INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Shareholder of CITYFREIGHTER INC.

We have audited the accompanying balance sheet of CITYFREIGHTER INC., as at December 31, 2021, and the related statements of income, and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above, present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of CITYFREIGHTER INC. as at December 31, 2021, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

CITYFREIGHTER INC.
Notes to the Financial Statements
December 31, 2021
(Prepared in US dollars)

1. Nature of business:

CityFreighter Inc. (the "Corporation") is a Limited Corporation formed and organized under the General Corporation laws of Delaware and is governed by a Limited Corporation Agreement dated June 26, 2018 (the "Corporation"). The registered office is located at 16192 Coastal Highway, Lewes Delaware 19958, Country of Sussex.

These audited financial statements were approved for issuance by the CPA on April 10, 2023.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

2.1 Basis of Presentation

The accompanying financial statements are prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP"). The Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") as produced by the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") is the sole source of authoritative GAAP.

2.2 Use of Estimates in Preparation of Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with US GAAP requires the Company to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenue and expense during the reporting periods. Estimates that are critical to the accompanying financial statements include allowance for doubtful accounts, amortization, and depreciation because such items can be significantly impacted by future industry, market, and economic trends and conditions. Actual results could differ significantly from estimates.

2.3 Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments with a maturity of three months or less when purchased to be cash equivalents. Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash and demand deposits in banks, merchant banking clearing accounts, and short-term investments. To reduce its credit risk, the Company monitors the credit standing of the financial institutions that hold the Company's cash and cash equivalents.

2.4 Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Fair value is determined based on estimated future net cash flows discounted for the inherent risks associated with the assets, or other valuation techniques. Certain instruments of the Company's financial instruments, including cash, accounts payable, debt and other accrued liabilities are carried at cost, which approximates their fair value because of the short-term maturity of these financial instruments. Due to uncertainties in the estimation process, it is possible that actual results could differ from those estimates and could materially affect the financial statements.

2.5 Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable are stated at net realizable value. The Company's management provides an allowance for doubtful accounts equal to the estimated losses that will be incurred in the collection of all receivables. The estimated losses are based on a periodic review of all accounts and consider the Company's loss experience, known and inherent risks in the receivable population, adverse situations that may affect a client's ability to pay, and current economic conditions. The Company performs ongoing credit evaluations of its clients and generally does not require collateral because management believes that it has procedures in place to limit potential for significant losses.

2.5 Share Capital

Total common shares outstanding for the period ending December 31, 2021 are 1,998,208.

3. Subsequent Events

As of December 31, 2021, there are no subsequent events that either warrant a modification of the value of the assets and liabilities or any additional disclosures for the reporting fiscal year.

In December 2020, a novel strain of coronavirus was reported in Wuhan, China ("COVID-19"). The COVID-19 outbreak is disrupting supply chains and affecting production and sales across a range of industries. The extent of the impact of COVID-19 on the Company's operational and financial performance will depend on certain developments, including the duration and spread of the outbreak, impact on customers, employees and vendors. The extent to which COVID-19 may impact the Company's financial condition or results of operations is uncertain and cannot be reasonably estimated at this time.
