SUMMARY

The Business

The following summary is qualified in its entirety by more detailed information that may appear elsewhere in this Form C-AR and the Exhibits hereto.

Avenify Corporation is a Delaware corporation, incorporated on July 28, 2018.

The Company is located at 1000 N. West St. Suite 1200, Wilmington, DE 19801..

The Company's website is <https://avenify.com/>.

The Company conducts business in all fifty (50) states within the United States of America.

The information available on or through our website is not a part of this Form C-AR.

RISK FACTORS

The SEC requires the Company to identify risks that are specific to its business and financial condition. The Company is still subject to all the same risks that all companies in its business, and all companies in the economy, are exposed to. These include risks relating to economic downturns, political and economic events and technological developments (such as hacking and the ability to prevent hacking). Additionally, early-stage companies are inherently riskier than more developed companies. You should consider general risks as well as specific risks when deciding whether to invest.

Risks Related to the Company's Business and Industry

We have a limited operating history upon which you can evaluate our performance, and accordingly, our prospects must be considered in light of the risks that any new company encounters.

The Company is still in an early phase and is just beginning to implement its business plan. There can be no assurance that it will ever operate profitably. The likelihood of its success should be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications and delays usually encountered by companies in their early stages of development. The Company may not be successful in attaining the objectives necessary for it to overcome these risks and uncertainties.

Adverse changes such as disasters, diseases and negative changes in government policy could result in significant losses to the Company.

Adverse changes such as public health crises, natural disasters, terrorist attacks and other outside events can adversely affect general commercial activity and the economies of many countries, which could materially adversely affect the business, financial condition and results of operations of the Company. For example, the outbreak of coronavirus (COVID-19) and its effect on the world in general, and on the financial market may negatively affect the Company. Revenue may be dependent on and sensitive to many other factors, including governmental monetary policies, economic and political conditions. Any such change could adversely affect the Company.

Although dependent on certain key personnel, the Company does not have any key man life insurance policies on any such people.

The Company is dependent on certain key personnel in order to conduct its operations and execute its business plan, however, the Company has not purchased any insurance policies with respect to those individuals in the event of their death or disability. Therefore, if any of these personnel die or become disabled, the Company will not receive any compensation to assist with such person's absence. The loss of such person could negatively affect the Company and its operations. We have no way to guarantee key personnel will stay with the Company, as many states do not enforce non-competition agreements, and therefore acquiring key man insurance will not ameliorate all of the risk of relying on key personnel.

Income Sharing Agreement Concept Might Fail.

Income sharing agreement is a relatively new concept and its object is to help students to finance their education. A vague version of the present-day income sharing agreement was first tried by Yale University. It was later dubbed a failure. Subsequently in 2016, Purdue University launched a fund offering seniors in college an opportunity to fund their education with income sharing agreements. Since then, some universities have endorsed the idea of income sharing agreements and have implemented them. However, as a concept it is relatively new. Therefore, there is a high likelihood that it may not succeed. The potential failure in the future of income sharing agreements make it a risky endeavor. If the idea of such educational financing were to fail, purchasers could incur a substantial, or even total, loss of their investment.

The Company is not subject to Sarbanes-Oxley regulations and may lack the financial controls and procedures of public companies.

The Company may not have the internal control infrastructure that would meet the standards of a public company, including the requirements of the Sarbanes Oxley Act of 2002. As a privately-held (non-public) Company, the Company is currently not subject to the Sarbanes Oxley Act of 2002, and its financial and disclosure controls and procedures reflect its status as a development stage, non-public company. There can be no guarantee that there are no significant deficiencies or material weaknesses in the quality of the Company's financial and disclosure controls and procedures. If it were necessary to implement such financial and disclosure controls and procedures, the cost to the Company of such compliance could be substantial and could have a material adverse effect on the Company's results of operations.

The Company depends on suppliers and contractors to meet its regulatory and contractual obligations to its customers and conduct its operations.

Our ability to meet our obligations to our customers may be adversely affected if suppliers or contractors do not provide the agreed-upon supplies or perform the agreed-upon services in compliance with laws or customer requirements in a timely and cost-effective manner. Likewise, the quality of the products may be adversely impacted if a contractor or a supplier of the products' ingredients do not meet required specifications and perform to our and our customers' expectations. Our suppliers may be unable to quickly recover from natural disasters, diseases such as coronavirus (COVID-19) and others, and other events beyond their control and may be subject to additional risks such as financial problems that limit their ability to conduct their operations. The risk of these adverse effects may be greater in circumstances where we rely on only one or two contractors or suppliers for a particular component and could potentially lead to losses.

Shift in Job Market in Future Might Negatively Affect the Student Repayments.

The advent of income sharing agreements could lead to shifts in patterns within the job market. Demand and compensation for different professions varies and depends on economical and other factors outside of the Company's control. Generally, the higher the compensation of the students, the higher the student repayments. If a student was not compensated enough to pay back to the Company, the Company would not receive repayments and the purchasers would not receive their investment back. That could lead to different and unforeseen losses for the Company and the purchasers.

The Company may not have adequate recourse against non-paying students.

In the event a student does not pay the Company for any reason or no reason at all, the Company may not have an adequate recourse against the student. The Company has an agreement with TrueAccord Corporation, an automated debt collection agency, but there is no guarantee TrueAccord Corporation will be able to collect on defaulted payments by non-paying students. Because income sharing agreements are still a novel concept and uncharted territory, a lack of a known adequate recourse makes them a risky endeavor.

Our business could be negatively impacted by cyber security threats, attacks and other disruptions.

Like others in our industry, we continue to face advanced and persistent attacks on our information infrastructure where we manage and store various proprietary information and sensitive/confidential data relating to our operations. These attacks may include sophisticated malware (viruses, worms, and other malicious software programs) and phishing emails that attack our products or otherwise exploit any security vulnerabilities. These intrusions sometimes may be zero-day malware that are difficult to identify because they are not included in the signature set of commercially available antivirus scanning programs. Experienced computer programmers and hackers may be able to penetrate our network security and misappropriate or compromise our confidential information or that of our customers or other third-parties, create system disruptions, or cause shutdowns. Additionally, sophisticated software and applications that we produce or procure from third-parties may contain defects in design or manufacture, including “bugs” and other problems that could unexpectedly interfere with the operation of the information infrastructure. A disruption, infiltration or failure of our information infrastructure systems or any of our data centers as a result of software or hardware malfunctions, computer viruses, cyber-attacks, employee theft or misuse, power disruptions, natural disasters or accidents could cause breaches of data security, loss of critical data and performance delays, which in turn could adversely affect our business.

Changes in government regulation could adversely impact our business.

The Company is subject to legislation and regulation at the federal and local levels and, in some instances, at the state level. The FCC and/or Congress may attempt to change the classification of or change the way that our online content platforms are regulated and/or change the framework under which Internet service providers are provided Safe Harbor for claims of copyright infringement, introduce changes to how digital advertising is regulated and consumer information is handled, changing rights and obligations of our competitors. We expect that court actions and regulatory proceedings will continue to refine our rights and obligations under applicable federal, state and local laws, which cannot be predicted. Moreover, the Company is currently required to be registered with the SEC and Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”) as an Exempt Reporting Advisor. The Company has taken appropriate steps to do so and is authorized to issue securities to investors through its subsidiaries. Modifications to existing requirements or imposition of new requirements or limitations could have an adverse impact on our business.

We may implement new lines of business or offer new products and services within existing lines of business.

As an early-stage company, we may implement new lines of business at any time. There are substantial risks and uncertainties associated with these efforts, particularly in instances where the markets are not fully developed. In developing and marketing new lines of business and/or new products and services, we may invest significant time and resources. Initial timetables for the introduction and development of new lines of business and/or new products or services may not be achieved, and price and profitability targets may not prove feasible. We may not be successful in introducing new products and services in response to industry trends or developments in technology, or those new products may not achieve market acceptance. As a result, we could lose business, be forced to price products and services on less advantageous terms to retain or attract clients or be subject to cost increases. As a result, our business, financial condition or results of operations may be adversely affected.

Damage to our reputation could negatively impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our reputation and the quality of our brand are critical to our business and success in existing markets and will be critical to our success as we enter new markets. Any incident that erodes consumer loyalty for our brand could significantly reduce its value and damage our business. We may be adversely affected by any negative publicity, regardless of its accuracy. Also, there has been a marked increase in the use of social media platforms and similar devices, including blogs, social media websites and other forms of internet-based communications that provide individuals with access to a broad audience of consumers and other interested persons. The availability of information on social media platforms is virtually immediate as is its impact. Information posted may be adverse to our interests or may be inaccurate, each of which may harm our performance, prospects or business. The harm may be immediate and may disseminate rapidly and broadly, without affording us an opportunity for redress or correction.

BUSINESS

Description of the Business

Avenify is a marketplace lending platform for Income Share Agreements (each an “ISA” and collectively, the “ISAs”), enabling students to finance their education debt-free, funded by investors looking to invest in student success. Students can apply for up to fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) per semester and do not make payments until they are employed and earning above twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) annually. Unlike a loan, where borrowers owe principal plus interest, borrowers promise a share of their future income for a fixed amount of time. Students are funded with capital from investors on the platform who are looking to invest in student success. After investing in a fund or individual, the investor is eligible to receive dividends once borrowers begin making payments on their ISA. The company owns their own codes and underwriting model.

Business Plan

Avenify is a marketplace lending platform for Income Share Agreements, enabling students to finance their education with an ISA, and investors to invest in students and earn a return when they succeed. ISAs are an equity-like financing instrument where individuals pledge a percentage of their future income in exchange for funding upfront.

Avenify's first product is for students. On one side, borrowers apply for funding to pay for school with an ISA. On the other side, investors can invest in students and earn a return when students succeed. Investors can invest in a pooled fund of students, but the Company hopes to soon offer the ability to invest in individuals.

Beyond student financing, Avenify is uniquely positioned to offer the ability to serve additional financing needs, like refinancing loans, providing credit to underserved markets, or providing financial assistance during job searches.

The Company's Products and/or Services

Product / Service	Description	Current Market
Avenify for Borrowers	Marketplace lending platform for ISAs.	Students attending college, in the age group of 18-24 years.
Avenify for Investors	Investor portal for ISAs.	Accredited investors interested in investing in alternative asset classes, social impact, or human potential.

Competition

While the ISA space is growing, Avenify is one of three main consumer ISA companies (Avenify, Blair and AlmaPact). Avenify is registered with the SEC to the opportunity to invest in ISAs, and the only platform offering a full portal for both borrowers and investors.

The student-loan market in which our products are sold are highly competitive. Our products compete against similar products of many large and small companies, including well-known global competitors. In many of the markets and industry segments in which we sell our products, we compete against other branded products as well as retailers' private-label brands. Product quality, performance, value and packaging are also important differentiating factors.

Customer Base

We market our financing options primarily to students pursuing their undergraduate, graduate, or doctoral, education. We market the opportunity to invest in ISAs primarily to accredited investors (Generation X and Generation Y).

Supply Chain

Avenify relies on Modern Treasury Corp. for processing payments, investments, and disbursements. Modern Treasury is built on top of Avenify's bank's technology stack.

Intellectual Property

The Company has no intellectual property. However, the Company owns its codes and underwriting model.

Governmental/Regulatory Approval and Compliance

The Company is subject to and affected by laws and regulations of U.S. federal, state and local governmental authorities. These laws and regulations are subject to change.

Litigation

None.

Restrictions on Transfer

Any securities sold pursuant to Regulation CF being offered may not be transferred by any purchaser of such Securities during the one-year holding period beginning when the securities were issued, unless such securities are transferred: 1) to the Company, 2) to an accredited investor, as defined by Rule 501(d) of Regulation D promulgated under the Securities Act, 3) as part of an IPO or 4) to a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the purchaser or other similar circumstances. "Member of the family" as used herein means a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother/father/daughter/son/sister/brother-in-law, and includes adoptive relationships. Remember that although you may legally be able to transfer the Securities, you may not be able to find another party willing to purchase them.

In addition to the foregoing restrictions, prior to making any transfer of the securities or any securities into which they are convertible, such transferring purchaser must either make such transfer pursuant to an effective registration statement filed with the SEC or provide the Company with an opinion of counsel stating that a registration statement is not necessary to effect such transfer.

In addition, the purchaser may not transfer the securities or any securities into which they are convertible to any of the Company's competitors, as determined by the Company in good faith.

Furthermore, upon the event of an IPO, the capital stock into which the securities are converted will be subject to a lock-up period and may not be sold for up to 180 days following such IPO.

Other Material Terms

- The Company does not have the right to repurchase the securities.
- The Securities do not have a stated return or liquidation preference.
- The Company cannot determine if it currently has enough capital stock authorized to issue upon the conversion of the securities, because the amount of capital stock to be issued is based on the occurrence of future events.
