DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS

DIRECTORS

4. Information about each director (and any persons occupying a similar status or performing a similar function) of the issuer:

Name: Melissa Spelts

Dates of Service: July 2016

Principal Occupation:

Director and Owner of Connection Publishing, LLC

Melissa Spelts grew up in Northern Utah her father was an entrepreneur with his own business in Brigham City. She watched as he built a business and worked for him on several occasions. She was also fired a couple of times because she let her teenage interests come before her job and she learned some valuable lessons because of her father's leadership. She attended school at Ricks College in South Eastern Idaho and married Ryan in 1999.

Her early career was in administrative assisting at businesses in her new home of Las Vegas. She eventually was hired as the assistant to the CEO of Cumorah Credit Union. There she was in charge of helping the CEO complete anything he needed but was also put in charge of several company-wide initiatives like a Health and Wellness reward program and New Hire training.

Melissa then started a family and decided to shift her focus from a career path to that of a mother raising 5 children. During this time Melissa developed an allergy to sugar and was forced to change her diet and struggled to find a diet that would work for a girl who had a sweet tooth but couldn't eat traditional treats. She and her two sisters developed a blog where they started discovering and sharing desserts with people who were struggling with sugar in their diet. During this time she purchased her first high-end camera and started taking pictures of food for her blog.

Melissa also developed an interest in photography in general and started developing those skills. These two focuses did not fully reveal their importance until 2016 when Melissa and Ryan decided to create a city newsletter for their community of North Ogden. These skills she had developed lent so naturally to the needs of publishing a magazine that it is almost as if they were meant to be. She also has a uniquely creative mind that is responsible for many of the stories told each month in the publications.

Name: Ryan Spelts

Dates of Service: July 2016

Principal Occupation:

CEO of Connection Publishing, LLC

Ryan Spelts grew up in Las Vegas. He went to school for a degree in Business Management and made a career as a sales professional and sales manager. He stumbled into a sales career where he found that he was quite good at selling and leading salespeople.

In an early career at Cutco Kitchen knives, he was responsible for over $3 Million in sales of cutlery and then worked as a mortgage professional and then worked in advertising sales for a local magazine in Las Vegas before the economy crashed in 2007 and the magazine went out of business.

After moving to Utah with his family, he was hired as the Director of Sales at Living Scriptures a local direct sales company and he was responsible for nearly $19 Million in sales during his 7-year career. When Living Scriptures was reorganizing due to a shift in movie watching patterns and went entirely online, Ryan started doing some consulting for other sales companies.

Ryan, with Melissa, decided that they would seek to start a magazine for their community of North Ogden, which they initially viewed as a side gig. When sales increased and other cities started contacting them to bring this unique product to their communities, the company grew and Ryan's experience as a sales manager has been greatly beneficial.

Important Disclaimer:

As the Issuer is a startup company with a limited history of operation, lacking of material assets and has conducted no prior sales of securities except to its founders and initial shareholders, the reliability, accuracy and appropriateness of the valuation methods used in this section in determining the valuation of the securities being offered is not guaranteed. The valuation methods used in this section do not infer that the Issuer assumes any fiduciary duties and should not be construed as financial, legal or tax advice. We strongly encourage you to consult with qualified business financial analysis professionals, attorneys, or tax advisors prior to making any investment decisions.

Valuation of Our Membership Units

For valuation of our membership units offered in this offering, Connection Publishing used the management's forecasts and applied two valuation methods, the first based on revenue multiple valuation and the second based on earnings multiple valuation.

In the first case based on revenue multiple valuation, we calculated the implied enterprise value by applying a multiple of 3.5x to the management's estimate of its calendar year 2019 revenue of $650,000.

In the second case based on earnings multiple valuation, we calculated implied enterprise value by applying a multiple of 30x to the management's estimate of its calendar year 2019 net profit of $80,000.

Here is the sales and net profit figure in the 2017 and 2018 and hence we project our sales in 2019:

In each case, the multiples were selected by the management utilizing its judgment and experience after the consideration of the business trend and the expected fund raised in this offering and based on the fact that our magazines range from 32-64 pages and typically feature 40-50% advertising. Ads average just under $400 per ad per month. (Ad prices are determined by the distribution of the magazine) At an average value of $1100 a page, this means there is a potential of $15,000 to $35,200 in monthly revenue per magazine with an average of $10,000 in hard print, postage and design costs for each magazine.

The implied enterprise values from the two valuation methods are described as follows:

Valuation Methods	Projected Financials	Multiples	Implied Enterprise Values	Per Membership Unit Value
Revenue Multiple Valuation	$650,000 (revenue)	3.5	$2,275,000	$0.948
Earnings multiple Valuation	$85,000 (net profit)	30	$2,550,000	$1.063

The above valuation analyses resulted in implied value per membership unit of $0.948 for the first case and $1.063 for the second case.

Therefore, we priced our membership units in this offering by taking the mean of the above two values, which is $1.0055 or $1.00 after rounding.

Although the multiples used above are generally higher than the industrial average, we believe they are reasonable for our situation as we are in the startup stage and our growth momentum is higher than established print media companies.

Investors should be cautious that we did not obtain an independent appraisal opinion on the valuation of the Membership Units. The Membership Units may have a value significantly less than the offering price and there is no guarantee that the Units will ever attain a value equal to or greater than the offering price.

Methods for how the securities may be valued by the issuer in the future:

Apart from the above valuation methods, Connection Publishing will consider performing other valuation analyses including Leveraged Buyout Analysis, Discounted Equity Analysis and Discounted Cash Flow Analysis in the future when offering new membership units or securities.

In valuing new membership units or securities in the future, the Issuer may review and analyze certain relevant precedent merger and acquisition transactions involving companies that are comparable to Connection Publishing.

Also, the Company may employ independent professional valuers to perform valuations of the securities to be issued by the Company in the future.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

- Purchasers of the securities in this offering have limited rights to demand distributions (e.g. dividends) from the Issuer.
- The majority owner may make a decision that the Purchasers consider bad and puts Purchaser's interest in the Issuer at risk.
- Although, as Membership Units holders, the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.
- Since the securities in this offering are not publicly traded and are subject to restrictions on resale or transfer including holding period requirements, the securities in this offering are illiquid.
- Although the Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled voting rights, as minority shareholders, they may not have enough voting power to exert influence in the affairs of the company or the composition of its board of directors.
- The Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions:

a. Additional Issuances of Securities

Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

b. Issuer Repurchases of Securities

The issuer could be authorized to repurchase the company's issued securities subject to the approval by the company's board of directors. Purchasers of the securities may not impede the issuer's right to repurchase its securities from other shareholders. Moreover, the repurchase could be made at a price much lower than company's business value or its fair valuation, which could be indicative of the resale price of the securities thereafter.

c. A Sale of the Issuer or of Assets of the Issuer

Although as Membership Units holders the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

d. Transactions with Related Parties

Transactions with related parties are transactions between the issuer or any of its subsidiaries and a connected person. These transactions include both capital and revenue nature transactions. They may be one-off transactions or continuing transactions. Purchasers should be aware that these transactions may create conflicts of interests between themselves and the Issuer.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

The Company has a line of credit balance of $29,440 for the period ending December 31, 2017 and a balance of $33,434 for the period ending December 31, 2018. The interest rate is a 2.8% fixed rate and there is no required repayment schedule.

25. What other exempt offerings has the issuer conducted within the past three years?

The issuer didn't conduct any exempt offerings within the past three years.

26. Was or is the issuer or any entities controlled by or under common control with the issuer a party to any transaction since the beginning of the issuer's last fiscal year, or any currently proposed transaction, where the amount involved exceeds five percent of the aggregate amount of capital raised by the issuer in reliance on Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act during the preceding 12-month period, including the amount the issuer seeks to raise in the current offering, in which any of the following persons had or is to have a direct or indirect material interest:

- a. any director or officer of the issuer;
- b. any person who is, as of the most recent practicable date, the beneficial owner of 20 percent or more of the issuer's outstanding voting equity securities, calculated on the basis of voting power;
- c. if the issuer was incorporated or organized within the past three years, any promoter of the issuer; or
- d. any immediate family member of any of the foregoing persons.

The Company does not have any such transactions to report.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE ISSUER

27. Does the issuer have an operating history?

Yes. Connection Publishing, LLC (the Company) is an LLC which began operations during the 2016 calendar year.

28. Describe the financial condition of the issuer, including, to the extent material, liquidity, capital resources and historical results of operations.

Review of Operation

Revenues

Revenues in 2018 increased $111,132, or 57% to $305,370, compared to $194,238 in 2017. The increase was primarily due to the growth of our advertising revenues.

Cost of Goods Sold and Operating Expenses

Cost of Goods Sold

Our cost of goods sold consists primarily of expenses associated with the delivery and distribution of our products.

Cost of goods sold in 2018 increased $27,247 to $36,318, or 300% compared to $9,071 in 2017.

Operating Expenses

Our major expenses include costs in autos, contractor expenses, legal & professional fees, payrolls expenses, shipping & postage, software, and stationery and printing.

Total operating expenses in 2018 were $243,599, increased $93,136, or 62% compared to $150,463 in 2017. The increase was primarily due to increased expenses in stationery and printing, payroll and costs in autos.

Net Income

Net income for the 12 months ended December 31, 2018 was $25,453, decreased 27% compared to $34,704 in 2017. The decrease in our net income is primarily due to an increase in our operating expenses which offset the growth of our sales during the period.

Cash flows

In 2018, the cash flow generated from operating activities was $18,945, versus $22,599 in 2017, primarily due to a decrease in our net income. We didn't record any cash flow in investing activities in both 2018 and 2017. Cash flow used by financing activities was $29,258 in 2018, versus $13,671 in 2017, due to an increase in partner distributions.

Our historical results and cash flows are not representative of what investors should expect in the future.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Our principal sources of liquidity are our cash and cash equivalents and cash generated from operations. Cash and cash equivalents consist primarily of cash on deposit with banks. Cash and cash equivalents totaled $770 as of December 31, 2018, compared to $11,083 a year earlier. The reduction of our cash level primarily reflects the increase in partner distributions in 2018.

Liabilities

The Company has a line of credit balance of $29,440 for the period ending December 31, 2017 and a balance of $33,434 for the period ending December 31, 2018. The interest rate is a 2.8% fixed rate and there is no required repayment schedule.

How We Plan To Fund Our Future Operations

The Company expects to fund its operations and capital expenditure requirements from operating cash flows, cash and cash equivalents, proceeds from this offering and credit facilities. We may raise additional funds through public or private equity offerings or debt financings, but there can be no assurance that we will be able to do so on acceptable terms or at all.

New business developments or other unforeseen events may occur, resulting in the need to raise additional funds. There can be no assurances regarding the business prospects with respect to any other opportunity. Any other development would require us to obtain additional financing.

Although the Company expects that there will be a growth in revenue in the coming years, investors should be aware that historical results and cash flows are not representative of the future.

The Company are seeking a minimum of $50,000 in this offering, which would improve the Company's liquidity and balance sheet, but whether or not receiving these funds and any other additional funds is not necessary to the viability of the business in the next 12 months and we expect that the Company's available cash together with the proceeds of the offering would be enough to finance its operation in the next 12 months.

The proceed of this offering will significantly improve our financial condition and liquidity, and will allow us to expand our business in the coming 1-2 years, though we believe the proceed of this offering does not affect the viability of our business as we believe the cash generated from operations is sufficient to finance our ongoing operations, as we did in the past. But investors should be aware that our past records are not representative of the future.

According to the market situation, we may raise additional funds through public or private equity offerings or debt financings.

Outlook in 2019

In 2019, the Company will continue to expand innovative business models, and further expand and improve the transformation and upgrade from print media to digital media. At the same time, we will strive to build a new media business model by combining print, digital and social media, thereby bringing new opportunities and growth points to the Company in 2019.

We will continue to strengthen our 3 customer segments:

1. The City: continue to maintain a positive working relationship with the city administration and officials.

2. Our Readers: By focusing on the stories and values that matter most to our communities we create great engagement.

3. Our Advertisers: We seek to make and maintain a relationship with each of our advertisers to maximize their investment in advertising. Most of our advertising customers are developed through cold calling both on the phone and through door-to-door canvassing to businesses. Direct sales are at the heart of our operation. We also get call-in's from residents who own businesses and want to advertise in the publication.

Appendix A - BUSINESS AND ANTICIPATED BUSINESS PLAN

Executive Summary

Connection Publishing is a community magazine company that partners with cities to replace the traditional city newsletter with a full-featured, full-color news magazine. We partner with the city becoming their official magazine, carrying their official city news and adding to that fun and engaging human interest stories from the local community. We highlight outstanding students, local hiking trails, monthly recipes and local history in each month's magazines. This provides a hyper-local focused magazine for the communities we serve while also providing a source for local businesses to advertise their products and services.

Company Description - Nature of Business

Melissa and Ryan Spelts set with an initial goal to create more connection in their lives and the lives of their community. Cities struggle to effectively communicate all that they are working on and accomplishing for their constituents. Today's communities also struggle to form a sense of "community" often community members feel alienated and don't even know their neighbors. By having a place where people can turn to so they can learn about the good that is happening within their city and with their neighbors, community connection occurs. The magazines are funded by advertising funds.

Currently, our business is operated out of a home office. Most of our employees work virtually from their homes as well.

Product and Service:

Community: Each of the cities we serve is benefited by being able to show the accomplishments of their city. We also highlight calendar of local events and fun things to do. We highlight local businesses, historical sites and stories and highlight top performing students. We also write about local outdoor activities and community-submitted recipes.

Storytelling is one of our most powerful tools. We tell the positive stories of the local community. Its local history, its local community highlights and any interesting story that makes a community great.

Each city is given space to communicate their news. They provide the information and we lay it out professionally. They cover topics such as a Mayor's Message, Employee of the Month, Upcoming Recreation activities, City announcements and civil improvements. Our other sections include Local Focus (Precious Pets, Community History, Students of the Month, Community Calendar), Food (Recipes, restaurant reviews), Business (Sponsored editorials and Advertiser Spotlight) Outdoor (Hikes, outdoor activities and seasonal activities) We also feature a community contest monthly that allows people from the community to get involved and even win cash prizes.

Cities: City governments are given a medium to communicate their accomplishments and to partner with a privately owned publication that takes most of the financial obligation and a majority of the personnel man-hours in assembling and publishing a city newsletter. They are given a better format and a way to communicate their news and information to the community.

Businesses: Local businesses are able to benefit from having a way to connect with the community through a local source that encourages and promotes the feeling of home that we all crave. From as little as $200 a month to $1500 a month for a premium advertising spot. We offer advertising contracts at 3, 6, 12, 24 and 36 month advertising agreements with discounts up to 20% off for longer term agreements.

With the changing times and communication moving more and more toward electronic sources and social media, we offer our content through any source that our potential readers might want. We publish all of our content for each city in a print magazine (still our most powerful source), a digital magazine (for a magazine experience on a tablet or computer), and a mobile responsive website which we then co-promote content and contests through social media platforms. That way our readers can consume our content and be exposed to our advertisers in any way they prefer.

Market Analysis

Print advertising has long been a great way for local businesses to reach a target market for a reasonable cost. The key to local marketing is to be part of something that has a high level of engagement and community tie-ins. Though some forms of print media have struggled in recent years, hyper-local news publications like our magazines have made great strides in smaller communities across the nation.

N2 Publishing was started in 2004 with around $300,000 in sales in 2005 and over $126mm in 2016. They have over 900 communities that they produce magazines for. They do not team up with cities to become an official source and are currently offering franchises nationwide.

Best Version Media is another locally focused magazine company that has seen tremendous growth over the past 10 years. They focus on a direct sales approach of hiring independent sales people to sell advertisements in their publications. They often focus on teaming up with Home Owners Associations for high-end affluent communities.

Locally here in Utah, we have Home Town Values magazines which have provided a local advertising source for most of the Wasatch Front for the past 20 years. They are 100% advertisements and are viewed as coupon books.

We are positioning ourselves as a perfect combination of hyperlocal content driven magazines that also provides an opportunity for cities to better communicate and for businesses to advertise.

We have been approached preliminarily by multiple cities expressing interest in what we are providing for our communities. Our growth for cities has been 100% organic. We have never had to reach out to a single city other than our first, cities have approached us. Our projection is that there are 20 cities in Northern Utah alone that would fit our model and would benefit from having our publication represent their city. We are poised for great growth as long as we can put together the right team and systems.

Organization and Management

Melissa is creative and is the source of much of the content in the magazines. She is the city liaison and oversees the gathering of community information and writes our history stories and many of our other stories and recipes. She is a photographer and has been responsible for most of our cover photos. She also currently manages our social media pages.

Ryan Spelts is a 20 year sales and management veteran. Having run sales forces and small companies leading them to growth and expansion. He has a unique ability to drive sales and to build relationships. He was responsible for 3.5 million in annual sales at his last company and managed a 4% budget for the organization and a sales team of 6 region managers and about 50 salespeople. As of September 2017 Ryan started working full-time for Connection Publishing. Ryan is also a writer and self-taught graphic designer.

Kristina Case is our Lead Graphic Designer. With 15+ years of magazine development and design. <http://kristina-case-design.squarespace.com/> She is responsible for the overall look and professional design of the magazine. She oversees the design and artwork of all of our magazines.

We also have several sales, graphic design and writing professionals who are helping us grow our company on a part-time basis (see our team bio for more info). We are consistently approached by readers of the magazine to either volunteer or inquiring if we are hiring because they love the magazines.

Product Line

We sell a full line of display ads, online ads, articles and social media videos. Display ads are either Full Page, Half Page, 1/4 page and 1/8 page ads. We also do graphic design for our advertisers and sell display ads on our websites. Prices range from roughly $200-$1500 a month. We currently range from 50-75 advertisers per month and growing.

Marketing and Sales

We view ourselves having 3 customers. 1. The City: We work to maintain a positive working relationship with the city administration and officials. 2. Our Readers: By focusing on the stories and values that matter most to our communities we create great engagement. 3. Our Advertisers: We seek to make and maintain a relationship with each of our advertisers to maximize their investment in advertising.

Most of our advertising customers are developed through cold calling both on the phone and through door-to-door canvassing to businesses. Direct sales are at the heart of our operation. We also get call-in's from residents who own businesses and want to advertise in the publication.

Projections of Our Advertising

We typically add 2-5 new advertisers per month. January - March are the slowest months for advertising while November and December have the highest demand.

Ads are paid each month before we go to print. If an advertiser does not pay, their ad will be pulled from publication until past invoices are paid.

Financial Projections and Funding Request

Magazines range from 32-64 pages and typically feature 40-50% advertising. Ads average just under $400 per ad per month. (Ad prices are determined by the distribution of the magazine) At an average value of $1100 a page, this means there is a potential of $15,000 to $35,200 in monthly revenue per magazine with an average of $10,000 in hard print, postage and design costs for each magazine. In 2017 we did 194,238 in sales, last year we did $305,370 in sales and project $650,000 in sales for 2019.

Immediate Growth Opportunities and Needs Planned Use of Funds:

We are seeing tremendous growth in Social Media video demand. We would like to hire social media specialists who can run our social media pages and that has video creating experience. We would like to expand our social media product offering. This will likely include two people that handle all that we do on social for all three current locations and future locations.

We would also plan to hire an onsite writer/ story finder in each city so our stories stay hyperlocal. We like to hire stay at home moms who are tied into the communities. Each city should have one on a part-time basis. They would also be a liaison for gathering news and calendar information from each city.

We would also like to expand the duties of our current graphic designer and make her the Managing editor over content and ads. She has vast experience and we would like her role to be much more than graphic design.

We also need more salespeople. The more time we have out canvassing and selling the higher the revenue will be for our magazines. We need one additional salesperson now and will also need a marketing manager who will oversee finding new areas for additional magazines as we grow.

We will eventually need a centralized office location where creatives and writers can meet and we can hold sales meetings and trainings. Estimated $800-1500 a month plus, utilities and furniture $5000.

As we grow we will be able to leverage the current assets we have in place and expand on the products we have already created. We hope to open two additional cities by the first quarter of 2020 and then 2 more in 2021.

We will also consider purchasing a printing press when our monthly magazine count is over 100K per month. We are currently producing 34K magazines per month.

We also want to develop a licensing approach for our growing nationwide. This will allow us to become a fulfillment company to help independent business people to start a magazine in their own town. This will take marketing and staff to handle the training and developing of business people.

General Risk Factors

Economic downturn: businesses typically spend less on advertising during economic downturns.

Management: Our current business structure is heavily dependent on the two owners Ryan and Melissa, if something were to happen to either of them it would be damaging to the business. Current hiring efforts are in order to train and cross train others on our business practices so that it is less dependent on the two owners.

Partnerships: Cities love our publications but they are run by politicians who come and go. Our contracts are for 5 years but if we were to lose a contract it would be detrimental to our growth. We could still produce the publication we just wouldn't have the clout of being the official city magazine.

Competition: There are many, many competitors in the advertising space. Google and Facebook are growing quickly and are gaining traction in the advertising space. These competitors could erode away at the overall available advertising budgets in a given community.

Financial Risk: Magazines are a labor-intensive business. Needing writers, sales and graphic design as well as large expenses like printing and postage.

Cost increase risk: It could be damaging to the business if the costs of ink and paper and postage were to increase significantly.

Taxes: If the government were to increase taxes on services it would increase the price of advertising. This could prove detrimental to overall ad sales production.

Technology risk: paradigm shifts can be disruptive. Although the demand for our print product is the greatest, if trends were to move toward more digital offerings it would be a challenge to our business. We attempt to offer our content in multiple platforms (Print, Digital, Online, Social) but trends could change to demand for print over time.

Operational Risk: Administrative support demand will be great as we grow to more magazines. There will be large amounts of need for each magazine from writers, designers and support staff.

Environmental risk: The cost of unsustained paper use could be bad for the print industry in general. Magazines could be viewed by some as an environmental hazard. We will seek to use responsible paper suppliers who manage their paper use carefully and replant their sources.

Competitive risk: there are no patents on our approaches, we have a great niche with being a cities official magazine but there is nothing from stopping someone from copying our ideas. The biggest advantage we have is that the cost of entry is high however it is not impossible for someone to start their own.

Risk Related to our Business

Our results of operations may be affected by advertising trends, economic conditions and increasing competition in the media advertising industry in the United States.

Our major source of revenue is derived from the sale of advertising spaces in our magazines. There is a positive correlation between the decrease in advertising revenue and the general economic downturns as well as regional and economic recessions. Our ability to generate advertising revenue is dependent, in part, on the level of budgets by our advertising customers, which is affected by a number of factors beyond our control, including general economic conditions, shifts in consumer purchase patterns and changes in the retail environment.

Apart from that, competition in the market from other print media, as well as from new and other types of media, could be fierce. There are a large variety of magazines and other media that are already competing with us for advertising sales. Furthermore, an increase in the variety and availability of other forms of advertising media such as television, radio, internet websites and outdoor media may increase competition of the media advertising industry. While we believe our strengths and market position have enabled us to compete with other print media and other forms of advertising media so far, we cannot give any assurance that we will be able to continue to do so as effectively in the future.

We rely on certain key management personnel and magazine production and marketing teams.

Our success is, to a significant extent, attributable to the management skill and solid experience in the media sector of our management personnel. Melissa Spelts and Ryan Spelts the founders of the Company play a significant role in our day-to-day operations. Should any of these members of the Company's senior management leave the Company and we fail to find suitable replacements, our business may be adversely affected.

In addition, we value the contribution of our teams of content production staff and designers whose market knowledge and experience, and innovative and presentation skills, which enhance the attractiveness of the contents of our magazines that ultimately attract readers with a desirable readership profile on which the demand for advertising spaces in our magazines depends. Our skilled sales and marketing staff with in-depth market knowledge and experience in the advertising industry offer integrated marketing solutions to our advertising customers. We face keen competition for skilled content production and marketing personnel with significant in-depth market knowledge and experience in the media and advertising sector. We may need to offer better remuneration package and other benefits in order to attract and retain key personnel in the future and we cannot assure you that we will be able to retain such employees. If the existing skilled content production and marketing personnel leave the Company and we encounter difficulties in recruiting or retaining competent personnel to manage our business operations, our operations and businesses may be adversely affected.

We rely on intellectual property rights protection.

In the course of conducting our business, we heavily rely on the protection of our intellectual property rights and the non-infringement of those belonging to others. We may not be able to protect our own rights or could even be found liable for having infringed third parties' rights, which might include, among others, intellectual property rights. We regard intellectual property rights such as copyright and trademarks that we use as important to the success of our businesses, and any unauthorized use of such intellectual property rights by third parties may adversely affect our businesses and reputation.

We may not be able to sustain our business growth

In order to sustain growth, we need to implement our business plans effectively, maintain experienced content production and marketing teams, manage our costs effectively and exercise adequate control and reporting systems in a timely manner. However, there is no assurance that we will continue to maintain such business growth in the future.

We may not be able to implement our strategies and future plans successfully.

We set out our business strategies under the paragraph headed Appendix A - BUSINESS AND ANTICIPATED BUSINESS PLAN" in this offering statement. The successful implementation of these strategies and plans depends on a number of factors including, among other things, changes in the US media and advertising markets, the availability of funds, competition, government policies and our ability to retain and recruit competent employees. Some of these factors are beyond our control and by nature, are subject to uncertainty.

We rely on independent distributors.

We rely on distributors to distribute our magazines. Should the terms of the distribution agreements with any significant distributor or a significant number of distributors be terminated, breached or adversely varied, we may be unable to find appropriate replacement distributors in a timely manner and our businesses and operations may be adversely affected.

We generally do not enter into long-term sales contracts with our advertising customers.

Consistent with common practice in the markets in which we operate, and due to factors such as fluctuations in price and customer spending patterns in the media industry as well as our advertising customers' need for flexibility in the allocation of advertising expenditures or budgets and marketing strategies, we generally do not enter into long-term sales contracts with our advertising customers. As we do not enter into long-term contracts with our advertising customers, there can be no assurance that we will maintain or increase our advertising spaces sales to these advertising customers or other large advertising customers at current levels or at all. Any loss to other print media competitors of a significant portion of our current advertising spaces sales to these major advertising customers could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We face competition

The publication and advertising industries in the United States are highly competitive. We face existing and potential competition from various magazine publishers and other print media, as well as from new and other types of media, in particular, the Internet, especially in our business in the United States where there is no significant entry barrier to the publishing business. Moreover, we consider that competition in the advertising industry is further intensified due to the growing popularisation of the Internet. Over the last decade, the Internet has become one of the most popular vehicles facilitating a variety of communication and information-sharing medium worldwide. Its growing popularity as a new medium of communication has resulted in changes in the use of traditional media. As a new medium the Internet survives, grows, competes, and prospers by providing utility or gratification to consumers and it may have effects on existing media by providing new solutions to old needs or to more contemporary needs.

Should we fail to compete with other magazine publishers and advertising companies by maintaining our competitive advantages or responding rapidly to a fast-changing business environment and readers' preferences, our operations could be adversely affected. Any increase in competition can adversely affect our market share, which may lead to price reductions in advertising and an increase in our spending on marketing activities. Any of these events could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition, operations and prospects.

Potential increase in printing costs may affect our profitability.

Paper is the essential material for the production of the Magazines; however, we did not maintain our own stock of paper in the past and in the future. In the event of any substantial increase in the price of paper in the future which consequently leads to the increase in the printing price offered by our printers, the profitability of the Company may be adversely affected since there is no guarantee that the Company can pass on all or part of the increased costs to our advertising customers and readers.

Our operations are subject to seasonality.

Advertising expenditures in the United States traditionally demonstrated a mild seasonal fluctuation. For example, January to March are the slowest months for advertising while November and December have the highest demand. We consider that our advertising revenues are sensitive to local customer spending pattern as our advertising customers are likely to place advertisements according to such seasonal shopping or spending patterns. As a result, the Company generally records higher revenue in the second half as compared to the first half of each year. Accordingly, any adverse change in the trends in seasonal shopping or spending pattern and other factors may affect the operational results of the Company.

Risk Related to the Offering

We determined the price of the Membership Units arbitrarily.

The offering price of the Membership Units has been determined by management, and bears no relationship to our assets, book value, potential earnings, net worth or any other recognized criteria of value. We cannot assure that the price of the Units is the fair market value of the Units or that investors will earn any profit on them.

We cannot assure that we will pay dividends.

We do not currently anticipate declaring and paying dividends to our shareholders in the near future. It is our current intention to apply net earnings, if any, in the foreseeable future to increase its capital base and marketing. Prospective investors seeking or needing dividend income or liquidity should therefore not purchase our membership units. We cannot assure that we will ever have sufficient earnings to declare and pay dividends to the holders of our membership units, and in any event, a decision to declare and pay dividends is at the sole discretion of our board of directors.

You can't easily resell the securities.

There are restrictions on how you can resell your securities. More importantly, there is no market for these securities, and there might never be one. It's unlikely that the company will ever go public or get acquired by a bigger company. That means the money you paid for these securities could be tied up for a long time.

Our failure to maintain effective internal controls over financial reporting could have an adverse impact on us.

We are required to establish and maintain appropriate internal controls over financial reporting. Failure to establish those controls, or any failure of those controls once established, could adversely impact our public disclosures regarding our business, financial condition or results of operations. In addition, management's assessment of internal controls over financial reporting may identify weaknesses and conditions that need to be addressed in our internal controls over financial reporting or other matters that may raise concerns for investors. Any actual or perceived weaknesses and conditions that need to be addressed in our internal control over financial reporting, disclosure of management's assessment of our internal controls over financial reporting or disclosure of our public accounting firm's attestation to or report on management's assessment of our internal controls over financial reporting may have an adverse impact on the price of our membership units.
