The $0.5 per share purchase price of our preferred stock has been determined by our board of directors without an independent valuation our enterprise value of the Company. We established the offering price based on our estimate of capital and expense requirements, and desirable expectation of our future profitability, not based on perceived market value, book value, or other established criteria. We did not obtain an independent appraisal opinion on the valuation of the preferred stock. The preferred stock may have a value significantly less than the offering price and there is no guarantee that the securities offered will ever attain a value equal to or greater than the offering price.

Future Valuation of Our Preferred/Common Stock or Securities to be Issued

We may apply the following valuation metrics for the future valuation of our preferred/common stock or securities to be issued:

1. Recent comparable financings of companies similar and comparable to us.
2. Potential value at exit, the value can be based either on recent M&A transactions in the sector
3. Discounted cash flow method ("DCF")
4. Price/Book Value, Price/Earnings Ratio of companies similar and comparable to us.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

- Purchasers (Purchasers) of the securities in this offering have limited rights to demand distributions (e.g. dividends) from the Issuer.
- The majority owner may make a decision that the Purchasers consider bad and puts Purchaser's interest in the Issuer at risk.
- Although the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

- The Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no voting rights and therefore they are not entitled to exert influence in the affairs of the company or the composition of its board of directors.

b. Issuer Repurchases of Securities

The issuer could be authorized to repurchase the company's issued securities subject to the approval by the company's board of directors. Purchasers of the securities may not impede the issuer's right to repurchase its securities from other shareholders. Moreover, the repurchase could be made at a price much lower than company's business value or its fair valuation, which could be indicative to the resale price of the securities thereafter.

c. A Sale of the Issuer or of Assets of the Issuer

Although as preferred stock shareholders the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

d. Transactions with Related Parties

Transactions with related parties are transactions between the Issuer or any of its subsidiaries and a connected person. These transactions include both capital and revenue nature transactions. They may be one-off transactions or continuing transactions. Purchasers should be aware that these transactions may create conflicts of interests between themselves and the Issuer.

IMPORTANT: THE FOLLOWING FINANCIAL FIGURES ARE UNAUDITED.

Description of Business

Organic Living Inc (the Company), a Florida corporation, is in the business of helping people to restore their health and vitality with natural supplements, healthy food and healthy life styles. To achieve that the Company offers CSA (Community Supported Agriculture) up and running with tracking system, irrigation and measuring system where only non-toxic, safe and natural products are used in soil preparation. The Company also offers classes to teach children and adults how to grow, maintain, harvest and prepare healthy food.

The Company provides ready to use land, trained staff, education and infrastructure for the CSA customers to grow healthy organic food, sell or swap for services and to cook nutritious food.

Revenue

Revenue in 2017 was $50,728, which increased $11,401, or 29% compared to $39,327 in 2016. The increase was primarily due to higher sales of our products.

Cost of goods sold and Total Expenses

Cost of goods sold

Our cost of goods sold is primarily composed of the direct costs of raw materials, labor and related overhead in selling our products and services.

Cost of good sold in 2017 was $25,581, increased $12,881, or 101% compared to $12,700 in 2016. The increase was primarily due to higher sales of our products and increase in the cost of purchasing agricultural related materials.

Total Expenses are the operating expenses, including rental expenses, community development/education costs, travel expenses, shop supplies and taxes and licenses. Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Depreciation is computed using a mid-month convention over the estimated useful lives of the assets, which for furniture and fixtures, computer equipment, and auto range primarily from three to five years.

Our total expenses in 2017 was $32,747, decreased $10,345, or 24% compared to $43,092 in 2016. The decrease was primarily due to lower advertising fees, community development/education expenses and officers compensation.

Net Income

Net Loss for the 12 months ended December 31, 2017 was $8,125.

Net Loss for the 12 months ended December 31, 2016 was $16,715.

The decrease in net loss was primarily due to an increase in revenue and the reduction in operating expenses occurred in fiscal year 2017.

Investors should be aware that our historical results and cash flows are not representative of the future.

Assets and Liabilities

Our total assets were $25,534 as of December 31, 2017 and $29,159 as of December 31, 2016

Our total liabilities were $8,500 as of December 31, 2017 and $4,000 as of December 31, 2016, the increase is primarily due to increase in accounts payable, as mentioned in our Financial Statements:

Liabilities and partners' equity

Current liabilities:

Accounts payable	5,250	-
Deferred income CSA (note 4)	2,250	3,000
Loan payable	1,000	1,000
Total current liabilities	8,500	4,000
Long-term obligations	-	-
Total liabilities	8,500	4,000

The Company recorded a total stockholders' equity of $17,034 as of December 31, 2017 and $25,159 as of December 31, 2016.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Our principal sources of liquidity are our cash and cash equivalents and cash generated from operations. Cash and cash equivalents consist primarily of cash on deposit with banks. Cash and cash equivalents totaled $805 as of December 31, 2017, an increase of $358 from December 31, 2016.

The proceed of this offering will significantly improve our financial condition and liquidity, and will allow us to expand our business in the coming 2-3 years, though we believe the proceed of this offering does not affect the viability of our business as we believe the cash generated from operations is sufficient to finance our ongoing operations, as we did in the past. But investors should be aware that our past records are not representative of the future.

We will primarily fund our operations and capital expenditure requirements from operating cash flows. We also expect to fund our operations from the proceeds of this offering and any credit facilities available to us in the future.

According to market situation, we may raise additional funds through public or private equity offerings or debt financings.

Commitments

Organic Living, Inc. has accepted an advance of $2,250 and $3,000 for future use of CSA (Community Supported Agriculture) space for year ending December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively.

Appendix B - RISK FACTORS

THE SECURITIES OFFERED HEREBY ARE HIGHLY SPECULATIVE, AND PROSPECTIVE INVESTORS SHOULD BE AWARE THAT AN INVESTMENT IN THE SHARES INVOLVES A HIGH DEGREE OF RISK. ACCORDINGLY, PROSPECTIVE INVESTORS SHOULD CAREFULLY CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING RISK FACTORS IN ADDITION TO THE OTHER INFORMATION BEFORE MAKING A DECISION TO INVEST IN THE SHARES. THE ORDER IN WHICH THE FOLLOWING RISKS ARE PRESENTED IS NOT INTENDED TO REPRESENT THE MAGNITUDE OF THE RISKS DESCRIBED.

The Company is making no representations or warranties other than those made in the Subscription Agreement

The Company is not making any representations or warranties of any kind, outside those made in relation to this Subscription Agreement, and none should be inferred with respect to the Company or the economic returns or tax advantages, if any, which may accrue to prospective investors. Prior to investing in the Shares, prospective investors should consult with their attorneys and personal business and tax advisors to determine the risks and consequences of this investment.

The Company is a development stage company and has a limited operating history upon which an evaluation of its prospects can be made

The Company is in an early development stage with a limited operating history upon which an evaluation of its prospects can be made. Accordingly, the Company is confronted with the risks inherent in a start-up company, including difficulties in connection with the delivery and distribution of its organic herb plants and trees and soil re-mineralization products, the development of its website, the marketing of its products and services, brand awareness in direct sales activities, operational difficulties, and the potential underestimation of production and administrative costs. If the Company cannot successfully manage its business, it may not be able to generate future profits and may not be able to support its operations. Further, the Company expects to incur substantial additional expenses and losses in the further implementation of its business plan. The Company has no operating history upon which investors may base an evaluation of its performance; therefore, it is subject to all the risks incident to the creation and development of a new business. There can be no assurance that the Company can realize its plans on the projected timetable in order to reach sustainable or profitable operations. Any material deviation from the Company's timetable could require that the Company seek additional capital. There can be no assurance that such capital shall be available at reasonable cost, or that it would not materially dilute the investment of investors in this Offering if it is obtained.

There is no guarantee that there will be any significant market acceptance for the Company's principal products and services

The strategy of the Company for growth is substantially dependent upon its ability to market its products and services to consumers who are interested in the organic gardening and foods market. In addition, to sustain the Company's long-term growth efforts, the development and introduction of successful new products and services may be required. There can be no assurance that the Company's products and services will achieve significant acceptance among consumers and businesses in the United States. Such acceptance, if achieved, may not be sustained for any significant period of time. There is no guarantee that any associated products and services the Company develops will be sufficient to permit the Company to recover its associated costs. Failure of the products and services of the Company to achieve or sustain market acceptance could have a material adverse effect on its business, financial conditions and the results of its operations.

Principal competitors may have greater financial resources

Other companies, including those with substantially greater financial, marketing and sales resources, may compete with the Company. There can be no assurances that the Company consistently shall be able to undertake programs and initiatives that could prove profitable to the Company in view of the intense competition to be encountered by the Company in all significant phases of its activities. The Company's principal competitors may be in a better position to attract key human resources talent in performance-critical areas, develop new products and launch and/or carry on important programs and initiatives.

Macro-economic factors

A risk to the Company's business model is the macro-economic factor of the rate of U.S. economic growth. The overall U.S. and worldwide economy is experiencing unprecedented fluctuations that impact local and international business at all levels. This impact is felt at the corporate, family and individual level. This unstable period is expected to continue for an unknown period of time. There is no way to accurately forecast when the U.S. market will reach stable levels. To the extent the Company's business results depend on these macro-economic conditions, the business, results of operations and financial condition of the Company may be materially and adversely affected.

Worldwide business competition

The organic gardening and foods market will likely fluctuate depending on worldwide business competition popularity and potential sales may fluctuate depending upon supply and demand, and domestic and foreign demand and production, which is difficult to predict.

Patents, copyrights, trademarks, trade secrets and proprietary rights

As intellectual properties are created by, assigned to, or licensed to the Company, appropriate patent, copyright, trademark, trade secret, contract, license and related protections, as they may be applicable, will be established as determined by the Company's intellectual property and proprietary rights protection strategy. There can be no assurance that the steps taken by the Company to protect its intellectual property and proprietary rights will be adequate or that third parties will not infringe or misappropriate the Company's intellectual property or proprietary rights. In addition, there can be no assurance that other parties will not assert infringement, unfair competition or other related claims against the Company with respect to its intellectual property and proprietary rights.

The Company's proprietary rights could potentially conflict with the rights of others, and the Company may be prevented from selling some of its products

The Company cannot assure that obstacles will not arise as it expands its customer base and the geographic scope of marketing. From time to time, the Company may receive claims relating to the intellectual property rights of others, and the Company further expects that third parties will assert intellectual property claims against the Company, particularly as the Company expands its business.

Any claim, regardless of its merit, could be expensive and time consuming to defend. Successful infringement claims against the Company could result in significant monetary liability or prevent the Company from selling some of its products. In addition, resolution of claims may require the Company to redesign its products, license rights belonging to third parties, or cease using those rights altogether. Any of these events could harm the business and have a materially adverse effect on the Company's operations, liquidity and financial condition.

The Company's failure to protect its intellectual property rights could diminish the value of its brand, weaken its competitive position and reduce its revenues

The Company plans to rely in the future on a combination of patent, copyright, trademark and trade dress laws, patent laws, unfair competition laws, confidentiality procedures and licensing arrangements to establish and protect its intellectual property and proprietary rights. The Company cannot assure that the steps taken to protect its proprietary rights will be adequate to prevent infringement of its trademarks and proprietary rights by others, including imitation of products and misappropriation of any brands. In addition, intellectual property protection may be unavailable or limited in some foreign countries where laws or law enforcement practices may not protect its proprietary rights as frilly as in the U.S., and it may be more difficult for the Company to successfully challenge the use of its proprietary rights by other parties in these countries. If the Company fails to protect and maintain its intellectual property rights, the value of its brands could be diminished and its competitive position may suffer.

From time to time, the Company may discover unauthorized products in the marketplace that are either counterfeit reproductions of its products or unauthorized irregulars that do not meet its quality control standards. If the Company is unsuccessful in challenging a third party's products on the basis of infringement of proprietary rights, continued distribution of their products could adversely impact the Company's brands, result in the shift of consumer preferences away from its products, and adversely affect the Company's business.

In the future, the Company may license certain of its proprietary rights, such as patents, trademarks or copyrighted material, to third parties. These licensees may take actions that diminish the value of the Company's proprietary rights or harm its reputation.

The Company may not be able to adequately protect its intellectual property rights

Protecting the Company's global intellectual property rights and combating unlicensed copying and use of its intellectual property is difficult. While piracy adversely affects U.S. revenue, the impact on revenue from outside the U.S. is more significant, particularly in countries where laws are less protective of intellectual property rights. Similarly, the absence of harmonized patent laws makes it more difficult to ensure consistent respect for patent rights. Reductions in the legal protection for intellectual property rights related to the Company's products could adversely affect the Company's revenue.

Compliance with laws

The Company's ability to compete effectively with other companies shall depend, in part, on compliance with laws, regulations, rules and/or policies promulgated by the United States Department of Commerce and other United States Agencies and/or various State, County and/or Municipal agencies in the United States as well as international treaties and trade regulations. In light of the uncertainties associated with said laws, regulations, rules and/or policies, there is no assurance that the Company's operations will continue unimpeded or at all. In addition, the laws, regulations, rules and/or policies of other States, Counties and/or Municipalities where the Company will or may intend to conduct business activities and/or market its products and services are not uniform with the laws, regulations, rules and/or policies of the United States or the aforementioned jurisdictions and there is no assurance that laws and regulations of such States, Counties and/or Municipalities will not materially and deleteriously impact the Company's planned business operations.

Federal and state tax consequences

There are substantial risks associated with the Federal and state tax consequences of purchasing and owning Shares and the tax implications of purchasing and owning Shares are complex. The possibility of changes in Federal income tax law could materially affect an Investor's tax benefits. Congress could make substantial changes in the future to the income tax consequences with respect to an investment in Shares. Congress regularly considers proposals regarding changes to the federal income tax laws. The extent and effect of such changes, if enacted, are uncertain. As such, Investors should be aware that new administrative, legislative or judicial action could significantly change the tax aspects of an investment and such changes could have a material adverse effect on Investors.

As the offering price of the shares does not reflect the value of the Company, purchasers of the shares will experience immediate and substantial dilution of their investment

The price at which the shares are being offered has been arbitrarily determined by the management of the Company and bears no relationship to the Company's earnings, book value or any other recognized criteria value. There has been no public market for the Company's shares. A purchaser in this Offering will experience immediate, substantial dilution because the offering price of the shares is expected to exceed the net tangible book value per share after giving effect to the Offering.

Lack of transferability; no market

The Securities have not been registered under the Securities Act or applicable State securities laws, and may not be resold unless they are subsequently registered or an exemption from registration is available. Investors will have no right to require registration of the Securities. There is no public or other market for the Securities and no such market is anticipated to develop.

Issuance of additional securities; dilution

After the sale of the Shares to Purchaser, the Company will have additional shares of authorized, but unissued Common Stock and Preferred Stock. Those shares of stock may be issued without shareholder approval for any purpose deemed appropriate by, and a price determined by the Board of Directors of the Company. Issuance of such shares may dilute Purchaser's interest in the business and may substantially dilute Purchaser's investment on a book value per share basis.

The Company may not pay cash dividends on its shares

The future payment of dividends will be at the discretion of the Company's Board of Directors and will depend on its future earnings, financial requirements and other similarly unpredictable factors. For the foreseeable future, it is anticipated that any earnings which may be generated from the Company's operations will be retained by it to finance and develop its business and that dividends will not be paid to shareholders.

Acquisitions and joint ventures may have an adverse effect on the Company's business

Independent Accountant's Review Report

The Board of Directors
Organic Living Inc.

I have reviewed the accompanying balance sheets of Organic Living Inc., (the Company) as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, and the related consolidated statements of operations, changes in stockholders' equity, and cash flows for the years then ended. A review includes primarily applying analytical procedures to management's financial data and making inquiries of company management. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements as a whole. Accordingly, I do not express such an opinion.

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America and for designing, implementing, and maintaining internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements that are free from material misstatement whether due to fraud or error.

My responsibility is to conduct the review in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services issued by the Accounting and Review Services Committee of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA). Those standards require me to perform procedures to obtain limited assurance that there are no material modifications that should be made to the financial statements. I believe that the results of my procedures provide a reasonable basis for my report. I believe that my review provides a reasonable basis for my opinion.

Based on my review, I am not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
