1) Nature of Business

Nest Investments BD, LLC (the Company) is a registered introducing broker-dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA). The Company commenced operations on April 25, 2018 and was approved by FINRA on October 12, 2018.

The Company is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Nest Investments LLC (the Parent). The Parent is affiliated with the Company and is a registered investment advisor with the SEC pursuant to the Investment Advisors Act of 1940. The Parent intends to provide capital infusions to satisfy the net capital requirements.

The Company operates under the provisions of Paragraph (k)(2)(ii) of Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and, accordingly, is exempt from the remaining provisions of that Rule. The Company executes and clears its customer securities transactions on a fully disclosed basis with a clearing broker, RBC Correspondent Services. The clearing broker carries all of the accounts of the customers and maintains and preserves all related books and records as are customarily kept by a clearing broker.

The Company, like other broker-dealers, is directly affected by general economic and market conditions, including fluctuations in volume and price level of securities, and changes in interest rates and securities brokerage services, all which have an impact on the Company's liquidity.

2) Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The financial statements are presented on the accrual basis of accounting in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP).

Use of Estimates in the Presentation of Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts certain reported amounts and disclosures. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Revenue Recognition

Revenues are recognized when control of the promised services is transferred to customers, in an amount that reflects the consideration the Company expects to be entitled to in exchange for those services. Revenues are analyzed to determine whether the Company is the principal (i.e., reports revenue on a gross basis) or agent (i.e., reports revenues on a net basis) in the contract. Principal or agent designations depend primarily on the control an entity has over the product or service before control is transferred to a customer. The indicators of which party exercises control include primary responsibility over performance obligations, inventory risk before the good or service is transferred and discretion in establishing the price.

The core principle in the revenue recognition guidance is that the company recognizes revenue in a manner that depicts the transfer of goods or services to customers in amounts that reflect the consideration the company expects to receive for those goods or services. In order to apply this core principle, the Company applies the following five steps in determining the amount of revenues to recognize: (i) identify the contract; (ii) identify the performance obligations in the contract; (iii) determine the transaction price; (iv) allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract; and (v) recognize revenue when (or as) the performance obligation is satisfied. Each of these steps involves management's judgment and an analysis of the material terms and conditions of the contract.

Revenue from contracts with customers includes commission, interest and other income. The recognition and measurement of revenue is based on the assessment of individual contract terms. Significant judgment is required to determine whether performance obligations are satisfied at a point in time or over time; how to allocate transaction prices where multiple performance obligations are identified; when to recognize revenue based on the appropriate measure of the Company's progress under the contract; and whether constraints on variable consideration should be applied due to uncertain future events.

Commission Revenue

Commission revenue represents sales commissions generated by registered representatives for their clients' purchases and sales of securities on exchanges and over-the-counter, as well as purchases of other investment or insurance products. The Company views the selling, distribution and marketing, or any combination thereof, of investment and/or insurance products to such clients as a single performance obligation to the product sponsors.

The Company is the agent for commission revenue, as it is responsible for the execution of the clients' purchases and sales, and maintains relationships with the clearing broker and product sponsors. Registered representatives assist the Company in performing its obligations. Accordingly, total commission revenues are reported on a net basis.

2) Significant Accounting Policies, Continued*Revenue Recognition, Continued*

The Company generates two types of commission revenue: sales-based commission and trailing revenue. Sales-based commission revenue is recognized at the point of sale on the trade date and/or contract date. The Company believes that the performance obligation is satisfied on the trade date and/or contract date because that is when the underlying security or insurance product is identified, the pricing is agreed upon and the risks and rewards of ownership have been transferred to or from the customer. Trailing commissions are paid monthly or quarterly in arrears. Sales-based commission revenue varies by investment and/or insurance product and can be based on a percentage of an investment product's current market value, insurance product's contract value, value per share, the number of shares purchased, a flat dollar amount or other factors at the time of purchase. Trailing commission revenue is generally based on a percentage of the current market value of clients' investment holdings in trail-eligible assets. As it relates to trailing commissions, the Company believes that its performance obligation is the sale of securities to investors and as such this is fulfilled on the trade date. Any fixed amounts are recognized on the trade date and variable amounts are recognized to the extent it is probable that a significant revenue reversal will not occur once the uncertainty is resolved. For variable amounts, as the uncertainty is dependent on the value of the shares at future points in time as well as the length of time the investor remains in the fund, both of which are highly susceptible to factors outside the Company's influence, the Company does not believe that it can overcome this constraint until the market value of the fund and the investors' activities are known. Trailing commission revenue is received on a monthly and quarterly basis and is accrued and recognized as income when amounts are determinable.

The following table presents disaggregated commission revenue, recognized at a point in time, for the year ended December 31, 2022:

Sales-based	$ 1,070,956
Trailing	323,699
	$ 1,394,655

Commission revenue receivable was $39,439 and $34,125 at December 31, 2022 and 2021, respectively.

Interest Income

Securities transactions are recorded on a trade date basis. Interest income primarily consists of money market rebates and interest on credit inventory balances. Under the agreement with the clearing broker, the Company earns a monthly money market rebate calculated on the average daily balance in certain bank deposit sweep vehicles. In addition, the Company earns interest on the net credit inventory balances held by the clearing broker, which is based on the Effective Federal Funds rate.

Interest income is recorded as earned, over time, and is paid monthly in arrears.

Other Revenue

Other revenue consists of amounts received for customer account fees. Amounts are accrued and recognized as income when determinable and it is probable there will not be a significant reversal.

Operating Leases

The Company follows Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 842, Leases. ASU 842 requires that all leases other than short-term leases (less than 12 months in duration) are recorded on the balance sheet with a right-of-use asset and a corresponding liability.

3) Deposit and Payable to Clearing Broker

The Company has $50,000 on deposit with its clearing broker to secure the clearing agreement. At December 31, 2022, the amount due to the clearing broker was $577 and represents amounts due for completed transactions.

4) Bank Networking Agreements

The Company has agreements with several regional and community banks to provide their customers with certain brokerage services. The Company compensates these institutions for these brokerage services provided, which is described in each institution's financial services agreement.

For the year ended December 31, 2022, bank networking compensation expense was $695,912.

5) Related Party Transactions

The Company has an agreement with the Parent, to share personnel and other general and administrative costs. Costs allocated to the Company, by the Parent were $112,730 and are included in the statement of operations for the year ended December 31, 2022. Of the $112,730, a total of $96,546 was for employee compensation and benefits, $8,562 for occupancy expenses and $9,622 was for other operating expenses that include telecommunications, insurance, and legal and professional services.

At December 31, 2022, there is a receivable from an affiliate of $12,140. This represents expenses paid by the broker dealer on behalf of the affiliate.

The Parent and Company are under common control. In addition, OceanFirst Bank NA (OceanFirst) and Republic Bank and Trust (Republic), two bank networking institution partners of the Company, are a minority owner of the Parent. For the year ended December 31, 2022, bank networking compensation paid to OceanFirst and Republic was $693,762 and $7, respectively.

6) Income Tax

FASB Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 740, Income Taxes, is the authoritative pronouncement on accounting for and reporting income tax liabilities and expense. FASB ASC 740 prescribes a more-likely-than-not recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken. In addition, FASB ASC 740 provides guidance on derecognition, classification and disclosure.

6) Income Tax, Continued

The Company is not a taxable entity for federal and state income tax purposes. Accordingly, the Company reports its share of income or loss on the Parent's federal and state tax return. As of December 31, 2022, the 2019-2022 tax years are subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service and generally to state examination. It is difficult to predict the final timing and resolution of any particular uncertain tax position. Based on management's assessment of many factors, including past experience and complex judgments about future events, management does not currently anticipate significant changes in its uncertain tax positions over the next 12 months.

7) Leases

The Company follows FASB's ASU 842. The core principle of Topic 842 is that a lessee should recognize the assets and liabilities that arise from leases. In October 2020, the Parent entered into a 7-year lease for the headquarters in Conshohocken, Pennsylvania. The Company entered into a sublease agreement with the Parent for 5% of the lease and the financial statements reflect the sublease. The lease expires in February 2028.

Lease liabilities are recognized at the present value of the fixed lease payments using the annual interest rate stated in the agreement. Right of use assets are recognized based on the amortized initial present value of the fixed lease payments.

Occupancy expense totaled $8,981 for the year ended December 31, 2022.

Future minimum rental payments under non-cancelable operating leases as of December 31, 2022 are as follows:

Year	Amount
2023	$ 8,776
2024	$ 8,995
2025	$ 9,220
2026	$ 9,451
2027	$ 9,627
Thereafter	$ 802
Less discount to present value	$ (11,640)
	$ 35,231

8) Net Capital and Reserve Requirements

The Company is subject to the SEC's Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. At December 31, 2022, the Company had net capital of $100,549, which was $86,700 in excess of its required net capital of $13,849. The Company's ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital was 206.59%.

The operation of the Company does not include the physical handling of securities or the maintenance of open customer accounts. Accordingly, the Company is exempt from the reserve provisions of Rule 15c3-3 under the exemption allowed by paragraph (k)(2)(ii) of such Rule.

9) Concentration of Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially expose the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist principally of cash and cash equivalents and amounts receivable from and deposits with the clearing broker. The Company principally utilizes banks and the clearing broker to maintain its operating cash accounts and temporary cash investments. At certain times, such balances may be in excess of the FDIC and SIPC insurance limits. The Company provides services to its customers under contractual arrangements. The Company records reserves at levels considered by management to be adequate to absorb estimates of probable future losses (uncollectable accounts) existing at the statement of financial condition date. These reserves are based on estimates, and ultimate losses may differ from these estimates. There is no allowance at December 31, 2022.

The Company is engaged in various trading and brokerage activities in which its counterparties primarily include broker-dealers, banks, and other financial institutions. In the event the counterparties do not fulfill their obligations, the Company may be exposed to risk of default. The risk of default depends on the creditworthiness of the counterparty or issuer of the instrument.

10) Contingencies

The Company clears all of its securities transactions through a clearing broker on a fully disclosed basis. Pursuant to the terms of the agreement between the Company and the clearing broker, the clearing broker has the right to charge the Company for the losses that result from counterparties' failure to fulfill its contractual obligations. The contract with the clearing broker expires on August 7, 2024 and includes an early termination fee of $5,000 a month for the remaining months of the contract, should the agreement be terminated prior to expiration. The contract will automatically renew for successive periods of 36 months unless terminated by either party in accordance with the provisions in the contract.

In the normal course of business, the Company may indemnify and guarantee certain service providers, such as the clearing broker, against potential losses in connection with their acting as agent or, providing services to the Company. The maximum potential amount of future payments that the Company may be required to make under these indemnifications cannot be reasonably estimated. However, the Company believes that it is unlikely it will have to make material payments under these arrangements and has not recorded a contingent liability in the accompanying financial statements for these indemnifications.

11) Subsequent Events

The Company has evaluated subsequent events through March 13, 2023, the date which the financial statements were available to be issued.
