Name: Timothy D. Roberts II

Title: Owner

Date: 2/5/2018

Describe the financial condition of the issuer, including, to the extent material, liquidity, capital resources and historical results of operations.

Acropolis Games has experienced growth during its first two years of existence. Our 2017 sales were slightly lower than that of 2016. 2017 was a year of many expensive products that resulted in a much higher than projected cost of goods sold. This affected our sales to an extent because many of these products did not sell as we expected, thus our inventory will be higher than expected for 2017 as well. We expect historical results to be reflective of our projected performance in the years to come. We carry no current debt obligations although our assets are used as collateral for a mortgage for a related entity, which owns the property we will be moving our operations to. We believe we will have sufficient capital resources to finance our operations going forward and do not expect to raise additional capital in the near future.
