NOTE: The term “accredited investor” means any person who comes within any of the categories set forth in Rule 501(a) of Regulation D, or who the seller reasonably believes comes within any of such categories, at the time of the sale of the securities to that person. The term “member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent” includes a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law of the purchaser, and includes adoptive relationships. 21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

Important Disclaimer:

Although the Issuer is a company with a 5-year history of operation, the Issuer has no material assets and has conducted no prior sales of securities except to its founders and initial shareholders, the reliability, accuracy and appropriateness of the valuation methods used in this section in determining the valuation of the securities being offered is not guaranteed. The valuation methods used in this section do not infer that the Issuer assumes any fiduciary duties and should not be construed as financial, legal or tax advice. Valuation of Our Membership Units

Valuation of Outlook Corporate Consulting, LLC, is established by the Board of Directors, currently priced at a multiple of 10.33x based on its prior year (fiscal year 2017)'s cash revenue:

$$\begin{aligned}\text{Valuation of the Company} &= $725,721 \times 10.33 \\ &= $7,496,698 \\ &= $7.497 \text{ per Membership Units* (Actual Offering Price: $7.5)}\end{aligned}$$

 Immediately prior the offering, 1,000,000 membership units are issued and outstanding.*

Although revenues are not an indicative predictor of future profits, the Board of Directors believes Revenue multiple is a reasonable valuation approach in valuing our securities offered as Outlook Corporate Consulting, LLC is still an early stage company. We believe a revenue multiple of around 10x is a fairly common valuation benchmarks used by private equity or VCs in investing early stage company.

Given the absence of a public trading market for our Membership Units, our Board of Directors exercised reasonable judgment and considered a number of objective and subjective factors to determine the best estimate of the fair value of our Membership Units, including our financial and operating history. The Board of Directors also take into consideration when performing this valuation:

- has a solid customer base
- revenue growth driven by launch of new coaching programmes

- expected growth on average revenue per customer and the average lifetime value of customers
- healthy balance sheet with no material indebtedness
- has been profitable with positive operating cash flow in the previous two fiscal years

Despite the above effort, investors should be aware that the above factors and valuation method merely reflects the opinion of the Board of Directors, and does not necessarily bear any relationship to the Company's book value, assets, earnings or other generally accepted valuation criteria. Furthermore, In determining the offering price, the Board of Directors nor the company did not employ investment banking firms or other third-party organizations to make an independent appraisal or evaluation. Accordingly, the offering price should not be considered to be indicative of the actual value of the Securities.

Methods for how the securities may be valued by the issuer in the future:

We may apply the following valuation methods for the future valuation of our securities to be issued:

During early stage:

- Revenue / EBITA / Earnings multiples of companies similar and comparable to us.
- Recent comparable valuations of companies similar and comparable to us.

During established stage:

- Potential value at exit, the value can be based either on recent M&A transactions in the sector
- Discounted cash flow method ("DCF")

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

- Purchasers of the securities in this offering have limited rights to demand distributions (e.g. dividends) from the Issuer.
- The majority owner may make a decision that the Purchasers consider bad and puts Purchaser's interest in the Issuer at risk.
- Although, as membership unit holders, the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.
- Since the securities in this offering are not publicly traded and are subject to restrictions on resale or transfer including holding period requirements, the securities in this offering are illiquid.
- Although the Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled voting rights, as minority shareholders, they may not have enough voting power to exert influence in the affairs of the company or the composition of its board of directors.

- The Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions:

a. Additional Issuances of Securities

Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

b. Issuer Repurchases of Securities

The issuer could be authorized to repurchase the company's issued securities subject to the approval by the company's board of directors. Purchasers of the securities may not impede the issuer's right to repurchase its securities from other shareholders. Moreover, the repurchase could be made at a price much lower than company's business value or its fair valuation, which could be indicative to the resale price of the securities thereafter.

c. A Sale of the Issuer or of Assets of the Issuer

Although as membership unit holders the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

d. Transactions with Related Parties

Transactions with related parties are transactions between the issuer (Issuer) or any of its subsidiaries and a connected person. These transactions include both capital and revenue nature transactions. They may be one-off transactions or continuing transactions.

Purchasers should be aware that these transactions may create conflicts of interests between themselves and the Issuer.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

Other than a credit card liability in the amount of $2,410 as of December 31, 2017, the issuer has no material terms of indebtedness.

25. What other exempt offerings has the issuer conducted within the past three years?

N/A

Revenue

Revenue in 2017 was $725,721, an increase of $166,665, or 29.81% compared to $559,056 in 2016. The increase was primarily due to an increased amount of sales and a growing number of customers.

Cost of Goods Sold and Total Operating Expenses

Cost of goods sold

Our cost of goods sold consists primarily of expenses associated with contract labor and merchant processing fees.

Cost of goods sold in 2017 was $23,126, a slight decrease of $539, or 2.28% compared to $23,665 in 2016.

Our total operating expenses in 2017 was $651,866, increased $202,964, or 45.21% compared to $448,902 in 2016. The increase was primarily due to increased amount of executive compensation, as well as a large increase in payroll expenses, from $39,767 in 2016 to $190,859 in 2017.

Here are some clarifications of our operating expenses:

Marketing and Promotion

With the exception of certain major items, expenditures for maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred.

financing activities was $15,340 in 2017, versus $75,360 in 2016, due to a decrease of redemption of stock owner draws.

Although the Company expects that there will be a growth in cash revenue in the coming years, investors should be aware that historical results and cash flows are not representative of the future.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

According to market situation, we may raise additional funds through public or private equity offerings or debt financings.

The Company are seeking a minimum of $52,500 in this offering, which would be primarily used for setting up internal call center and hiring door-to-door sales force as specified in Question 10, The Use of Proceeds. Without any unexpected material factors that would adversely affect our business operations, whether or not receiving these funds and any other additional funds is not necessary to the viability of the business in the next 12 months and we expect that the Company's available cash together with the proceeds of the offering would be enough to finance its operation in the next 12 months.

Strength:

Our core strength lies our operation history and established brand in Salt Lake City. Our management team are experienced in the industry and our training consultants have helped countless leaders, managers, salespeople, customer service representatives, and employees hone their professional skills and better contribute to their company's success.

Weakness:

Although we have been established since 2013, we are still in the growing stage. We need extra capital and time for Business Minds R&D to break into new market and gain acceptance from top profile clients in business coaching industry. Furthermore, the coaching industry in the U.S. is very competitive and we may not have the resources to compete with competitors who are better financed and market positions.

Opportunities:

We see the increasing demand in business and executive coaching in the U.S. . We believe business coaching will begin to rise in popularity because under proper structured and designed training courses, it is an effective way to transfer of institutional, industry and professional wisdom. Moreover, in recent years, positive thinking makes people thrive and flourish and scientific principles of positive psychology are more well-known. We believe our products and services can help people to create positive, productive, and therefore profitable careers.

Threat:

Our business relies mainly on the efforts of our consultants and trainers to design training materials, as well as conducting/promoting/overseeing the seminars for these training courses. Whether we can retain and attract good training consultants is the major challenge for us.

Furthermore, due to the competitive environment of the business coaching industry, it could be difficult or costly to strengthen our brand awareness or further promoting our brand in order to remain competitive.

Appendix B - RISK FACTORS

RISKS RELATED TO OUR BUSINESS AND OUR INDUSTRY

We are operating in a very competitive industry

The business is in a competitive industry with companies with much more financial and physical resources.

We rely on continuing efforts of consultants and trainers

The business relies mainly on the efforts of our consultants and trainers to design training materials, as well as conducting/promoting/overseeing the seminars for these training courses. In particular, a significant proportion of our revenue, profitability and business is generated from courses and products provided by our consultants and trainers.

We may not be able to attract and retain qualified consultants and trainers

In view of our business nature, our consultants and trainers are critical to maintaining the quality of our programmes and services and maintaining our brand and reputation, as they interact with our students on a regular basis. We may not be able to attract, hire and retain enough qualified consultants and trainers to keep pace with our growth while maintaining consistent teaching quality of our training course and programmes. If we are not able to attract qualified consultants and trainers, our business will be materially and adversely affected.

We may not be able to enforce the restrictive covenants of the contracts

We may not be able to enforce the restrictive covenants of the contracts and services agreements against our consultants and trainers to prevent them from immediately directly competing with us, which may disrupt our business and materially.

Advertising and increased marketing effort may not lead to higher course enrolments or increase in our revenue

To increase public awareness of our business and enhance our brand, one of our business strategies is to advertise and run marketing campaigns on social media and Youtube. Nonetheless, despite our efforts and substantial costs incurred in these marketing effort and advertisements, it may not necessarily lead to higher enrolments of our training programme or increase in our revenue.

New training programmes that we develop may compete with our current programmes

To further grow our business, we may need to develop new business training programmes to meet new demands and respond to changes in business environment, market needs and trends. While some of these programmes that we develop may compete our existing programmes and services without increasing our total enrolments. If this happen, our profitability and business could be adversely affected.

We face significant competition

We face intense competition in the geographic market in which we operate. Certain of our competitors offer on similar training programmes and services as we provide. Moreover, some of our competitors may be able to devote greater resources than we do and could have much bigger budget for promotion and marketing. It is uncertain on whether we will be able to compete successfully against current or future competitors. If we are unable to maintain our competitive position or otherwise respond to market competition effectively, our profitability could be adversely affected.

Our business depends on our brand and reputation

Our business depends on our brand and reputation as a provider of business coaching services. If we are not able to maintain the brand strength and reputation, our brand value, business and operating results could be materially and adversely affected. We believe that our brand “Business Minds R&D” is instrumental to the success of our business. If the value of our brand or image and reputation is diminished, we may fail to continue to attract potential customers and our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected.

If we are not able to continue to attract customers to enrol in our training courses at commercially viable fee levels, our revenue may decline and we may not be able to maintain our profitability.

The success of our business depends primarily on the number of course enrolments in our training courses and the amount of course fees that our customers are willing to pay. Therefore, our ability to continue to maintain and attract customers to enrol in our courses at commercially viable fee levels is critical to the continual success and growth of our business.

We may face labour or other nature of disputes that could interfere with our operations and business.

We may face legal actions, claims and disputes in connection with our business activities, including employment-related claims and contractual disputes or claims. Although we believe we have a satisfactory relationship with our consultants and trainers, we may nevertheless subject to the risk of labour disputes and adverse employee relationships. These potential disputes could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition or results of operations.

Uncertainty and adverse changes in the economy could have a material adverse impact on our business

We mainly generate our revenue from fees paid by our customers enrolling in our programmes. As a majority of our customers are business executives, sales and customer service personnels, uncertainty or adverse changes in the economy could lead to a significant decline the demand of our business training programmes, which may negatively impact our business, financial conditions and results of operations.

Intellectual property rights and proprietary rights

Our consultants and trainers are responsible for the development and preparation of course materials. However, from time to time, our course materials may contain content with reference or extracted from third party sources. Such course materials may contain third party content which has been reproduced under certain licences. Therefore, these course material may infringe valid copyrights or other intellectual property rights held by third parties or be in breach of those licences.

We may be subject to claims and legal proceedings regarding alleged infringement by us of the intellectual property rights of third parties. Such claims, whether or not meritorious, may result in the expenditure of significant financial and managerial resources, injunctions against us or the payment of damages.

Our business could be adversely affected by difficulties in trainer recruiting and retention

Our ability to attract, motivate, and retain a sufficient number of qualified employees for our operations is a critical factor in our continued success. We cannot guarantee that we would be able to recruit or retain a sufficient number of qualified employees for our business. Any material increase in employee turnover rates in our business and any failure to recruit skilled personnel and to retain key staff due to factors such as failure to keep up with market average employee salary levels may increase the difficulty to implement our growth strategy. Any increased labor costs due to factors like competition, increased minimum wage requirements and employee benefits may potentially impact our operating costs. Any of the above would materially and adversely affect our business and results of operations.

We are subject to negative publicity

Our Company, management or training team could be subject to negative publicity, which may materially and adversely affect our brand, reputation and business.

Our historical financial and operating results are not indicative of future performance.

Our revenue, operating expenses and results of operations may vary from period to period and from year to year in response to a variety of factors beyond our control, including general business and economic conditions, employment rates, inflation and interest rates, and consumer discretionary income. Therefore our historical results may not be indicative of our future performance.

We may need additional capital, and our ability to obtain additional capital is subject to uncertainties.

We believe that our current cash and cash equivalents, anticipated cash flow from operations and the proceeds from this offering will be sufficient to meet our anticipated cash needs, including our cash needs for working capital and capital expenditures, for at least the next 12 months. We may, however, require additional cash resources to finance our continued growth or other future developments, including any investments we may decide to pursue. The amount and timing of such additional financing needs will vary depending on investments in new facilities, decorations and the amount of cash flow from our operations. If our resources are insufficient to satisfy our cash requirements, we may seek additional financing by selling additional equity or debt securities or obtaining a credit facility.

Our insurance coverage may not be sufficient to cover all losses or potential claims from our customers

We may become subject to liabilities against which we are not insured adequately or at all or liabilities against which cannot be insured. Should any significant property damage or personal injury occur in our facilities or to our employees due to accidents, natural disasters, or similar events which are not covered or inadequately covered by our insurance, our business may be adversely affected, potentially leading to a loss of assets, lawsuits, employee compensation obligations, or other form of economic loss. In addition, we have not maintained insurance policies against losses arising from our environmental liabilities, business interruption, industrial accidents, work stoppages, civil unrest or other activities.

Any losses that we may incur which we are not insured against may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

RISKS RELATED TO THE OFFERING

We determined the price of the Membership Units arbitrarily.

The offering price of the Membership Units has been determined by management, and bears no relationship to our assets, book value, potential earnings, net worth or any other recognized criteria of value. We cannot assure that price of the Units is the fair market value of the Units or that investors will earn any profit on them.

We cannot assure that we will pay dividends.

We do not currently anticipate declaring and paying dividends to our shareholders in the near future. It is our current intention to apply net earnings, if any, in the foreseeable future to increasing its capital base and marketing. Prospective investors seeking or needing dividend income or liquidity should therefore not purchase our membership units. We cannot assure that we will ever have sufficient earnings to declare and pay dividends to the holders of our membership units, and in any event, a decision to declare and pay dividends is at the sole discretion of our board of directors.

You can't easily resell the securities.

There are restrictions on how you can resell your securities. More importantly, there is no market for these securities, and there might never be one. It's unlikely that the company will ever go public or get acquired by a bigger company. That means the money you paid for these securities could be tied up for a long time.

Our failure to maintain effective internal controls over financial reporting could have an adverse impact on us.

We are required to establish and maintain appropriate internal controls over financial reporting. Failure to establish those controls, or any failure of those controls once established, could adversely impact our public disclosures regarding our business, financial condition or results of operations. In addition, management's assessment of internal controls over financial reporting may identify weaknesses and conditions that need to be addressed in our internal controls over financial reporting or other matters that may raise concerns for investors. Any actual or perceived weaknesses and conditions that need to be addressed in our internal control over financial reporting, disclosure of management's assessment of our internal controls over financial reporting or disclosure of our public accounting firm's attestation to or report on management's assessment of our internal controls over financial reporting may have an adverse impact on the price of our membership units.

INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTANT'S REVIEW REPORT

May 3, 2018

To Management
Outlook Corporate Consulting, LLC
DBA: Business Minds R and D
Salt Lake City, Utah

We have reviewed the accompanying financial statements of Business Minds R and D, which comprise the balance sheets as of December 31, 2017 and December 31, 2016, and the related statements of income and retained earnings and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements. A review includes primarily applying analytical procedures to management's financial data and making inquiries of company management. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements as a whole. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement whether due to fraud or error.

Accountant's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to conduct the review engagement in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services promulgated by the Accounting and Review Services Committee of the AICPA. Those standards require us to perform procedures to obtain limited assurance as a basis for reporting whether we are aware of any material modifications that should be made to the financial statements for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. We believe that the results of our procedures provide a reasonable basis for our conclusion.

Accountant's Conclusion

Based on our review, we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
