The Company and its Business

Company Overview

The Company plans to sell extrusion-based additive manufacturing equipment (3D printers) and related hardware as well as software services to On-Demand Manufacturing (“ODM”) businesses, also sometimes referred to as “3D printing service businesses.” The Company has also collaborated with the United States Air Force (“USAF”) after it was awarded a Small Business Innovation Research (“SBIR”) grant by the USAF, and with Defense Innovation Lab, Inc. (“DiLab”) for a New York State-funded joint research and development initiative, via a Manufacturing Technology Assistance Grant (“MTAG”).

Competitors and Industry

The Company’s primary competitors include Dremel, Ultimaker, MakerBot Industries, FlashForge USA, Stratasys, Prusa3D, and Markforged.

The markets for the Company’s products and services are highly competitive and the Company is confronted by aggressive competition in all areas of its business. The Company’s competitors may aggressively cut prices or lower their product margins to gain or maintain market share. Principal competitive factors important to the Company include price, product features, relative price/performance, product quality and reliability, design innovation, marketing and distribution capability, service and support, and corporate reputation.

Current Stage and Roadmap

R3 Printing is an additive manufacturing / 3D printing technology company, currently in the Design for Manufacture / Design for Assembly (DFM / DFA) stages of building its first product. This means that the Company is revising the design of various systems and components to reduce the cost of manufacturing and assembly of the product. The Company expects the first product, R3 Printer, to be on the market in 2021. The initial target market for the Company’s hardware products and software services are ODM businesses in the US and Canada.

The Company has an extensive roadmap for future hardware products and subscription-based software and business services in order to build a robust and diverse revenue stream. These services include advanced cloud-based infrastructure monitoring, and a ‘materials stockroom’ service to automate the management of a 3D printing materials supply chain for busy manufacturers. The Company’s future roadmap also includes the expansion of its target market to include international ODM businesses as well.

The Company’s vision for its full suite of products and services is a fully-automated additive manufacturing (3D printing) workflow that minimizes reliance on skilled labor throughout the 3D printing process, thereby enabling a future of customized consumer products available at prices that can compete with mass production.

Risk Factors

The SEC requires the company to identify risks that are specific to its business and its financial condition. The company is still subject to all the same risks that all companies in its business, and all companies in the economy, are exposed to. These include risks relating to economic downturns, political and economic events and technological developments (such as hacking and the ability to prevent hacking). Additionally, early-stage companies are inherently more risky than more developed companies. You should consider general risks as well as specific risks when deciding whether to invest.

These are the risks that relate to the Company:

We have limited operating history upon which you can evaluate our performance, and accordingly, our prospects must be considered in light of the risks that any new company encounters.

We were incorporated under the laws of Delaware on March 12, 2018. Accordingly, we have limited history upon which an evaluation of our prospects and future performance can be made. Our proposed operations are subject to all business risks associated with new enterprises. The likelihood of our creation of a viable business must be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications, and delays frequently encountered in connection with the inception of a business, operation in a competitive industry, and the continued development of advertising, promotions, and a corresponding client base. We anticipate that our operating expenses will increase for the near future. There can be no assurances that we will ever operate profitably. As a result, prospective Investors have very limited financial or other information regarding the financial performance of Company or information on the Company's future prospects to assist in making their investment decision. Each investment should be evaluated on the basis that the Company's or any third party's assessment of the prospects of the Company may not prove accurate, and that the Company will not achieve its business objectives.

To date, we have not generated revenue, do not foresee generating any revenue in the near future and therefore, we are relying on external financing to fund operations.

We are a startup company and our business model currently focuses on innovation, marketing and business development rather than generating revenue. While we intend to generate revenue in the future, we cannot assure you when or if we will be able to do so. We rely on external financing to fund our operations and we anticipate, based on our current proposed plans and assumptions relating to our operations (including the timetable of, and costs associated with new product development), that the products and services we intend to offer, will be commercialized and available in the year 2021. However, we expect capital outlays and operating expenditures to increase over the next several years as we expand our infrastructure, commercial operations, development activities, and brand. We may have difficulty obtaining additional funding and we cannot assure you that additional capital will be available to us when needed, if at all, or if available, will be obtained on terms acceptable to us. If we raise additional funds by issuing additional debt securities, such debt instruments may provide for rights, preferences or privileges senior to the Convertible Promissory Note. In addition, the terms of the debt securities issued could impose significant restrictions on our operations.

In case we generate revenue in the future, our revenue and results of operations may fluctuate.

Our revenue and results of operations may fluctuate from quarter-to-quarter and year-to-year and are likely to continue to vary due to a number of factors, many of which are not within our control. Fluctuations in our results of operations and financial condition may occur due to a number of factors, including, but not limited to, those listed below and those identified throughout this document: - our ability to continue, renew or replace relationships with key customers; the degree of market acceptance of our products and services; - the mix of software, products and services that we sell during any period, as well as the mix of the various markets in which we make sales during said periods; - a decline in new or renewed periodic licenses or maintenance contracts; delays in the introduction of new products and/or new features for existing products; - the entry of new competitors into our market; - the development and degree of market acceptance of new competitive systems or processes by others; - changes in our pricing policies or those of our competitors, including our responses to price competition; - changes in the amount we spend in our marketing and other efforts; - delays between our expenditures to develop, acquire, or license new technologies and processes, and the generation of sales related thereto; - the amounts we spend on, and the success rate of, our research and development activities; - changes in the regulatory environment, including changes in regulatory laws and regulations and the interpretation thereof, applicable to our software programs, products or services; - delays in obtaining regulatory approval for our software programs, products or services; interruptions to or other problems with our website and interactive user interfaces, information technology systems, manufacturing processes, or other operations; - general economic and industry conditions that affect end-user demand and end-user levels of product design and manufacturing, including the adverse effects of global economic uncertainties; and - changes in accounting rules and tax laws.

Successful development and launch of our products and services is uncertain.

We expect to launch the sale of our extrusion-based additive manufacturing technology, and related hardware and software services in the year 2021. Newly developed products that are based on complex and new technologies, such as our extrusion-based 3D printer, R3 Printer, are subject to the risk of failure and delay inherent in the development of any such new and complex products. These risks include, among others: - Delays in product development; - Unplanned expenditures in product development, testing, or manufacturing; - Failure to receive regulatory approvals; - Failure to achieve market acceptance; and emergence of superior or equivalent products.

The development and commercialization of our products is highly competitive.

We face competition with respect to our extrusion-based additive manufacturing technology, and related hardware and software services that we may seek to develop or commercialize in the future. Our competitors include major companies worldwide. Many of our competitors have significantly greater financial, technical, and human resources than we have and superior expertise in research and development and marketing services and products and thus may be better equipped than us to develop and commercialize products. These competitors also compete with us in recruiting and retaining qualified personnel and acquiring technologies. Smaller or early-stage companies may also prove to be significant competitors, particularly through collaborative arrangements with large and established companies. Accordingly, our competitors may commercialize products and/or services more rapidly or effectively than we are able to, which would adversely affect our competitive position, the likelihood that our products will achieve initial market acceptance, and our ability to generate meaningful additional revenues from our products.

If the 3D printing market does not experience significant growth or if our extrusion-based additive manufacturing technology, and related hardware and software services do not achieve broad acceptance, we will not be able to achieve our anticipated level of growth.

We will substantially derive the greatest portion of our revenue from sales of our extrusion-based additive manufacturing technology, and related hardware and software services. We cannot accurately predict the future growth rate or the size of the 3D printing market. Demand for 3D printers may not increase, or may decrease, either generally or in specific geographic markets, for particular types of 3D printers or during particular time periods. The expansion of the 3D printing market and the market for our products and services depend on a number of factors, including but not limited to: - the cost, performance and reliability of our products and services and products and services offered by our competitors; - public perceptions regarding the effectiveness and value of 3D printers; - customer satisfaction with 3D printers; and - marketing efforts and publicity regarding 3D printers in general. Even if 3D printers gain wide market acceptance in general, our 3D Printer may not adequately address market requirements and may not continue to gain market acceptance. If 3D printers generally, or our extrusion-based additive manufacturing technology, and related hardware and software services specifically, do not gain wide market acceptance, we may not be able to achieve our anticipated level of growth, and our revenue and results of operations would suffer.

We may not be successful in continuing to enhance and adapt our extrusion-based additive manufacturing technology, and related hardware and software services in line with developments in market technologies and demands.

Our products and services could be rendered obsolete or uneconomical by technological advances by one or more of our present or future competitors or by other technologies. Our ability to remain competitive will depend, in large part, on our ability to enhance and adapt our current products and services to developments in market technologies and demands and to enhance and develop new 3D printing software solutions, products and services. We believe that to remain competitive we must continuously enhance and expand the functionality and features of our products, services and technologies. However, there can be no assurance that we will be able to: - enhance our existing product, services and technologies; - continue to leverage advances in 3D printing technology; - develop new products, services and technologies that address the increasingly sophisticated and varied needs of prospective end-users; - respond to technological advances and emerging industry standards and practices on a cost-effective and timely basis; - develop products and services that are cost effective or that otherwise gain market acceptance; or - adequately protect our intellectual property as we develop new products, services and technologies and anticipate intellectual property claims from third parties.

We operate in an emerging market, which makes it difficult to evaluate our business and future prospects.

3D printers such as ours represent a new and emerging market. Accordingly, our business and future prospects are difficult to evaluate. You should consider the challenges, risks and uncertainties frequently encountered by companies using new and unproven business models in rapidly evolving markets. These challenges include our ability to: - generate sufficient revenue to maintain profitability; - acquire and maintain market share; - manage growth in our operations; - attract and retain customers; - attract and retain key personnel; - adapt to a new or changing regulatory environment; and - access additional capital when required and on reasonable terms. We cannot be certain that we will successfully address these and other challenges, risks and uncertainties. Failure to do so could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We may not be able to establish, maintain or increase the market share or reputation of our extrusion-based additive manufacturing technology, and related hardware and software services that we need to become and remain a market standard.

The 3D printing industry is rapidly growing on a global scale and is subject to constant innovation and technological change. A variety of technologies compete against one another in our market, which is driven, in part, by technological advances and end-user requirements and preferences, as well as by the emergence of new standards and practices. As 3D printers evolve, the industry standards that are adopted and adhered to are a function of the inherent qualities of the technology as well as the willingness of members of the industry to adopt them. To remain competitive, we depend on keeping up with these developments or be the leader of these developments in order to be and stay recognized in the market and set standards for the industry. However, we may not be able to achieve these results which could harm the future growth and profitability of our business.

In general, demand for our products is correlated with general economic conditions.

We expect a substantial portion of our revenue to be derived from spending of other businesses, which typically falls during times of economic instability, among others, due to the decrease or anticipated decrease of discretionary spending by individuals. Declines in economic conditions in the U.S. or in other countries in which we operate may adversely impact our consolidated financial results. Because such declines in demand are difficult to predict, we or the industry may experience a material impact on our profitability, our results of operations and financial condition.

The research and development programs that we are currently engaged in, or that we may establish in the future, may not be successful and our significant investments in these programs may be lost.

To remain competitive, we currently, and we intend to continue to, invest significant amounts in various research and development programs. There can be no assurances, however, that these research and development programs will improve our existing products and services or create new software, products, or services. Even if some of these programs are successful, it is possible that the new software, products, or services developed from such programs will not be commercially viable, that new 3D printing technologies that we, or others, develop will eventually supplant our current 3D printing technologies, that changes in the manufacturing or use of 3D printers will adversely affect the need or demand for our software, products or services or that our competitors will create or successfully market 3D printing technologies that will replace our solutions, products and services in the market. As a result, any of our software solutions, products, or services may be rendered obsolete or uneconomical and our significant investments in all or some of our research and development programs may be lost.

We depend on the knowledge and skills of our management and other key personnel, and if we are unable to retain and motivate them or recruit additional qualified personnel, our operations could suffer.

Our success depends upon the continued service and performance of our management and other key personnel, including engineers, designers, software developers, and product managers, and our ability to identify, hire, develop, motivate and retain qualified personnel in the future. Competition for management and key employees in our industry is intense and we cannot guarantee that we will be able to retain our personnel or attract new, qualified personnel. We may need to invest significant amounts of cash and equity to attract and retain new employees and we may not realize returns on these investments. The loss of the services of members of our management or key employees could prevent or delay the implementation and completion of our strategic objectives, could divert management's attention to seeking certain qualified replacements, or could adversely affect our ability to manage our Company effectively. Each member of our management as well as our key employees may resign at any time. In particular, the Company is dependent on Paul Sieradzki who is one of the Company's co-founders, director, president, CEO, and treasurer, and Petra Wood who is director, vice president, COO and secretary. The Company has entered into employment agreements with Paul Sieradzki and Petra Wood, although there can be no assurance that that they will continue to be employed by the Company for a particular period of time. The loss of Paul Sieradzki or Petra Wood could harm the Company's business, financial condition, cash flow and results of operations.

In order for the Company to compete and grow, it must attract, recruit, retain and develop the necessary personnel who have the needed experience.

Recruiting and retaining highly qualified personnel is critical to our success. These demands may require us to hire additional personnel and will require our existing management personnel to develop additional expertise. We face intense competition for personnel. The failure to attract and retain personnel or to develop such expertise could delay or halt the development and commercialization of our product candidates. If we experience difficulties in hiring and retaining personnel in key positions, we could suffer from delays in product development, loss of customers and sales, and diversion of management resources, which could adversely affect operating results. Our consultants and advisors may be employed by third parties and may have commitments under consulting or advisory contracts with third parties that may limit their availability to us.

Maintaining, extending, and expanding our reputation and brand image are essential to our business success.

We seek to maintain, extend, and expand our brand image through marketing investments, including advertising and consumer promotions, and product innovation. Increasing attention on marketing could adversely affect our brand image, especially in the event of a delay in our product launch. Increasing attention on marketing could also lead to stricter regulations and greater scrutiny of marketing practices. Existing or increased legal or regulatory restrictions on our advertising, consumer promotions and marketing, or our response to those restrictions, could limit our efforts to maintain, extend and expand our brands. Moreover, adverse publicity about regulatory or legal action against us could damage our reputation and brand image, undermine our customers' confidence and reduce long-term demand for our products, even if the regulatory or legal action is unfounded or not material to our operations. In addition, our success in maintaining, extending, and expanding our brand image depends on our ability to adapt to a rapidly changing media environment. We will increasingly rely on social media and online dissemination of advertising campaigns. The growing use of social and digital media increases the speed and extent that information or misinformation and opinions can be shared. Negative posts or comments about us, our brands or our products on social or digital media, whether or not valid, could seriously damage our brands and reputation. If we do not establish, maintain, extend and expand our brand image, then our product sales, financial condition and results of operations could be adversely affected.

Errors or defects in our extrusion-based additive manufacturing technology, and related hardware and software services could cause us to incur additional costs, lose revenue and business opportunities, damage our reputation, and expose us to potential liability.

Sophisticated software and complex 3D printed products may contain errors, defects, or other performance problems at any point in the life of the product. If errors or defects are discovered in our future products or services, we may not be able to correct them in a timely manner, or provide an adequate response to our customers. We may therefore need to expend significant financial, technical, and management resources, or divert some of our development resources, in order to resolve or work around those defects. We may also experience an increase in our service and warranty costs. Particularly in the emerging market we operate, errors or defects in our products or services could lead to claims by customers against us and expose us to lawsuits that may damage our reputations. Claims may be made by individuals or by classes of users. Our product liability and related insurance policies may not apply or sufficiently cover any product liability lawsuit that arises from defective products or software. Customers such as our collaboration partners may also seek indemnification for third party claims allegedly arising from breaches of warranties under our collaboration agreements. Errors and defects of our 3D Printers or related hardware or software could also lead to recalls or safety alerts relating to our 3D Printers and could result, in certain cases, in the removal of a product from the market. Further, errors, defects or other performance problems in our 3D printers or related hardware or software may also result in the loss of, or delay in, the market acceptance of our products and services or postponement of customer deployment. Such difficulties could result in significant costs as well as negative publicity that could reduce demand for our 3D Printers. Technical problems, or the loss of significant customers with a particularly important reputation, could also damage our own business reputation and cause us to lose new business opportunities.

We rely on various intellectual property rights, including patents and trademarks in order to operate our business.

Such intellectual property rights, however, may not be sufficiently broad or otherwise may not provide us a significant competitive advantage. In addition, the steps that we have taken to maintain and protect our intellectual property may not prevent it from being challenged, invalidated, circumvented or designed-around, particularly in countries where intellectual property rights are not highly developed or protected. In some circumstances, enforcement may not be available to us because an infringer has a dominant intellectual property position or for other business reasons, or countries may require compulsory licensing of our intellectual property. Our failure to obtain or maintain intellectual property rights that convey competitive advantage, adequately protect our intellectual property or detect or prevent circumvention or unauthorized use of such property, could adversely impact our competitive position and results of operations. We also rely on nondisclosure and noncompetition agreements with employees, consultants and other parties to protect, in part, trade secrets and other proprietary rights. There can be no assurance that these agreements will adequately protect our trade secrets and other proprietary rights and will not be breached, that we will have adequate remedies for any breach, that others will not independently develop substantially equivalent proprietary information or that third parties will not otherwise gain access to our trade secrets or other proprietary rights. As we expand our business, protecting our intellectual property will become increasingly important. The protective steps we have taken may be inadequate to deter our competitors from using our proprietary information. In order to protect or enforce our patent rights, we may be required to initiate litigation against third parties, such as infringement lawsuits. Also, these third parties may assert claims against us with or without provocation. These lawsuits could be expensive, take significant time and could divert management's attention from other business concerns. The law relating to the scope and validity of claims in the technology field in which we operate is still evolving and, consequently, intellectual property positions in our industry are generally uncertain. We cannot assure you that we will prevail in any of these potential suits or that the damages or other remedies awarded, if any, would be commercially valuable.

From time to time, third parties may claim that one or more of our products or services infringe on their intellectual property rights.

Any dispute or litigation regarding patents or other intellectual property could be costly and time-consuming due to the complexity of our technology and the uncertainty of intellectual property litigation and could divert our management and key personnel from our business operations. A claim of intellectual property infringement could force us to enter into a costly or restrictive license agreement, which might not be available under acceptable terms or at all, could require us to redesign our products, which would be costly and time-consuming, and/or could subject us to an injunction against development and sale of certain of our products or services. We may have to pay substantial damages, including damages for past infringement if it is ultimately determined that our product candidates infringe a third party's proprietary rights. Even if these claims are without merit, defending a lawsuit takes significant time, may be expensive, and may divert management's attention from other business concerns. Any public announcements related to litigation or interference proceedings initiated or threatened against us could cause our business to be harmed. Our intellectual property portfolio may not be useful in asserting a counterclaim, or negotiating a license, in response to a claim of intellectual property infringement.

We rely on other companies to provide major components for our extrusion-based 3D Printer.

We depend on third-party suppliers and subcontractors to meet our contractual obligations to our future customers and conduct our operations. Our ability to meet our obligations to our future customers may be adversely affected if suppliers or subcontractors do not provide the agreed-upon supplies or perform the agreed-upon services in compliance with customer requirements and in a timely and cost-effective manner. Likewise, the quality of our products may be adversely impacted if companies to whom we delegate manufacture of major components or subsystems for our products, or from whom we acquire such items, do not provide major components which meet required specifications and perform to our and our customers' expectations. Our suppliers may be less likely than us to be able to quickly recover from natural disasters and other events beyond their control and may be subject to additional risks such as financial problems that limit their ability to conduct their operations. The risk of these adverse effects may be greater in circumstances where we rely on only one or two subcontractors or suppliers for a particular major component.

We depend on third-party service providers and outsource providers for a variety of services, and we outsource a number of our non-core functions and operations.

In certain instances, we rely on single or limited service providers and outsourcing vendors because the relationship is advantageous due to quality, price, or lack of alternative sources. If production or service was interrupted and we were not able to find alternate third-party providers, we could experience disruptions in manufacturing and operations including product shortages, higher freight costs and re-engineering costs. If outsourcing services are interrupted or not performed or the performance is poor, this could impact our ability to process, record and report transactions with our customers and other constituents. Such interruptions in the provision of supplies and/or services could result in our inability to meet customer demand, damage our reputation and customer relationships and adversely affect our business.

We are selling Convertible Promissory Note that will convert into Non-Voting Common Stock.

The Convertible Promissory Note will convert into a number of the Company's Non-Voting Common Stock pursuant to certain terms. For example, If there is a Qualified Financing prior to the Maturity Date of the Convertible Promissory Note, the Convertible Promissory Note will convert into Non-Voting Common Stock and at a price per share equal to the lesser of (i) a discount of 18% on the price per share paid in the qualified equity financing or (ii) calculated based on a valuation cap of $8,000,000; meaning investors would be rewarded for taking on the early risk of investment. Investors in the Convertible Promissory Note will not know how much their investment is worth until that happens. The outside investors at the time of conversion, if any, might value the Company at an amount well below the $8,000,000 valuation cap, so you should not view the $8,000,000 valuation cap as being an indication of the Company's present value. If you choose to invest, you should be prepared that your Convertible Promissory Note may continue to be outstanding until the Maturity Date.

Investors will not have voting rights, even upon conversion of the Convertible Promissory Note into Non-Voting Common Stock.

Investors will not have the right to vote upon matters of the Company even if and when their Convertible Promissory Note are converted into Non-Voting Common Stock.

The terms of this Offering have been arbitrarily determined by the Company.

The valuation cap of $8,000,000 contained in the Convertible Promissory Note being offered has been determined solely and arbitrarily by the Company. The valuation cap bears no relationship to the present valuation of the Company. Additionally, no independent studies with respect to feasibility, management or marketing by a disinterested person have been considered in determining the Company's capital requirements or plans of operations. Therefore, there can be no assurance that the capital raised will be adequate for the execution of our business plan and the other objectives of the Company or that additional capital will not be required in the future on terms more favorable than offered in this Offering.

The Convertible Promissory Note and any Non-Voting Common Stock will not be freely tradable until one year from the initial purchase date. Although the Convertible Promissory Note may be tradable under federal securities law, state securities regulations may apply and each Investor should consult with his or her attorney.

You should be aware of the long-term nature of this investment. There is not now and likely will not be a public market for the securities. Because the Securities securities have not been registered under the Securities Act or under the securities laws of any state or non-United States jurisdiction, the Securities securities have transfer restrictions and cannot be resold in the United States except as otherwise provided under the Securities Act. It is not currently contemplated that registration under the Securities Act or other securities laws will be effected. Each investor in this Offering will be required to represent that it is purchasing the securities for its own account, for investment purposes and not with a view to resale or distribution thereof. The terms of the securities may not be indicative of the value of our Company. In the event of a conversion of the Convertible Promissory Note, you may be unable to sell the securities Non-Voting Common Stock received due to the conversion at or above your conversion price, which may result in substantial losses to you and which may include the complete loss of your investment. Without a public market, the value of the Company and the value of the securities may fluctuate significantly in the future. The trading price, if any, of the Convertible Promissory Note upon conversion to Non-Voting Common Stock that may prevail in any market that may develop in the future, for which there can be no assurance, may be higher or lower than the conversion price. Any of the risks described herein, or otherwise, could have a material adverse effect on our sales and profitability.

Securities with superior rights may be offered in the future.

In the future, it is likely that the Company will issue securities with rights superior to those associated with the securities purchased in the current round of funding. Those rights could include, but will not necessarily be limited to, the right to receive dividends, the right to participate in management, the right to receive preferential distributions on the sale of the Company, the right to be protected from dilution, and preemptive rights.

The Convertible Promissory Note contains an irrevocable waiver of a jury trial and any jury trial rights.

By purchasing a Convertible Promissory Note in this Offering, you agree to be bound by section 9 of the Convertible Promissory Note which contains a jury trial waiver as well as a waiver of all jury trial rights. Section 9 applies to all claims arising out of or relating to the Convertible Promissory Note.

You may have limited rights in the event the Convertible Note converts into shares of capital stock of the Company.

In the event the Convertible Notes convert into equity securities of the Company in a qualified equity financing, there is no way to know what rights, preferences and privileges those securities will have. Further, Convertible Note holders whose securities convert in a maturity conversion scenario will likely have no voting rights in the Company upon such conversion.

Investors will not be entitled to any inspection rights or information other than those required by law.

You will not have the right to inspect the books and records of the Company or receive financial or other information as Convertible Promissory Note holders are not considered shareholders. Other equity holders may have such rights. This lack of information could put Convertible Promissory Note holders at a disadvantage compared to other security holders.

There is no guarantee of a return on your investment.

There is no assurance that an investor will realize a return on its investment or that it will not lose its entire investment. For this reason, each investor should read the memorandum, and all exhibits carefully and should consult with its own attorney and business advisor prior to making any investment decision.

When and if the Convertible Promissory Note convert, your ownership of the Non-Voting Common Stock will be subject to dilution.

In case of a conversion of the Convertible Promissory Note into Non-Voting Common Stock of the Company, owners of the shares received due to the conversion may not have preemptive rights. If the Company conducts subsequent offerings of shares of capital stock of the Company, issues shares pursuant to a compensation or distribution reinvestment plan or otherwise issues additional shares, holders of the Non-Voting Common Stock who do not participate in those other stock issuances will experience dilution in their percentage ownership of the Company's outstanding shares.

The Company does not anticipate paying any cash dividends for the foreseeable future.

Investors should not expect to receive dividends if and when the Convertible Promissory Note convert into Non-Voting Common Stock of the Company. The Company currently intends to retain future earnings, if any, for the foreseeable future to support its operations and growth.

There can be no assurance that we will ever provide liquidity to investors through either a sale of the Company or a registration of the Non-Voting Common Stock.

There can be no assurance that any form of merger, combination, or sale of the Company will take place, or that any merger, combination, or sale would provide liquidity for investors. Furthermore, we may be unable to register the conversion shares for resale by investors for legal, commercial, regulatory, market-related or other reasons. In the event that we are unable to effect a registration, investors could be unable to sell their shares of capital stock in the Company, if any, unless an exemption from registration is available.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any Securities offered or the terms of this Offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

Investors should not rely on the fact that our Form C is accessible through the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission's EDGAR filing system as an approval, endorsement or guarantee of compliance as it related to this Offering.

The proceeds of this Offering may be insufficient.

The Company believes that the Maximum Offering Amount of $635,000 will be sufficient to fund the Company's operations through Q1 2022. However, if management's assumptions are incorrect, or if budgeted amounts are inadequate due to cost overruns, increased operating costs, or unexpected developments, the proceeds of the Offering may be insufficient for such purpose. In such event, we would likely require additional capital investment or debt financing to fund the above-referenced needs, and there can be no certainty that we would then be able to obtain funding on favorable terms or at all. If additional capital is needed and either unavailable or cost prohibitive, our operations and growth may be limited as we may need to change our business strategy to slow the rate of, or eliminate, our expansion or reduce or curtail our operations. Also, any additional financing we undertake could impose covenants upon us that restrict our operating flexibility, and, if we issue equity securities to raise capital our existing shareholders may experience dilution and the new securities may have rights, preferences and privileges senior to those of our existing membership interests.

Neither this Offering nor the securities have been registered under federal or state securities laws, leading to an absence of certain regulation applicable to the Company.

No governmental agency has reviewed or passed upon this Offering, the Company or any Securities of the Company. The Company also has relied on exemptions from securities registration requirements under applicable state securities laws. Investors in the Company's securities, therefore, will not receive any of the benefits that such registration would otherwise provide. Prospective investors must therefore assess the adequacy of disclosure and the fairness of the terms of this Offering on their own or in conjunction with their personal advisors.

The Company has the right to conduct multiple closings during this Offering.

If the Company meets certain terms and conditions, one or more intermediate closings of this Offering can occur, which will allow the Company to draw down proceeds of this Offering after the minimum offering amount has been reached and prior to this Offering deadline. The Company may choose to continue this Offering thereafter. Investors should be mindful that this means they can make multiple investment commitments in this Offering, which may be subject to different cancellation rights. For example, if an intermediate closing occurs as this Offering continues, investors' subscriptions previously accepted in an intermediate closing will not have the right to re-confirm their investment as it will be deemed completed and accepted by the Company.

The Company has the right to extend this Offering deadline.

The Company may extend this Offering deadline beyond what is currently stated herein. This means that this Offering may continue to be outstanding for an indefinite period of time.

We are not subject to Sarbanes-Oxley regulations and lack the financial controls and safeguards required of public companies.

We do not have the internal infrastructure necessary, and are not required, to complete an attestation about our financial controls that would be required under Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. There can be no assurance that there are no significant deficiencies or material weaknesses in the quality of our financial controls. We expect to incur additional expenses and diversion of management's time if and when it becomes necessary to perform the system and process evaluation, testing and remediation required in order to comply with the management certification and auditor attestation requirements.

Changes in federal, state or local laws and regulations could increase our expenses and adversely affect our results of operations.

Our business is subject to a wide array of laws and regulations. The government may render new regulatory regimes that may result in substantial new regulations and disclosure obligations and/or changes in the interpretation of existing laws and regulations, which may lead to additional compliance costs as well as the diversion of our management's time and attention from strategic initiatives. If we fail to comply with applicable laws and regulations we could be subject to legal risk, including government enforcement action and class action civil litigation that could disrupt our operations and increase our costs of doing business. Changes in the regulatory environment regarding topics such as privacy and information security, product safety or environmental protection, including regulations in response to concerns regarding climate change, collective bargaining activities, minimum wage laws and health care mandates, among others, could also cause our compliance costs to increase and adversely affect our business and results of operations.

We are required to comply with various import laws and export control and economic sanctions laws, which may affect our transactions with certain customers, business partners and other persons.

In certain circumstances, export control and economic sanctions regulations may prohibit the export of certain products, services and technologies. In other circumstances, we may be required to obtain an export license before exporting the controlled item. Compliance with the various import laws that apply to our businesses can restrict our access to, and increase the cost of obtaining, certain products and at times can interrupt our supply of imported inventory.

At that point, investors whose subscription agreements have been accepted will become our investors. The reviewing CPA has included a "going concern" note in the reviewed financials.

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming the Company will continue as a going concern. The Company has incurred losses and is in the startup phase, which raises substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue

Sale of the Company

In the event the Company consummates a Sale of the Company (as defined below) prior to the conversion or repayment in full of the Convertible Promissory Note, then (i) the Company will give the investor at least 15 days prior written notice of the anticipated closing date of such Sale of the Company and (ii) at the closing of such Sale of the Company, in full satisfaction of the Company's obligations under this Convertible Promissory Note, the Company will pay to the investor an aggregate amount equal to the greater of (a) the aggregate amount of the principal and all accrued and unpaid interest under the Convertible Promissory Note or (b) the amount the investor would have been entitled to receive in connection with such Sale of the Company if the aggregate amount of principal and interest then outstanding under the Convertible Promissory Note had been converted into Non-Voting Common Stock of the Company in accordance with the terms of the Convertible Promissory Note. "Sale of the Company" shall mean (i) any consolidation or merger of the Company with or into any other corporation or other entity or person, or any other corporate reorganization, other than any such consolidation, merger or reorganization in which the stockholders of the Company immediately prior to such consolidation, merger or reorganization, continue to hold at least a majority of the voting power of the surviving entity in substantially the same proportions (or, if the surviving entity is a wholly owned subsidiary, its parent) immediately after such consolidation, merger or reorganization; (ii) any transaction or series of related transactions to which the Company is a party in which in excess of 50% of the Company's voting power is transferred; provided, however, that a Sale of the Company shall not include any transaction or series of transactions principally for bona fide equity financing purposes in which cash is received by the Company or any successor or indebtedness of the Company is cancelled or converted or a combination thereof; or (iii) a sale, lease, exclusive license or other disposition of all or substantially all of the assets of the Company

Prepayment

The Company may repay the Convertible Promissory Note prior to the Maturity Date with the written consent of 51% in interest of the investors.

Amendment; Waiver

Any term of the Convertible Promissory Note may be amended or waived with the written consent of the Company and 51% in interest of the investors.

Maturity

Unless the Convertible Promissory Note has been previously converted in accordance with the terms of the Convertible Promissory Note prior to the Maturity Date, the entire outstanding principal balance and all unpaid accrued interest shall automatically be converted into Non-Voting Common Stock at a price per security equal to the quotient of $8,000,000 divided by the aggregate number of outstanding common stock of the Company as of immediately prior to the conversion of these Convertible Promissory Notes (assuming full conversion or exercise of all convertible and exercisable securities then outstanding other than the Notes Convertible Promissory Note.) as soon as a reasonably practicable following the Maturity Date.

Non-Voting Common Stock

The amount of security authorized is 0 with a total of 0 outstanding.

Voting Rights

There are no voting rights associated with Non-Voting Common Stock.

Material Rights

Same rights and preferences as common stock except for right to vote.

What it means to be a minority holder

As a holder of Convertible Promissory Note of the Company, you will have no rights in regard to the corporate actions of the Company, including additional issuances of securities, Company repurchases of securities, a sale of the Company or its significant assets, or Company transactions with related parties. Further, investors in this Offering may have rights less than those of other investors and will have limited influence on the corporate actions of the Company.

Dilution

Investors should understand the potential for dilution. An investor's stake in the Company could be diluted due to the Company issuing additional shares. In other words, when the Company issues more shares, the percentage of the Company that you own will go down, even though the value of the Company may go up. You will own a smaller piece of a larger Company. This increase in number of shares outstanding could result from a stock offering (such as an initial public offering, another crowdfunding round, a venture capital round, angel investment), employees exercising stock options, or by conversion of certain instruments (e.g. convertible notes, SAFEs, or options or warrants we have issued or may issue in the future) into capital stock. If the Company decides to issue more shares, an Investor could experience value dilution, with each share being worth less than before, and control dilution, with the total percentage an investor owns being less than before. There may also be earnings dilution, with a reduction in the amount earned per share (though this typically occurs only if a company offers dividends, and most early stage companies are unlikely to offer dividends, preferring to invest any earnings into the company).

Transferability of securities

For a year, the securities can only be resold:

- In an IPO;
- To the company;
- To an accredited investor; and
- To a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the purchaser or other similar circumstance.

Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Financial Condition

You should read the following discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of our operations together with our financial statements and related notes appearing at the end of this Offering Memorandum. This discussion contains forward-looking statements reflecting our current expectations that involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results and the timing of events may differ materially from those contained in these forward-looking statements due to a number of factors, including those discussed in the section entitled “Risk Factors” and elsewhere in this Offering Memorandum.

Results of Operations

How long can the business operate without revenue:

We currently have approximately $200,000.00 in cash on hand to execute our business strategy. The Company currently has an average burn rate of approximately $19,000.00 per month. The Company does not have any additional sources of capital other than the proceeds from this Offering and has a runway of at least 10 months, excluding the proceeds of this Offering.

Foreseeable major expenses based on projections:

The Company foresees its two largest expenditures to be in continued research and development, and investment in the protection of its intellectual property and its brand with patents and trademarks.

Future operational challenges:

As of the date of this Form C, we are at a pre-operational stage and cannot predict any future operational challenges.

Future challenges related to capital resources:

The Company currently has an average burn rate of $19,000.00 per month and has a runway of 10 months, excluding the proceeds from this Offering. The Company expects that the maximum offering amount under this Offering will be sufficient to fund the operations through Q1 of 2022. However, if the Company raises less than the maximum offering amount or budgeted amounts are inadequate due to factors such as cost overruns, increased operating costs, or unexpected developments, the Company may have to require additional capital investments or debt financings.

The upfront costs of a first factory run of our product will be a capital-intensive endeavor, followed by the associated costs of having a product on the market (ex. customer support, returns and warranty logistics, etc.).

Future milestones and events:

If and when our product is on the market and its productivity and reliability is validated by end-users, then we have a higher probability of securing long-term revenue streams via defense department procurement contracts.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

What capital resources are currently available to the Company? (Cash on hand, existing lines of credit, shareholder loans, etc...)

Cash on-hand is approximately $200,000.00

How do the funds of this campaign factor into your financial resources? (Are these funds critical to your company operations? Or do you have other funds or capital resources available?)

While the campaign proceeds are critical to scaling our business, the Company can sustain operations without such proceeds until at least the end of the year 2020. Other capital resources available to the Company in the near future include proceeds from government grants that the Company may be eligible for.

Are the funds from this campaign necessary to the viability of the company? (Of the total funds that your company has, how much of that will be made up of funds raised from the crowdfunding campaign?)

While the campaign proceeds are critical to scaling our business, the Company can sustain operations without such proceeds until at least the end of the year 2020. The Company's current funds will enable it to grow in value through continued research and development and the protection of its intellectual property with patents. Other capital resources available to the Company include proceeds from government grants that the Company may be eligible for.

How long will you be able to operate the company if you raise your minimum? What expenses is this estimate based on?

We expect we will be able to operate through at least Q1 2021 if we raise the minimum. This estimate is based on expenses relating to recurring costs such as payroll, office space and business services, investment in research and development, and the legal costs associated with protecting our intellectual property via patents and trademarks.

How long will you be able to operate the company if you raise your maximum funding goal?

We expect we will be able to operate through at least calendar year 2021 if we raise the maximum offering amount.

Are there any additional future sources of capital available to your company? (Required capital contributions, lines of credit, contemplated future capital raises, etc...)

Future sources of capital available to the Company include government grants that the Company may be eligible for, venture investment from startup accelerators, revenue-generation through the sale of the Company's extrusion-based additive manufacturing technology and related hardware and software services, and additional capital raises.

- StartEngine Platform Fees
3.5%
- Research & Development

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

March 6, 2020

To: Board of Directors, R3 Printing, Inc.

Re: YE 2019-2018 Financial Statement Audit

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of R3 Printing, Inc. (the "Company"), which comprise the balance sheets as of December 31, 2019 and 2018, and the related statements of operations, stockholders' equity/deficit, and cash flows for the calendar year period ended December 31, 2019 and the inception period of March 12, 2018 (inception) through December 31, 2018, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit of the Company's financial statements in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2019 and 2018, and the results of its operations, shareholders' equity/deficit and its cash flows for the calendar year period ended December 31, 2019 and the inception period of March 12, 2018 (inception) through December 31, 2018 in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Going Concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 7 to the financial statements, the Company has suffered recurring losses from operations and has a net capital deficiency that raise substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. Management's evaluation of the events and conditions and management's plans regarding these matters are also described in Note 1 and 7. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

Sincerely,

IndigoSpire CPA Group

R3 PRINTING, INC.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
For the Periods ending December 31, 2019 and 2018

NOTE 1 - NATURE OF OPERATIONS

R3 Printing, Inc. (which may be referred to as the “Company,” “we,” “us,” or “our”) develops, markets and otherwise commercializes three dimensional printing technology and hardware.

Since Inception, the Company has relied on raising capital to fund its operations. As of December 31, 2019, the Company will likely incur losses prior to generating positive working capital. These matters raise substantial concern about the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern. During the next 12 months, the Company intends to fund its operations with funding from a crowdfunding campaign (see Note 8) and funds from revenue producing activities, if and when such can be realized. If the Company cannot secure additional short-term capital, it may cease operations. These financial statements and related notes thereto do not include any adjustments that might result from these uncertainties.

The Company incorporated on March 12, 2018 in the State of Delaware. The Company moved headquarters from New York City, NY to Los Angeles, CA during 2019. The Company did not begin operations until 2018.

NOTE 2 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The accounting and reporting policies of the Company conform to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP").

Use of Estimates

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and the footnotes thereto. Actual results could differ from those estimates. It is reasonably possible that changes in estimates will occur in the near term.

Risks and Uncertainties

The Company has a limited operating history. The Company's business and operations are sensitive to general business and economic conditions in the United States. A host of factors beyond the Company's control could cause fluctuations in these conditions. Adverse conditions may include: recession, downturn or otherwise, local competition or changes in consumer taste. These adverse conditions could affect the Company's financial condition and the results of its operations. As of December 31, 2019, the Company is operating as a going concern. See Note 1 and Note 7 for additional information. The Company’s early revenue producing activities have been generated from a single customer, but the Company plans to expand the customer base significantly.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers short-term, highly liquid investment with original maturities of three months or less at the time of purchase to be cash equivalents. Cash consists of funds held in the Company’s checking account. As of December 31, 2019 and 2018, the Company had cash on hand totaling $272,512 and $63,200, respectively.

Receivables and Credit Policy

Trade receivables from customers are uncollateralized customer obligations due under normal trade terms, primarily requiring payment before services are rendered. Trade receivables are stated at the amount billed to the customer. Payments of trade receivables are allocated to the specific invoices identified on the customer’s remittance advice or, if unspecified, are applied to the earliest unpaid invoice. The Company, by policy, routinely assesses the financial strength of its customer. As a result, the Company believes that its accounts receivable credit risk exposure is limited and it has not experienced significant write-downs in its accounts receivable balances.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Expenditures for renewals and improvements that significantly add to the productive capacity or extend the useful life of an asset are capitalized. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred. When equipment is retired or sold, the cost and related accumulated depreciation are eliminated from the balance sheet accounts and the resultant gain or loss is reflected in income.

Depreciation is provided using the straight-line method, based on useful lives of the assets which range from three to five years.

Intangible Assets

The Company reviews the carrying value of intangible assets for impairment whenever events and circumstances indicate that the carrying value of an asset may not be recoverable from the estimated future cash flows expected to result from its use and eventual disposition. In cases where undiscounted expected future cash flows are less than the carrying value, an impairment loss is recognized equal to an amount by which the carrying value exceeds the fair value of assets. The factors considered by management in performing this assessment include current operating results, trends and prospects, the manner in which the property is used, and the effects of obsolescence, demand, competition, and other economic factors. The Company has not recorded any impairment as of December 31, 2019.

Fair Value Measurements

The Company has determined the fair value of certain assets and liabilities in accordance with United States generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"), which provides a framework for measuring fair value.

Fair value is defined as the exchange price that would be received for an asset or paid to transfer a liability (an exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market for the asset or liability in an orderly transaction between market participants on the measurement date. Valuation techniques should maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

A fair value hierarchy has been established, which prioritizes the valuation inputs into three broad levels. Level 1 inputs consist of quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the reporting entity has the ability to access at the measurement date. Level 2 inputs are inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for the related asset or liability. Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs related to the asset or liability.

Income Taxes

Income taxes are provided for the tax effects of transactions reporting in the financial statements and consist of taxes currently due plus deferred taxes related primarily to differences between the basis of receivables, inventory, property and equipment, intangible assets, and accrued expenses for financial and income tax reporting. The deferred tax assets and liabilities represent the future tax return consequences of those differences, which will either be taxable or deductible when the assets and liabilities are recovered or settled. Deferred tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance when, in the opinion of management, it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized.

There is no income tax provision for the Company for the period from Inception through December 31, 2019 as the Company had no taxable income from its start-up operations. Therefore, no provision for income tax has been recorded in the financial statements. Income from the Company is reported and taxed under Internal Revenue Code as a C corporation.

The Company evaluates its tax positions that have been taken or are expected to be taken on income tax returns to determine if an accrual is necessary for uncertain tax positions. As of December 31, 2019, the unrecognized tax benefits accrual was zero.

Revenue Recognition

The Company recognizes revenue when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, delivery has occurred or services have been rendered, the fee for the arrangement is fixed or determinable and collectability is reasonably assured.

Other Income

During 2019 and 2018, the Company won multiple competitions and earned prize awards and grants totaling $53,627 and $6,885, respectively. The Company recorded those winnings as other income in the period won. As that income does not reflect the recurring business of the Company, the grant and prize income are recorded as Other Income in the Statement of Operations.

Advertising Expenses

The Company expenses advertising costs as they are incurred.

Organizational Costs

In accordance with FASB ASC 720, organizational costs, including accounting fees, legal fee, and costs of incorporation, are expensed as incurred.

Capitalized Patent Costs

The Company applies the principles of GAAP to record an asset for its capitalized patent costs. During the current period, the Company acquired the rights to certain patented or patent pending technology from an affiliate company or person. The affiliate company had incurred costs in securing the patent or in the submission of patent documents. The Company has therefore capitalized the actual patent costs incurred rather than any acquisition cost with a related party. Accordingly, the Company will test the value of these capitalized patent costs for impairment in accordance with GAAP.

Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company maintains its cash with a major financial institution located in the United States of America, which it believes to be credit worthy. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insures balances up to $250,000. At times, the Company may maintain balances in excess of the federally insured limits.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In May 2014, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") No. 2014-09, "Revenue from Contracts with Customers". Under this guidance, revenue is recognized when promised goods or services are transferred to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration expected to be received for those goods or services. The updated standard will replace most existing revenue recognition guidance under U.S. GAAP when it becomes effective and permits the use of either the retrospective or cumulative effect transition method. Early adoption is not permitted. The updated standard for nonpublic entities will be effective after December 15, 2018, and interim periods within annual periods beginning after December 15, 2019. We are currently evaluating the effect that the updated standard will have on our financial statements and related disclosures.

In February 2016, FASB issued ASU No. 2016-02, Leases, that requires organizations that lease assets, referred to as "lessees", to recognize on the balance sheet the assets and liabilities for the rights and obligations created by those leases with lease terms of more than 12 months. ASU 2016-02 will also require disclosures to help investors and other financial statement users better understand the amount, timing, and uncertainty of cash flows arising from leases and will include qualitative and quantitative requirements. The new standard for nonpublic entities will be effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019, and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2020, and early application is permitted. We are currently evaluating the effect that the updated standard will have on our financial statements and related disclosures.

In August 2016, FASB issued ASU No. 2016-15, "Statement of Cash Flows (Topic 230)." ASU 2016-15 provides classification guidance for certain cash receipts and cash payments including payment of debt extinguishment costs, settlement of zero-coupon debt instruments, insurance claim payments and distributions from equity method investees. The standard is effective on January 1, 2018, with early adoption permitted. The Company is currently in the process of evaluating the impact the adoption will have on its financial statements and related disclosures.

In May 2017, FASB issued ASU 2017-09, "Compensation- Stock Compensation (Topic 718): Scope of Modification Accounting", clarifies such that an entity must apply modification accounting to changes in the terms or conditions of a share-based payment award unless all of the following criteria are met: (1) the fair value of the modified award is the same as the fair value of the original award immediately before the modification. The ASU indicates that if the modification does not affect any of the inputs to the valuation technique used to value the award, the entity is not required to estimate the value immediately before and after the modification; (2) the vesting conditions of the modified award are the same as the vesting conditions of the original award immediately before the modification; and (3) the classification of the modified award as an equity instrument or a liability instrument is the same as the classification of the original award immediately before the modification. The ASU is effective for all entities for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2017, including interim periods within those years. Early adoption is permitted, including adoption in an interim period. The Company is currently evaluating the impact that this standard will have on our consolidated financial statements.

The FASB issues ASUs to amend the authoritative literature in ASC. There have been a number of ASUs to date, including those above, that amend the original text of ASC. Management believes that those issued to date either (i) provide supplemental guidance, (ii) are technical corrections, (iii) are not applicable to us or (iv) are not expected to have a significant impact our balance sheet.

NOTE 3 – CAPITALIZED PATENT COSTS

Intangible Assets as of December 31, 2019 and 2018 consisted of the following:

	2019	2018
Beginning balance	$ 18,580	$ 0
Patent Costs Contributed	0	15,880
Add: additional legal costs	14,225	2,700
Less: impairment	(0)	(0)
Ending balance	$ 32,805	$ 18,580

Current impairment expense totaled $0 for the periods ended December 31, 2019 and 2018.

NOTE 4 – INCOME TAX PROVISION

The Company has not yet filed a corporate tax return but has engaged competent advisors to do so as soon as possible for the years 2018 and 2019. The Company incurred a loss during the period from Inception through December 31, 2018 and so no tax provision is required as any deferred tax asset is unlikely to have value based on the Company's lack of taxable income.

NOTE 5 – COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

Legal Matters

Company is not currently involved with and does not know of any pending or threatening litigation against the Company or its management team.

NOTE 6 – SHAREHOLDERS' EQUITY AND CONVERTIBLE NOTE

Capital Contributions

Through 2018, the Company had authorized the issuance of up to 10 million shares of a single class of common stock, par value of $0.001. In conjunction with the Company's founding and start-up, 4.0 million of these shares were issued to founders, management or key partners.

Stock Transactions

During 2019, the Company repurchased 1,400,000 shares of a resigning member of management for $25,000 payable in installments of $6,000 during 2019 and $19,000 payable in 2020. The Company recorded this repurchase as a charge against additional paid-in capital and recorded a liability of the amounts due in 2020. Additionally, existing members of management were issued 3,000,000 shares in exchange for $3,000 in cash consideration at par.

Issuance of Convertible Note

During the current period, the Company issued a convertible note to Ocean Capital III, LLC (the "Investor") with a face value of $50,000, stated interest rate of 5 percent per annum in exchange for $50,000. The convertible note is associated with a stock warrant allowing the Investor to purchase up to 50 percent of the available convertible debt or equity securities offered by the Company in an institutional securities offering up to $500,000. The convertible note also provides an automatic conversion to equity at 75 percent of the price of the equity issued in a qualifying financing event or an option to convert to equity at specified pricing in a non-qualified round of financing.

Issuance of SAFE Instruments

The Company offered SAFE instruments to outside investors in an equity crowdfunding campaign during 2018 and 2019. The Company issued SAFE instruments and carries a balance of SAFE instruments, net of offering expenses of $494,005 and 95,296, respectively as of December 31, 2019 and 2018.

NOTE 7 – GOING CONCERN

These financial statements are prepared on a going concern basis. The Company began operation in 2018 and incurred a loss for the period from Inception through December 31, 2019. The Company's ability to continue is dependent upon management's plan to raise additional funds (see Note 8) and the ability to achieve profitable operations. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might be necessary if the Company is not able to continue as a going concern.

NOTE 8– SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Anticipated Crowdfunded Offering – Regulation CF

The Company is intending to launch a securities offering campaign exempt from registration under Regulation CF during the later portion of the first quarter of 2020. In this Regulation CF offering, the Company may raise up to $635,000 before netting against offering expenses.

Management's Evaluation

Management has evaluated subsequent events through March 6, 2020, the date the financial statements were available to be issued. Based on this evaluation, no additional material events were identified which require adjustment or disclosure in the financial statements.

Reasons to Invest

- Targeting the $15.8 billion-dollar Additive Manufacturing (3D Printing) market sector, R3 Printer is the key to custom 3D-printed products at prices that can compete with mass production.
- Patented systems remove the barriers to running a scalable on-demand manufacturing business, allowing on-demand manufacturers to operate more 3D printers with the same staff, cutting the cost of custom 3D-printed products.
- Industry growth is projected at ~$24 billion in revenue by 2022, and ~$36 billion by 2024. Raised over $550k to date from strategic investors; backed by Ocean

Accelerator, and a recipient of federal grant funding from the United States Air Force.

The Problem

3D printers are too expensive to run

Manual labor is the silent killer that keeps custom 3D-printed products priced out-of-reach in a premium product tier away from the mainstream market.

Manufacturers operating 3D printers find themselves in a bind: cheap 3D printers require lots of setup, manual labor, and expertise to run while enterprise-grade 3D printers are expensive and are locked into overpriced proprietary materials that destroy margins.

The end result, no matter which class of 3D printer is used, is that the cost of 3D printing is just too high, so custom 3D-printed products are expensive - and priced out of the mainstream market.

Custom 3D-printed products are priced out of reach

The solution seems so simple: with enough 3D printers, one could build a business offering customized products that capture market share away from their mass-produced counterparts. But a look at the custom 3D-printed products on the market today quickly reveals the issue:

This graphic compares mass-produced earbuds with custom 3D-printed earbuds. On the left, a white mass-produced earbud is shown with the text "Mass-Produced Earbuds" and "$159+". In the center, a yellow arrow points upwards with the text "200% Price Increase". On the right, a custom 3D-printed earbud in red and clear is shown with the text "Custom, 3D-Printed Earbuds" and "$499+".

Product Type	Price
Mass-Produced Earbuds	$159+
Custom, 3D-Printed Earbuds	$499+

Product Type	Price
Mass-Produced Insoles	$8
Custom, 3D-Printed Insoles	$99

While it's clear that there's a demand for products that are custom-made to fit the buyer, the unexpected outcome is that these are premium products available only to those who can afford them.

Mass production isn't personal

Manufacturing techniques like injection molding are the reason we have access to so many affordable products that make our lives comfortable and convenient. By standardizing the size and shape of a product and manufacturing it by the millions, the price becomes sufficiently low that most people can afford to buy it. That's a win, right?

But there's a downside: for the things in our lives that we wear, touch, or hold - usually the things that we interact with most - a standard size and shape means an imperfect fit for basically everyone.

Think about it: does it make sense that an insole that provides arch support has the same amount of arch for everyone? Of course not. But the only way around this is to manufacture using a different technology that introduces a whole new problem: cost.

Until now...

The Solution

Say hello to R3 Printer

R3 Printer is the additive manufacturing workhorse that businesses have been waiting for.

It's designed from the inside-out to be the ultimate platform for running a scalable on-demand manufacturing service.

Radically re-engineered for performance

Patented innovations on multiple key components make R3 Printer a purpose-built powerhouse for manufacturing.

On-demand manufacturers run 3D printers for a living, so we made sure that R3 Printer not only stands up to 24x7 duty cycles, but also outperforms current market offerings:

It prints faster.

R3 Printer prints 90% faster than the competition.

» Businesses can print more parts in a day, generating more revenue.

It prints bigger.

R3 Printer prints over 200% larger than the competition.

» Businesses can finally serve customers with large print size requirements.

It won't jam.

Active Overheat Prevention™ virtually eliminates downtime.

» Businesses can spend less time on maintenance, allowing them to scale.

Unrestricted long-term value

R3 Printer is an unlocked product that gives our customers a competitive advantage:

Unlocked materials.

Say goodbye to limited selections of expensive proprietary materials.

» Businesses can price themselves competitively and still recoup their investment.

Cloud is optional.

R3 Printer doesn't require the cloud for operations or monitoring.

» Perfect for businesses or government agencies with strict security requirements.

With R3 Printer, on-demand manufacturers can print with experimental thermoplastics to serve customers they would otherwise be forced to turn away if they were locked into a competitor's material ecosystem.

For government agencies with strict security requirements, or businesses with very specific software workflow needs, R3 Printer is the solution. Our customers have the power to disable cloud connectivity yet still retain access to all operations and monitoring features over a local network.

With R3 Printer, businesses get both long-term value and out-of-the-box functionality.

As seen in:

How It Works

Lighter printhead = faster print speeds

You can't beat the laws of physics: a lighter printhead can accelerate and decelerate faster than a heavy one.

In the case of R3 Printer, by shedding over 80% of the weight off the printhead, combined with other optimizations, R3 Printer can achieve print speeds that are 90% faster than competing extrusion-based 3D printers.

Our printhead is so small, it fits in the palm of your hand.

Smaller printhead = larger print sizes

R3 Printer has a 200% larger build area than competing extrusion-based 3D printers, even though it has the same exact footprint:

A smaller printhead can utilize the full length and width of a printer's internal volume. Unlike the competition, whose relatively large printers have very limited print sizes, R3 Printer can produce parts almost as big as itself.

Active Overheat Prevention™ virtually eliminates jams

Active Overheat Prevention™ uses an additional sensor in the printhead to monitor heat absorption and trigger a pause in printing if a critical threshold is reached:

Common thermally-induced jams take about 45 minutes of trained labor to fix, and introduce the opportunity for operators to get burned or injured. These jams happen without warning and usually go undetected for long periods of time, often after back-to-back print jobs.

By virtually eliminating the need to repair thermally-induced printer failures, Active Overheat Prevention™ allows on-demand manufacturing businesses to operate more 3D printers with the same staff, eliminating a major cost driver of 3D-printed goods.

Market Opportunity

Multibillion-dollar market

R3 Printing is addressing the multibillion-dollar additive manufacturing (3D printing) market sector, forecasted to surpass $23 billion in revenue by 2022:

Early-stage investments surpass $1 billion

Our industry invests heavily in early-stage startups that develop disruptive technology. In 2018, there were 107 early-stage investments valued at nearly $1.3 billion.

Notable events in this space also include acquisitions, where established players from related industries acquire startups as part of their strategy for entering the lucrative, but competitive, additive manufacturing (3D printing) industry.

Growth and Traction

Patents

R3 Printing has 1 granted patent, and 4 pending utility patents to protect all of the core features and mechanisms that make our products the ultimate platform for additive manufacturing.

Obtaining a granted utility patent is a rigorous process and an incredible milestone - according to a U.S. patent statistics chart, only about half of all patent applications received by the USPTO are granted.

Utility patents secure a higher level of protection for intellectual property, and are a major distinction from 'provisional' patents used by many startups.

In a competitive and rapidly-expanding field like 3D printing, investing in intellectual property is essential to protecting the valuable research and development that goes into innovation, thereby increasing the value of the company.

Other Intellectual Property

R3 Printing has 4 registered federal trademarks and 2 pending trademark applications to protect our products and our brand as the standard-bearer for on-demand manufacturing technology.

Branding is more than just a logo, it's how people experience us and our business, and we know the importance of protecting it.

Testing Partners

R3 Printing is excited to be partnered with several companies that are eager to test the next generation of additive manufacturing technology:

We're thrilled to partner with Modularity Space, a Florida-based aerospace company developing a suite of scalable and affordable satellites and spacecraft.

Modularity Space seeks to leverage R3 Printer's advanced capabilities by using experimental metal-infused materials to bring affordable low-earth and geosynchronous orbits to the world.

Additional testing partners in our pipeline include:

- Obsessively Geek | New York, NY | On-demand manufacturing
- Forge Manufacturing | Jacksonville, FL | On-demand manufacturing and digital design

State & Federal Grant Funding

R3 Printing is a proud recipient of a Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) federal government grant, in partnership with AFWERX and the United States Air Force (USAF).

In addition, R3 Printing has partnered with Defense Innovation Lab (DiLab) for a New York State-funded joint research and development initiative, funded by a Manufacturing Technology Assistance Grant (MTAG).

Note: The appearance of U.S. Department of Defense (DoD) visual information does not imply or constitute DoD endorsement.

The partnership potential with the USAF and other defense end-users represents part of a multibillion-dollar opportunity as they move to adopt additive manufacturing technology to save costs and increase operational readiness.

Incubators, Accelerators, and Venture Capital

R3 Printing is a proud alumnus of OCEAN Accelerator Class IV, a highly selective Cincinnati-based technology accelerator that only accepts up to 10 startups in its annual cohort and deploys seed-stage capital to each of its portfolio companies.

In addition, R3 Printing has had the pleasure to partner and grow with FutureWorks - a hardware and advanced manufacturing incubator funded by the New York City Economic Development Corporation (NYCEDC).

Market Capture Strategy

We know the importance of having a clearly-defined target market and a focused approach to capturing it. While our total addressable market includes all businesses and entities that use 3D printers as a key part of their operations, we've segmented our market capture strategy into three phases in order to maximize our market penetration:

By systematically entering and saturating a market segment before progressing to the next one, we operate efficiently and avoid wasting valuable resources pursuing high-lift relationships prematurely.

Phase 1: Our initial target market consists of On-Demand Manufacturing businesses (ODMs). ODMs are businesses that offer 3D printing services as a sole or primary means of revenue.

Specifically targeting ODMs as our initial target market is important. These businesses are eager to lower their overhead labor costs and increase their output capacity, and are experts in the field of 3D printing. They'll more readily understand the value proposition of our product ecosystem, and we can close sales with lower customer acquisition costs.

Phase 2: After sufficiently saturating our initial target market, we'll expand our sales coverage to include other businesses such as engineering, architecture, and product design firms. These entities don't solely rely on profits from selling manufacturing services, and they'll likely require more marketing resources to convert into closed sales.

Phase 3: Up next are large enterprises, including universities. These entities typically enter complex, multi-year relationships with their technology partners. Although lucrative, the high-lift process to getting a signed contract requires significant sales, legal, and customer success teams to meet the support requirements of these agreements.

Initial Target Market Location - North America

North America (specifically, the US and Canada) leads the world in the adoption of 3D printing technology, representing 37.1% of industrial 3D printer sales worldwide:

Over $2.6 billion dollars' worth of 3D printers were sold globally in 2018, of which $974 million were sold in North America alone. This opportunity, combined with minimized shipping and associated export costs, makes it the logical geographic starting point for market capture.

Roadmap

Design for Manufacture / Design for Assembly

R3 Printer is currently in the Design for Manufacture / Design for Assembly \(DFM / DFA\) stages of the product engineering lifecycle. This means that we're revising the design of various systems and components to reduce the cost of manufacturing and assembly of our products.

For example, we discovered that by revising the chassis design of R3 Printer to be aluminum instead of stainless steel we'll save over 25% per unit in manufacturing costs - without sacrificing performance or durability.

Similar changes across our product line will ensure that each and every product and component is designed to maximize performance while also maximizing profitability - helping us become the standard-bearer for on-demand manufacturing technology.

Premium Cloud Features

As we progress through the stages of our market capture strategy and pursue contracts with larger enterprises, we anticipate a need for cloud features that go beyond what we would offer as a default suite of functionality.

To fill this need, we plan to build and offer premium cloud features on a subscription basis.

Future Products

We have big plans for R3 Printing, and our roadmap goes far beyond our launch product.

We didn't just design a better 3D printer, we developed a future-focused platform for the ultimate additive manufacturing ecosystem:

R3 PrintGrid™ is the solution for customers with extreme manufacturing capacity needs. By stacking R3 Printer units vertically and connecting them to a shared water cooling loop and power delivery system, these customers can operate even more efficiently by manufacturing more parts per square foot in their factories than ever before.

The Competition

We're not the first to introduce an enterprise-grade 3D printer to the market, but we are the first to introduce a 3D printer that's designed from the inside out for businesses that operate on-demand manufacturing services.

R3 Printer is the only product that checks all the boxes for our target market:

On-demand manufacturers operating a fleet of 3D printers currently have three tiers of products to choose from, none of which are optimized for running a profitable business:

Budget 3D Printers: This is a popular starting point, and the route that many businesses take. The main benefit is that one can start their business with a lower upfront investment, but the operators are permanently left with limited print sizes and slow print speeds. Out-of-the-box, this tier of 3D printer requires either lots of maintenance or heavy modifications that need real engineering knowledge to implement.

By operating a fleet of budget-tier 3D printers, businesses are left with a limited customer base and potentially high overhead labor costs.

High-End Consumer ("Prosumer") 3D Printers: An upgrade to high-end consumer ("prosumer") 3D printers doesn't yield many more benefits, especially given the larger initial investment. For the most part, these printers offer slightly improved (but still limited) print sizes, improved out-of-the-box reliability, and some convenient features like network connectivity - though not necessarily cloud-based fleet management. At the end of the day, the higher upfront investment in these 3D printers compared to their ability to generate more revenue isn't that great.

Therefore, most on-demand manufacturing services still opt for budget-tier 3D printers and simply put up with their shortcomings and/or invest in their modification.

(Current) Enterprise-Grade 3D Printers: Current enterprise-grade 3D printers typically begin above the $10k price point, offer larger print sizes, and additional software management features. At first glance, they seem like a great platform for running an on-demand manufacturing service. Unfortunately, customers of these products are typically locked into proprietary material supplies controlled by the manufacturer that strip away profits in the long-term, and stretches out the timeline to recoup the large initial investment.

By operating a fleet of (current) enterprise-grade 3D printers, businesses are left with a high initial investment to recoup and often a locked materials supply that limits their ability to price themselves competitively.

The case for an unlocked materials supply

Many enterprise-grade 3D printers lock their customers into a proprietary material supply. This has major ramifications for the businesses that operate them. Not only are the proprietary materials priced far above market rate, they also prevent the operators from using new and experimental materials from other suppliers, further hurting their businesses by limiting their addressable market.

3D printers with locked material supplies aren't profitable to operate.

R3 Printing pledges to never lock its products to a particular material or software ecosystem. Instead, we plan on building additional streams of revenue by allowing our customers to opt-in to additional services and features that add value to their businesses, but they will never be forced to do so.

Our research shows that this is a key part of long-term customer retention, and we're making it a big part of our strategy for capturing market share.

STARTENGINE SUBSCRIPTION PROCESS (Exhibit E)

Platform Compensation

- As compensation for the services provided by StartEngine Capital, the issuer is required to pay to StartEngine Capital a fee consisting of a 6-8% (six to eight percent) commission based on the dollar amount of securities sold in the Offering and paid upon disbursement of funds from escrow at the time of a closing. The commission is paid in cash and in securities of the Issuer identical to those offered to the public in the Offering at the sole discretion of StartEngine Capital. Additionally, the issuer must reimburse certain expenses related to the Offering. The securities issued to StartEngine Capital, if any, will be of the same class and have the same terms, conditions and rights as the securities being offered and sold by the issuer on StartEngine Capital's website.

Information Regarding Length of Time of Offering

- Investment Cancellations: Investors will have up to 48 hours prior to the end of the offering period to change their minds and cancel their investment commitments for any reason. Once within 48 hours of ending, investors will not be able to cancel for any reason, even if they make a commitment during this period.
- Material Changes: Material changes to an offering include but are not limited to: A change in minimum offering amount, change in security price, change in management, material change to financial information, etc. If an issuer makes a material change to the offering terms or other information disclosed, including a change to the offering deadline, investors will be given five business days to reconfirm their investment commitment. If investors do not reconfirm, their investment will be cancelled and the funds will be returned.

Hitting The Target Goal Early & Oversubscriptions

- StartEngine Capital will notify investors by email when the target offering amount has hit 25%, 50% and 100% of the funding goal. If the issuer hits its goal early, and the minimum offering period of 21 days has been met, the issuer can create a new target deadline at least 5 business days out. Investors will be notified of the new target deadline via email and will then have the opportunity to cancel up to 48 hours before new deadline.
- Oversubscriptions: We require all issuers to accept oversubscriptions. This may not be possible if: 1) it vaults an issuer into a different category for financial statement requirements (and they do not have the requisite financial statements); or 2) they reach $1.07M in investments. In the event of an oversubscription, shares will be allocated at the discretion of the issuer.
- If the sum of the investment commitments does not equal or exceed the target offering amount at the offering deadline, no securities will be sold in the offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned.
- If a StartEngine issuer reaches its target offering amount prior to the deadline, it may conduct an initial closing of the offering early if they provide notice of the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to the new offering deadline (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment). StartEngine will notify investors when the issuer meets its target offering amount. Thereafter, the issuer may conduct additional closings until the offering deadline.

Minimum and Maximum Investment Amounts

- In order to invest, to commit to an investment or to communicate on our platform, users must open an account on StartEngine Capital and provide certain personal and non-personal information including information related to income, net worth, and other investments.
- Investor Limitations: Investors are limited in how much they can invest on all crowdfunding offerings during any 12-month period. The limitation on how much they can invest depends on their net worth (excluding the value of their primary residence) and annual income. If either their annual income or net worth is less than $107,000, then during any 12-month period, they can invest up to the greater of either $2,200 or 5% of the lesser of their annual income or net worth. If both their annual income and net worth are equal to or more than $107,000, then during any 12-month period, they can invest up to 10% of annual income or net worth, whichever is less, but their investments cannot exceed $107,000.

CONVERTIBLE PROMISSORY NOTE SERIES %YEAR% - CF

$%VESTING_AMOUNT%

%TODAY%

For value received %NAME_OF_ISSUER%, a %STATE_INCORPORATED% corporation (the "Company"), promises to pay to %VESTING_AS%, the investor party hereto ("Investor") who is recorded in the books and records of the Company as having subscribed to this convertible promissory note (the "Note") the principal amount set forth above and on the signature page of his/her subscription agreement (the "Subscription Agreement"), together with accrued and unpaid interest thereon, each due and payable on the date and in the manner set forth below. This Note is issued as part of a series of similar convertible promissory notes issued by the Company pursuant to Regulation Crowdfunding (collectively, the "Crowdfunding Notes") to qualified purchasers on the funding portal StartEngine Capital LLC (collectively, the "Investors").

1. Repayment. All payments of interest and principal shall be in lawful money of the United States of America and shall be made pro rata among all Investors. All payments shall be applied first to accrued interest, and thereafter to principal. The outstanding principal amount of the Note shall be due and payable on January 1, 2024 (the "Maturity Date").

2. Interest Rate. The Company promises to pay simple interest on the outstanding principal amount hereof from the date hereof until payment in full, which interest shall be payable at the rate of 5% per annum or the maximum rate permissible by law, whichever is less. Interest shall be due and payable on the Maturity Date and shall be calculated on the basis of a 365-day year for the actual number of days elapsed.

3. Conversion; Repayment Premium Upon Sale of the Company.

(a) In the event that the Company issues and sells equity securities to investors (the “Equity Investors”) on or before the date of the repayment in full of this Note in a transaction or series of transactions pursuant to which the Company issues and sells shares of equity securities resulting in gross proceeds to the Company of at least $1,000,000 (excluding the conversion of the Notes and any other debt) (a “Qualified Financing”), then it converts into shares of non-voting common stock at conversion price equal to the lesser of (i) 82% of the per share price paid by the Investors or (ii) the price equal to the quotient of $8,000,000 divided by the aggregate number of outstanding shares of common stock of the Company (including non-voting common stock and common stock together as a class) as of immediately prior to the initial closing of the Qualified Financing (assuming full conversion or exercise of all convertible and exercisable securities then outstanding other than the Notes.)

(b) If the conversion of the Note would result in the issuance of a fractional share, the Company shall, in lieu of issuance of any fractional share, pay the Investor otherwise entitled to such fraction a sum in cash equal to the product resulting from multiplying the then current fair market value of one share of the class and series of capital stock into which this Note has converted by such fraction.

(c) Notwithstanding any provision of this Note to the contrary, if the Company consummates a Sale of the Company (as defined below) prior to the conversion or repayment in full of this Note, then (i) the Company will give the Investor at least 15 days prior written notice of the anticipated closing date of such Sale of the Company and (ii) at the closing of such Sale of the Company, in full satisfaction of the Company’s obligations under this Note, the Company will pay to the Investor an aggregate amount equal to the greater of (a) the aggregate amount of the principal and all unaccrued and unpaid interest under this Note or (b) the amount the Investor would have been entitled to receive in connection with such Sale of the Company if the aggregate amount of principal and interest then outstanding under this Note had been converted into shares of non-voting common stock of the Company pursuant to Section 3(a) immediately prior to the closing of such Sale of the Company.

(d) In no event will any interests charged, collected, or reserved under this Note exceed the maximum rate then permitted by applicable law, and if any payment made by the Company under this Note exceeds such maximum rate, then such excess sum will be credited by the Holders as a payment of principal.

(e) For the purposes of this Note: “Sale of the Company” shall mean (i) any consolidation or merger of the Company with or into any other corporation or other entity or person, or any other corporate reorganization, other than any such consolidation, merger or reorganization in which the stockholders of the Company immediately prior to such consolidation, merger or reorganization, continue to hold at least a majority of the voting power of the surviving entity in substantially the same proportions (or, if the surviving entity is a wholly owned subsidiary, its parent) immediately after such consolidation, merger or reorganization; (ii) any transaction or series of related transactions to which the Company is a party in which in excess of 50% of the Company’s voting power is transferred; provided, however, that a Sale of the Company shall not include any transaction or series of transactions principally for bona fide equity financing purposes in which cash is received by the Company or any successor or indebtedness of the Company is cancelled or converted or a combination thereof; or (iii) a sale, lease, exclusive license or other disposition of all or substantially all of the assets of the Company.

4. Maturity. Unless this Note has been previously converted in accordance with the terms of this Note, the entire outstanding principal balance and all unpaid accrued interest shall automatically be converted into shares of non-voting common stock at a price per security equal to the quotient of $8,000,000 divided by the aggregate number of outstanding common shares of the Company as of immediately prior to the conversion of these Notes (assuming full conversion or exercise of all convertible and exercisable securities then outstanding other than the Notes.) as soon as a reasonably practicable following the Maturity Date.

5. Expenses. In the event of any default hereunder, the Company shall pay all reasonable attorneys’ fees and court costs incurred by Investor in enforcing and collecting this Note.

6. Prepayment. The Company may not prepay this Note prior to the Maturity Date without the written consent of 51% in interest of the Investors.

7. Default. In the event of any “Event of Default” hereunder, the Convertible Notes shall accelerate and all principal and unpaid accrued interest shall become due and payable. Each of the following shall constitute an “Event of Default”, provided, however that the 51% of the interest of Investors may waive any Event of Default as set forth:

a) The Company’s failure to pay when due any amount payable by it hereunder and such failure continues uncured for 10 business days.

b) The Company’s failure to comply with any of its reporting obligations under Regulation Crowdfunding and such failure continues uncured for 10 business days.

c) Voluntary commencement by the Company of any proceedings to have itself adjudicated as bankrupt.

d) The entry of an order or decree under any bankruptcy law that adjudicates the Company as bankrupt, where the order or decree remains unstayed and in effect for 90 days after such entry.

e) The entry of any final judgment against the Company for an amount in excess of $100,000, if undischarged, unbonded, undismissed or not appealed within 30 days after such entry.

f) The issuance or entry of any attachment or the receipt of actual notice of any lien against any of the property of the Company, each for an amount in excess of $100,000, if undischarged, unbonded, undismissed or not being diligently contested in good faith in appropriate proceedings within 30 days after such issuance, entry or receipt.

g) Any representation or warranty made by the Company under the Convertible Note Subscription Agreement shall prove to have been false or misleading in any material respect when made or deemed to have been made; provided that no Event of Default will occur under this clause if the underlying issue is capable of being remedied and is remedied within 30 days of the earlier of the Company becoming aware of the issue.

8. Waiver. The Company hereby waives demand, notice, presentment, protest and notice of dishonor.

9. Governing Law. This Note shall be governed by and construed under the laws of the state of %%STATE_INCORPORATED%%, as applied to agreements among %%STATE_INCORPORATED%% residents, made and to be performed entirely within the state of %%STATE_INCORPORATED%%, without giving effect to conflicts of laws principles.

10. Jury Waiver. EACH OF THE PARTIES HERETO HEREBY IRREVOCABLY WAIVES ALL RIGHT TO TRIAL BY JURY IN ANY ACTION, PROCEEDING OR COUNTERCLAIM (WHETHER BASED IN CONTRACT, TORT OR OTHERWISE) ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO THIS CONVERTIBLE NOTE OR THE ACTIONS OF EITHER PARTY IN THE NEGOTIATION, ADMINISTRATION, PERFORMANCE AND ENFORCEMENT THEREOF, EACH OF THE PARTIES HERETO ALSO WAIVES ANY BOND OR SURETY OR SECURITY UPON SUCH BOND WHICH MIGHT, BUT FOR THIS WAIVER, BE REQUIRED OF SUCH PARTY. EACH OF THE PARTIES HERETO FURTHER WARRANTS AND REPRESENTS THAT IT KNOWINGLY AND VOLUNTARILY WAIVES ITS JURY TRIAL RIGHTS. THIS WAIVER IS IRREVOCABLE, MEANING THAT IT MAY NOT BE MODIFIED EITHER ORALLY OR IN WRITING, AND THIS WAIVER SHALL APPLY TO ANY SUBSEQUENT AMENDMENTS, RENEWALS, SUPPLEMENTS OR MODIFICATIONS TO THIS CONVERTIBLE NOTE. IN THE EVENT OF LITIGATION, THIS CONVERTIBLE NOTE MAY BE FILED AS A WRITTEN CONSENT TO A TRIAL BY THE COURT.

10. Parity with Other Notes. The Company's repayment obligation to the Investor under this Note shall be on parity with the Company's obligation to repay all Notes issued pursuant to the Agreement. In the event that the Company is obligated to repay the Notes and does not have sufficient funds to repay the Notes in full, payment shall be made to Investors of the Notes on a pro rata basis. The preceding sentence shall not, however, relieve the Company of its obligations to the Investor hereunder.

11. Modification; Waiver. Any term of this Note may be amended or waived with the written consent of the Company and 51% in interest of investors.

12. Assignment. Subject to compliance with applicable federal and state securities laws (including the restrictions described in the legends to this Note), this Note and all rights hereunder are transferable in whole or in part by the Investor to any person or entity upon written notice to the Company. Thereupon, this Note shall be registered in the Company's books and records in the name of, the transferee. Interest and principal shall be paid solely to the registered holder of this Note. Such payment shall constitute full discharge of the Company's obligation to pay such interest and principal.

13. Electronic Signature. The Company has signed this Note electronically and agrees that its electronic signature is the legal equivalent of its manual signature on this Note.
