Our Team

Steven Smith Founder and CEO

Creating Vegan Fine Brands, and then launching Vegan Foods Foods, the first all-vegan market of its kind in the United States.

I chose this idea to solve the problem of limited access to high-quality foods that many experience. I care because I believe that everyone should have the opportunity to conveniently shop for foods that support health, wellness, and a better quality of life.

Rainford Knight Global Head of Finance

Having the opportunity to apply my financial experience over the years in building businesses from scratch.

LEAD INVESTOR

Jacqueline Famila Retired

I invested in Vegan Fine Brands because of their ambitious mission to make healthier plant-based foods accessible to everyone. I love the niche focus on plant-based foods and health and wellness products (projected to be a $OB+ global market) and think they will achieve success with their unique business model. The leadership team is strong with extensive business experience. CEO Steven Smith brings his passion as a long time vegan to Vegan Fine Brands. The teams' shared passion will help drive the company forward as they scale. I am impressed by their organic growth and remarkable branding. It's already a well known brand in the US as a first mover in the plant based retail market. I believe Vegan Fine Brands can take off as they add more franchises, open more locations and launch their online store.

The Story of Vegan Fine Brands

Vegan Fine Brands, Inc. was formed in December 2016. We launched our flagship retail store, Vegan Fine Foods, in 2018. It's been an amazing journey and we have barely scratched the surface of the potential of the exploding natural plant-based foods market. Here's the story of Vegan Fine Brands, from concept to creation, from an idea to reality.

The Problem

Access to vegan products has not kept up with rising demand

World population growth has corresponded with an increase in the consumption of animal-based foods. This has placed considerable strain on the world's natural resources, including land, energy, water, and nutrients. It has been projected that by 2050, our planet will no longer be able to meet the demand for meat-based food products.

A diet rich in plant-based foods & with fewer animal source foods confers both improved health & environmental benefits.

Prof. Walter Willett, MD
Harvard School of Public Health

Consumer awareness and sentiment has shifted accordingly and there is now a fast-growing demand for plant-based food, health, and beauty care products. In the last few years, food producers have started to meet that demand. According to the Good Food Institute, more than 700 new plant-based meat, egg and dairy products were launched in 2019.

But this ever-growing community of vegans and non-vegans alike have limited physical and online locations to purchase vegan products. Ultimately, these products are still not as accessible to the public as they should be.

Additionally, we believe these products are expensive and fragmented across many different markets.

The Solution

A groundbreaking, all-vegan consumer products company

Vegan Fine Brands Corporate Structure

When Vegan Fine Brands was founded in 2016, there were limited vegan grocery stores or markets in the U.S. So we started by launching our first store, Vegan Fine Foods, in Fort Lauderdale, FL in 2018.

Our Fort Lauderdale, FL location is one of the first all-vegan grocery stores in the US

Four months later, we launched Vegan Fine Café inside of the Vegan Fine Foods market. This made us the one of the first all-vegan markets and cafés in America with over 4,000 square feet in retail space.

In late 2019, we launched Vegan Fine Body with 1,000 square feet of retail space right next door to the Vegan Fine Foods market. Vegan Fine Body is a specialty boutique focused on vegan alternatives for health and wellness.

Our stores are the one-stop shop for plant-based groceries, health, and beauty products. They are bridging the gap between accessibility and ethical sourcing for our audience of vegan-living customers.

The Market

The plant-based food segment vastly outgrew the larger food industry in 2019

In grocery stores across the U.S., plant-based food sales are growing steadily, while sales of many conventional animal products are stagnant or declining. Last year, while the overall food market grew at just 2.2%, the plant-based food sector saw growth at over 11%.

The global plant-based foods market is expected to reach $74.2 billion by 2027. The global plant-based meat market by revenue is expected to grow at a CAGR of over 18% during the period 2019-2025.

This same trend holds true throughout the industry, with plant-based meats gaining momentum in the pandemic, up 148% more than last year, spiking at 50% over the peak panic buying of animal-based meat.

Plant-based milk grew at 5% versus just 0.1% for dairy overall. In fact, plant-based milk sales totaled $2 billion in 2019 and now accounts for 14% of the retail milk industry.

As the modern consumer's preferences continue to change, we believe massive opportunities have opened for new brands to gain loyal customers. Growing retail segments include prepared and packaged foods, beverages, vitamins, supplements, CBD products, cosmetics, and skin/body/hair care products.

The Business Model

Diverse revenue streams, including retail, e-commerce, and franchising

Vegan Fine Brands' business model includes a variety of revenue streams, beginning with its in-store sales of vegan products. Our in-store sales' margins are compounded with our private label product sales, as well as our in-store services.

We will soon complement our brick-and-mortar location with a robust e-commerce platform, which in addition to product sales, will also sell advertising opportunities.

Our Vegan Fine Cafe acts as our own quick service restaurant, with prepared foods, additional retail products, catering services, and meal kits.

Anticipated Launches

At Vegan Fine Body, we sell vegan and cruelty-free health and beauty care products, as well as in-store services like make-up and skin treatments. We will also sell these products online.

Lastly, we plan to have our Vegan Fine Franchising arm take in revenue through the sale of our Vegan Fine Foods, Cafe, and Body franchises, as well as royalties from all of their gross sales. We have a number of interested, prospective franchisees, and we are planning to enter into franchise agreements in the future.

How We Are Different

An entire portfolio of completely vegan brands

We have a number of different competitors on both the national and local level, and have established advantages over both segments.

Compared to our national competitors like Whole Foods and Trader Joe's, our positioning as a completely vegan retailer will hold much appeal for our target customers. We believe vegan consumers will gravitate towards a retailer that is 100% committed to an all-vegan lifestyle.

Against our smaller, independently-owned peers, we will have a considerable edge in product sourcing. Additionally, we believe the services we provide within our stores will make our shoppers' experiences one-of-a-kind.

The Vision

The global leader in plant-based retail

We want to be the most admired plant-based consumer products company in the world, with our brands as leaders in their market segments and product categories. We will achieve our mission as the global leader in plant-based retail by being faster, smarter, agile, passionate, and strategic.

We want to become the most admired plant-based retailer in the U.S.

With our private label brands now launched, we hope to cement Vegan Fine Brands as a destination for the highest quality in vegan products.

Ultimately, Vegan Fine Brands and our subsidiaries will be known for world-class customer service, the highest quality plant-based products, and the best place to work and flourish.
