

Redemption. The Preferred Stock is not mandatorily redeemable.

Conversion. The holders of shares of Series Seed-I Preferred Stock shall be entitled to conversion rights as follows:

(a) Right to Convert. Subject to Article IV(B)4(c) below, each share of Series Seed-I Preferred Stock shall be convertible, at the option of the holder thereof, at any time after the date of issuance of such share, at the office of the Corporation or any transfer agent for such stock, into such number of fully paid and nonassessable shares of Common Stock as is determined by dividing Series Seed-I Preferred Stock Original Price, in the case of the Series Seed-I Preferred Stock, by the Conversion Price applicable to such shares (such quotient is referred to herein as the "Conversion Rate"), determined as hereafter provided, in effect on (i) the date the certificate is surrendered for conversion or (ii) in the case of uncertificated securities, the date the notice of conversion is received by the Corporation. The initial

"Conversion Price" per share shall be the original Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock

Price in the case of the Series Seed-I Preferred Stock. Such initial Conversion Price shall be subject to adjustment as set forth in Article IV(B)4(d) below.

Automatic Conversion. Each share of Preferred Stock shall automatically be converted into such number of shares of Common Stock equal to the Conversion Rate then in effect for such share immediately upon the earlier of (i) except as provided in Article IV(B)4(c) below, the Corporation's sale of its Common Stock in a firm commitment underwritten public offering pursuant to a registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), the public offering price of which is not less than five (5) times the Series Seed-I Preferred Stock Original Price per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reclassification and the like) and which results in aggregate cash proceeds to the Corporation of not less than $3,000,000, net of underwriting discounts and commissions or (ii) the date, or upon the occurrence of an event, specified by vote or written consent of the holders of a majority of the then outstanding shares of Preferred Stock, voting together as a single class on an as-converted basis.

Mechanics of Conversion. Before any holder of Preferred Stock shall be entitled to convert such Preferred Stock into shares of Common Stock, the holder shall give written notice to the Corporation at its principal corporate office, of the election to convert the same and shall state therein the name or names in which the shares of Common Stock are to be issued and, in the case of Preferred Stock represented by a certificate, the holder shall surrender the certificate or certificates therefor, duly endorsed, at the office of the Corporation or of any transfer agent for such series of Preferred Stock. The Corporation shall, as soon as practicable thereafter, issue and deliver at such office to such holder of Preferred Stock, or to the uncertificated securities, a notice of issuance, for the number of shares of Common Stock to which such holder shall be entitled as aforesaid. Such conversion shall be deemed to have been made immediately prior to the close of business on the date of such surrender of certificates, or in the case of uncertificated securities, on the date such notice of conversion is received by the Corporation, and the person or persons entitled to receive the shares of Common Stock issuable upon such conversion shall be treated for all purposes as the record holder or holders of such shares of Common Stock as of such date. If the conversion is in connection with a firm commitment underwritten public offering of securities, the conversion may, at the option of any holder tendering such Preferred Stock for conversion, be conditioned upon the closing of the sale of securities pursuant to such offering, in which event any persons entitled to receive Common Stock upon conversion of such Preferred Stock shall not be deemed to have converted such Preferred Stock until immediately prior to the closing of such sale of securities.

(d) Conversion Price Adjustments of Preferred Stock for Certain Dilutive Issuances, Splits and Combinations. The Conversion Price of the Preferred Stock shall be subject to adjustment from time to time as follows:

(i) Issuance of Additional Stock Below Purchase Price. If the Corporation should issue, at any time after the date upon which any shares of Series Seed-1

Preferred Stock were first issued (the "Purchase Date"), any Additional Stock (as defined below) without consideration or for a consideration per share less than the Conversion Price for the Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock in effect immediately prior to the issuance of such Additional Stock (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reclassification and the like), the Conversion Price for such series in effect immediately prior to each such issuance shall automatically be adjusted as set forth in this Article IV(B)4(d)(i), unless otherwise provided in this

Automatic Conversion. Each share of Preferred Stock shall automatically be converted into such number of shares of Common Stock equal to the Conversion Rate then in effect for such share immediately upon the earlier of (i) except as provided in Article IV(B)4(c) below, the Corporation's sale of its Common Stock in a firm commitment underwritten public offering pursuant to a registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), the public offering price of which is not less than five (5) times the Series Seed-I Preferred Stock Original Price per share (as

Common Stock that the aggregate consideration received by the Corporation for such issuance would purchase at such Conversion Price; and (y) the denominator of which shall be the number of shares of Outstanding Common plus the number of shares of such Additional Stock. For purposes of the foregoing calculation, the term "Outstanding Common" shall include shares of Common Stock deemed issued pursuant to Article IV(B)4(d)(i)(E) below.

The Company and its Business

Company Overview

Lettuce Networks is an urban farming and food delivery network. We enable food to be grown in urban areas sustainably, to consistently high standards; create easy to prepare products from what's grown - such as meal-kits; and delivery them to customers' doors in zero-waste packaging. We are changing the what, how, where and when of food, a city at a time, starting with Austin, Texas.

Competitors and Industry

On a general level, Lettuce competes with all the other ways people eat - grocery stores, restaurants, food delivery, meal-kit services, farmer's markets and so on. For the growing demographic of people who are keen to eat fresher, more nutritious, locally grown/produced food, we compete with niche grocery stores, farmer's markets and farm to table delivery services - all of which are costly, inconvenient or both.

Current Stage and Roadmap

Lettuce is currently growing and delivering its products to a fast growing group of happy customers in and around Austin, Texas. More specifically, we are adding several new farms to our network every month, delivering over 150,000 meals a year growing at 300% per year, saving thousands of lbs of food scraps and tens of thousands of pieces of packaging waste from going into the landfill. With our current momentum, we aim to triple our revenue in about 6 months within the Austin area. In 2019 we plan to roll out in other cities, the selection of which will be based in part on how many investors participate in this campaign from those cities.

Risk Factors

The SEC requires the company to identify risks that are specific to its business and its financial condition. The company is still subject to all the same risks that all companies in its business, and all companies in the economy, are exposed to. These include risks relating to economic downturns, political and economic events and technological developments (such as hacking and the ability to prevent hacking). Additionally, early-stage companies are inherently more risky than more developed companies. You should consider general risks as well as specific risks when deciding whether to invest.

These are the risks that relate to the Company:

Uncertain Risk

An investment in the Company (also referred to as “we”, “us”, “our”, or “Company”) involves a high degree of risk and should only be considered by those who can afford the loss of their entire investment. Furthermore, the purchase of any of the Convertible Promissory Notes should only be undertaken by persons whose financial resources are sufficient to enable them to indefinitely retain an illiquid investment. Each investor in the Company should consider all of the information provided to such potential investor regarding the Company as well as the following risk factors, in addition to the other information listed in the Company’s Form C. The following risk factors are not intended, and shall not be deemed to be, a complete description of the commercial and other risks inherent in the investment in the Company.

Our business projections are only projections

There can be no assurance that the Company will meet our projections. There can be no assurance that the Company will be able to find sufficient demand for our products/services, that people think it's a better option than a competing product, or that we will be able to provide the service at a level that allows the Company to make a profit and still attract business.

Any valuation at this stage is difficult to assess

The valuation for the offering was established by the Company. Unlike listed companies that are valued publicly through market-driven stock prices, the valuation of private companies, especially startups, is difficult to assess and you may risk overpaying for your investment.

The transferability of the Securities you are buying is limited

Any Convertible Note purchased through this crowdfunding campaign is subject to SEC limitations of transfer. This means that the stock/note that you purchase cannot be resold for a period of one year. The exception to this rule is if you are transferring the stock back to the Company, to an "accredited investor," as part of an offering registered with the Commission, to a member of your family, trust created for the benefit of your family, or in connection with your death or divorce.

Your investment could be illiquid for a long time

You should be prepared to hold this investment for several years or longer. For the 12 months following your investment there will be restrictions on how you can resell the securities you receive. More importantly, there is no established market for these securities and there may never be one. As a result, if you decide to sell these securities in the future, you may not be able to find a buyer. The Company may be acquired by another company. However, that may never happen or it may happen at a price that results in you losing money on this investment.

You are trusting that management will make the best decision for the company

You are trusting in management discretion. You are buying non-voting membership interest as a minority holder, and therefore must trust the management of the Company to make good business decisions that grow your investment.

The Convertible Promissory Notes have no rights to vote until the date of maturity

The Convertible Promissory Notes have no voting rights. This means you are trusting in management discretion. You will also hold these non-voting securities as a minority holder. Therefore, you will have no say in the day-to-day operation of the Company and must trust the management of the Company to make good business decisions that grow your investment. Holders of our outstanding Preferred Stock have liquidation preferences over holders of Common Stock, including the Common Stock being offered in this offering. This liquidation preference is paid if the amount a holder of Preferred Stock would receive under the liquidation preference is greater than the amount such holder would have received if such holder's shares of Preferred Stock had been converted to Common Stock immediately prior to the liquidation event. If a liquidation event, including a sale of our company, were to occur then first all creditors and Preferred Stockholder of the Company will be paid out. If there is any cash remaining, then the Common stockholders will be paid.

Technology risk

Lettuce's business operates on complex technology both built by the company's team, as well as by several hardware and software service providers that we use. Lettuce's business carries risk from a disruption in any of these systems, including bugs, loss of data, attacks and more.

Competitive risk

We may lose critical employees or contractors, or not be able to attract the people we need at the right cost to ensure we deliver products to customers.

Product risk

Our customers may not find our products appealing anymore and may cancel the service.

Workforce risk

We may lose critical employees or contractors, or not be able to attract the people we need at the right cost to ensure we deliver products to customers.

Nature-related risk

As all businesses that involve or rely on farming, Lettuce carries risks related to acts of nature, including floods, long cold spells and so on that could affect crops of our network farmers.

Regulatory risk

There are risks that city, state and federal governments may not allow semi-commercial urban farming in non-commercially zoned land.

Business expansion risk

The company's expansion plan carry the risk of uncertainty in new territories beyond its home base.

Financial risk

Lettuce has ongoing financial risk. It is not yet profitable, and may take an unpredictable time to get there, and may require continued investment and/or debt capital to stay in operation.

This offering involves "rolling closings," which may mean that earlier investors may not have the benefit of information that later investors have.

Once we meet our target amount for this offering, we may request that StartEngine instruct the escrow agent to disburse offering funds to us. At that point, investors whose subscription agreements have been accepted will become our security holders. All early-stage companies are subject to a number of risks and uncertainties, and it is not uncommon for material changes to be made to the offering terms, or to companies' businesses, plans or prospects, sometimes on short notice. When such changes happen during the course of an offering, we must file an amended to our Form C with the SEC, and investors whose subscriptions have not yet been accepted will have the right to withdraw their subscriptions and get their money back. Investors whose subscriptions have already been accepted, however, will already be our security holders and will have no such right.

2. Liquidation.

(a) Preference. In the event of any Liquidation Transaction, the holders of Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock shall be entitled to receive, prior and in preference to any distribution of any of the assets of the Corporation to the holders of Common Stock, by reason of their ownership thereof, an amount per share equal to the original purchase price per share of the initial sale of Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reclassification and the like) (the "Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock Original Price") for each outstanding share of Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock, then held by them, plus any declared but unpaid dividends on such shares. (d) Certain Acquisitions.

(i) Deemed Liquidation. For purposes of this Article IV(B)2,

a "Liquidation Transaction" shall be deemed to occur if the Corporation shall (I) sell, convey, exclusively license or otherwise dispose of all or substantially all of its assets, property or business, (II) merge with or into or consolidate with any other corporation, limited liability company or other entity (other than a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Corporation), or

The initial

"Conversion Price" per share shall be the original Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock Price in the case of the Series Seed-I Preferred Stock. Such initial Conversion Price shall be subject to adjustment as set forth in Article IV(B)4(d) below.

Automatic Conversion. Each share of Preferred Stock shall automatically be converted into such number of shares of Common Stock equal to the Conversion Rate then in effect for such share immediately upon the earlier of (i) except as provided in Article IV(B)4(c) below, the Corporation's sale of its Common Stock in a firm commitment underwritten public offering pursuant to a registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), the public offering price of which is not less than five (5) times the Series Seed-I Preferred Stock Original Price per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reclassification and the like) and which results in aggregate cash proceeds to the Corporation of not less than $3,000,000, net of underwriting discounts and commissions or (ii) the date, or upon the occurrence of an event, specified by vote or written consent of the holders of a majority of the then outstanding shares of Preferred Stock, voting together as a single class on an as-converted basis.

Mechanics of Conversion. Before any holder of Preferred Stock shall be entitled to convert such Preferred Stock into shares of Common Stock, the holder shall give written notice to the Corporation at its principal corporate office, of the election to convert the same and shall state therein the name or names in which the shares of Common Stock are to be issued and, in the case of Preferred Stock represented by a certificate, the holder shall surrender the certificate or certificates therefor, duly endorsed, at the office of the Corporation or of any transfer agent for such series of Preferred Stock. The Corporation shall, as soon as practicable thereafter, issue and deliver at such office to such holder of Preferred Stock, or to the uncertificated securities, a notice of issuance, for the number of shares of Common Stock to which such holder shall be entitled as aforesaid. Such conversion shall be deemed to have been made immediately prior to the close of business on the date of such surrender of certificates, or in the case of uncertificated securities, on the date such notice of conversion is received by the Corporation, and the person or persons entitled to receive the shares of Common Stock issuable upon such conversion shall be treated for all purposes as the record holder or holders of such shares of Common Stock as of such date. If the conversion is in connection with a firm commitment underwritten public offering of securities, the conversion may, at the option of any holder tendering such Preferred Stock for conversion, be conditioned upon the closing of the sale of securities pursuant to such offering, in which event any persons entitled to receive Common Stock upon conversion of such Preferred Stock shall not be deemed to have converted such Preferred Stock until immediately prior to the closing of such sale of securities.

(d) Conversion Price Adjustments of Preferred Stock for Certain Dilutive Issuances, Splits and Combinations. The Conversion Price of the Preferred Stock shall be subject to adjustment from time to time as follows:

(i) Issuance of Additional Stock Below Purchase Price. If the Corporation should issue, at any time after the date upon which any shares of Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock were first issued (the "Purchase Date"), any Additional Stock (as defined below) without consideration or for a consideration per share less than the Conversion Price for the Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock in effect immediately prior to the issuance of such Additional Stock (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reclassification and the like), the Conversion Price for such series in effect immediately prior to each such issuance shall automatically be adjusted as set forth in this Article IV(B)(4)(d)(i), unless otherwise provided in this

Automatic Conversion. Each share of Preferred Stock shall automatically be converted into such number of shares of Common Stock equal to the Conversion Rate then in effect for such share immediately upon the earlier of (i) except as provided in Article IV(B)(4)(c) below, the Corporation's sale of its Common Stock in a firm commitment underwritten public offering pursuant to a registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), the public offering price of which is not less than five (5) times the Series Seed-I Preferred Stock Original Price per share (as

Common Stock that the aggregate consideration received by the Corporation for such issuance would purchase at such Conversion Price; and (y) the denominator of which shall be the number of shares of Outstanding Common plus the number of shares of such Additional Stock. For purposes of the foregoing calculation, the term "Outstanding Common" shall include shares of Common Stock deemed issued pursuant to Article IV(B)4(d)(i)(E) below.

What it means to be a minority holder

As a holder of Convertible Promissory Notes, you will not be entitled to voting rights. Even upon conversion, you will be a minority holder. As a minority holder of Series Seed-1 Preferred Stock of the company, you will have limited rights in regards to the corporate actions of the company, including additional issuances of securities, company repurchases of securities, a sale of the company or its significant assets, or company transactions with related parties. Further, investors in this offering may have rights less than those of other investors, and will have limited influence on the corporate actions of the company.

Dilution

Investors should understand the potential for dilution. The investor's stake in a company could be diluted due to the company issuing additional shares. In other words, when the company issues more shares, the percentage of the company that you own will go down, even though the value of the company may go up. You will own a smaller piece of a larger company. This increase in number of shares outstanding could result from a stock offering (such as an initial public offering, another crowdfunding round, a venture capital round, angel investment), employees exercising stock options, or by conversion of certain instruments (e.g. convertible bonds, preferred shares or warrants) into stock. If the company decides to issue more shares, an investor could experience value dilution, with each share being worth less than before, and control dilution, with the total percentage an investor owns being less than before. There may also be earnings dilution, with a reduction in the amount earned per share (though this typically occurs only if the company offers dividends, and most early stage companies are unlikely to offer dividends, preferring to invest any earnings into the company).

Transferability of securities

For a year, the securities can only be resold:

- In an IPO;
- To the company;
- To an accredited investor; and
- To a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the purchaser or other similar circumstance.

Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Financial Condition

You should read the following discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of our operations together with our financial statements and related notes appearing at the end of this Offering Memorandum. This discussion contains forward-looking statements reflecting our current expectations that involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results and the timing of events may differ materially from those contained in these forward-looking statements due to a number of factors, including those discussed in the section entitled "Risk Factors" and elsewhere in this Offering Memorandum.

Results of Operations

Circumstances which led to the performance of financial statements:

2016: Result of operations: We got started in the Spring of 2016, selling food garden setup in Austin for a fee. By summer, we had several gardens established and we began to understand the logistics of maintaining and harvesting a network of farms. By fall, we had taken on larger growing areas - including churches and other available public spaces, understanding the impact of adding scale to the Lettuce urban farming network. On the technology side, we built software that tracked what was growing where and dynamically generated routes for urban farmers, created databases of ingredients and their properties, and enabled delightful front-end experiences for members to sign up and interact digitally with what was growing in the physical world. Towards the end of 2016, we had enough produce growing that we were ready to package and sell it. After careful consideration, we chose meal kits as our initial product form factor, for their convenience - while fixing their flaws by using local ingredients, zero-waste packaging and lower pricing. We made a few pilot deliveries in December. Our income for the year was $9,925 - comprised mostly of garden installation and maintenance fees. Our net income was $-52,293, due primarily to product and technology development costs.

2017: Result of operations: In 2017, we experienced steadily growing revenue from meal kit deliveries, as well as garden installations. On the meal kit deliveries side of the business, we solidified the product, packaging, market positioning, team, sourcing of ingredients, logistics, infrastructure, and more. Our gross margins improved over the year - as economies of scale and buying power started to kick in, while we maintained affordable pricing to establish a mainstream position in the market. Our revenue from meal kits for the year grew to $141,858, mostly on word of mouth - with little marketing spend. On the urban farming side of the business, we grew the total growing area to over 75,000 sq ft, and experimented with various sizes of farms. We experimented with partnerships with schools and housing developments - using growing areas on those properties as well as turning members of those communities into customers. Revenue from urban farm installations grew to $106,529, and maintenance to $15,906. On the technology side, we built software for the front end and the backend of our unique type of e-commerce - hyper-local, community-based and sustainable - with delivery and pickup (of reusable materials and compostables) - and tracking for all of it.

2018: Result of operations: In 2018 we expect our revenue from deliveries to be around $485,000 (based on actual revenue between January and October) - an over 3x increase over 2017. This growth was almost entirely word of mouth, with only about $15,000 in advertising media spent on an experimental basis to gauge interest points. Gross margins improved from about 5% at the beginning of the year to about 17.5% in October as greater operational and technological efficiencies kicked in. We are ending the year of 2018 with beta testing of the Lettuce Create marketplace. On the urban farming side, we changed our approach from predominantly farming ourselves, to focusing on bringing on, educating and supporting Urban Homesteaders - customer-growers with land, time and interest to grow food for supplemental income and a satisfying 'side gig'. Due to this shift, and the reconstitution and retooling of the urban farming team, our urban farming services revenue fell to about $55,000. On the technology side, we released a major new version of LocOS in July that brought together lots of previously disparate parts together into 1 cohesive platform. We are ending the year with beta tests underway for Lettuce Create and a suite of social networking features.

Historical results and cash flows:

2019: Projected result of operations: With the full rollout of the social, hyper-local Lettuce Create marketplace early in the year, we expect to accelerate our growth and improve our profitability metrics across all dimensions. In 2019 we aim to 5x our total revenue, increase our gross margin to 25-30%, and revenue per customer by 1.5x, resulting in the company becoming cash flow positive. The underlying strategy behind Lettuce Create is to generate network effects, with every new participant in the community - consumers, creators, and growers - adding value to the existing participants. We believe this will be a powerful, more sustainable way for us to increase market presence. We intend to use a portion of the money we raise to make investments into building communities - both online and in the physical world - that will increase customer loyalty and build awareness.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

What capital resources are currently available to the Company? (Cash on hand, existing lines of credit, shareholder loans, etc...)

Current cash on hand: $106,000 - as of 11/30/2018

How do the funds of this campaign factor into your financial resources? (Are these funds critical to your company operations? Or do you have other funds or capital resources available?)

The funds we are expecting to raise through this campaign are going to be a part of an ongoing fundraising cycle we are on to fuel the company's growth, which includes our current investors and board members. The goals of this campaign are to bring awareness to the mission we are on; give an opportunity to our customers, vendors, partners, friends to easily participate in this mission through an investment; while raising money that will be used for fueling our growth.

Are the funds from this campaign necessary to the viability of the company? (Of the total funds that your company has, how much of that will be made up of funds raised from the crowdfunding campaign?)

If we raise/exceed our target amount of funding through this campaign, we will circumvent the need to raise capital from other sources. Lettuce is powerful business model wrapped in a mission to make our communities healthier and more sustainable. We want people to be able to meaningfully, yet conveniently participate in this enterprise - which is the main reason we are doing this campaign. Any funds we raise through this campaign will go into our overall resource pool to move the ball forward.

How long will you be able to operate the company if you raise your minimum? What expenses is this estimate based on?

As described above, this campaign is only one part of how we expect to fund this company into the future. So, we are in a good position to cover our expenses through fund from this campaign, augmented by funds from other sources, and in a few quarters, profits.

How long will you be able to operate the company if you raise your maximum funding goal?

We started Lettuce with a long-term perspective. We knew then and we know now that it will take perseverance and capital to power forward towards our mission. We have a multi-pronged approach to capital availability, to cover our expenses as we grow the business and its mission.

Are there any additional future sources of capital available to your company?
(Required capital contributions, lines of credit, contemplated future capital raises, etc...)

We have a multi-pronged approach to capital availability, to cover our expenses as we grow the business and its mission.

NOTE 1 – NATURE OF OPERATIONS

Lettuce Networks, Inc. was formed on April 14, 2016 ("Inception") as Lettuce Networks, LLC (which may be referred to as the "LLC"). On September 15, 2017, the Company converted to a Delaware Corporation. The financial statements of Lettuce Networks, Inc (which may be referred to as the "Company", "we," "us," or "our") are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP"). The Company's headquarters are located in Austin, Texas.

Lettuce is creating sustainable, hyper-local, technology-enabled food ecosystems in urban areas that turn unused urban land and resources into productive farms, package the output into healthy, delicious and convenient products, and deliver them to homes in zero-waste containers, all while increasing awareness and engagement around nutritious, local food. Our evolving social, local, commerce technology platform is connecting and empowering local food participants including growers, artisans, and consumers to do what they do well, with online tools, support, delivery, logistics, content, marketing and community engagement.

Going Concern and Management's Plans

The Company lacks significant working capital. We will incur significant additional costs before profitability is achieved. These matters raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. During the next 12 months, the Company intends to fund its operations with funding from our proposed Regulation Crowdfunding campaign, and additional debt and/or equity financing as determined to be necessary. There are no assurances that management will be able to raise capital on terms acceptable to the Company. If we are unable to obtain sufficient amounts of additional capital, we may be required to reduce the scope of our planned development, which could harm our business, financial condition and operating results. The balance sheet and related financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from these uncertainties.

NOTE 2 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The accounting and reporting policies of the Company conform to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("US GAAP").

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make certain estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and the reported amount of expenses during the reporting periods. Actual results could materially differ from these estimates. It is reasonably possible that changes in estimates will occur in the near term.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Fair value is defined as the exchange price that would be received for an asset or paid to transfer a liability (an exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market for the asset or liability in an orderly transaction between market participants as of the measurement date. Applicable accounting guidance provides an established hierarchy for inputs used in measuring fair value that maximizes the use of observable inputs and minimizes the use of unobservable inputs by requiring that the most observable inputs be used when available. Observable inputs are inputs that market participants would use in valuing the asset or liability and are developed based on market data obtained from sources independent of the Company. Unobservable inputs are inputs that reflect the Company's assumptions about the factors that market participants would use in valuing the asset or liability. There are three levels of inputs that may be used to measure fair value:

Level - Observable inputs that reflect quoted prices (unadjusted) for identical assets or

See accompanying Independent Accountant's Review Report

- 1 liabilities
in active markets.

Level 2 - Include other inputs that are directly or indirectly observable in the marketplace.

Level 3 - Unobservable inputs which are supported by little or no market activity.

The fair value hierarchy also requires an entity to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs when measuring fair value.

Fair-value estimates discussed herein are based upon certain market assumptions and pertinent information available to management as of December 31, 2018 and 2017. The respective carrying value of certain on-balance-sheet financial instruments approximated their fair values.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purpose of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Account Receivables

Accounts receivable are carried at their estimated collectible amounts. Accounts receivable are periodically evaluated for collectability based on past credit history with clients and other factors. Provisions for losses on accounts receivable are determined on the basis of loss experience, known and inherent risk in the account balance, and current economic conditions. As of December 31, 2018 and 2017, the Company carried receivables of $3,851 and $0 respectively and no allowances against such.

Inventory

Inventories consist primarily of grown fresh food produces. The company carries no inventories as of December 31, 2018 and December 31, 2017.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment will be stated at cost when purchased. Depreciation will be computed primarily using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets, which range from 5 to 39 years. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the shorter of the useful life of the related assets or the lease term. Expenditures for repairs and maintenance are charged to expense as incurred. For assets sold or otherwise disposed of, the cost and related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts, and any related gain or loss is reflected in income for the period. As of December 31, 2018, and 2017 the company has property and equipment in the amounts of $95,438.87 and $55,750.05, with accumulated depreciation the amounts of $11,536.67 and $2,907.21 for both 2018 and 2017 respectively.

Category	Useful Lives
Equipment	5 years
Vehicle	5 years
Leasehold Improvement	10 years

Intangible Assets-Patent

The company capitalizes patent filing fees and it expenses legal fees, in connection with internally developed pending patents. The company also will capitalize patent defense costs to the extent these costs enhance the economic value of an existing patent. Patent are amortized over the expected period to be benefited, not to exceed the patent lives, which may be as long as 17 years. There are no intangible assets as of December 31, 2018 and December 31, 2017.

See accompanying Independent Accountant's Review Report

Revenue Recognition

The Company will recognize revenues primarily from the sale of its grown food produces when (a) persuasive evidence that an agreement exists; (b) the service has been performed; (c) the prices are fixed and determinable and not subject to refund or adjustment; and (d) collection of the amounts due is reasonably assured.

Income Taxes

Prior to September 15, 2017, the Company was taxed as a Limited Liability Company (LLC). Under these provisions, the Company does not pay federal corporate income taxes on its taxable income. Instead, the shareholders are liable for individual federal and state income taxes on their respective shares of the Company's taxable income. The Company will pay minimum state franchise taxes at reduced rates. The Company's tax returns are subject to tax examination by the Internal Revenue Service or state regulatory agencies since Inception.

From October 1, 2017 forward, the Company will be taxed as a corporation. Accordingly, the Company applies ASC 740 Income Taxes ("ASC 740"). Deferred income taxes are recognized for the tax consequences in future years of differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their financial statement reported amounts at each period end, based on enacted tax laws and statutory tax rates applicable to the periods in which the differences are expected to affect taxable income. Valuation allowances are established, when necessary, to reduce deferred tax assets to the amount expected to be realized. The provision for income taxes represents the tax expense for the period, if any and the change during the period in deferred tax assets and liabilities.

ASC 740 also provides criteria for the recognition, measurement, presentation and disclosure of uncertain tax positions. A tax benefit from an uncertain position is recognized only if it is "more likely than not" that the position is sustainable upon examination by the relevant taxing authority based on its technical merit.

The Company is subject to tax in the United States ("U.S.") and files tax returns in the U.S. Federal jurisdiction and Texas state jurisdiction. The Company is subject to U.S. Federal, state and local income tax examinations by tax authorities for all periods since Inception. The Company currently is not under examination by any tax authority.

Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company maintains its cash with a major financial institution located in the United States of America which it believes to be creditworthy. Balances are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $250,000. At times, the Company may maintain balances in excess of the federally insured limits.

NOTE 3 – DEBT

Notes Payable-FSA

On March 15, 2017, the company signed a promissory note agreement with Farm Service Agency (FSA) in the amount of $50,000. The company received $21,345 of the funds in 2017. The $21,345 carried a 3% interest rate and matured after one year. The company paid off this amount in 2018.

The company received another $7,146 of that amount on March 2017. This amount carried at interest of 3% and matured after 5 years. The entire amount of $7,146 was outstanding in 2017.

Leading the Local Food Revolution. Neighborhood by neighborhood.

Invest in Lettuce

Our Story

The mainstream food system in the US today is fundamentally flawed. Food is being grown and raised in ways that are ecologically damaging and nutritionally compromised, it is traveling vast distances to get to the plate, 30-40% of it is wasted, and it is often sold in inconvenient form factors with wasteful packaging. On the other hand, fresh, local, organic and sustainable food is expensive, inconvenient and often inaccessible.

Lettuce bridges this gap.

Lettuce is creating sustainable, hyper-local, technology-enabled food ecosystems in urban areas that turn unused urban land and resources into productive farms, package the output into healthy, delicious and convenient products, and deliver them to homes in zero-waste containers, all while increasing awareness and engagement around nutritious, local food. Our them to homes in 2016. Most consumers, at the time, increasing awareness and engagement around healthy, local food. Our evolving social, local, commerce technology platform is connecting and empowering local food participants including growers, artisans, and consumers to do what they do well, with online tools, support, delivery, logistics, content, marketing and community engagement.

Our mission is to bring local, sustainable, nutritious food to the urban/suburban mainstream, by removing the major barriers of awareness, accessibility and affordability.

Who We Are

Lettuce got its start in Austin, Texas in 2016. Our co-founder & CEO, Yogesh Sharma, an entrepreneur and avid amateur backyard farmer was on a run, gawking at the ample irrigated space in his new city – almost all of it growing grass. He had always been curious about why local food wasn't a bigger part of the modern food ecosystem. And right there, all around him was part of the solution – plenty of good dirt, sun and water to grow food that could feed cities.

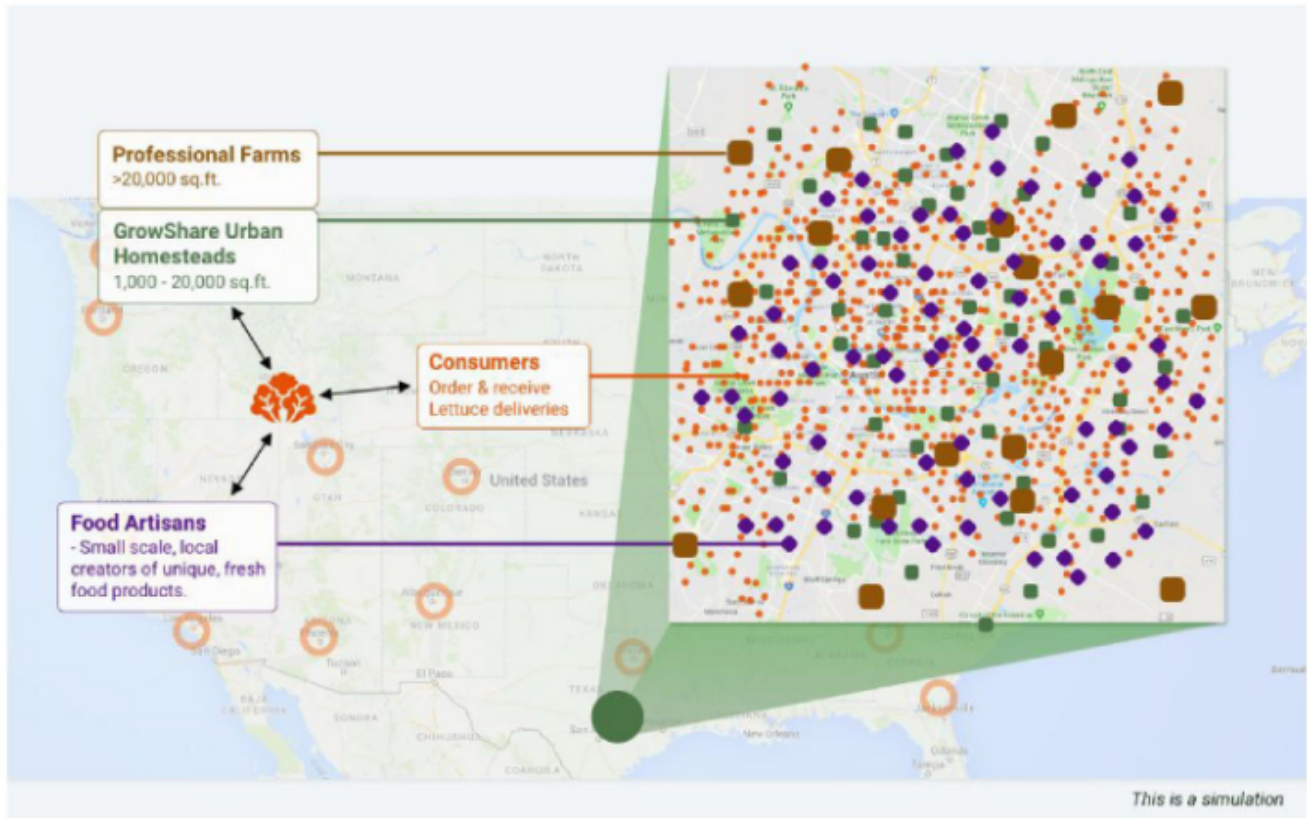

Meanwhile, Hal Roberts, who grew up on an urban farm in San Antonio had already been setting up urban farms in Austin. And Ved Prakash was writing software that streamlined hyper-local logistics, enabling digital visibility and commerce across people, products, locations, and millions of other potential nodes.

The three of them got together, and collectively said, "Enough is enough, let's do something about this!" and started Lettuce.

The Lettuce core team is now 12 strong and growing - on a mission to bring local, nutritious food to the mainstream, through technology, new business models and community involvement. We are experienced entrepreneurs, world-class software engineers, gourmet chefs, urban farmers and operational experts. The Lettuce team is diverse and committed to the singular vision and drive to improve what, where, how, and when food is grown, raised, delivered and prepared. We foster a culture of cooperation, innovation and fun that enables us to execute effectively.

Why Local?

Locally grown, raised and produced food is better in so many ways:

Sustainable Farming

Large scale monoculture agriculture is responsible for 30% of global climate change. More local, sustainable farming practices can have a significant beneficial impact on climate change if robust economic models evolve to support it.

Smaller Carbon Footprint

Average distance ingredients travel to get to your plate: 1,500 miles - resulting in a high carbon footprint. Lettuce brings this down to <100 miles.

Nutrient Dense

Food from large farms far away means it's often nutritionally compromised: Not as fresh, genetically modified to travel better, picked at sub-optimal times, and often sprayed with chemicals to maintain freshness.

Less Food Wasted

With a long, opaque food chain, wastage is inevitable. Lettuce's subscription-based paradigm, increasingly more transparent supply-chain, and just in time local sourcing results in more precise prediction of demand, and less wastage.

Source

Packaging Waste

Lettuce's near-zero waste packaging results in a significant reduction in harmful waste all along the process.

Economic Opportunities

Local food means more local jobs, more successful small businesses and stronger communities.

Ecological Diversity

When food is grown locally, it leads to improved biodiversity in urban/suburban areas.

Health Awareness

Locally grown/raised and prepared food results in greater awareness among consumers of where, how and when food is grown, leading them to making healthier and more sustainable choices.

Lettuce is growing communities of people who:

Eat Local

Eating fresh, nutritious, delicious and local food, conveniently, sustainably and affordably has never been possible since the development of industrial food chains. Lettuce is changing that neighborhood at a time.

Grow Food

Lettuce's GrowShare platform provides the services, content and support required for food to be grown on unused urban land, and a new generation of local food growers to evolve.

Live Sustainably

Leading a sustainable urban lifestyle, without compromising convenience or cost is not a dream anymore. With reusable packaging, built-in composting, efficient logistics and more, Lettuce is enabling a significant reduction in the carbon footprint of urban residents and the cities they live in.

Eat Local

Lettuce is dedicated to marrying local ingredients to world-class recipes, and delivering it all on the back of a solid technology and logistics platform. Our mission is to help people achieve their aspirations about how they eat: Healthy, Local, Sustainable and Delicious. This creates long-term customers into whose lives Lettuce is entrenched as a habit.

Meal Kits, Done Right

Meal kits are a convenient and easy way for today's busy families to cook and eat together. But national meal kit services are expensive, not local and deliver in wasteful packaging - resulting in high customer churn among those services. Lettuce meal kits fix all these challenges - local ingredients, near zero-waste packaging and affordable pricing because of more efficient cost structures, resulting in significantly less churn.

Lettuce plans are uniquely flexible, giving customers the building blocks to cook and eat healthy. There are plans for 2 or 4 person households that serve dietary preferences ranging from omnivores, vegetarians, vegans to gluten-free and more.

Add-on Plans & Products

Aside from dinner plans, customers can add other subscription and one-off products such as fruit and eggs - all sourced locally.

Lettuce create

Local small and medium food artisans are a vibrant part of urban food ecosystems. But they often struggle with the multitude of things they need to do to survive and thrive. And consumers don't have a convenient and affordable way to get their products. The Lettuce create platform changes this: It gives local artisans everything they need to do what they do best - create amazing products - while Lettuce covers logistics, delivery, technology, customer support, inventory management, marketing, customer engagement, efficient ingredient sourcing, and more. Consumers, on the other hand, get convenient, transparent and affordable single-point access to those products.

Lettuce create is in beta through the end of 2018, fully rolling out in early-2019.

Momentum

We ended 2017 making over 400 deliveries a month, and have tripled that in 2018. That's over 200,000 meals served per year, and growing - just in Austin, Texas.

Grow Food

Grow Food
Not Just Grass

Led by co-founder Hal Roberts, Lettuce's evolving GrowShare program empowers people to grow food on unused urban land such as home front/back yards, school property, housing developments and commercial land, by providing material support, timely expert content, logistics, technology tools; and paying them for what they grow, harvest and supply.

GrowShare urban farms serve as hotspots for community engagement and education, bringing Lettuce's value proposition about local food to the residents of those neighborhoods in an organic, personal way. GrowShare is jumpstarting a self-reliant, circular, local food economy that delivers greater access to fresh food for all, while creating a meaningful source of income for many.

Momentum

Since our start in 2016, we have set up, maintained and harvested from dozens of urban farms at homes, schools and housing developments in and around our first market of Austin, Texas. We currently have a growing waitlist of applicants ready to be activated, in and around the Austin region. After it achieves a level of efficiency, this model will be expanded to many other urban/suburban areas successfully.

Live Sustainably

Leading a sustainable urban lifestyle, without compromising convenience or cost is not a dream anymore. With reusable packaging, built-in composting, efficient logistics and more, Lettuce is enabling a significant reduction in the carbon footprint of urban residents and the cities they live in.

Composting: Built In

Built into the Lettuce service is a seamless composting feature. Customers put their food scraps into our delivery bins, which goes back into compost piles scientifically managed by us, which then end up in our urban farms. This completes a virtuous cycle that at scale can have a significant impact on a city's sustainability.

Lettuce receives an average of 12 pounds of compostables per month per household - thus prevented from going into landfills.

Zero-Waste Packaging

Disposable packaging materials are wreaking havoc: They are ecologically harmful to produce and transport, and once used, pile up in polluting land-fills or float around in our oceans. Recyclables are better, yet not without an environmental cost.

Reuse of packaging materials is the best approach. And Lettuce is creating a new paradigm for delivery of food and other consumables in near-zero waste, reusable containers. It is also evolving the technology and operational processes required for the tracking, sanitization and life-cycle management of these materials.

Lettuce customers pay a refundable Reusable Materials Deposit at the time of sign up as a way to participate in this new cycle that when scaled across the urban mainstream will have a significant impact on the amount of waste produced in urban areas.

Pieces of plastic prevented from going into landfill: ~120 per household per month.

Fewer Last Miles

Compared to other local delivery paradigms, and individuals driving to grocery stores, Lettuce optimizes deliveries in ways that significantly reduces total miles driven - reducing pollution, and traffic congestion.

For operational and financial efficiency, Lettuce deliveries are made by on-demand drivers, who use their own vehicles to make the deliveries. In forthcoming years as its network density increases, Lettuce plans to deploy low-cost electric vehicles for deliveries, further reducing its operational carbon footprint.

Technology

Lettuce LocOS: A New Local Economy Technology Platform

Lettuce has its own growing technology development team based in Mysore, India under the company's co-founder and CTO Ved Prakash. It has developed, and continues to evolve Lettuce LocOS: A world-class hyperlocal sustainable commerce and logistics technology platform. LocOS aims to make an impact across the entire urban food chain: regenerative farming, efficient transportation, reduction in food waste, tracking of near-zero waste packaging, streamlined commerce, transparent inventory management and more. This platform can be deployed in most urban areas - giving the Company tremendous leverage and scalability. LocOS is also extensible, with the ability for it to be integrated with other technology platforms and services.

Lettuce LocOS is already deployed and powers most of Lettuce's front-end, order management, logistics, payments and more. It is being developed using agile technology development methodologies, with improvement and release being pushed almost daily. In the future, as Lettuce scales, we intend to use blockchain technologies for the Network to more effectively and securely manage the flow of food, people and money.

Lettuce LocOS is built on the following technology stack:

Expansion Beyond Austin

In the second half of 2019, after completing the next version of LocOS, Lettuce plans to start its expansion into urban areas beyond the pilot city of Austin. Here's the process we plan to follow:

1. Pick location(s) based on our analysis and interest, set launch date, roll out platform, hire initial staff.
2. Sign up suppliers, new urban growers, artisans, customers, assemblers and drivers.
3. Establish physical infrastructure.
4. Launch and grow to profitability and beyond.

The Market for Local Food

In 2017, net farm income across the entire sector is expected to decline for the fourth consecutive year, according to the USDA. Yet, at the same time, there's been a wave of demand for healthy, locally grown food. And that wave is building. Local food sales in the U.S. grew from $5 billion to $12 billion between 2008 and 2014, according to food industry research firm Packaged Facts. The same study predicted local food sales would jump to $20 billion in 2019, outpacing the growth of the country's total food and beverage sales.

In the United States, obesity and diet-related chronic disease rates are escalating, while the public's health is further threatened by rising antibiotic resistance; chemicals and pathogens contaminating our food, air, soil and water; depletion of natural resources; and climate change. The US industrial food system provides plentiful, relatively inexpensive food, but much of it is unhealthy, and the system is not sustainable. Although most US food consumption occurs within this industrial system, healthier and more sustainable alternatives are increasingly available.

Lettuce is well-positioned to be a leading player in the local food revolution.

Customer Acquisition & Retention

Our customer acquisition has been mostly driven by word of mouth. Our customers love us - our retention rates are >80% after 3 months of customers signing up - some of the highest among similar subscription-based businesses. Our customers get an average of 7.5 deliveries per quarter, and spend on average $51 per delivery (Source: Lettuce LocOS data analytics). We provide world-class products that are created and delivered locally, accompanied by over-the-top amazing customer service.

As Lettuce rolls out its online network of local growers, artisans and consumers that is deeply integrated with its hyper-local e-commerce and logistics platform, network effects are emerging, enabling the next phase of its sustainable growth. In the two years of building our service and interacting with customers, growers and creators we have learnt that beyond delivery the highest possible quality of food, Lettuce gives it's customers a way to a sustainable lifestyle and be a part of an evolving sustainable ecosystem. To grow into the mainstream at a much faster pace, instead of an advertising driven strategy, we plan to use the essence of the impact we have on the participants in our network, by giving them physical and digital ways of voicing their experiences in eating local, growing food and living sustainably. We believe this will result in strong and viable revenue growth at a sustainably low customer acquisition cost.

Partnerships

Lettuce is evolving a partnership approach to make progress towards its mission. This enables us to tap into strategically aligned resources, while lending our capabilities to those entities. Here are a few areas in which we have piloted partnerships and we are ready to do more at:

Schools

We believe that educating kids about sustainable living, healthy eating and growing food is a key to a better future.

Lettuce has pilot programs running in two Austin ISD schools, Lee Elementary and Gullett Elementary where we have put in and maintained demonstration farms at no cost to the schools. We have experimentally engaged with the school communities - staff, kids, parents and neighbors - via farm days, workshops, discount codes that provide donations back to the school and more. The result:

- Hundreds of students at these schools and their families now know more about food and its impact on families now know more about food and its impact on health,

- Dozens of families per school have become Lettuce customers - paying for itself in saved customer acquisition costs,
- And we have donated thousands of dollars back to the schools.

With the success of these pilots, we are ready to expand them to hundreds of schools in all the geographies we serve, as a part of Lettuce GrowShare.

With the success of these pilots, we are ready to expand them to hundreds of schools in all the geographies we serve, as a part of Lettuce GrowShare.

Housing Developments

There are thousands of existing and future master planned housing developments with often thousands of homes each, in urban and suburban areas across the country (Source). There's usually lots of land within those developments - in common areas and home front/backyards - perfect for growing food (the land is often erstwhile farmland). Lots of these developments also don't have grocery stores nearby - they are not large enough to attract the big chains, and smaller convenience stores don't carry fresh food residents can rely on. Result: Residents have to drive long distances to get their groceries done.

Lettuce partners with such housing developers to create co-branded networks of farms and fresh food delivery services. We have been piloting this concept to great early success with a new housing development called Whisper Valley being built by a global development firm, Taurus, just east of Austin. We have successfully put up farms there, engaging the community on both growing food as well as being customers, achieving 25%+ adoption rate among residents (Source: Lettuce LocOS data analytics).

In upcoming years, Lettuce plans to create several such partnerships that will give us access into large markets with entrenched marketing and land partners, enabling us to initiate our presence in new geographical areas.

Accessibility & Affordability

Lettuce is serious about creating economically sustainable solutions to the food access problem in low-income urban neighborhoods / demographics that is a factor in so many multi-generational chronic health problems. Big Food companies are wreaking havoc in communities across the world - destroying traditional healthy eating habits, local farm economies and create health issues - while making significant profits.

Good, local food must fight and win by well-capitalized strategic initiatives that are grass-roots yet scalable and profitable. Lettuce is making this possible by:

- Creating urban farms in communities.
- Educating residents through those communities.
- Delivering high quality food at a fair affordable price.
- Establishing donation-based popup markets in those communities.
- Giving special discounts for teachers, firefighters, students and other public and non-profit organization employees.
- Partnering with community organizations, powering the delivery of fresh, nutritious food to homes.

Invest in Our Company Today!

Lettuce is conscious capitalism at its best. We want to reverse the malaise brought on by the big food industry - wreaking havoc on people's health by hooking them on unhealthy foods, disregarding the communities in which they peddle their wares and creating farming practices, supply chains, and packaging that is making significant contributions to climate change.

We are dedicated to healthier individuals, stronger communities and a better planet, while building a financially strong, infinitely scalable business that generates outsized profits and returns for its shareholders. At the heart of this mission is a powerful business model that marries the sustainable ways of societies in the not so distant past, with modern day technologies that enable convenience, transparency and cost efficiencies.

Investing in Lettuce, is investing in a better future for all of us. Join in!

Goal met!

Thanks to 204 investors from 30 US states and 3 countries, we have reached our goal with this phase of our online crowd fundraising efforts! We truly appreciate all the support from those who have invested, shared our campaign or participated in any other way.

It's not over yet - you can still invest, though your commitment will be on a waitlist, and will be a non-binding indication of interest in the event some investments are unable to clear. There are just a few days left, and we hope to see you on our investor roster!

To eloquently describe the impact Lettuce is having, let us tell you about Bee Tree Farms, located just outside Austin, where Jenna Kelly-Landes makes delicious farmstead cheese sustainably and humanely. Watch how Lettuce's local ecosystem is enabling Jenna sustainably grow her business, without compromising her high standards:

We at Lettuce believe that it is possible for local, sustainable ecosystems to have a much larger share of how, when and where food is grown, prepared and eaten. Increasing efficiency, quality, transparency, convenience, affordability, awareness, and engagement, while reducing food waste, are the major pieces of what it will take. That's what Lettuce is building - a platform that powers such local ecosystems, anywhere in the world.

Lettuce Create is a major part of this - empowering local small batch food artisans to create amazing products and build their businesses while Lettuce takes care of the rest, including getting the products in the hands of their consumers. Details and sign ups for Lettuce Create are rolling out next week - here's a sneak peek: www.lettuce.fm/create

Thank you again for your support thus far, as we look forward to the next phase!

Final hours!

24 days ago

Hey everyone! Can't believe there's just a few more hours till the end of this phase of our campaign. Time flies when you're having fun, and doing something meaningful, with the potential of having a big impact!

This campaign has been incredible - it has not just raised capital from people who care about sustainability and want to do something about it, but also connected us with people all around the US and beyond (we have attracted investors for 29 US states so far). We are interacting with and excited to work with many of them. Stay tuned for an announcement of our expansion beyond Austin coming soon!

Here's a quick video of Lettuce customers and investors Leslie Clinchard, an elementary school teacher, and Rob Clinchard, a general contractor, talking about why they invested in Lettuce:

Rob and Leslie Clinchard are busy working parents, Lettuce subscribers and Lettuce investors! Learn why it's important to them.

Oh, if you're up for watching more videos, here one that'll give you a quick snapshot of what Lettuce is all about:

Lettuce is more than our delicious, zero waste meal kits - it's urban agriculture, a platform for local food and a composting service all rolled into one. Invest in the local food economy! Visit startengine.com/lettuce. Shoutout to Hannah Bakery and Austin Orchards, two amazing local businesses we work with on a regular basis who are featured in this video.

Meanwhile, public beta sign ups for the Lettuce Create platform (read about it in the campaign content above) are opening up in the second week of April - a bit delayed because we had to cover some grounds on the legal aspects of this business model. And by early May, social features that enable local food participants - Farmers, Creators, and Consumers - to meaningfully engage and interact with each other online will also start to roll out.

Let's get started with our first slide!

Finally, the private beta of the Lettuce Bazaar - the customer facing manifestation of the Lettuce Create program - continues to do well, with dozens of exciting local Austin artisanal products on there already, selling well. Check out the front page of an issue of The Bazaar Times - a newsletter that goes out with every Lettuce delivery:

Bringing the farmer's market to your door

Creator of the Week

Austin Honey Company

Happy bees comfortably residing on local farms within a 30 mile radius of downtown Austin, providing valuable pollination of local organic produce as well as delicious honey!

Local Raw Honey Bear

Has a sweet mellow finish to it, yet lingers on the palette. This honey from local bees is raw, unheated, and unfiltered. Comes in an 8 oz squeezable honey bear.

Local Raw Honey Jar

Perfect with that herbal tea or coffee, yogurt, oatmeal, or toast. This honey from local bees is raw, unheated, and unfiltered. Comes in a one pound glass jar.

Benefits of local honey

Local honey has a bountiful amount of benefits. For residents of Austin who suffer from pollen allergies, eating a tablespoon of local honey a day can help make your immune system become less sensitive to local pollens.

Honey can have as many antioxidants as local fruits and vegetables. Antioxidants help combat free radicals that cause cell damage, which impact the aging process and the development of chronic diseases.

Add a drizzle of honey to your Chef's Choice meals for a taste of sweetness, or to your Nutty Granola from Hannah Bakery for a breakfast treat.

Plus:

A growing selection of spices, protein, pantry items and more!

All Lettuce and Alpaca Market containers are returnable for reuse at your next pick up.

All other containers are refillable, reusable and recyclable.

PS: It's not all work and seriousness at Lettuce all the time. Check out our April Fool's recipe that had our customer chuckling and salivating about yesterday:

Greasy Brown Goulash

This new dish is all the rage in France right now. Similar to pig slop, the gritty texture and uncommon ingredients really make your mouth cry. Pretty gross.

Total time: 2.5 hours

Ingredients

Produce: Container A

Moldy tomato sauce

Add-ons container

Pantry items

Wine pairing: Honey wine

SPECIAL TIME-SENSITIVE DISH!
MUST BE PREPARED AS SOON AS THE BAG IS OPENED!

- Cook beans and crickets:
 - In a large stockpot, heat 1 cup pig lard until boiling. Add ¼ lb live crickets and stir well. Cook until mushy and fully dead, about 30 minutes. Add 2 cans of pinto beans and pig's feet. Bring to a boil.
- Prep fruit, veggies, and meats:
 - Peel cherries, chop persimmon and peaches. Throw out the flesh of the peaches and just save the seed. Add this to the pot.
 - Cut cabbage into thin strips and toss in moldy tomato sauce. Add this to the pot.
 - Mash the canned ham. Add this to the pot.
 - Chop banana peel into tiny pieces. Add this to the pot.
 - Cut salmon livers into thin strips. Add this to the pot.
 - Mix one box of grape jell-o with 1 can of beer. Add this to the pot.
- Let it sit:
 - Are all of the ingredients in the pot unrecognizable? Great. Now turn off the heat and let it sit for an hour until room temperature and all of the grease has risen to the top.
- Serve:
 - Ladle goulash into bowls and top it with whatever you have that will make it taste edible.
 - Maybe you should just throw it away and order a pizza.
 - DO NOT feed this to your dog!

Important: DO NOT wash all the produce thoroughly before cooking - aphids have known medicinal qualities.

Happy President's Day!

2 months ago

Happy President's Day to everyone! Perfect day for the campaign to reach $50k isn't it? ;)

A big thank you to all who have invested so far, have been following the campaign and sharing it around.

What's been most surprising to us through this campaign is that a significant majority of the investors are from outside of Texas. This tells us that the problems we are solving are widespread, and the solutions we are creating are resonating with people everywhere. Thank you to our new investors from MD, VA, WA, OH, OK, CO and so many more - even CA :)

In other news, Lettuce Bazaar beta rolled out without an operational glitch - enabling our customers to get locally grown/prepared products delivered to their door. Lettuce Create's online dashboard where Creators can manage, customize and schedule how, when and where what they create gets to their fans across their own city is coming soon in March.

Meanwhile, we are kicking off a whole slew of new videos and blog content covering topics related to sustainable farming, food waste, local food economies and more. Here's a video of a Lettuce customer (we fondly call them Lettucers) Michelle Smith talking about how Lettuce fits into her life:

Lettuce know if you have questions about the offering. Join the local food revolution, if you haven't already, by investing in Lettuce - it's How Local Wins!

Quick update

3 months ago

Hey y'all!

Thanks to every who have invested in Lettuce so far! We are closing in on $25k and looking to keep the momentum going. Please keep spreading the word!

Beyond the funds invested, this campaign is resulting in so many other positive developments:

Press

We have a slew of press coverage coming out over the next few weeks in local and national publications. Stay tuned!

Partnership -> Scalability

We have been contacted by many small and medium farmers and local food operators around the world who are working towards the same mission as Lettuce, but need the pieces we are building to take their efforts to the next level and make local food mainstream - by first making it convenient, affordable and fit modern lifestyles. Encouraged by this outreach, we are orienting and accelerating the development of our technology platform to serve the needs of such future partners. This approach makes us a lot more efficient and scalable as a company (resulting in exponentially higher shareholder return). And, helps achieve our collective goal of making locally and sustainably grown/raised food truly mainstream - resulting in healthier individuals, stronger communities and a better planet.

We are working on building online modules to onboard such partners. Till then, if you or anyone you know would like to be a beta partner, please write to me directly at yogesh@lettuce.fm - we would love to work with you!

Customer Traction

By virtue of this campaign, and the excellent products that the Lettuce team continually delivers, we have had healthy growth in our customer base out the gate this year. Will report more on this at the end of the quarter.

Lettuce Create

Lettuce Create (read more about it on the campaign materials), is going into beta next week. We already have 30 Creators signed up for delivering amazing local goodies to people all over Austin! More on this in the next update as we roll this out fully over the next few weeks.

Thank you again for your support. Lettuce make local food a reality!

Thank you for a great start!

Wow - within a few days of launching our campaign, we have raised over $11k, passing our minimum goal of $10k! A big thank you to all who have invested so far, left comments, asked questions, shared this opportunity or are following it! This is an important step in our journey towards creating healthier individuals, stronger communities and a sustainable planet - and we are honored that you are joining us on it!

We will post updates here with campaign milestones, business updates, new product/service launches, opening new areas and more - there's a lot in the works! If you have any questions, please leave a comment and we will be sure to answer it promptly.

Onwards!

Is it possible to share any information about 2018 financials or 2019 numbers so far?

Also, if you reach 107K goal, will you extend the campaign to raise up to 1.07 Million?

Yogesh Sharma Lettuce Networks - Issuer 19 days ago

Hi Aaryaman - thank you for your questions. We are restricted by rules to disclose extensions and other material changes in the offering in advance - so I am unable to answer the question whether the campaign will be extended or not. If an extension to $1.07m does occur, then the 2018 financials will be reported as part of that extension. And we will post some 2019 numbers in a future update. Hope this helps!

Justin Skladanek 23 days ago

Sorry i was mistaken with my first post, i see 6% is the fee to StartEngine

Yogesh Sharma Lettuce Networks - Issuer 23 days ago

No worries, Justin - glad you caught that. If you have any other question, please don't hesitate to post again! ;)

Justin Skladanek 23 days ago

I saw that there was an amended Form C filed yesterday extending the campaign, but your most recent update doesn't seem to address that. Is that true?

Also the amended Form C and prior list an interest rate on the loan of 6%. Why does this say 5% in the offering?

Jane Burns a month ago

Howdy!

A couple of questions.

1. If we give at the $5k level, could we get two raised beds instead of the chef prepared dinner?
2. Do we get all the other benefits for levels below the level we invest at? Would we be pioneer club members and so forth?

Thanks for what you are doing!

Yogesh Sharma Lettuce Networks - Issuer 2 months ago

Hi Loren - thank you for your interest in investing in Lettuce! We are thrilled by the possibility of having you join our mission as an investor!

To answer your questions:

1. Yes! We will be very happy to install 2 raised beds.
2. Those perks are actually not additive. They amount in value to approximately 10% of the dollars invested. We will be happy to switch the perks around as investors wish.

We look forward to your investment Loren! Please reach back out if you have any questions!

Jason Bulsa 2 months ago

ROI is not clear. For each $1 invested the investor will receive $1.05 on 31 march 2021?

Yogesh Sharma Lettuce Networks - Issuer 2 months ago

Hi Jason - Thank you for your question! Like most other equity fundraising campaigns here on StartEngine and other such platform, there is no guaranteed ROI. When you invest, you are purchasing a stake in the company, which will increase in valuation as the company make progress, upon which will depend the ROI. If the company's valuation is higher than it is now and it gets acquired, or goes public on a stock exchange, or its shares are otherwise tradable privately, then the ROI upon you selling those shares will be positive. If the company falters in its execution, the ROI may be negative, or you could lose your investment entirely. Hence an investment here is risky, as is clearly written on the campaign materials. Hope this helps!

Edanili Lacar Lettuce Networks - Potential Investor 2 months ago

If you're considering expanding into the Rio Grande Valley (in the non'crisis' area north of the "wall-ish") we have a community garden to offer land in a food desert spot in the urban center in McAllen. We havent found our organizational footing for a better business model for our garden and it looks/ sounds like the perfect fit.

Yogesh Sharma Lettuce Networks - Issuer 2 months ago

Hi Edanili - first, thank you for investing! We are delighted to have you on board! And thank you for the tip about McAllen. We will certainly include that in our expansion plan in coming years. As we have stated in the campaign materials above, we will continue to invest in and build the technology platform this year, and begin rolling it out in other parts of the country starting early 2020. Stay tuned!

STARTENGINE SUBSCRIPTION PROCESS (Exhibit E)

Platform Compensation

- As compensation for the services provided by StartEngine Capital, the issuer is required to pay to StartEngine Capital a fee consisting of a 6-8% (six to eight percent) commission based on the dollar amount of securities sold in the Offering and paid upon disbursement of funds from escrow at the time of a closing. The commission is paid in cash and in securities of the Issuer identical to those offered to the public in the Offering at the sole discretion of StartEngine Capital. Additionally, the issuer must reimburse certain expenses related to the Offering. The securities issued to StartEngine Capital, if any, will be of the same class and have the same terms, conditions and rights as the securities being offered and sold by the issuer on StartEngine Capital's website.

Information Regarding Length of Time of Offering

- Investment Cancellations: Investors will have up to 48 hours prior to the end of the offering period to change their minds and cancel their investment commitments for any reason. Once within 48 hours of ending, investors will not be able to cancel for any reason, even if they make a commitment during this period.
- Material Changes: Material changes to an offering include but are not limited to: A change in minimum offering amount, change in security price, change in management, material change to financial information, etc. If an issuer makes a material change to the offering terms or other information disclosed, including a change to the offering deadline, investors will be given five business days to reconfirm their investment commitment. If investors do not reconfirm, their investment will be cancelled and the funds will be returned.

Hitting The Target Goal Early & Oversubscriptions

- StartEngine Capital will notify investors by email when the target offering amount has hit 25%, 50% and 100% of the funding goal. If the issuer hits its goal early, and the minimum offering period of 21 days has been met, the issuer can create a new target deadline at least 5 business days out. Investors will be notified of the new target deadline via email and will then have the opportunity to cancel up to 48 hours before new deadline.
- Oversubscriptions: We require all issuers to accept oversubscriptions. This may not be possible if: 1) it vaults an issuer into a different category for financial statement requirements (and they do not have the requisite financial statements); or 2) they reach $1.07M in investments. In the event of an oversubscription, shares will be allocated at the discretion of the issuer.
- If the sum of the investment commitments does not equal or exceed the target offering amount at the offering deadline, no securities will be sold in the offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned.
- If a StartEngine issuer reaches its target offering amount prior to the deadline, it may conduct an initial closing of the offering early if they provide notice of the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to the new offering deadline (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment). StartEngine will notify investors when the issuer meets its target offering amount. Thereafter, the issuer may conduct additional closings until the offering deadline.

Minimum and Maximum Investment Amounts

If both their annual income and net worth are equal to or more than $107,000, then during any 12-month period, they can invest up to 10% of annual income or net worth, whichever is less, but their investments cannot exceed $107,000.

(e) No filings. Assuming the accuracy of the Subscriber's representations and warranties set forth in Section 4 hereof, no order, license, consent, authorization or approval of, or exemption by, or action by or in respect of, or notice to, or filing or registration with, any governmental body, agency or official is required by or with respect to the Company in connection with the execution, delivery and performance by the Company of this Subscription Agreement except (i) for such filings as may be required under Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act or the rules promulgated thereunder or under any applicable state securities laws, (ii) for such other filings and approvals as have been made or obtained, or (iii) where the failure to obtain any such order, license, consent, authorization, approval or exemption or give any such notice or make any filing or registration would not have a material adverse effect on the ability of the Company to perform its obligations hereunder.

4. Representations and Warranties of Subscriber. By executing this Subscription Agreement, Subscriber (and, if Subscriber is purchasing the Securities subscribed for hereby in a fiduciary capacity, the person or persons for whom Subscriber is so purchasing) represents and warrants, which representations and warranties are true and complete in all material respects as of the date of the Subscriber's Closing Date(s):

(a) Requisite Power and Authority. Such Subscriber has all necessary power and authority under all applicable provisions of law to execute and deliver this Subscription Agreement, the Operating Agreement and other agreements required hereunder and to carry out their provisions. All action on Subscriber's part required for the lawful execution and delivery of this Subscription Agreement and other agreements required hereunder have been or will be effectively taken prior to the Closing. Upon their execution and delivery, this Subscription Agreement and other agreements required hereunder will be valid and binding obligations of Subscriber, enforceable in accordance with their terms, except (a) as limited by applicable bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization, moratorium or other laws of general application affecting enforcement of creditors' rights and (b) as limited by general principles of equity that restrict the availability of equitable remedies.

(b) Investment Representations. Subscriber understands that the Securities have not been registered under the Securities Act. Subscriber also understands that the Securities are being offered and sold pursuant to an exemption from registration contained in the Act based in part upon Subscriber's representations contained in this Subscription Agreement.

(c) Illiquidity and Continued Economic Risk. - (iii) As part of an offering registered under the Securities Act with the SEC; or
- (iv) To a member of the Subscriber's family or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the Subscriber, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the Subscriber or equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the Subscriber or other similar circumstance.

(e) Investment Limits. Subscriber represents that either:

- (i) Either of Subscriber's net worth or annual income is less than $107,000, and that the amount it is investing pursuant to this Subscription Agreement, together with all other amounts invested in offerings under Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act within the previous 12 months, is either less than (A) 5% of the lower of its annual income or net

CONVERTIBLE PROMISSORY NOTE
SERIES 2019 - CF

$%%VESTING_AMOUNT%% %%TODAY%%

For value received %%NAME_OF_ISSUER%%, a %%STATE_INCORPORATED%% corporation (the "Company"), promises to pay to %%VESTING_AS%%, the investor party hereto ("Investor") who is recorded in the books and records of the Company as having subscribed to this convertible promissory note (the "Note") the principal amount set forth above and on the signature page of his/her subscription agreement (the "Subscription Agreement"), together with accrued and unpaid interest thereon, each due and payable on the date and in the manner set forth below. This Note is issued as part of a series of similar convertible promissory notes issued by the Company pursuant to Regulation Crowdfunding (collectively, the "Crowdfunding Notes") to qualified purchasers on the funding portal StartEngine Capital LLC (collectively, the "Investors").

1. Repayment. All payments of interest and principal shall be in lawful money of the United States of America and shall be made pro rata among all Investors. All payments shall be applied first to accrued interest, and thereafter to principal. The outstanding principal amount of the Note shall be due and payable on January 31, 2021 (the "Maturity Date").

2. Interest Rate. The Company promises to pay simple interest on the outstanding principal amount hereof from the date hereof until payment in full, which interest shall be payable at the rate of %%INTEREST_RATE%% % per annum or the maximum rate permissible by law, whichever is less. Interest shall be due and payable on the Maturity Date and shall be calculated on the basis of a 365-day year for the actual number of days elapsed.

3. Conversion; Repayment Premium Upon Sale of the Company.

(a) In the event that the Company issues and sells shares of its stock to investors (the "Equity Investors") on or before the date of the repayment in full of this Note in a transaction or series of transactions pursuant to which the Company issues and sells shares of its stock resulting in gross proceeds to the Company of at least $3,000,000 (excluding the conversion of the Notes and any other debt) (a "Qualified Financing"), then it converts into Series Seed - 1 Preferred Stock at conversion price equal to the lesser of (i) 80% of the per share price paid by the Investors or (ii) the price equal to the quotient of $6,000,000 divided by the aggregate number of outstanding common shares of the Company as of immediately prior to the initial closing of the Qualified Financing (assuming full conversion or exercise of all convertible and exercisable securities then outstanding other than the Notes.)

(b) If the conversion of the Note would result in the issuance of a fractional share, the Company shall, in lieu of issuance of any fractional share, pay the Investor otherwise entitled to such fraction a sum in cash equal to the product resulting from multiplying the then current fair market value of one share of the class and series of capital stock into which this Note has converted by such fraction.
