RISK FACTORS

Risks Related to the Company's Business and Industry

We have a limited operating history upon which you can evaluate our performance, and accordingly, our prospects must be considered in light of the risks that any new company encounters.

We were incorporated under the laws of Delaware on April 24, 2019. Accordingly, we have no history upon which an evaluation of our prospects and future performance can be made. Our proposed operations are subject to all business risks associated with a new enterprise. The likelihood of our creation of a viable business must be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications, and delays frequently encountered in connection with the inception of a business, operation in a competitive industry, and the continued development of advertising, promotions, and a corresponding client base. We anticipate that our operating expenses will increase for the near future. There can be no assurances that we will ever operate profitably. You should consider the Company's business, operations and prospects in light of the risks, expenses and challenges faced as an early-stage company.

We may face potential difficulties in obtaining capital.

We may have difficulty raising needed capital in the future as a result of, among other factors, our lack of an approved product and revenues from sales, as well as the inherent business risks associated with our company and present and future market conditions. Our business currently generates a low amount of sales and future sources of revenue may not be sufficient to meet our future capital requirements. We will require additional funds to execute our business strategy and conduct our operations. If adequate funds are unavailable, we may be required to delay, reduce the scope of or eliminate one or more of our marketing and development strategies any of which may materially harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

In order for the Company to compete and grow, it must attract, recruit, retain and develop the necessary personnel who have the needed experience.

Recruiting and retaining highly qualified personnel is critical to our success. These demands may require us to hire additional personnel and will require our existing management personnel to develop additional expertise. We face intense competition for personnel. The failure to attract and retain personnel or to develop such expertise could delay or halt the development and commercialization of our product candidates. If we experience difficulties in hiring and retaining personnel in key positions, we could suffer from delays in product development, loss of customers and sales and diversion of management resources, which could adversely affect operating results. Our consultants and advisors may be employed by third parties and may have commitments under consulting or advisory contracts with third parties that may limit their availability to us.

The development and commercialization of our products is highly competitive.

We face competition with respect to any products that we may seek to develop or commercialize in the future. Some of our competitors have significantly greater financial, technical and human resources than we have and superior expertise in research and development and marketing approved products and thus may be better equipped than us to develop and commercialize said products. These competitors also compete with us in recruiting and retaining qualified personnel and acquiring technologies. Smaller or early-stage companies may also prove to be significant competitors, particularly through collaborative arrangements with large and established companies. Accordingly, our competitors may commercialize products more rapidly or effectively than we are able to, which would adversely affect our competitive position, the likelihood that our products will achieve initial market acceptance and our ability to generate meaningful additional revenues from our products.

The Company's success depends on the experience and skill of the board of directors, its executive officers and key employees.

In particular, the Company is dependent on Daniel Kim (CMO), Roque Terrani (CTO), Gaston Lozano (CPM), and Nicolas Botti Salici (CEO) of the Company. The Company has or intends to enter into employment agreements with Daniel Kim, Roque Terrani, Gaston Lozano, and Nicolas Botti Salici although there can be no assurance that they will continue to be employed by the Company for a particular period of time. The loss of Daniel Kim, Roque Terrani, Gaston Lozano, and Nicolas Botti Salici or any member of the board of directors or executive officer could harm the Company's business, financial condition, cash flow and results of operations.

The amount of capital the Company is attempting to raise in this Offering is not enough to sustain the Company's current business plan.

In order to achieve the Company's near and long-term goals, the Company will need to procure funds in addition to the amount raised in the Offering. There is no guarantee the Company will be able to raise such funds on acceptable terms or at all. If we are not able to raise sufficient capital in the future, we will not be able to execute our business plan, our continued operations will be in jeopardy and we may be forced to cease operations and sell or otherwise transfer all or substantially all of our remaining assets, which could cause an Investor to lose all or a portion of his or her investment.

Although dependent on certain key personnel, the Company does not have any key man life insurance policies on any such people.

The Company is dependent on Daniel Kim, Roque Terrani, Gaston Lozano, and Nicolas Botti Salici in order to conduct its operations and execute its business plan, however, the Company has not purchased any insurance policies with respect to those individuals in the event of their death or disability. Therefore, if any of Daniel Kim, Roque Terrani, Gaston Lozano, and Nicolas Botti Salici die or become disabled, the Company will not receive any compensation to assist with such person's absence. The loss of such person could negatively affect the Company and its operations.

We are subject to income taxes as well as non-income based taxes, such as payroll, sales, use, value-added, net worth, property and goods and services taxes, in both the U.S. and various foreign jurisdictions.

Significant judgment is required in determining our provision for income taxes and other tax liabilities. In the ordinary course of our business, there are many transactions and calculations where the ultimate tax determination is uncertain. Although we believe that our tax estimates are reasonable: (i) there is no assurance that the final determination of tax audits or tax disputes will not be different from what is reflected in our income tax provisions, expense amounts for non-income based taxes and accruals and (ii) any material differences could have an adverse effect on our financial position and results of operations in the period or periods for which determination is made.

We are not subject to Sarbanes-Oxley regulations and lack the financial controls and safeguards required of public companies.

We do not have the internal infrastructure necessary, and are not required, to complete an attestation about our financial controls that would be required under Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. There can be no assurance that there are no significant deficiencies or material weaknesses in the quality of our financial controls. We expect to incur additional expenses and diversion of management's time if and when it becomes necessary to perform the system and process evaluation, testing and remediation required in order to comply with the management certification and auditor attestation requirements.

Changes in employment laws or regulation could harm our performance.

Various federal and state labor laws govern our relationship with our employees and affect operating costs. These laws include minimum wage requirements, overtime pay, healthcare reform and the implementation of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, unemployment tax rates, workers' compensation rates, citizenship requirements, union membership and sales taxes. A number of factors could adversely affect our operating results, including additional government-imposed increases in minimum wages, overtime pay, paid leaves of absence and mandated health benefits, mandated training for employees, increased tax reporting and tax payment changing regulations from the National Labor Relations Board and increased employee litigation including claims relating to the Fair Labor Standards Act.

We may have difficulty accessing the service of banks, which may make it difficult to contract for real estate needs.

Financial transactions involving proceeds generated by cannabis-related conduct can form the basis for prosecution under the federal money laundering statutes, unlicensed money transmitter statute and the Bank Secrecy Act. Recent guidance issued by FinCen, a division of the U.S. Department of the Treasury, clarifies how financial institutions can provide services to cannabis-related businesses consistent with their obligations under the Bank Secrecy Act. Furthermore, supplemental guidance from the U.S. Department of Justice directs federal prosecutors to consider the federal enforcement priorities enumerated in the "Cole Memo" when determining whether to charge institutions or individuals with any of the financial crimes described above based upon cannabis-related activity. Nevertheless, banks remain hesitant to offer banking services to cannabis-related businesses. Consequently, those businesses involved in the regulated medical-use cannabis industry continue to encounter difficulty establishing banking relationships. Our inability to maintain our current bank accounts would make it difficult for us to operate our business, increase our operating costs, and pose additional operational, logistical and security challenges and could result in our inability to implement our business plan.

Investors risk criminal liability and the cannabis business's assets are subject to forfeiture.

Because marijuana is federally illegal, investing in cannabis businesses could be found to violate the Controlled Substances Act. Investors and company directors or management could be indicted under federal law, and all of the assets contributed to the Company, including real property, cash, equipment and other goods, could be subject to asset forfeiture.

The SEC is monitoring the cannabis industry and may halt or prevent this Offering or sale of our securities due to the bad acts of others.

On September 5, 2018, the SEC's Office of Investor Education and Advocacy issued an Investor Alert to warn investors about potential risks involving investments in marijuana-related companies. The SEC noted an increase in the number of investor complaints regarding marijuana-related investments. The SEC issued temporary trading suspensions for the common stock of five different marijuana-related companies in 2014 and cited seven enforcement actions taken against marijuana-related companies. Due to the stigma created by the bad acts of others in the industry, the SEC may halt trading and offerings in all marijuana-related companies which would have a material adverse effect on our ability to raise capital and our business.

Laws and regulations affecting the regulated cannabis industry are constantly changing, which could materially adversely affect our proposed operations, and we cannot predict the impact that future regulations may have on us.

Local, state and federal cannabis laws and regulations are broad in scope and subject to evolving interpretations, which could require us to incur substantial costs associated with compliance or alter our business plan. In addition, violations of these laws, or allegations of such violations, could disrupt our business and result in a material adverse effect on our operations. It is also possible that regulations may be enacted in the future that will be directly applicable to our proposed business. We cannot predict the nature of any future laws, regulations, interpretations or applications, nor can we determine what effect additional governmental regulations or administrative policies and procedures, when and if promulgated, could have on our business.

Assets leased to cannabis businesses may be forfeited to the federal government.

Any assets used in conjunction with the violation of federal law are potentially subject to federal forfeiture, even in states where cannabis is legal. If the federal government decides to initiate forfeiture proceedings against cannabis businesses, we may lose all of our assets.

Our operating results may fluctuate due to factors that are difficult to forecast and not within our control.

Our past operating results may not be accurate indicators of future performance, and you should not rely on such results to predict our future performance. Our operating results have fluctuated significantly in the past, and could fluctuate in the future. Factors that may contribute to fluctuations include:

- changes in aggregate capital spending, cyclicalities and other economic conditions, or domestic and international demand in the industries we serve;
- our ability to effectively manage our working capital;
- our ability to satisfy consumer demands in a timely and cost-effective manner;
- pricing and availability of labor and materials;
- our inability to adjust certain fixed costs and expenses for changes in demand;
- shifts in geographic concentration of customers, supplies and labor pools; and
- seasonal fluctuations in demand and our revenue.

If we fail to attract and retain enough sufficiently trained customer service associates and other personnel to support our operations, our business and results of operations will be seriously harmed.

We rely on customer service associates, and our success depends to a significant extent on our ability to attract, hire, train and retain qualified customer service associates. Companies in our industry experience high employee attrition. A high attrition rate among our customer service associates could decrease our operating efficiency and productivity. Our failure to attract, train and retain customer service associates with the qualifications necessary to fulfill the needs of our existing and future clients would seriously harm our business and results of operations.

Our ability to sell our products and services is dependent on the quality of our technical support services, and our failure to offer high quality technical support services would have a material adverse effect on our sales and results of operations.

Once our products are deployed within our end-customers' operations, and end-customers depend on our technical support services to resolve any issues relating to these products. If we do not effectively assist our customers in deploying these products, succeed in helping our customers quickly resolve post-deployment issues, and provide effective ongoing support, our ability to sell additional products and services to existing customers would be adversely affected and our reputation with potential customers could be damaged. As a result, our failure to maintain high quality support services would have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

We may be adversely affected by cyclicalities, volatility or an extended downturn in the United States or worldwide economy, or in or related to the industries we serve.

Currently, our revenues are generated primarily from subscriptions paid by cannabis home growers. Demand for our services tends to be tied to economic and business cycles. Increases in the unemployment rate, cyclicalities or an extended downturn in the economy could cause our revenues to decline. Therefore, our operating results, business and financial condition could be significantly harmed by an extended economic downturn or future downturns, especially in regions where our operations are heavily concentrated. Further, we may face increased pricing pressures during such periods as customers seek to use lower cost or fee services, which may adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.

We are subject to rapid technological change and dependence on new product development.

Our industry is characterized by rapid and significant technological developments, frequent new product introductions and enhancements, continually evolving business expectations and swift changes. To compete effectively in such markets, we must continually improve and enhance our products and services and develop new technologies and services that incorporate technological advances, satisfy increasing customer expectations and compete effectively on the basis of performance and price. Our success will also depend substantially upon our ability to anticipate, and to adapt our products and services to our collaborative partner's preferences. There can be no assurance that technological developments will not render some of our products and services obsolete, or that we will be able to respond with improved or new products, services, and technology that satisfy evolving customers' expectations. Failure to acquire, develop or introduce new products, services, and enhancements in a timely manner could have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations. Also, to the extent one or more of our competitors introduces products and services that better address a customer's needs, our business would be adversely affected.

Failure to obtain new clients or renew client contracts on favorable terms could adversely affect results of operations.

We may face pricing pressure in obtaining and retaining our clients, including both our app users and cannabis brands with which we intend to develop businesses in the short term. Our clients may be able to seek price reductions from us when they renew a contract, when a contract is extended, or when the client's business has significant volume changes. On some occasions, this pricing pressure results in lower revenue from a client than we have anticipated based on our previous agreement with that client. Further, failure to renew client contracts on favorable terms could have an adverse effect on our business. If we are not successful in achieving a high rate of contract renewals on favorable terms, our business and results of operations could be adversely affected.

We may rely on subcontractors and partners to provide customers with a single-source solution or we may serve as a subcontractor to a third party prime contractor.

From time to time, we may engage subcontractors, teaming partners or other third parties to provide our customers with a single-source solution for a broader range of service needs. Similarly, we are and may in the future be engaged as a subcontractor to a third party prime contractor. Subcontracting arrangements pose unique risks to us because we do not have control over the customer relationship, and our ability to generate revenue under the subcontract is dependent on the prime contractor, its performance and relationship with the customer and its relationship with us. While we believe that we will perform appropriate due diligence on our prime contractors, subcontractors and teaming partners and that we will take adequate measures to ensure that they comply with the appropriate laws and regulations, we cannot guarantee that those parties will comply with the terms set forth in their agreements with us (or in the case of a prime contractor, their agreement with the customer), or that they will be reasonable in construing their contractual rights and obligations, always act appropriately in dealing with us or customers, provide adequate service, or remain in compliance with the relevant laws, rules or regulations. We may have disputes with our prime contractors, subcontractors, teaming partners or other third parties arising from the quality and timeliness of work being performed, customer concerns, contractual interpretations or other matters. We may be exposed to liability if we lose or terminate a subcontractor or teaming partner due to a dispute, and subsequently have difficulty engaging an appropriate replacement or otherwise performing their functions in-house, such that we fail to fulfill our contractual obligations to our customer. In the event a prime contract, under which we serve as a subcontractor, is terminated, whether for non-performance by the prime contractor or otherwise, then our subcontract will similarly terminate and we could face contractual liability and the resulting contract loss could adversely affect our business and results of operations.

Our business and financial condition may be impacted by military actions, global terrorism, natural disasters and political unrest.

Political unrest in many other countries may be a factor that may adversely impact regional and global economic conditions and our clients' ability, capacity and need to invest in our services. Additionally, hurricanes or other unanticipated catastrophes, both in the U.S. and globally, could disrupt our operations and negatively impact our business as well as disrupt our clients' businesses, which may result in a further adverse impact on our business. As a result, significant disruptions caused by such events could materially and adversely affect our business and financial condition.

The Company could be negatively impacted if found to have infringed on intellectual property rights.

Technology companies, including many of the Company's competitors, frequently enter into litigation based on allegations of patent infringement or other violations of intellectual property rights. In addition, patent holding companies seek to monetize patents they have purchased or otherwise obtained. As the Company grows, the intellectual property rights claims against it will likely increase. The Company intends to vigorously defend infringement actions in court and before the U.S. International Trade Commission. The plaintiffs in these actions frequently seek injunctions and substantial damages. Regardless of the scope or validity of such patents or other intellectual property rights, or the merits of any claims by potential or actual litigants, the Company may have to engage in protracted litigation. If the Company is found to infringe one or more patents or other intellectual property rights, regardless of whether it can develop non-infringing technology, it may be required to pay substantial damages or royalties to a third-party, or it may be subject to a temporary or permanent injunction prohibiting the Company from marketing or selling certain products. In certain cases, the Company may consider the desirability of entering into licensing agreements, although no assurance can be given that such licenses can be obtained on acceptable terms or that litigation will not occur. These licenses may also significantly increase the Company's operating expenses.

Regardless of the merit of particular claims, litigation may be expensive, time-consuming, disruptive to the Company's operations and distracting to management. In recognition of these considerations, the Company may enter into arrangements to settle litigation. If one or more legal matters were resolved against the Company's consolidated financial statements for that reporting period could be materially adversely affected. Further, such an outcome could result in significant compensatory, punitive or trebled monetary damages, disgorgement of revenue or profits, remedial corporate measures or injunctive relief against the Company that could adversely affect its financial condition and results of operations.

Through our operations, we collect and store certain personal information that our customers provide to purchase products or services, enroll in promotional programs, register on our web site, or otherwise communicate and interact with us.

We may share information about such persons with cannabis brands that helps cannabis brands improve, promote and sell their products. Security could be compromised and confidential customer or business information misappropriated. Loss of customer or business information could disrupt our operations, damage our reputation, and expose us to claims from customers, financial institutions, payment card associations and other persons, any of which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, compliance with tougher privacy and information security laws and standards may result in significant expense due to increased investment in technology and the development of new operational processes.

Indemnity provisions in various agreements potentially expose us to substantial liability for intellectual property infringement and other losses.

Our future agreements with advertisers, advertising agencies, customers and other third parties may include indemnification provisions under which we agree to indemnify them for losses suffered or incurred as a result of claims of intellectual property infringement, damages caused by us to property or persons, or other liabilities relating to or arising from our products, services or other contractual obligations. The term of these indemnity provisions generally survives termination or expiration of the applicable agreement. Large indemnity payments would harm our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, any type of intellectual property lawsuit, whether initiated by us or a third party, would likely be time consuming and expensive to resolve and would divert management's time and attention.

We project to generate substantial revenues from advertising. The loss of marketers, or reduction in spending by marketers, could seriously harm our business.

A significant amount of our revenue is projected to be generated from third parties advertising, particularly by cannabis brands. As is common in the industry, marketers generally do not have long-term advertising commitments with digital service providers. In addition, marketers may view some of our products as experimental and unproven. Marketers will not continue to do business with us, or they will reduce the prices they are willing to pay to advertise with us or the budgets they are willing to commit to us, if we do not deliver ads in an effective manner, or if they do not believe that their investment in advertising with us will generate a competitive return relative to other alternatives.

Advertising of CBD-infused products is subject to regulatory risks.

We plan to sell advertising space to cannabis brands to increase our revenues and improve our financial conditions. However, advertising and promoting of CBD-infused products is subject to risks associated with the federal government's and state and local governments' evolving regulation of hemp, hemp oil, CBDs, and CBD-infused products. Currently, the sale of most CBD-infused products without FDA approval is illegal. In deference to the FDA's position, various states and municipalities have similarly declared that the sale of certain CBD-infused products is illegal. There can be no guarantee that this regulatory stance concerning CBDs will be resolved favorably to the CBD products industry. Aggressive law enforcement against the CBD industry by federal, state or local authorities and agencies could have a material adverse effect upon our Company. There is no assurance that one or more federal agencies, such as the US Food and Drug Administration (the "FDA"), or state and local governments will not attempt to impose rules, regulations, moratoriums, prohibitions, or other restrictions or impediments upon sales of CBD-infused products. Such regulatory restrictions on sales of cannabis-related products may have adversely impact our future advertising revenues, financial conditions, and results of operations.

Action by governments to restrict access to our products and services in the United States and other countries could substantially harm our business and financial results.

It is possible that governments of one or more countries may seek to censor content available on our products in their country, restrict access to our products from their country entirely, or impose other restrictions that may affect the accessibility of our products in their country for an extended period or indefinitely. In addition, government authorities may seek to restrict access to our products if they consider us to be in violation of their laws. In the event that content shown on our products is subject to censorship, access to our products is restricted, in whole or in part, in one or more countries, or other restrictions are imposed on our products, or our competitors are able to successfully penetrate new geographic markets or capture a greater share of existing geographic markets that we cannot access or where we face other restrictions, our ability to retain or increase our user base and user engagement may be adversely affected, we may not be able to maintain or grow our revenue as anticipated, and our financial results could be adversely affected.

We rely heavily on our technology and intellectual property, but we may be unable to adequately or cost-effectively protect or enforce our intellectual property rights, thereby weakening our competitive position and increasing operating costs.

To protect our rights in our services and technology, we rely on a combination of copyright and trademark laws, patents, trade secrets, confidentiality agreements with employees and third parties, and protective contractual provisions. We also rely on laws pertaining to trademarks and domain names to protect the value of our corporate brands and reputation. Despite our efforts to protect our proprietary rights, unauthorized parties may copy aspects of our services or technology, obtain and use information, marks, or technology that we regard as proprietary, or otherwise violate or infringe our intellectual property rights. In addition, it is possible that others could independently develop substantially equivalent intellectual property. If we do not effectively protect our intellectual property, or if others independently develop substantially equivalent intellectual property, our competitive position could be weakened.

Effectively policing the unauthorized use of our services and technology is time-consuming and costly, and the steps taken by us may not prevent misappropriation of our technology or other proprietary assets. The efforts we have taken to protect our proprietary rights may not be sufficient or effective, and unauthorized parties may copy aspects of our services, use similar marks or domain names, or obtain and use information, marks, or technology that we regard as proprietary. We may have to litigate to enforce our intellectual property rights, to protect our trade secrets, or to determine the validity and scope of others' proprietary rights, which are sometimes not clear or may change. Litigation can be time consuming and expensive, and the outcome can be difficult to predict.

Our business is subject to complex and evolving U.S. and foreign laws and regulations regarding privacy, data protection, competition, consumer protection, and other matters. Many of these laws and regulations are subject to change and uncertain interpretation, and could result in claims, changes to our business practices, monetary penalties, increased cost of operations, or declines in user growth or engagement, or otherwise harm our business.

We are subject to a variety of laws and regulations in the United States and abroad that involve matters central to our business, including privacy, data protection, and personal information, rights of publicity, content, intellectual property, advertising, marketing, distribution, data security, data retention and deletion, personal information, electronic contracts and other communications, competition, protection of minors, consumer protection, telecommunications, product liability, taxation, economic or other trade prohibitions or sanctions, securities law compliance, and online payment services. The introduction of new products, expansion of our activities in certain jurisdictions, or other actions that we may take may subject us to additional laws, regulations, or other government scrutiny. In addition, foreign data protection, privacy, competition, and other laws and regulations can impose different obligations or be more restrictive than those in the United States.

These U.S. federal and state and foreign laws and regulations are constantly evolving and can be subject to significant change. As a result, the application, interpretation, and enforcement of these laws and regulations are often uncertain, particularly in the new and rapidly evolving industry in which we operate and may be interpreted and applied inconsistently from country to country and inconsistently with our current policies and practices. For example, regulatory or legislative actions affecting the manner in which we display content to our users or obtain consent to various practices could adversely affect user growth and engagement. Such actions could affect the manner in which we provide our services or adversely affect our financial results.

We are also subject to laws and regulations that dictate whether, how, and under what circumstances we can transfer, process and/or receive transnational data that is critical to our operations, including data relating to users, customers, or partners outside the United States, and those laws and regulations are uncertain and subject to change. Some countries are considering or have passed legislation implementing data protection requirements or requiring local storage and processing of data or similar requirements that could increase the cost and complexity of delivering our services. If we are unable to transfer personal data between and among countries and regions in which we operate, we could affect the manner in which we provide our services or adversely affect our financial results. These laws and regulations, as well as any associated inquiries or investigations or any other government actions, may be costly to comply with and may delay or impede the development of new products, result in negative publicity, increase our operating costs, require significant management time and attention, and subject us to remedies that may harm our business, including fines or demands or orders that we modify or cease existing business practices.

We rely on agreements with third parties to provide certain services, goods, technology, and intellectual property rights necessary to enable us to implement some of our applications.

Our ability to implement and provide our applications and services to our clients depends, in part, on services, goods, technology, and intellectual property rights owned or controlled by third parties. These third parties may become unable to or refuse to continue to provide these services, goods, technology, or intellectual property rights on commercially reasonable terms consistent with our business practices, or otherwise discontinue a service important for us to continue to operate our applications. If we fail to replace these services, goods, technologies, or intellectual property rights in a timely manner or on commercially reasonable terms, our operating results and financial condition could be harmed. In addition, we exercise limited control over our third-party vendors, which increases our vulnerability to problems with technology and services those vendors provide. If the services, technology, or intellectual property of third parties were to fail to perform as expected, it could subject us to potential liability, adversely affect our renewal rates, and have an adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

If we fail to maintain or expand our relationships with our suppliers we may not have adequate access to new or key technology necessary for our products, which may impair our ability to deliver leading-edge products.

In addition to the technologies we develop, we rely heavily on our component suppliers, such as Google Inc, to provide us with components that conform to required specifications or contractual arrangements on time and in accordance with a product roadmap. If we are not able to maintain or expand our relationships with our suppliers or continue to leverage their research and development capabilities to develop new technologies desired by our customers, our ability to deliver leading-edge products in a timely manner may be impaired and we could be required to incur additional research and development expenses. Also, disruption in our supply chain or the need to find alternative suppliers could impact the costs and/or timing associated with procuring necessary products, components and services. Similarly, suppliers have operating risks that could impact our business. These risks could create product time delays, inventory and invoicing problems, staging delays, and other operational difficulties.

We must acquire or develop new products, evolve existing ones, address any defects or errors, and adapt to technology change.

Technical developments, client requirements, programming languages, and industry standards change frequently in our markets. As a result, success in current markets and new markets will depend upon our ability to enhance current products, address any product defects or errors, acquire or develop and introduce new products that meet client needs, keep pace with technology changes, respond to competitive products, and achieve market acceptance. Product development requires substantial investments for research, refinement, and testing. We may not have sufficient resources to make necessary product development investments. We may experience technical or other difficulties that will delay or prevent the successful development, introduction, or implementation of new or enhanced products. We may also experience technical or other difficulties in the integration of acquired technologies into our existing platform and applications. Inability to introduce or implement new or enhanced products in a timely manner could result in loss of market share if competitors are able to provide solutions to meet customer needs before we do, give rise to unanticipated expenses related to further development or modification of acquired technologies as a result of integration issues, and adversely affect future performance.

Cyclical and seasonal fluctuations in the economy, in internet usage and in traditional retail shopping may have an effect on our business.

Both cyclical and seasonal fluctuations in internet usage and traditional retail seasonality may affect our business. Internet usage generally slows during the summer months, and queries typically increase significantly in the fourth quarter of each year. These seasonal trends may cause fluctuations in our quarterly results, including fluctuations in revenues.

The products we sell are advanced, and we need to rapidly and successfully develop and introduce new products in a competitive, demanding and rapidly changing environment.

To succeed in our intensely competitive industry, we must continually improve, refresh and expand our product and service offerings to include newer features, functionality or solutions, and keep pace with price-to-performance gains in the industry. Shortened product life cycles due to customer demands and competitive pressures impact the pace at which we must introduce and implement new technology. This requires a high level of innovation by both our software developers and the suppliers of the third-party software components included in our systems. In addition, bringing new solutions to the market entails a costly and lengthy process, and requires us to accurately anticipate customer needs and technology trends. We must continue to respond to market demands, develop leading technologies and maintain leadership in analytic data solutions performance and scalability, or our business operations may be adversely affected.

We must also anticipate and respond to customer demands regarding the compatibility of our current and prior offerings. These demands could hinder the pace of introducing and implementing new technology. Our future results may be affected if our products cannot effectively interface and perform well with software products of other companies and with our customers' existing IT infrastructures, or if we are unsuccessful in our efforts to enter into agreements allowing integration of third-party technology with our database and software platforms. Our efforts to develop the interoperability of our products may require significant investments of capital and employee resources. In addition, many of our principal products are used with products offered by third parties and, in the future, some vendors of non-Company products may become less willing to provide us with access to their products, technical information and marketing and sales support. As a result of these and other factors, our ability to introduce new or improved solutions could be adversely impacted and our business would be negatively affected.

Industry consolidation may result in increased competition, which could result in a loss of customers or a reduction in revenue.

Some of our competitors have made or may make acquisitions or may enter into partnerships or other strategic relationships to offer more comprehensive services than they individually had offered or achieve greater economies of scale. In addition, new entrants not currently considered to be competitors may enter our market through acquisitions, partnerships or strategic relationships. We expect these trends to continue as companies attempt to strengthen or maintain their market positions. The potential entrants may have competitive advantages over us, such as greater name recognition, longer operating histories, more varied services and larger marketing budgets, as well as greater financial, technical and other resources. The companies resulting from combinations or that expand or vertically integrate their business to include the market that we address may create more compelling service offerings and may offer greater pricing flexibility than we can or may engage in business practices that make it more difficult for us to compete effectively, including on the basis of price, sales and marketing programs, technology or service functionality. These pressures could result in a substantial loss of our customers or a reduction in our revenue.

Our business could be negatively impacted by cyber security threats, attacks and other disruptions.

Like others in our industry, we continue to face advanced and persistent attacks on our information infrastructure where we manage and store various proprietary information and sensitive/confidential data relating to our operations. These attacks may include sophisticated malware (viruses, worms, and other malicious software programs) and phishing emails that attack our products or otherwise exploit any security vulnerabilities. These intrusions sometimes may be zero-day malware that are difficult to identify because they are not included in the signature set of commercially available antivirus scanning programs. Experienced computer programmers and hackers may be able to penetrate our network security and misappropriate or compromise our confidential information or that of our customers or other third-parties, create system disruptions, or cause shutdowns. Additionally, sophisticated software and applications that we produce or procure from third-parties may contain defects in design or manufacture, including "bugs" and other problems that could unexpectedly interfere with the operation of the information infrastructure. A disruption, infiltration or failure of our information infrastructure systems or any of our data centers as a result of software or hardware malfunctions, computer viruses, cyber attacks, employee theft or misuse, power disruptions, natural disasters or accidents could cause breaches of data security, loss of critical data and performance delays, which in turn could adversely affect our business.

If we do not respond to technological changes or upgrade our websites and technology systems, our growth prospects and results of operations could be adversely affected.

To remain competitive, we must continue to enhance and improve the functionality and features of our websites and technology infrastructure. As a result, we will need to continue to improve and expand our hosting and network infrastructure and related software capabilities. These improvements may require greater levels of spending than we have experienced in the past. Without such improvements, our operations might suffer from unanticipated system disruptions, slow application performance or unreliable service levels, any of which could negatively affect our reputation and ability to attract and retain customers and contributors. Furthermore, in order to continue to attract and retain new customers, we are likely to incur expenses in connection with continuously updating and improving our user interface and experience. We may face significant delays in introducing new services, products and enhancements. If competitors introduce new products and services using new technologies or if new industry standards and practices emerge, our existing websites and our proprietary technology and systems may become obsolete or less competitive, and our business may be harmed. In addition, the expansion and improvement of our systems and infrastructure may require us to commit substantial financial, operational and technical resources, with no assurance that our business will improve.

We currently obtain components from single or limited sources, and are subject to significant supply and pricing risks.

Many components, including those that are available from multiple sources, are at times subject to industry-wide shortages and significant commodity pricing fluctuations. While the Company has entered into agreements for the supply of many components, there can be no assurance that we will be able to extend or renew these agreements on similar terms, or at all. A number of suppliers of components may suffer from poor financial conditions, which can lead to business failure for the supplier or consolidation within a particular industry, further limiting our ability to obtain sufficient quantities of components. The follow-on effects from global economic conditions on our suppliers, also could affect our ability to obtain components. Therefore, we remain subject to significant risks of supply shortages and price increases.

Our products may utilize custom components available from only one source. Continued availability of these components at acceptable prices, or at all, may be affected for any number of reasons, including if those suppliers decide to concentrate on the production of common components instead of components customized to meet our requirements. The supply of components for a new or existing product could be delayed or constrained, or a key manufacturing vendor could delay shipments of completed products to us adversely affecting our business and results of operations.

Risks Related to the Securities

Upon conversion of the Crowd Notes, Purchasers who are not “Major Investors” will grant a proxy to vote their underlying securities to the intermediary or its affiliate, and, thus, will not have the right to vote on any matters coming before the shareholders of the Company for a vote. By granting this proxy you are giving up your right to vote on important matters, including significant corporate actions like mergers, amendments to our certificate of incorporation, a liquidation of our company and the election of our directors.

Upon conversion of the Crowd Notes and by virtue of a provision contained in the Crowd Notes, if you are not a Major Investor, that is, an investor who has purchased at least $25,000 in principal amount of the Crowd Notes, you will grant a proxy to the intermediary or its affiliate to vote the underlying securities that you will acquire upon conversion on all matters coming before the shareholders for a vote. The intermediary does not have any fiduciary duty to you to vote shares in a manner that is in your best interests. Accordingly, the intermediary may vote its proxy in a manner that may not be in the best interests of you as a security holder. For example, the intermediary may vote the proxy in favor of an amendment to our charter that adversely affects the rights of the holders of your class of securities in order to allow for a new investment to occur where the new investor requires senior rights.

The Crowd Notes will not be freely tradable until one year from the initial purchase date. Although the Crowd Notes may be tradable under federal securities law, state securities regulations may apply and each Purchaser should consult with his or her attorney.

You should be aware of the long-term nature of this investment. There is not now and likely will not be a public market for the Crowd Notes. Because the Crowd Notes have not been registered under the Securities Act or under the securities laws of any state or non-United States jurisdiction, the Crowd Note have transfer restrictions and cannot be resold in the United States except pursuant to Rule 501 of Regulation CF. It is not currently contemplated that registration under the Securities Act or other securities laws will be affected. Limitations on the transfer of the Crowd Notes may also adversely affect the price that you might be able to obtain for the Crowd Notes in a private sale. Purchasers should be aware of the long-term nature of their investment in the Company. Each Purchaser in this Offering will be required to represent that it is purchasing the Securities for its own account, for investment purposes and not with a view to resale or distribution thereof.

Neither the Offering nor the Securities have been registered under federal or state securities laws, leading to an absence of certain regulation applicable to the Company.

No governmental agency has reviewed or passed upon this Offering, the Company or any Securities of the Company. The Company also has relied on exemptions from securities registration requirements under applicable state securities laws. Investors in the Company, therefore, will not receive any of the benefits that such registration would otherwise provide. Prospective investors must therefore assess the adequacy of disclosure and the fairness of the terms of this Offering on their own or in conjunction with their personal advisors.

No Guarantee of Return on Investment

There is no assurance that a Purchaser will realize a return on its investment or that it will not lose its entire investment. For this reason, each Purchaser should read the Form C/A and all Exhibits carefully and should consult with its own attorney and business advisor prior to making any investment decision.

A majority of the Company is owned by a small number of owners.

Prior to the Offering the Company's current owners of 20% or more beneficially own up to 91.2% of the Company. Subject to any fiduciary duties owed to our other owners or investors under Delaware law, these owners may be able to exercise significant influence over matters requiring owner approval, including the election of directors or managers and approval of significant Company transactions, and will have significant control over the Company's management and policies. Some of these persons may have interests that are different from yours. For example, these owners may support proposals and actions with which you may disagree. The concentration of ownership could delay or prevent a change in control of the Company or otherwise discourage a potential acquirer from attempting to obtain control of the Company, which in turn could reduce the price potential investors are willing to pay for the Company. In addition, these owners could use their voting influence to maintain the Company's existing management, delay or prevent changes in control of the Company, or support or reject other management and board proposals that are subject to owner approval.

The Company has the right to extend the Offering deadline.

The Company may extend the Offering deadline beyond what is currently stated herein. This means that your investment may continue to be held in escrow while the Company attempts to raise the Minimum Amount even after the Offering deadline stated herein is reached. Your investment will not be accruing interest during this time and will simply be held until such time as the new Offering deadline is reached without the Company receiving the Minimum Amount, at which time it will be returned to you without interest or deduction, or the Company receives the Minimum Amount, at which time it will be released to the Company to be used as set forth herein. Upon or shortly after release of such funds to the Company, the Securities will be issued and distributed to you.

There is no present market for the Securities and we have arbitrarily set the price.

We have arbitrarily set the price of the Securities with reference to the general status of the securities market and other relevant factors. The Offering price for the Securities should not be considered an indication of the actual value of the Securities and is not based on our net worth or prior earnings. We cannot assure you that the Securities could be resold by you at the Offering price or at any other price.

Purchasers will be unable to declare the Security in "default" and demand repayment.

Unlike convertible notes and some other securities, the Securities do not have any "default" provisions upon which the Purchasers will be able to demand repayment of their investment. With respect to Purchasers who invest less than $25,000 in the Securities, the Company has ultimate discretion as to whether or not to convert the Securities upon a future equity financing and such Purchasers have no right to demand such conversion. Only in limited circumstances, such as a liquidity event, may Such Purchasers demand payment and even then, such payments will be limited to the amount of cash available to the Company.

The Company may never elect to convert the Securities or undergo a liquidity event.

The Company may never receive a future equity financing or, with respect to those Purchasers who invest less than $25,000, elect to convert the Securities upon such future financing. In addition, the Company may never undergo a liquidity event such as a sale of the Company or an IPO. If neither the conversion of the Securities nor a liquidity event occurs, the Purchasers could be left holding the Securities in perpetuity. The Securities have numerous transfer restrictions and will likely be highly illiquid, with no secondary market on which to sell them. The Securities are not equity interests, have no ownership rights, have no rights to the Company's assets or profits and have no voting rights or ability to direct the Company or its actions.

In addition to the risks listed above, businesses are often subject to risks not foreseen or fully appreciated by the management. It is not possible to foresee all risks that may affect us. Moreover, the Company cannot predict whether the Company will successfully effectuate the Company's current business plan. Each prospective Purchaser is encouraged to carefully analyze the risks and merits of an investment in the Securities and should take into consideration when making such analysis, among other, the Risk Factors discussed above.

THE SECURITIES OFFERED INVOLVE A HIGH DEGREE OF RISK AND MAY RESULT IN THE LOSS OF YOUR ENTIRE INVESTMENT. ANY PERSON CONSIDERING THE PURCHASE OF THESE SECURITIES SHOULD BE AWARE OF THESE AND OTHER FACTORS SET FORTH IN THIS FORM C/A AND SHOULD CONSULT WITH HIS OR HER LEGAL, TAX AND FINANCIAL ADVISORS PRIOR TO MAKING AN INVESTMENT IN THE SECURITIES. THE SECURITIES SHOULD ONLY BE PURCHASED BY PERSONS WHO CAN AFFORD TO LOSE ALL OF THEIR INVESTMENT.

BUSINESS

Description of the Business

Grow With Jane is a mobile application that was created to help both novice and experienced cannabis growers cultivate their own cannabis plants. It provides users with a journal and a calendar, allowing them to track their growing progress and follow a detailed schedule. The app reminds users when to perform tasks such as watering, adding bug repellent, and trimming. Additionally, the app provides users with a 'GrowLog' to display all the information collected on the plants throughout the growth process including pictures, methods used, equipment, and how users fixed any problems. Users can share their GrowLog with other users. GrowLogs can also be made public, allowing visitors to the site to learn how some users are growing their plants.

Business Plan

We provide a solution to integrate both the cannabis home growers and cannabis brands under the same roof. We currently generate substantially all of our revenues from our subscription services. Following this stage, we aim to work with brands and advertisers to generate value not only to growers but also to brands and producers of fertilizers, pesticides, lights, tents and every other component of the grower's tools to develop his activities. Finally, we are developing a social network for home growers. Currently, Grow With Jane operates with a freemium business model. Members can access basic features, such as journals and calendars, for free. However, premium features require a monthly subscription. Pricing for Grow With Jane is currently $7.49 per month or $34.99 for a year. As it moves toward a more robust product offering, it plans to roll out three different pricing plans including:

- Learning Bundle: $7.49 per month or $34.99 per year
 - o Prioritized Support
 - o Text and video content
 - o Expert mentors
- Planning Bundle: $7.49 per month or $34.99 per year

- o Advanced planning features
- o Exclusive grow recipes
- Expert Bundle: $7.49 per month or $34.99 per year
 - o Detailed graphs and statistics
 - o Growing certificates
- Full package: $17.99 per month or an annual price still to be determined

The three tiers of subscriptions (learning, planning, and expert) were built based on member backgrounds and preferences. Grow With Jane polled current members and found 50% of its users to be novices (suited for the learning bundle), 35% to be intermediate (suited for the planning bundle), and 15% to be experts (suited for the analysis bundle). Pricing is subject to change as the company conducts more testing. Eventually, we would also like to offer advertising space to cannabis brands.

Grow With Jane also offers a variety of merchandise items for sale through its website. Items include clothing, bags, and hats. Pricing for these items range from $8.99 to $30.99.

THE OFFERING AND THE SECURITIES

The Offering

The Company is offering up to $107,000.00 in principal amount of Crowd Notes for up to $107,000.00. The Company is attempting to raise a minimum amount of $25,000.00 in this Offering (the "Minimum Amount"). The Company must receive commitments from investors in an amount totaling the Minimum Amount by June 29, 2020 (the "Offering Deadline") in order to receive any funds. If the sum of the investment commitments does not equal or exceed the Minimum Amount by the Offering Deadline, no Securities will be sold in the Offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned to potential investors without interest or deductions. The Company has the right to extend the Offering Deadline at its discretion. The Company will accept investments in excess of the Minimum Amount up to $107,000.00 (the "Maximum Amount") and the additional Securities will be allocated at the Company's discretion.

The price of the Securities does not necessarily bear any relationship to the Company's asset value, net worth, revenues or other established criteria of value, and should not be considered indicative of the actual value of the Securities.

In order to purchase the Securities, you must make a commitment to purchase by completing the Subscription Agreement. Purchaser funds will be held in escrow with Evolve Bank and Trust until the Minimum Amount of investments is reached. Purchasers may cancel an investment commitment until 48 hours prior to the Offering Deadline or the Closing, whichever comes first using the cancellation mechanism provided by the Intermediary. The Company will notify Purchasers when the Minimum Amount has been reached. If the Company reaches the Minimum Amount prior to the Offering Deadline, it may close the Offering at least five (5) days after reaching the Minimum Amount and providing notice to the Purchasers. If any material change (other than reaching the Minimum Amount) occurs related to the Offering prior to the Offering Deadline, the Company will provide notice to Purchasers and receive reconfirmations from Purchasers who have already made commitments. If a Purchaser does not reconfirm his or her investment commitment after a material change is made to the terms of the Offering, the Purchaser's investment commitment will be cancelled and the committed funds will be returned without interest or deductions. If a Purchaser does not cancel an investment commitment before the Minimum Amount is reached, the funds will be released to the Company upon closing of the Offering and the Purchaser will receive the Securities in exchange for his or her investment. Any Purchaser funds received after the initial closing will be released to the Company upon a subsequent closing and the Purchaser will receive Securities via Digital Registry in exchange for his or her investment as soon as practicable thereafter.

Subscription Agreements are not binding on the Company until accepted by the Company, which reserves the right to reject, in whole or in part, in its sole and absolute discretion, any subscription. If the Company rejects all or a portion of any subscription, the applicable prospective Purchaser's funds will be returned without interest or deduction.

The price of the Securities was determined arbitrarily. The minimum amount that a Purchaser may invest in the Offering is $100.00.

The Offering is being made through MicroVenture Marketplace, Inc., the Intermediary. The following two fields below sets forth the compensation being paid in connection with the Offering.

Conversion of the Crowd Notes.

Upon the occurrence of a Qualified Equity Financing the Crowd Notes will convert into Conversion Shares pursuant to the following:

- a. If the investor is not a Major Investor, the Crowd Notes will convert into Conversion Shares upon the earlier of (i) the Company's election or (ii) a Corporate Transaction.
- b. If the investor is a Major Investor, the Company will convert the Crowd Notes into Conversion Shares prior to the closing of the Qualified Equity Financing.

"Qualified Equity Financing" shall mean the first sale (or series of related sales) by the Company of its Preferred Shares following the Date of Issuance from which the Company receives gross proceeds of not less than $1,000,000 (excluding the aggregate amount of securities converted into Preferred Shares in connection with such sale (or series of related sales)).

Conversion Mechanics. Company shall convert the Crowd Notes into Conversion Shares equal to the quotient obtained by dividing the Outstanding Principal by the Conversion Price. The issuance of Conversion Shares pursuant to the conversion of the Crowd Notes shall be upon and subject to the same terms and conditions applicable to the shares sold in the Qualified Equity Financing; provided, however, that if the investor is not a Major Investor, the investor shall receive shares of a Shadow Series with certain limited rights.

"Conversion Shares" shall mean with respect to a conversion of the Crowd Notes, the Company's Preferred Shares issued in the Qualified Equity Financing.

"Shadow Series" shall mean series of the Company's Preferred Shares that is identical in all respects to the Preferred Shares issued in the Qualified Equity Financing (e.g., if the Company sells Series A Preferred Shares in the Qualified Equity Financing, the Shadow Series would be Series A-1 Preferred Shares), except that the liquidation preference per share of the Shadow Series shall equal the Conversion Price and the following additional differences:

- i. Shadow Series shareholders shall grant their vote on any matter that is submitted to a vote or for the consent of the shareholders of the Company (except for on matters required by law) by Irrevocable Proxy;
- ii. Shadow Series shareholders shall receive quarterly business updates from the Company through the Platform but will have no additional information or inspection rights (except with respect to such rights which are required by law).

"Conversion Price" with respect to a conversion pursuant a Qualified Equity Financing shall equal:

- a. Investors that purchase the first Twenty-Five Thousand (25,000) Crowd Notes and thereby fund the first Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars ($25,000) will receive Crowd Notes with a conversion provision based on a $2,000,000 ($2 million) valuation cap instead of $2,500,000 ($2.5 million) valuation cap. That means, in connection with equity financing of at least $1,000,000, the company has the option to convert the Crowd Note into non-voting preferred shares (Conversion Shares) at a price based on the lower of (A) 80% of the price per share paid for Preferred Shares by investors in the Qualified Equity

Financing or (B) the price per share based on a $2,000,000 ($2 million) valuation cap (instead of $2.5 million);

- b. Investors thereafter will convert their Crowd Note at a Conversion Price of the lower of (A) the product of (1) one minus 20% and (2) the price paid per share for Preferred Stock by the investors in the Qualified Equity Financing or (B) the quotient resulting from dividing (1) the Valuation Cap of $2,500,000 by (2) the fully-diluted capitalization of the Company immediately prior to the closing of the Qualified Equity Financing.

“Irrevocable Proxy” shall mean the agreement appointing the Platform or an affiliate of the Platform as the sole and exclusive attorney and proxy of the Shadow Series shareholder, with full power of substitution and re-substitution, to vote and exercise all voting and related rights with respect to all of the securities of the Company that now are or hereafter may be beneficially owned by Shadow Series shareholder.

“Major Investor” shall mean any investor in Crowd Notes in which the Purchase Price is equal to or greater than $25,000.

“Outstanding Principal” shall mean the total of the Purchase Price.

Corporate Transaction

In the event of a Corporate Transaction, the Company shall notify the investor in writing of the terms of the Corporate Transaction.

- a. If the Corporate Transaction occurs prior to a Qualified Equity Financing, the investor shall receive the higher value received by either:
 - i. Quotient obtained by dividing the product of (1) the Outstanding Principal and the Fully-Diluted Capitalization immediately prior to the closing of the Corporate Transaction by the (2) the Valuation Cap; or
 - ii. Obtaining the Corporate Transaction Payment.
- b. If the Corporate Transaction occurs after a Qualified Equity Financing the Company shall convert the Crowd Notes into Conversion Shares pursuant to Conversion Mechanics described above.

“Corporate Transaction” shall mean:

- i. the closing of the sale, transfer or other disposition of all or substantially all of the Company’s assets,
- ii. the consummation of the merger or consolidation of the Company with or into another entity (except a merger or consolidation in which the shareholders of the Company immediately prior to such merger or consolidation continue to hold at least 50% of the voting power of the Company or the surviving or acquiring entity),
- iii. the closing of the transfer (whether by merger, consolidation or otherwise), in one transaction or a series of related transactions, to a person or group of affiliated persons (other than an underwriter of the Company’s securities), of the Company’s securities if, after such closing, such person or group of affiliated persons would hold 50% or more of the outstanding voting shares of the Company (or the surviving or acquiring entity), or
- iv. the IPO, liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the Company; provided, however, that a transaction shall not constitute a Corporate Transaction if its sole purpose is to change the state of the Company's incorporation or to create a holding company that will be owned in substantially the same proportions by the persons who held the Company's securities immediately prior to such transaction.

“Corporate Transaction Payment” shall mean an amount equal to two times (2.0X) the Purchase Price. If there are not enough funds to pay the investors in full, then proceeds from the respective transaction will be distributed with equal priority and pro rata among Purchasers in proportion to their Purchase Price.

Termination

The Crowd Notes will terminate upon the earlier of: (a) a conversion of the entire Purchase Price under the Crowd Notes into Conversion Shares; or (b) the payment of amounts due to the investor pursuant to a Corporate Transaction.

In addition, the Purchaser may not transfer the Securities or any Securities into which they are convertible to any of the Company's competitors, as determined by the Company in good faith.

Furthermore, upon the event of an IPO, the equity interest into which the Securities are converted will be subject to a lock-up period and may not be sold for up to 180 days following such IPO.

Voting and Control

The Securities do not have any voting rights. Further, upon conversion of the Crowd Notes into Conversion Shares, Shadow Series shareholders shall grant their vote on any matter that is submitted to a vote or for the consent of the shareholders of the Company (except for on matters required by law) by Irrevocable Proxy.

The Company does not have any voting agreements in place.

The Company does not have any shareholder/equity holder agreements in place.

Anti-Dilution Rights

The Securities do not have anti-dilution rights.

Restrictions on Transfer

Any Securities sold pursuant to Regulation CF being offered may not be transferred by any Purchaser of such Securities during the one-year holding period beginning when the Securities were issued, unless such Securities were transferred: 1) to the Company, 2) to an accredited investor, as defined by Rule 501(d) of Regulation D of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, 3) as part of an Offering registered with the SEC or 4) to a member of the family of the Purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the Purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a family member of the Purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the Purchaser or other similar circumstances. “Member of the family” as used herein means a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother/father/daughter/son/sister/brother-in-law, and includes adoptive

Other Material Terms

The Company does not have the right to repurchase the Crowd Notes. The investor agrees to take any and all actions determined in good faith by the Company's Board to be advisable to reorganize the instrument and any shares issued pursuant to the terms of the Crowd Notes into a special purpose vehicle or other entity designed to aggregate the interests of holders of Crowd Notes.

Los Redondos, Inc. (referred to as the “Company,” “We,” “Our,” or “Us”) is a C-corporation incorporated in the State of Delaware as of 04/24/2019.

Jane S.A. is a wholly owned subsidiary of the company (the “Subsidiary”) managing operations out of our Headquarters in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Jane S.A. formed as a LLC with the Ministry of Justice and Human Rights on March 21, 2019.

The Company is the developer of a mobile phone application helping consumers learn to grow plants. The company aims to connect plant growers from all over the world. Going Concern

The Company will conduct an equity crowdfunding offering during the second quarter of 2020 for the purpose of raising operating capital. The Company’s ability to continue as a going concern or to achieve management’s objectives may be dependent on the outcome of the offering, managements’ other efforts to raise operating capital, its ability to increase sales, and/or its ability to generate positive operational cash flow. The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming the Company will continue as a going concern.

Risks and Uncertainties

The Company is subject to customary risks and uncertainties associated with costs of services provided by third parties, the need to obtain additional financing, limited operating history and changes to consumers’ needs and tastes.

NOTE 2 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“GAAP”). The Company’s fiscal year-end is December 31.

The Company does not maintain Accounts Receivable records as the operational sales process does not allow provision of the software service prior to receipt of customer payment in cases where a customer payment is applicable. Due to this operational standard of operations as of 31 December 2019, the Company determined no allowance for uncollectible accounts was necessary.

Inventory

There are no inventory items relevant to the Company operations.

Additionally, the Subsidiary anticipates filing the initial Argentina Income Tax Return, Form 713 with the internal return tax in May 2020 for tax year ending December 31, 2019.

The Company recorded a net operating loss in 2019. Due to management's uncertainty as to the valuation or timing of benefits associated with the loss, no amount has been recognized in the statements to account for it.

PERKS

Investors that purchase the first 25,000 Crowd Notes, and thereby fund the first $25,000, will receive Crowd Notes with a conversion provision based on a $2 million valuation cap instead of a $2.5 million valuation cap. That means, in connection with equity financing of at least $1 million, the company has the option to convert the Crowd Note into non-voting preferred shares (Conversion Shares) at a price based on the lower of (A) a 20% discount to the price per share paid for Preferred Shares by investors in the Qualified Equity Financing or (B) the price per share based on a $2 million valuation cap (instead of $2.5 million).

Opportunity

According to a 2019 poll by Pew Research, 67% of Americans believe the use of cannabis should be legalized, reflecting a steady increase over the past decade. State governments have taken notice, and the legalization of cannabis for both recreational and medicinal purposes has increased throughout the U.S. Over the past few decades, 33 states, and Washington DC, have legalized some form of cannabis use in the U.S.ⁱ Additionally, Uruguay was the first country to full-legalize cannabis in 2013, followed by Canada in 2018.ⁱⁱ

However, while cannabis is now legal to purchase in some states and countries, the cost to do so may prohibit some users from partaking, with prices at dispensaries typically ranging from $100 to $400 per ounce in the U.S.ⁱⁱⁱ One alternative to purchasing cannabis at a dispensary is to grow it at home, which can reduce the cost per ounce to around $60. Growing at home offers greater convenience, constant access, and control over growing methods (e.g. avoiding the use of chemicals or pesticides).^{iv} According to a poll by Garden Research, 19 million households in the U.S. stated they would grow cannabis at home if it were legal.^v As of October 2019, 17 states (including California, Colorado, Michigan, and Nevada) plus the District of Columbia allow some form of legal at-home cultivation of cannabis.^{vi}

Initially launched in 2017 and incorporated in 2019, Grow With Jane is a mobile application designed to help both novice and experienced cannabis growers cultivate their own plants. It provides users with a journal and calendar, allowing them to track their growing progress and follow a detailed schedule built by the app. The app reminds users when to perform tasks such as watering, adding bug repellent, and trimming. Additionally, the app provides users with a 'GrowLog' through which they can display all the information collected on the plants throughout the growth process including pictures, methods used, equipment, and how users fixed any problems. With the proceeds from this raise, the company plans to release several new paid subscription features for potential additional revenue streams, and brand placement capabilities.

Product

Grow With Jane is a mobile app designed for recreational cannabis growers of all skill levels. It guides users through every step of the process, from germination to flowering. Based on information provided by a user, the app keeps track of plants and reminds them when to perform actions such as water, add nutrients, add bug repellent, or trim. Additionally, the company is planning to introduce an online forum, where members can discuss their growing methods and progress.

MICROVENTURES

Through the app, users can add cannabis plants to their journal and calendar by selecting from hundreds of strains of cannabis in the Grow With Jane system. Users input where their plant is in the growth process, ranging from germination to flowering. Users may also input optional fields such as:

- Tree name
- Number of trees
- Medium type (e.g. soil, hydro, or coco)

Once the strain of cannabis has been added, users are prompted to input information about the environment in which the plant is growing. Environmental setup questions users can input into the system include:

- Indoor or outdoor
- Type of light used (wattage and color temperature)
- Exposure time
- Length, width, and height of plant

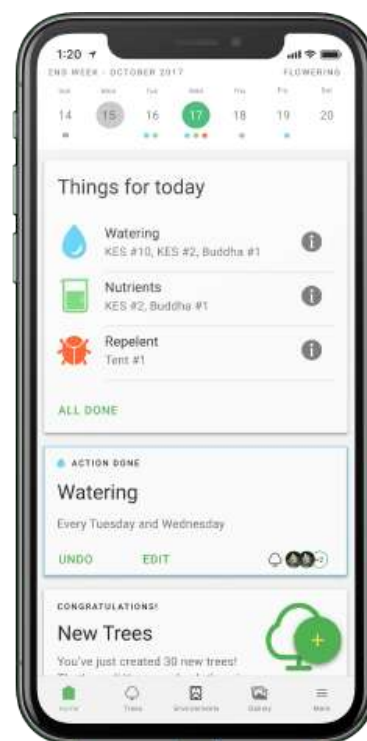

The collected data on cannabis strain and environmental conditions can be helpful to a new grower in identifying best practices and methods. Additionally, the information is used by the Grow With Jane system to generate a growth plan for plants. Users' calendars will be populated with actions to be taken for healthy growth of the plant, such as when to water a plant, add bug repellent, add nutrients, and trim a plant. Users can also design plans themselves and share them with other users.

Grow With Jane provides users with a report called GrowLog. GrowLog displays all the information collected for the plants including pictures taken by users throughout the process, a log of events, when things went wrong in the growth process, and how the user fixed any problems. Users can share their GrowLog with other users. GrowLogs can also be made public, allowing visitors to the site to learn how some users are growing their plants.

All members on the Grow With Jane platform can access to the aforementioned features. However, the company has also begun introducing enhanced features for premium users. Currently, premium members gain access to features including:

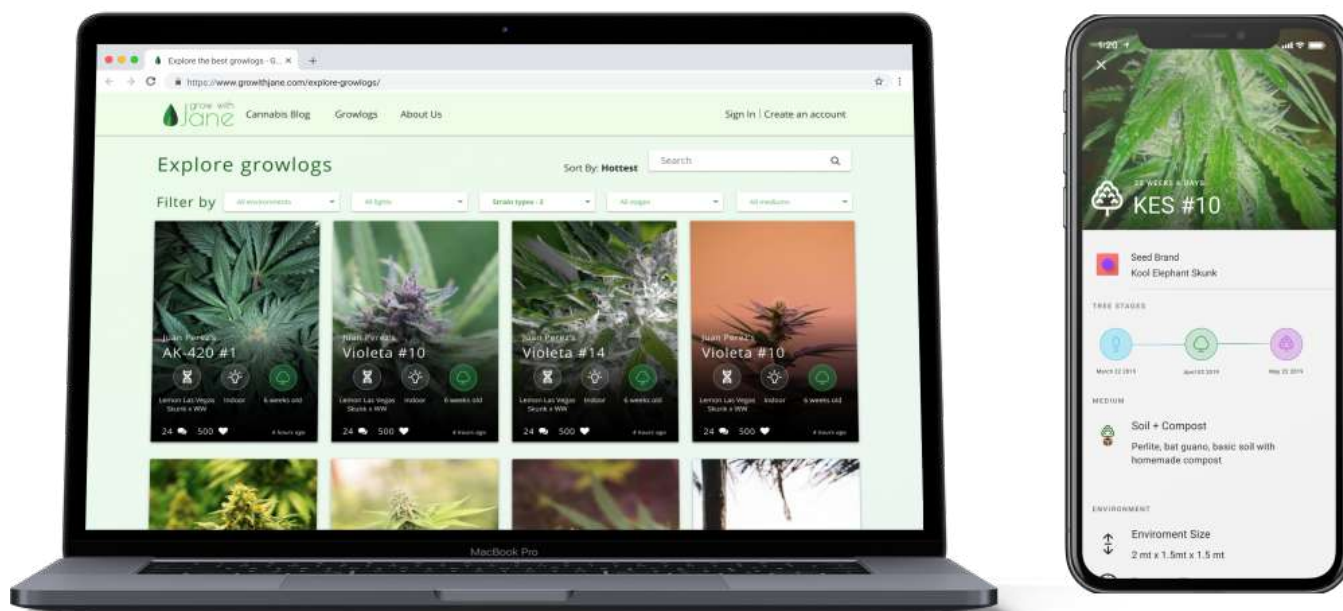

- Advanced planning features
- Detailed graphs and statistics
- Prioritized customer support
- Access to private Discord server for premium growers
- Unlimited amount of plants and environments
- Unlimited high-quality photos

Grow With Jane is currently beta testing a social platform to connect cannabis home growers and create niche social networks based on data from home growers and other interested parties. Users will also be able to connect with brands and share their GrowLogs on the platform. This social space will be available in both the app and the website, and the company believes it will become an important aspect of their growth strategy.

Grow With Jane incorporates user security based on secure passwords as well as Google's Firestore and Firebase security systems to provide an up-to-date system of encryption for its users. Google's Cloud Firestore automatically encrypts all data before it is written to disk. The data is automatically and transparently decrypted when read by an authorized user.

With server-side encryption, Google manages the cryptographic keys on a client's behalf using the same hardened key management systems that Grow With Jane uses for its own encrypted data, including strict key access controls and auditing. Each object's data and metadata in Cloud Firestore is encrypted under the 256-bit Advanced Encryption Standard, and each encryption key is itself encrypted with a regularly rotated set of master keys. To protect user data as it travels over the Internet during read and write operations, Grow With Jane uses Transport Layer Security (HTTPS).

Use of Proceeds

Grow With Jane aims to raise a minimum of $25,000 and a maximum of $107,000 in this crowdfunding offering. The company plans to allocate 38% of the funds toward marketing, 33% toward software development, 24% toward operations, and 5% toward intermediary fees. The company has the discretion to alter the use of proceeds based on general economic conditions or a change in business needs.

Marketing

Grow With Jane intends to allocate the majority of the proceeds from this raise towards marketing, as it is looking to increase product awareness. The company plans to do this by working with a marketing agency to fine tune its image for both growers and companies in the industry. The company would also like to translate its product, website, and other branding material into other languages. In the future, the Company plans to sponsor events, such as expositions and public events for cannabis home growers, in the hopes of driving more traffic to its app.

Software Development

The company would like to hire more developers, both full-time and part-time, as it is currently constrained with its designing, planning, and documentation (i.e. documenting features to be released) due to the limited number of people on the team. Additional features the company would like to add include social features like basic comments, likes, and brand integration. It would also like to add more advanced analytical features to provide more insight to growers.

Operations

Within operations, the company plans to use the funds on general working capital to support the increase in staff and adding additional office space for the team.

Product Roadmap

Over the next year, Grow With Jane plans on releasing the following features:

- Brand Connections – Q2 2020
- AI image recognition system - Plans to begin rolling out features in Q2 2020
- Enterprise business intelligence platform – Q3 2020

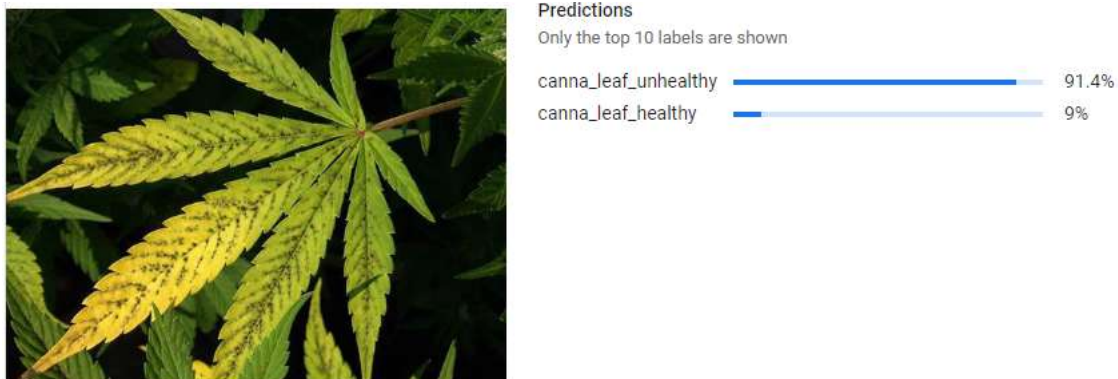

Automated and Contextual Growing Insights

Grow With Jane believes it has a privileged position in that growers report their growing activities to the app, from feeding and trimming to harvesting and cloning. This enables it to better understand and analyze the factors that come into play when taking care of a plant. The company thus has an opportunity to learn from and feed that information back to its users through tips and insights which could help a first-time grower start, or nudge a more experienced one in the right direction.

AI Image Recognition System

Grow With Jane is developing an AI image recognition system to diagnose sickness, identify plant gender, and send recommendations to users on the platform. The system aims to analyze an uploaded photo of a plant and assign a statistical probability to certain traits and overall health of the plant. Eventually, the company would like to offer B2B products from this development and sell access to its application programming interface (API).

Is the plant healthy or unhealthy?

What is the sex of the plant?

Predictions

Only the top 10 labels are shown

Brand Connections

Throughout the growth cycle, there are several products central to the plant's life. Those include seeds, fertilizers, soil mixes, lights, and tents. These products come with specific and sometimes complex instructions that growers might ignore or misunderstand once they have left the supply shop. Grow with Jane aims to connect the brands and producers with their users, allowing brands to provide specific recommendations on their products for their customers.

Enterprise Business Intelligence Platform

Once the company connects brands with its users, the next step will be to offer brands access to a web dashboard where they can understand how growers use their products and learn from growing trends. This platform aims to provide brands with important data, enabling them to make more informed decisions when it comes to marketing and product development.

Business Model

Currently, Grow With Jane operates with a freemium business model. Members can access basic features, such as journals and calendars, for free. However, premium features require a monthly subscription. Pricing for Grow With Jane is currently $7.49 per month or $34.99 for a year. As it moves toward a more robust product offering, it plans to roll out three different pricing plans including:

- Learning Bundle: $7.49 per month or $34.99 per year
 - Prioritized customer support
 - Text and video content
 - Expert mentors
- Planning Bundle: $7.49 per month or $34.99 per year
 - Advanced planning features
 - Exclusive grow recipes
- Expert Bundle: $7.49 per month or $34.99 per year
 - Detailed graphs and statistics
 - Growing certificates
- Full package: $17.99 per month or an annual price still to be determined
 - Includes all the features listed above

MICROVENTURES

The three tiers of subscriptions (learning, planning, and expert) were built based on member backgrounds and preferences. Grow With Jane surveyed members and found 50% of their users to be novices (suited for the learning bundle), 35% to be intermediate (suited for the planning bundle), and 15% to be experts (suited for the analysis bundle). Pricing is subject to change as the company conducts more testing.

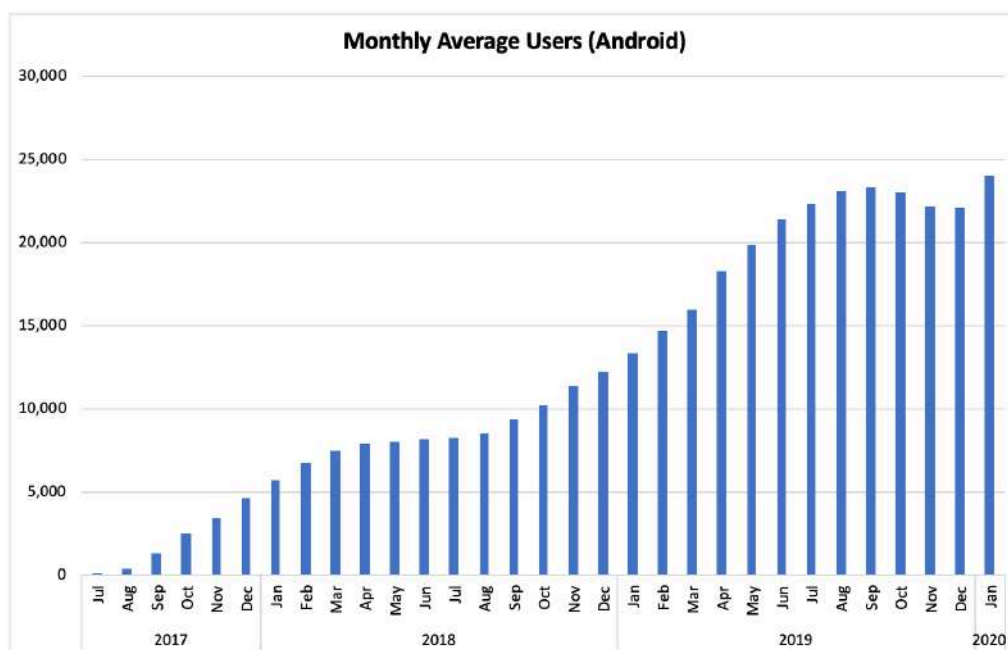

Eventually, the company would also like to offer advertising space to cannabis brands.

Grow With Jane also offers a variety of merchandise items for sale through its website. Items include clothing, bags, and hats. Pricing for these items range from $8.99 to $30.99.

USER TRACTION

Grow With Jane's app was initially launched in 2017, but the company was not incorporated until April 2019. Business functions did not begin until the incorporation of the company.

As of February 15, 2020, Grow With Jane was averaging 25,095 monthly average users on its Android platform. In January 2020, the company was averaging 23,980 monthly users, up from 13,316 average monthly users in January 2019. In June 2019, the company launched its app for iOS (Apple devices). Net Income

In January, Grow With Jane incurred a net loss of $27,569. In 2019, Grow With Jane incurred a net loss of $117,427. The net loss has come largely due to the company still being in the early stages of releasing revenue-generating features. The company experienced its most significant monthly net loss in August 2019 due to a one-time rent payment of $13,000 and higher than normal monthly expenses for office supplies.

As of February, the company had approximately $28,473 in the bank. Since inception in April 2019, Grow With Jane has averaged a monthly burn rate of $16,111. Over the next few months Grow With Jane anticipates cutting expenses by around $6,000 per month until it completes this round of financing. With its current cash on hand and the planned proceeds from this raise, the company estimates it will have approximately five months of runway.

INDUSTRY AND MARKET ANALYSIS

According to Grand View Research, the cannabis cultivation industry is projected to reach $45.4 billion by 2026,^{vii} up from $15.7 billion in 2018,^{viii} representing a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 13.5%.^{ix} Driving the growth, in part, will be the legalization of cannabis for medical and recreational purposes in North America and Europe. Uruguay was the first country fully legalize marijuana in 2013, followed by Canada in 2018.^x Other countries where recreational cannabis use is currently under consideration include Mexico and New Zealand.^{xi}

According to Garden Research, 33 million U.S. households – which represented 27% of the surveyed households – believe it should be legal to grow marijuana at home for personal use, and 19 million U.S. households – which represented 15% of the surveyed households – said they would do so if it were legal.^{xii} However, cultivating cannabis at home does provide some challenges such as strong odors and attracting pests. But, like other forms of gardening, cultivating marijuana at home can be a relaxing and rewarding hobby. Several benefits to growing cannabis at home include:^{xiii}

- Affordability – Prices in dispensaries range from $100 to $400 per ounce. Growers can reduce their cost per ounce to around $60.

- Constant access – Recreational and medical users can control their own access to the plant to ensure they have a steady supply.
- Convenience – Users aren't forced to go to dispensaries in order to get cannabis.
- Purity – Growers can manage their own plants to ensure they aren't moldy and avoid pesticides and chemicals.

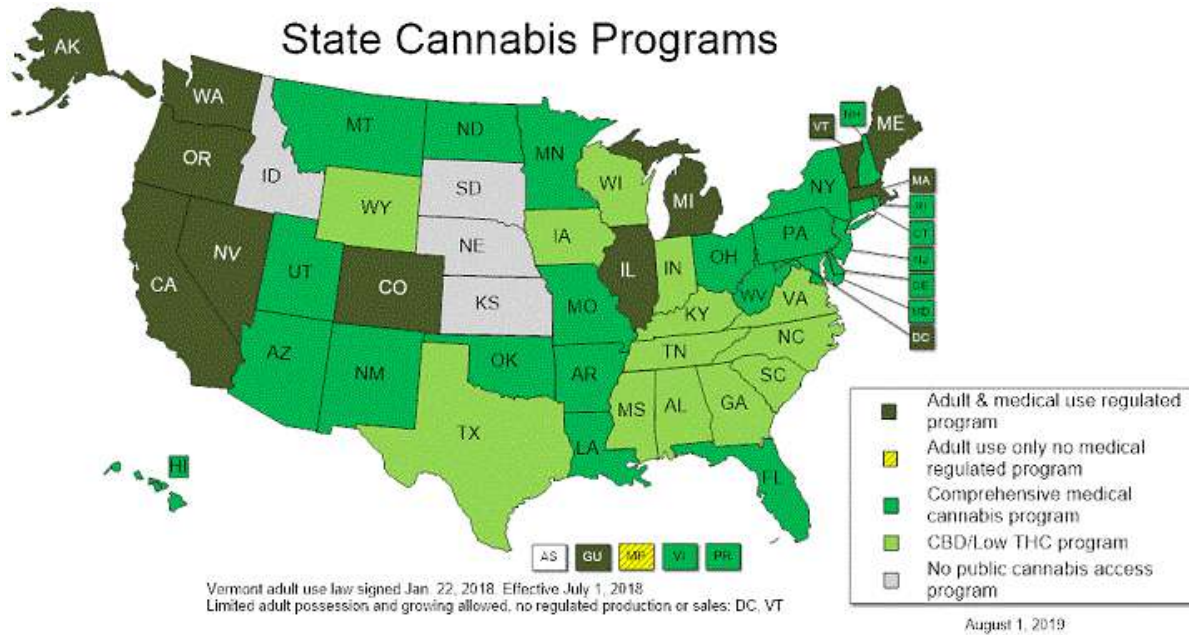

Growing marijuana at home in the United States is illegal under U.S. federal law. However, according to the U.S. Sentencing Commission and the FBI, 99% of marijuana arrests are made under state law. As states across the country continue to liberalize cannabis laws, more and more people will have practical access to marijuana.^{xiv} Furthermore, the Attorney General of the United States, William Barr, announced in January 2019 that he was not planning to target companies who comply with state laws in regard to cannabis, although he does maintain that he does not support wholesale legalization. Additionally, he called for the approval of more legal growers of marijuana for research.^{xv}

A total of 33 states in the U.S. have legalized marijuana for medical use,^{xvi} 11 of which currently allow adults to legally use the drug for recreational use.^{xvii} A further rise in the number of states legalizing cannabis consumption (whether recreationally or medically) is possible due to more people becoming accepting of marijuana. In 2018, the marijuana industry employed 250,000 people. Additionally, the following states (and the District of Columbia) allow the public to cultivate their own marijuana plants at home under varying regulations:^{xviii}

- Alaska
- Arizona – For medical purposes only
- California
- Colorado
- Hawaii – Only specific patients or caregivers are eligible
- Illinois – Only legal for people designated as cultivation center agents
- Maine
- Massachusetts
- Michigan
- Missouri – Only patients and caregivers are eligible
- Montana – Only for those who are a registered cardholder
- Nevada
- New Hampshire – Only patients and caregivers are eligible
- New Mexico – Only patients and caregivers are eligible
- Oregon
- Rhode Island – Only qualifying patients are eligible
- Vermont
- Washington – Only medical patients and designated entities are allowed to cultivate
- Washington D.C.

MICROVENTURES

According to a poll by Pew Research, 67% of Americans believe the use of marijuana should be legalized, reflecting a steady increase over the past decade. However, there are wide generational differences on views of marijuana legalization. A majority of millennials (76%), Generation X (65%), and baby boomers (63%) believe marijuana use should be legal. However, the silent generation has remained largely against legalization, with only 35% approving.^{xix}

GrowBuddy: Initially released in 2014, GrowBuddy is a cannabis growth journal app that helps growers record plant lifecycles. Through the app, users can track their plants by adding journal updates. Users can upload plant strain, how many days the plant has been growing, the wattage of lighting being used, and other information to the GrowBuddy app. Additionally, users can upload pictures of their plants throughout the growth process. GrowBuddy aims to use the data provided to help provide insight to growers on how to better manage their plants. The company also provides a forum where users can ask questions to other users. GrowBuddy's marketplace enables cannabis cultivation brands to sell their products directly to users, as well as serving as a forum for reviews and product discussion for users. In the future, the company plans on releasing a premium subscription for users with advanced features.^{xxi}

Users can input which strain of cannabis they are growing, the conditions in which the plant is growing, and what specific techniques they are using. The platform also enables users to compare their plant growth with other growers in the community and ask the online community questions. Users can either log their diary in "stealth mode" or make their diary public, so they can show off their plant growth to others. The obligations of the undersigned to purchase and pay for the Securities specified on the signature page hereto and of the Company to sell the Securities are subject to the satisfaction at or prior to the Closing of the following conditions precedent: the representations and warranties of the Company contained in Section 5 hereof and of the undersigned contained in Section 6 hereof shall be true and correct as of the Closing in all respects with the same effect as though such representations and warranties had been made as of the Closing.

8. Obligations Irrevocable. Following the Closing, the obligations of the undersigned shall be irrevocable.

9. Legend. The certificates, book entry or other form of notation representing the Securities sold pursuant to this Subscription Agreement will be notated with a legend or designation, which communicates in some manner that the Securities were issued pursuant to Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act and may only be resold pursuant to Rule 501 of Regulation CF.

10. Waiver, Amendment. Neither this Subscription Agreement nor any provisions hereof shall be modified, changed, discharged or terminated except by an instrument in writing, signed by the party against whom any waiver, change, discharge or termination is sought.

11. Assignability. Neither this Subscription Agreement nor any right, remedy, obligation or liability arising hereunder or by reason hereof shall be assignable by either the Company or the undersigned without the prior written consent of the other party.

12. Waiver of Jury Trial. THE UNDERSIGNED IRREVOCABLY WAIVES ANY AND ALL RIGHT TO TRIAL BY JURY WITH RESPECT TO ANY LEGAL PROCEEDING ARISING OUT OF THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED BY THIS SUBSCRIPTION AGREEMENT.

13. Dispute Resolution.

a) General Rule.

Any dispute under this Subscription Agreement will be resolved through arbitration, not through the court system. All arbitration will be conducted in Wilmington, Delaware unless both parties agree otherwise in writing in a specific case. All arbitration will be conducted before a single arbitrator in following the rules of the American Arbitration Association. Except as required by law, neither a party nor the arbitrator may disclose the existence, content or results of any arbitration without the prior written consent of the other parties.

b) Appeal of Award.

Within thirty days of a final award by the single arbitrator, either party may appeal the award for reconsideration by a three-arbitrator panel. If there is an appeal, the other party may cross-appeal within

d) No Class Action Claims.

NO ARBITRATION SHALL PROCEED ON A CLASS, REPRESENTATIVE, OR COLLECTIVE BASIS. No party may join, consolidate, or otherwise bring claims for or on behalf of two or more individuals or unrelated corporate entities in the same arbitration unless those persons are parties to a single transaction. An award in arbitration shall determine the rights and obligations of the named parties only, and only with respect to the claims in arbitration, and shall not (i) determine the rights, obligations, or interests of anyone other than a named party, or resolve any claim of anyone other than a named party, or (ii) make an award for the benefit of, or against, anyone other than a named party. No administrator or arbitrator shall have the power or authority to waive, modify, or fail to enforce this paragraph, and any attempt to do so, whether by rule, policy, and arbitration decision or otherwise, shall be invalid and unenforceable. Any challenge to the validity of this paragraph shall be determined exclusively by a court and not by the administrator or any arbitrator. If this paragraph shall be deemed unenforceable, then any proceeding in the nature of a class action shall be handled in court, not in arbitration.

14. Governing Law. This Subscription Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Delaware, without regard to conflict of law principles thereof.

15. Section and Other Headings. The section and other headings contained in this Subscription Agreement are for reference purposes only and shall not affect the meaning or interpretation of this Subscription Agreement.

16. Counterparts. This Subscription Agreement may be executed in any number of counterparts, each of which when so executed and delivered shall be deemed to be an original and all of which together shall be deemed to be one and the same agreement.

18. Binding Effect. The provisions of this Subscription Agreement shall be binding upon and accrue to the benefit of the parties hereto and their respective heirs, legal representatives, successors and assigns.

19. Survival. All representations, warranties and covenants contained in this Subscription Agreement shall survive (i) the acceptance of the subscription by the Company, (ii) changes in the transactions, documents and instruments described in the Form C/A which are not material or which are to the benefit of the undersigned and (iii) the death or disability of the undersigned.

20. Notification of Changes. The undersigned hereby covenants and agrees to notify the Company upon the occurrence of any event prior to the closing of the purchase of the Securities pursuant to this Subscription Agreement, which would cause any representation, warranty, or covenant of the undersigned contained in this Subscription Agreement to be false or incorrect.

21. Severability. That means, in connection with equity financing of at least $1,000,000, the Company has the option to convert the Crowd Note into non-voting preferred shares (Conversion Shares) at a price based on the lower of a (A) a 20% discount to the price per share paid for Preferred Stock by investors in the Qualified Equity Financing or (B) the price per share based on a $2 million valuation cap [instead of $2.5 million].

- ii. The lower of (A) the product of (1) one minus 20% and (2) the price paid per share for Preferred Stock by the investors in the Qualified Equity Financing or (B) the quotient resulting from dividing (1) the Valuation Cap by (2) the Fully-Diluted Capitalization immediately prior to the closing of the Qualified Equity Financing.

 - iv. the IPO, liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the Company; provided, however, that a transaction shall not constitute a Corporate Transaction if its sole purpose is to change the state of the Company’s incorporation or to create a holding company that will be owned in substantially the same proportions by the persons who held the Company’s securities immediately prior to such transaction.
- d. “Corporate Transaction Payment” shall mean an amount equal to two times (2X) the Purchase Price. - j. “Outstanding Principal” shall mean the total of the Purchase Price
- k. “Qualified Equity Financing” shall mean the first sale (or series of related sales) by the Company of its Preferred Stock following the Date of Issuance from which the Company receives gross proceeds of not less than $1,000,000 (excluding the aggregate amount of securities converted into Preferred Stock in connection with such sale or series of related sales).
- l. “Shadow Series” shall mean shares of a series of the Company’s Preferred Stock that is identical in all respects to the shares of Preferred Stock issued in the Qualified Equity Financing (e.g., if the Company sells Series A Preferred Stock in the Qualified Equity Financing, the Shadow Series would be Series A-1 Preferred Stock), except that the liquidation preference per share of the Shadow Series shall equal the Conversion Price (as determined pursuant to Section 2) and the following additional differences:

Team background

Use of Funds

- Marketing
 - Grow With Jane intends to allocate the majority of the proceeds from this raise towards marketing, as it is looking to increase product awareness. The company plans to do this by sponsoring events, such as expositions and public events for cannabis home growers, in the hopes of driving more traffic to its app. The company would also like to translate its product, website, and other branding material into other languages.
- Software Development
 - The company would like to hire more developers, both full-time and part-time, as it is currently constrained with its designing, planning, and documentation (i.e. documenting features to be released) due to the limited number of people on the team. Additional features the company would like to add include social features like basic comments, likes, and brand integration.
- Operations

Webinar Transcript

Brett: Hey, everybody. This is Brett Andrews with MicroVentures. Thank you all for joining us for this webinar. Today, we'll be hearing from Grow With Jane, a networking platform for cannabis home growers. We are joined today by their co-founder and CEO, Nico Botti. Nico has led Grow With Jane since its earliest stages as an idea in 2015. As CEO, he is in charge of business partnerships and user analytics, where he learns from users on what the company needs to do to improve its software. Nico has worked for over seven years in the insurance and banking industries as an outside IT infrastructure and operations consultant. He holds an undergraduate degree in business from UADE in Argentina. How are you doing today, Nico?

Nico: Everything good. How are you?

Brett: I'm doing okay, given everything going on in the world. So, I appreciate you taking some time out and thanks to everyone also, who's attending this. So real quick, before we get started, just to let you know what the format's going to be today. So, Nico is going to spend about 10 or 15 minutes going through his pitch deck presentation. Hopefully you can see it on your screen. It should be the Grow With Jane logo right there. And during that presentation, we encourage you to send in questions. You should see on your GoToWebinar control panel, there's a tab titled Questions, you can click on that box and feel free to submit them during the presentation. They won't interrupt Nico; they'll just go to me. And then when he wraps up his presentation, we'll open it up for Q&A and answer any of the questions that have been submitted and any other ones that anybody else might have. So, with that, Nico, I'll let you take it away and introduce everyone to Grow With Jane.

Nico: Thank you. So, hi everybody. It's nice to kind of e-meet you. Under the circumstances, I know it's a weird time to talk about my company and ask you for small investments, but let's try to get this going. So, my name is Nico Botti and I'm the CEO and co-founder of Grow With Jane. Hopefully you can see my screen. Grow With Jane was born out of the necessity of people to grow cannabis in their houses. Why do people grow cannabis? Well, we think people grow cannabis for the big reason that it's a healthy, fun, and relaxing activity. There's a couple of other reasons to do it as well. First of all, it's cheaper than buying off the shelf products. Those products have a bunch of taxes, those products vary the prices in each state, and it's a really confusing for most people.

Nico: Right now, everybody's rushing to the stores to buy products that are safe to consume, and we shouldn't have those pesticides in our flowers that we end up smoking or consuming in other ways. So, we know that this is a process that can be hard. This is a process that takes at least 90 days from seed to harvest. And it usually takes closer to five months to grow a healthy and big plant. And a lot of things can go wrong in this process. Now, you can have pests, you can have issues from humidity, you can have issues with your lights if you're growing indoors, or outside you can have too much wind, and the plant is going to just break.

Nico: So, we built a solution. This solution is aimed at cannabis home growers from all over the world. We basically try to keep people organized. Growing plants is not hard, but it can get hard really fast. So, what we can do, is we can give people tools, so they can track everything that they did and anything that they have to do. And that way people can make sure that they are not watering every 24 hours because that's going to kill the plant, but at the same time, they're going to get a reminder, you have to water your plant today, or you have to apply a specific fertilizer, or to control the pest that you found last week. Having people organized while they're taking care of their plants, guarantees their success on their [inaudible 00:04:22] circumstances. And we believe that there's not a way to do this without a community.

Nico: People can help each other. People want to grow together and people want to show what they did from seed to harvest. They want to show pictures. They want to be able to tell other people, "Well, this is what I learned. Maybe it applies to you." You have to remember that even though people are growing in the United States and I don't know, Argentina, Chile, Spain, Italy, the knowledge base is pretty much the same. The problem is when you read a website that tells you that growing cannabis in Colorado is one way where it's completely dry, and then you go to Buenos Aires where it's extremely humid, there are going to be differences. So, when you have a community, you can talk to people from your area and understand what's going on, what's the right advice, and which one to read. So, we've been growing a lot. We launched our first version in July of 2017.

Nico: We got into the business accelerator in CanopyBoulder last year in 2019 and by the time we joined them, we had around 14,000 active users. By the time we ended last year, we had 25,000 active users, and I'm happy to tell you that by last month we had over 40,000 active users. The pandemic has been weird because at the same time people are staying at home, but it allowed us to grow even more. A lot of people are getting aware from our platform and not only from sharing from other growers, but also from the staying at home and looking at what you can get. This is some additional metrics that we can talk about, but the key point is that most of our user base is from the United States, a vast majority of them, and we have users all over the continent. We have the platform in Italian, French, Catalan, German, and we're including more languages because we keep getting requests from all over the world.

Nico: When we designed the solution, we did not think about monetization. We thought as a first-time entrepreneur, that people were going to knock on our doors and give us money, and that wasn't the case. By the time we got into CanopyBoulder, we started polling our users on how they would pay for this tool. So basically, we started thinking about a subscription-based monetization, but to do that we had to segment our user base. And we poll them and we understood that 50% of our user base are novice growers. They want to have attention from expert growers, they want easy to understand content. I'm talking about text, video, whatever they need, and access to mentors or experts that can help them from seed to harvest. Even if they have a small question or they just want to have really broad questions, so that's why we started designing our learning subscription bundle.

Nico: Then we have the intermediate growers, this is people that already grew in the past, and they had some success, but they want to have better features so they can plan. They understood from their first grow that keeping yourself organized, it's key. And another thing that they want is to have access to specific grow recipes, so that's how we call them. It's still specific advice you can give between people who are really knowledgeable about something. And in the case of cannabis plants, it could be washing the roots, or you could be talking about just putting a bunch of water in the soil to remove all the problems that could be in it or any other number of advices. And then we have the experts. The experts are a really small niche inside of our user base, but they want specific things, they want to be able to show that they are experts, they want to tell everybody that they are experts.

Nico: Maybe they already work in the industry, either testing seeds and showing that there are good products, but they want to have access to graphs, they want to have access to statistics, and they want to be able to certificate their expertise and use it as a job opportunity. At the beginning, we priced our bundles are at $7.49, which is basically the price of a seed. And we plan on having these bundles work on the sense of you want the learning bundle, you can get it, you can have the planning as well, and add it up, or I'm the expert and have all the features that you can pay for in the app, or have the full package for a little discount. Right now, the bundles are not exactly working. We have a single bundle that has a little bit of a learning, a little bit of a planning, a little bit of the expert. As we add value to each and every single one of them, we're going to make them individual subscriptions.

Nico: This is the team, we've met each other in high school, so we've been through good and bad. We started [at] CanopyBoulder together, we had a great time and we'll learn how to sustain a business, how to grow business, and it shows with our user base growth. We want to use the proceeds to continue to grow. Our costs are really low because we operate from Argentina, even if the company is in the US, we develop the software from Argentina. We can use the money for marketing and to grow the software development and operations. Our brand connections is basically being able to put brands from seeds, to fertilizers, to pesticides, in the hands of people from the app. And we want to be able to show the brands, what people are doing with their products, so they can continue to develop products and grow their company.

Nico: We talked to many companies in the industry, lights, fertilizers, and seeds, and they don't have any idea on how people are using their products. We want to be able to show them, "Well, your customers that arrived to our platform are using your product this way, and after three months, when they harvest the plants, they acquire the new product from the competition, and we believe that this is why." We want to be able to show the seed companies, "Well, your seeds are working or not working, this is the average yield, this is the average size, you should change how you are giving advice to people." And if companies have specific advice, for a specific product, we can show the advice to people at the right time, at the right moment. We can tell the growers using a specific seed, "Well, you need to water this plant a lot more in this stage."

- Nico: So, we believe that this is a key feature to monetize on our platform. We developed an AI image recognition system. This allows people to determine the sex of a plant, this allows them to determine if the plant is sick and what stages it's in, it's a really cool feature. And hopefully they both are going to integrate in our enterprise business intelligence platform, that are going to integrate the image recognition with the brands and be able to show them contextual data with a technology that it's up to par to 2020. This is a small risk disclosure for their presentation. And thank you.
- Brett: Great. Thanks, Nico. I appreciate it. Real quick, we did have some people join late, so I just want to remind everyone that you can submit questions in the Questions tab, and we will be answering... Going into the Q&A section at this point. So real quick, Nico, so at the beginning I gave your background, consulting in the insurance and banking industry for outside IT and whatnot. I'm curious, how did you get into this business? And can you tell us a little bit about the origin story?
- Nico: Sure. So, I'm a geek, I used to develop software in high school. And even though I started engineering, I dropped out because I understood that even though I love IT, I love the business sides more. And when I was looking for a job, this company, working with insurance companies and banking, I was looking for somebody with technical expertise that can be kind of a salesman inside. So what we devised together is banking and insurance company needs to store data for a number of years for regulatory reasons and what I did was, I offer the opportunity to go to those companies, see what their infrastructure was, give them advice, but at the same time giving advice on, "Well, maybe your IT department is not communicating with the business side of the bank." And when we engage in that conversation, we were able to connect the ones and zeros with the people who really use language. And that was highly profitable. And it was a great learning experience, both talking to the technicians from tech support, or the programmers in the bank, to the CEO of the banks.
- Brett: Got it. And then the transition though to Grow With Jane, what sparked the move, I guess?
- Nico: Well, my friends and I from high school, we did a bunch of projects together, and we wanted to do something together, and we wanted to be disruptive, or at least something new, something that was going to be exciting for us. We were all kind of bored in our jobs. My co-founders, one of them, comes from the cinema industry and is an editor and director with a couple of prizes. At the same time, the other co-founders who were more on the programming side, they were really successful in e-commerce industry. But we were all bored, and we wanted to do something together. And we wanted to do something was exciting for us and it was either cannabis, which was popping up back in 2015, or at least that was the small seed that it was growing.
- Nico: And the other opportunity was crypto. And crypto was like, nah, this is a monster we don't want to get in. And we were all growing cannabis. We had a problem of being organized, we were using notepads and whiteboards, and we said, "All right, let's solve this problem for ourselves. And hopefully this is a problem for everybody." And we built it. And after a couple months of building it, we polished it, and people started showing up. We didn't have any budget for marketing or anything like that. And so, people started downloading it. And we had the couple of hundreds, the first couple of thousands, a couple of months later, we had our mailbox filled with emails from home growers, from all over the world in multiple languages, asking for help. And we knew we had something, so we dropped our jobs and we dedicated full time to this.
- Brett: That's great. Yeah. So, you had the team together and you saw an opportunity and went after it. So, I want to get into some of that growth that you just mentioned in a minute, but first got a question here about competition. So, what are some of the similar solutions out there? How are they considered your competitors and what sets Grow With Jane apart?
- Nico: So, when we started, we had more competition. There were a couple of products that were trying to work with this market. The problem with these competitions that I'll mention in a minute, is that they either don't come from a technical background, or they come from a heavy technical background, but they don't integrate both of them. The problem with that is either end up with a really well thought technical solution to a human problem and when the humans attempt to use it, it's just ugly and it's difficult to use. And the other opportunity was people who were really from the cannabis growing industry and along with that it was a shit show. The software didn't work, errors all the time, it didn't make sense at all. So, we were a combination of both the functional UX, the technical side, and the knowledge that people are humans and you need check boxes that tell them you're going to destroy your plant if you can go in like this, or huge buttons, or stuff like that.

- Nico: Our competition, I think that the most interesting one, a couple, maybe years ago, was Grow Diaries. Grow Diaries is a website for cannabis home growers, kind of like a social platform. But they have a culture that it's specific to an audience. And by that, I mean, they do contests and giveaways with naked people and stuff like that; that is not up to par to 2020. They have a seed company, and their solution is more geared towards the social and not specific to the growing. And we believe that the core solution should be growing and build a social around it, like LinkedIn. LinkedIn, you have the business side, you have the communications in being able to connect with others, and there are some social capabilities that you can input there, but the core feature is being able to connect to other places, opportunities, or connections, and stuff like that. And we had another one that was called Grow Buddy, but they went to the industry side, to the commercial growth, so the huge operations. We want to stick to the niche and become the standard of cannabis home growers all over the world.
- Brett: Great. And kind of talking about that community piece. So, I have a question about the content on the app, how much of it is user-generated content? So, people just sharing tips and tricks and things that you should be doing versus content created by Grow With Jane, the company, that's that is offered up to the community?
- Nico: Well, per se, we don't build a lot of content. I think one of the slides have a little bit of information of this. This is all the information talking about 1 million pictures it's uploaded inside of the app. This is closer to 1.5, 1.6 million pictures uploaded by people. The content... We give them the platform and they build everything inside of it. And we use the knowledge from all of them, to feed back information to them. What I mean by this? So, let's say I have all my user base and I have a segmentation of them who are growing seedlings, really small plants. I can track the progress of all of those plants using our user base, our database, sorry, and see what works to grow those plants and what doesn't. And I can see what works with them under certain conditions, like I can grab all of them and say all of the ones in our country, with a humidity lower than 20%, which ones are succeeding and the plant is growing?
- Nico: I have that information and that gives us the information needed to build, for example, blog posts, that we can show our users that gives us the information to tell our users in our hundreds of thousands of emails to our support, the right data that they need. But the content is all built by them, specifically the pictures. This is priceless, the pictures have contextual data, so I can tell you for every single one of those pictures, the strain, how the plant was growing, if it was harvested, and how much. So that's how we build our AI to be able to learn how plants are doing, if they are healthy, if they are not, they're growing, they're not. The data being fed by users inside of a platform, it's going to be something really promising for us.
- Brett: Yeah. That's super interesting because one, you're allowing the community to generate the data and then you guys are basically turning it around and being able to provide tools like analytics and some of the stuff that you mentioned in the paid tiers. And it's also... There's a network effect to that, right? The more users, the more plants, the more information that's uploaded, the more valuable it becomes to everybody within the community. So, it's a super interesting way of framing this.
- Nico: Yeah. We plan on keep on using this and there's something that we hope to launch this year. It's something we call Insights. It's simple to understand, it's basically contextual advice, so use all that information that I mentioned and give it to you when you need it. If you're on week three of the growth of that plant, I can tell you the insights that our user base already built and give it to you on the second week and tell you, "Hey, on this second week, this seed, it's going to cause you trouble, be careful with this." We're excited.
- Brett: That's great. And coming back to the community in the growth. So, we had a question about marketing, I think what would be interesting to share from your end is when you started with us, as you showed that slide, you're at 25,000 users. And you're saying that it's grown almost double, it's grown quite a bit over the last couple of months. What is the main avenue that you guys are adding new users to the community? And what have you guys seen work in terms of that?
- Nico: Cannabis growers is a tough crowd. Everyone in the cannabis industry is a tough crowd. First of all, you cannot advertise in Google Adwords, for example, or Facebook, or Twitter, or Instagram. So, you got to work out in the margins of society basically, you can use Reddit, which is a place that you can advertise, but it's still a problem because those kinds of communities don't feel very fine about advertisement. So, what we did, is we built a social network presence in Instagram, for example, and we help growers. We started contacting growers from all over the world, people who are growing on their certain cash stacks. And we go like, "Hey, you'll find this beautiful. You should do this." And we give them free advice. And this may takes us, I don't know, 5 minutes per grower, or 10 minutes for grower, but that started building a network of people who already heard about us.

Nico: People who either were contacted by us, or people who had a friend who was contacted by us, and that started spreading the word. And right now, we stopped spending money on marketing. And while this is the context of the world is happening, the prices went into an insane amount, we said, "All right. Let's hold off until everything gets normalized."

Brett: Yeah. I mean, that's great. I think you mentioned before that the cannabis community can be tough to crack, but I think there's also some comradery there. Right? So, I think, it seems like you sort of have been able to crack into that at least initially, and it's starting to build on itself, so it's super interesting. So, we've only got a couple more questions here. If you want to remind anyone who has a question for Nico, if you want to get it in, now is the time to submit. This one, just kind of came up, given the slide that you're showing. It shows monthly average users on Android, you guys have an iOS app available? And if not, is there plans to do so?

Nico: Yeah, we launched iOS, I'm pretty sure that it was August, last year's August, while we were in CanopyBoulder. We launched and it has a couple thousand active users. When we decided to do this slide, we used the Google Android analytics because it's a lot easier to compare. Apple, it's kind of fussy, but it's over a couple thousand active users. The issue with that is, and why we concentrate on Android specifically, even though their apps are exactly the same, it's because, well, in the US, iOS is huge and it's highly popular, but in the rest of the world, Android is a dominant phone to be around. It doesn't matter if it's because of a price or not, we're talking about countries like Germany, or Spain, or whatever countries that have the cash flow, but they don't consume Apple products. So, we have a huge focus and understanding the Android community, even though we support them, we have the app in iOS.

Brett: Got it. Yeah, there's certainly many more Android users in the world, than there are iOS users. Real quick, just as a follow up on that. I'm sure you're probably familiar with the fee that iOS takes on payments for apps. Would that include on iOS? Would you have to pay the, I guess, "Apple tax", if someone books a subscription through the iOS app?

Nico: Yeah. We have that tax both in iOS and Android. Android also takes 30%, but the good thing is that if we keep a subscription for a... Well, the good thing, the kind of a bright side, is that once we keep a user for a year, the subscription, that 30% becomes 15%. And if we keep them another year, I think it becomes 5%, I'm not sure about that number, don't quote me on that. So, we got to make sure that we keep people and there's no way around it, I think that Spotify found a way about around it, or not Spotify...

Brett: I think it's Amazon, but yeah, I know what you mean. At some point you've got to have access to the users and when you're an early stage company and you're looking to grow that, it's just kind of what the rules of the game are. I think there could be some changes to that, but who knows? I was just curious on that piece. And then really the last thing is just about on the revenue ends because I think there may be a little confusion over where you guys are with that. So, you guys are revenue producing currently?

Nico: Yeah.

Brett: Got it. Okay. When did you guys launch the paid piece?

Nico: We launched the paid piece in July or August of last year, I think it was the end of July.

Brett: Okay. And you're-

Nico: And it didn't work up until a couple of months later. And it didn't work, not in a technical side, pricing is a key thing. You need to do A/B testing. A/B testing is basically being able to show people one price and another one another price, see how they behave and decide on a price that makes sense, so that people would consume. And we ended up in the current price that it's $5.50 for a month and $34.00 for a year. But the issue with that is the price changes from country to country. And why does it change? Because $5.00 is not the same in the US than it is in Spain. So, you got to adjust it.

- Brett: With all the conversions. Yeah. But it sounds like it's growing and I'm sure you still have to also A/B test the user flow to optimize conversions and all that sort of stuff. It's exciting though, to hear that it's out in market and you guys are in the process of... Well it's rolled out and you're still tweaking of course, but that piece of the business is growing, so that's super, super exciting. Well, this has been great, Nico. That's it for the questions that we have today. Before I kind of let you close with any sort of parting thoughts that you have. I want to let everyone know that if for some reason you didn't have a question off the top of your head for Nico at the moment, but maybe it comes up later.
- Brett: I would encourage you to go check out the Grow With Jane campaign page on the MicroVentures website. So, I'll give you the direct link here. I believe it should also be in your GoToWebinar control panel as well. But if you want to visit app.microventures.com/crowdfunding/grow-with-jane, you will go directly to the page where we have a lot of the information that may answer some of your questions. You also have the pitch deck that Nico went through, which you can thumb through if you want to kind of revisit that. You can also go to the MicroVentures website, just the homepage, and click on the invest button at the top and scroll down. And from there you will find the Grow With Jane tombstone and you can click on that and it'll get you to the same place.
- Brett: If you do have questions as follow ups, there's also a discussion forum on that very same page. You can submit questions there and Nico can address those. I know a lot of people will probably be listening to this recording. We will be posting this on the Grow With Jane campaign page within a couple of days, probably. So, if you are listening to the recording, same thing goes, if you have questions you can go down to the discussion forum and address them there. And then lastly, the purpose of the webinar, this is a crowdfunding campaign. So, a Grow With Jane is raising capital to continue to grow, no pun intended. So, if you'd like to invest and be a part of this, we encourage you to do so. There's an orange Invest button at the top of that page.
- Brett: And we tried to make the process as simple as possible. So, you can click there, make an account if you don't have one already, and then walk you through the steps and how to invest. So, again, I want to thank everybody, but I guess real quick, Nico, do you have any kind of parting words or anywhere else you'd like to point people if they want to find more information, certainly they may have an interest in downloading the app, I would imagine as well, if they are interested in exploring more, do you have any anywhere else you'd like to point folks?
- Nico: Oh, well, thank you for joining us. You can always get more information in growwithjane.com and just browse in your phone, no matter which one you have, in the store, find grow cannabis or cannabis, and we're going to be top three, if not, the first result. We're growing, and the search engines know it. And that's why we keep growing naturally and organically now. So, join us, download the app, test it out, play around, and if you're not growing cannabis, just go for it.
- Brett: Thanks. I appreciate that. And yeah, again, thank you, Nico. Thanks to everyone listening to this, whether it's the recording, or you're live, we know that there's a ton of crazy stuff happening in the world right now. So, the fact that you were willing to share some of your time to check this out, we really, really appreciate it. So, thanks again, everybody and have a great rest of your day and rest of your week.
