Why investors ❤️ us

WE'VE RAISED $1,089,565 SINCE OUR FOUNING

As founders investing in founders, we are excited to lead the investment in HelloWoofy. While HelloWoofy checks all the boxes for a great early-stage investment, we are most excited about the issues that HelloWoofy tackles head-on. As business owners, we have seen and experienced firsthand the large gap in technology available to SMBs compared to their enterprise-level competitors. HelloWoofy's smart marketing platform addresses this gap head-on by offering comparable, and in many ways superior, features at a fraction of the price. HelloWoofy isn't just taking a piece of the pie from a competitor- HelloWoofy is creating a larger pie by bringing in SMB customers that otherwise wouldn't pay but continue to feel the urgent need to become digitally savvy today.

Arjun Rai and the HelloWoofy team practice exactly what we preach at Seed Round Capital: Focus on paying customers while continuously improving the product. Instead of hiding behind the CEO title, Arjun is actively involved with customers and holds weekly virtual how-to meetings and while soliciting feedback directly from customers. They are truly building something great and the customer feedback and traction speak for themselves. We are particularly impressed with the Amazon Alexa integration. They are the only platform with this capability- at any price- and HelloWoofy's timing is perfect with smart speaker use increasing over 82% in the past few months.

We believe Arjun and the HelloWoofy team are going places. Aside from investors, we are happy customers- and we aren't alone. I'd encourage you to check out their social media channels and their customer Facebook group, Content Masters. HelloWoofy believes in giving small businesses a voice, and we do too.

NEW YORK, N.Y. (NASDAQ) -- Hellowoofy.com, a leading provider of AI-powered social media marketing solutions, has announced its initial public offering (IPO) on the Nasdaq stock exchange. The company's IPO is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

Nasdaq

The founder and CEO Arjun Rai launched the business in late 2018. He got the idea for Hellowoofy.com from his experiences with other startups that had difficulties with their social media. They did not have the budgets for a top agency or in-house staff. As a result, the strategies were usually ad hoc and subject to failure.
