RISK FACTORS

Risks Related to the Company's Business and Industry

We have a limited operating history upon which you can evaluate our performance, and accordingly, our prospects must be considered in light of the risks that any new company encounters.

We were organized as a S-corporation in the state of Oregon in 2016 and re-organized as a C-corporation in 2020. Accordingly, we have a limited history upon which an evaluation of our prospects and future performance can be made. Our proposed operations are subject to all business risks associated with new enterprises. The likelihood of our creation of a viable business must be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications, and delays frequently encountered in connection with the inception of a business, operation in a competitive industry, and the continued development of advertising, promotions, and a corresponding client base. We anticipate that our operating expenses will increase for the near future. There can be no assurances that we will ever operate profitably. You should consider the Company's business, operations and prospects in light of the risks, expenses and challenges faced as an early-stage company.

We have a history of losses. If we do not become profitable or maintain profitability in the future, we may not be able to continue to operate.

We have not been profitable in the past. We have not generated any significant revenues to date. Before we are able to generate any material level of revenues, we will incur significant additional losses. We expect to substantially increase our research and development and sales and marketing and general and administrative expenses. As a result, we will need to generate significant revenues to achieve and maintain profitability in the future. We cannot assure you that we will achieve profitable operations or maintain them if achieved. Failure to achieve or maintain profitability will materially and adversely affect our business.

We need to continue as a going concern if our business is to succeed.

Because of our recurring losses and negative cash flows from operations, we may not be able to continue as a going concern in the future. Reasons for our possible failure to continue as a going concern include our historical net losses, limited working capital, requirement to repay short and long term indebtedness and the need for additional financing to implement our business plan. If we are not able to attain profitability in the near future our financial condition could deteriorate further, which would have a material adverse impact on our business and prospects and result in a significant or complete loss of your investment. If we are unable to continue as a going concern, we might have to liquidate our assets and the values we receive for our assets in liquidation or dissolution could be significantly lower than the values reflected in our financial statements.

In order for the Company to compete and grow, it must attract, recruit, retain and develop the necessary personnel who have the needed experience.

Recruiting and retaining highly qualified personnel is critical to our success. These demands may require us to hire additional personnel and will require our existing management personnel to develop additional expertise. We face intense competition for personnel. The failure to attract and retain personnel or to develop such expertise could delay or halt the development and commercialization of our product candidates. If we experience difficulties in hiring and retaining personnel in key positions, we could suffer from delays in product development, loss of customers and sales and diversion of management resources, which could adversely affect operating results. Our consultants and advisors may be employed by third parties and may have commitments under consulting or advisory contracts with third parties that may limit their availability to us.

The development and commercialization of our products is highly competitive.

We face competition with respect to any products that we may seek to develop or commercialize in the future. Our competitors include both small and major companies operating worldwide, including Kevita, Water Kefir People, Driftwest, and Lifeway Foods. Many of our competitors have significantly greater financial, technical and human resources than we have and superior expertise in research and development and marketing approved products and thus may be better equipped than us to develop and commercialize products. These competitors also compete with us in recruiting and retaining qualified personnel and acquiring technologies. Smaller or early stage companies may also prove to be significant competitors, particularly through collaborative arrangements with large and established companies. Accordingly, our competitors may commercialize products more rapidly or effectively than we are able to, which would adversely affect our competitive position, the likelihood that our products will achieve initial market acceptance and our ability to generate meaningful additional revenues from our products.

We rely on other companies to provide raw materials and basic ingredients for our products.

We depend on these suppliers and subcontractors to meet our contractual obligations to our customers and conduct our operations. Our ability to meet our obligations to our customers may be adversely affected if suppliers or subcontractors do not provide the agreed-upon supplies or perform the agreed-upon services in compliance with customer requirements and in a timely and cost-effective manner. Likewise, the quality of our products may be adversely impacted if companies from whom we acquire provide raw materials and basic ingredients do not provide items which meet required specifications and perform to our and our customers' expectations. Our suppliers may be less likely than us to be able to quickly recover from natural disasters and other events beyond their control and may be subject to additional risks such as financial problems that limit their ability to conduct their operations. The risk of these adverse effects may be greater in circumstances where we rely on only one or two subcontractors or suppliers for a particular raw material or basic ingredient.

We depend on third-party service providers and outsource providers for a variety of services and we outsource a number of our non-core functions and operations.

In certain instances, we rely on single or limited service providers and outsourcing vendors because the relationship is advantageous due to quality, price, or lack of alternative sources. If production or service was interrupted and we were not able to find alternate third-party providers, we could experience disruptions in manufacturing and operations including product shortages, higher freight costs and re-engineering costs. If outsourcing services are interrupted or not performed or the performance is poor, this could impact our ability to process, record and report transactions with our customers and other constituents. Such interruptions in the provision of supplies and/or services could result in our inability to meet customer demand, damage our reputation and customer relationships and adversely affect our business.

Quality management plays an essential role in determining and meeting customer requirements, preventing defects, improving the Company's products and services and maintaining the integrity of the data that supports the safety and efficacy of our products.

Our future success depends on our ability to maintain and continuously improve our quality management program. An inability to address a quality or safety issue in an effective and timely manner may also cause negative publicity, a loss of customer confidence in us or our current or future products, which may result in the loss of sales and difficulty in successfully launching new products. In addition, a successful claim brought against us in excess of available insurance or not covered by indemnification agreements, or any claim that results in significant adverse publicity against us, could have an adverse effect on our business and our reputation.

One of the potential risks we face in the distribution of our products is liability resulting from counterfeit or tainted products infiltrating the supply chain.

Because we source ingredients from various sources, we rely on various suppliers and their quality control measures. While we have procedures to maintain the highest quality levels in our products, we may be subject to faulty, spoiled or tainted ingredients or components in our products, which would negatively affect our products and our customers' experience with them and could decrease customer demand for our products. In addition, if there are serious illness or injury due to our products, there can be no assurance that the insurance coverage we maintain is sufficient or will be available in adequate amounts or at a reasonable cost, or that indemnification agreements will provide us with adequate protection.

In general, demand for our products and services is highly correlated with general economic conditions.

A substantial portion of our revenue is derived from discretionary spending by individuals, which typically falls during times of economic instability. Declines in economic conditions in the U.S. or in other countries in which we operate may adversely impact our consolidated financial results. Because such declines in demand are difficult to predict, we or the industry may have increased excess capacity as a result. An increase in excess capacity may result in declines in prices for our products and services.

We are required to comply with various import laws and export control and economic sanctions laws, which may affect our transactions with certain customers, business partners and other persons and dealings between our employees and subsidiaries.

In certain circumstances, export control and economic sanctions regulations may prohibit the export of certain products, services and technologies. In other circumstances, we may be required to obtain an export license before exporting the controlled item. Compliance with the various import laws that apply to our businesses can restrict our access to, and increase the cost of obtaining, certain products and at times can interrupt our supply of imported inventory.

The Company's success depends on the experience and skill of the board of directors, its executive officers and key employees.

In particular, the Company is dependent on Joseph Keenan Smith who is the Founder and Chief Executive Officer of the Company. The Company has or intends to enter into employment agreements with Joseph Keenan Smith although there can be no assurance that it will do so or that he will continue to be employed by the Company for a particular period of time. The loss of Joseph Keenan Smith or any member of the board of directors or executive officer could harm the Company's business, financial condition, cash flow and results of operations.

We rely on various intellectual property rights, including trademarks in order to operate our business.

Such intellectual property rights, however, may not be sufficiently broad or otherwise may not provide us a significant competitive advantage. In addition, the steps that we have taken to maintain and protect our intellectual property may not prevent it from being challenged, invalidated, circumvented or designed-around, particularly in countries where intellectual property rights are not highly developed or protected. In some circumstances, enforcement may not be available to us because an infringer has a dominant intellectual property position or for other business reasons, or countries may require compulsory licensing of our intellectual property. Our failure to obtain or maintain intellectual property rights that convey competitive advantage, adequately protect our intellectual property or detect or prevent circumvention or unauthorized use of such property, could adversely impact our competitive position and results of operations. We also rely on nondisclosure and noncompetition agreements with employees, consultants and other parties to protect, in part, trade secrets and other proprietary rights. There can be no assurance that these agreements will adequately protect our trade secrets and other proprietary rights and will not be breached, that we will have adequate remedies for any breach, that others will not independently develop substantially equivalent proprietary information or that third parties will not otherwise gain access to our trade secrets or other proprietary rights.

As we expand our business, protecting our intellectual property will become increasingly important. The protective steps we have taken may be inadequate to deter our competitors from using our proprietary information. In order to protect or enforce our patent rights, we may be required to initiate litigation against third parties, such as infringement lawsuits. Also, these third parties may assert claims against us with or without provocation. These lawsuits could be expensive, take significant time and could divert management's attention from other business concerns. The law relating to the scope and validity of claims in the technology field in which we operate is still evolving and, consequently, intellectual property positions in our industry are generally uncertain. We cannot assure you that we will prevail in any of these potential suits or that the damages or other remedies awarded, if any, would be commercially valuable.

From time to time, third parties may claim that one or more of our products or services infringe their intellectual property rights.

Any dispute or litigation regarding patents or other intellectual property could be costly and time-consuming due to the uncertainty of intellectual property litigation and could divert our management and key personnel from our business operations. A claim of intellectual property infringement could force us to enter into a costly or restrictive license agreement, which might not be available under acceptable terms or at all, could require us to redesign our products, which would be costly and time-consuming, and/or could subject us to an injunction against development and sale of certain of our products or services. We may have to pay substantial damages, including damages for past infringement if it is ultimately determined that our products infringe on a third party's proprietary rights. Even if these claims are without merit, defending a lawsuit takes significant time, may be expensive and may divert management's attention from other business concerns. Any public announcements related to litigation or interference proceedings initiated or threatened against us could cause our business to be harmed. Our intellectual property portfolio may not be useful in asserting a counterclaim, or negotiating a license, in response to a claim of intellectual property infringement. In certain of our businesses we rely on third party intellectual property licenses and we cannot ensure that these licenses will be available to us in the future on favorable terms or at all.

The amount of capital the Company is attempting to raise in this Offering is not enough to sustain the Company's current business plan.

In order to achieve the Company's near and long-term goals, the Company will need to procure funds in addition to the amount raised in the Offering. There is no guarantee the Company will be able to raise such funds on acceptable terms or at all. If we are not able to raise sufficient capital in the future, we will not be able to execute our business plan, our continued operations will be in jeopardy and we may be forced to cease operations and sell or otherwise transfer all or substantially all of our remaining assets, which could cause an Investor to lose all or a portion of his or her investment.

We are not subject to Sarbanes-Oxley regulations and lack the financial controls and safeguards required of public companies.

We do not have the internal infrastructure necessary, and are not required, to complete an attestation about our financial controls that would be required under Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. There can be no assurance that there are no significant deficiencies or material weaknesses in the quality of our financial controls. We expect to incur additional expenses and diversion of management's time if and when it becomes necessary to perform the system and process evaluation, testing and remediation required in order to comply with the management certification and auditor attestation requirements.

The Company's business operations may be materially adversely affected by a pandemic such as the Coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak.

In December 2019, a novel strain of coronavirus was reported to have surfaced in Wuhan, China, which spread throughout other parts of the world, including the United States. On January 30, 2020, the World Health Organization declared the outbreak of the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) a "Public Health Emergency of International Concern." On January 31, 2020, U.S. Health and Human Services Secretary Alex M. Azar II declared a public health emergency for the United States to aid the U.S. healthcare community in responding to COVID-19, and on March 11, 2020 the World Health Organization characterized the outbreak as a "pandemic." COVID-19 resulted in a widespread health crisis that adversely affected the economies and financial markets worldwide. The Company's business could be materially and adversely affected. The extent to which COVID-19 impacts the Company's business will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted, including new information which may emerge concerning the severity of COVID-19 and the actions to contain COVID-19 or treat its impact, among others. If the disruptions posed by COVID-19 or other matters of global concern continue for an extended period of time, the Company's operations may be materially adversely affected.

We face risks related to health epidemics and other outbreaks, which could significantly disrupt the Company's operations and could have a material adverse impact on us.

The outbreak of pandemics and epidemics could materially and adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, and results of operations. If a pandemic occurs in areas in which we have material operations or sales, the Company's business activities originating from affected areas, including sales, materials, and supply chain related activities, could be adversely affected. Disruptive activities could include the temporary closure of facilities used in the Company's supply chain processes, restrictions on the export or shipment of products necessary to run the Company's business, business closures in impacted areas, and restrictions on the Company's employees' or consultants' ability to travel and to meet with customers, vendors or other business relationships. The extent to which a pandemic or other health outbreak impacts the Company's results will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted, including new information which may emerge concerning the severity of a virus and the actions to contain it or treat its impact, among others. Pandemics can also result in social, economic, and labor instability which may adversely impact the Company's business.

If the Company's employees or employees of any of the Company's vendors, suppliers or customers become ill or are quarantined and in either or both events are therefore unable to work, the Company's operations could be subject to disruption. The extent to which a pandemic affects the Company's results will depend on future developments that are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted.

We face risks relating to public health conditions such as the COVID-19 pandemic, which could adversely affect the Company's customers, business, and results of operations.

Our business and prospects could be materially adversely affected by the COVID-19 pandemic or recurrences of that or any other such disease in the future. Material adverse effects from COVID-19 and similar occurrences could result in numerous known and currently unknown ways including from quarantines and lockdowns which impair the Company's business. If the Company purchases materials from suppliers in affected areas, the Company may not be able to procure such products in a timely manner. The effects of a pandemic can place travel restrictions on key personnel which could have a material impact on the business. In addition, a significant outbreak of contagious diseases in the human population could result in a widespread health crisis that could adversely affect the economies and financial markets of many countries, resulting in an economic downturn that could reduce the demand for the Company's products and impair the Company's business prospects including as a result of being unable to raise additional capital on acceptable terms to us, if at all.

Growth rates higher than planned or the introduction of new products requiring special ingredients could create higher demand for ingredients greater than we can source.

Although we believe that there are alternative sources available for our key ingredients, there can be no assurance that we would be able to acquire such ingredients from substitute sources on a timely or cost effective basis in the event that current suppliers could not adequately fulfill orders, which would adversely affect our business and results of operations.

We source certain packaging materials, such as bottles, caps, labels, kegs, and other shipping materials from a number of third-party suppliers and, in some cases, single-source suppliers.

Although we believe that alternative suppliers are available, the loss of any of our packaging material suppliers could adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition. Our inability to preserve the current economics of these agreements could expose us to significant cost increases in future years.

We are heavily dependent on our distributors.

In the United States we sell our products to independent distributors for distribution to off-premise retail locations such as grocery and specialty stores. Although we currently have a large network of wholesale distributors, sustained growth will require us to maintain such relationships and enter into arrangements with additional distributors in new markets. No assurance can be given that we will be able to maintain our current distribution network or secure additional distributors on terms favorable to us, or at all.

Our distributors often represent competing brands and are to varying degrees influenced by their continued business relationships with other brewers and distillers. Our independent distributors may be influenced by a large brewer or distiller, particularly if they rely on that brewer or distiller for a significant portion of their sales, which many distributors do. In addition, certain of our distributors cover a substantial network of certain on-premise retailers. While we believe that the relationships between us and our distributors are generally good, some of these relationships are relatively new and untested and there can be no assurance that any or all of our distributors will continue to effectively market and distribute our products. The loss of any distributor or the inability to replace a poorly performing distributor in a timely fashion could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The loss of our third-party distributors could impair our operations and substantially reduce our financial results.

We continually seek to expand distribution of our products by entering into distribution arrangements with regional bottlers or other direct store delivery distributors having established sales, marketing and distribution organizations. Many distributors are affiliated with and manufacture and/or distribute other beverage products. In many cases, such products compete directly with our products. The marketing efforts of our distributors are important for our success. If our brands prove to be less attractive to our existing distributors and/or if we fail to attract additional distributors and/or our distributors do not market and promote our products above the products of our competitors, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be adversely affected.

Our business is substantially dependent upon awareness and market acceptance of our products and brands.

Our business depends on acceptance by both our end consumers as well as our independent distributors of our brands as beverage brands that have the potential to provide incremental sales growth rather than reduce distributors' existing beverage sales. We believe that the success of our product name brands will also be substantially dependent upon acceptance of our product name brands. Accordingly, any failure of our brands to maintain or increase acceptance or market penetration would likely have a material adverse effect on our revenues and financial results.

Reductions in sales of our products will have an adverse effect on our profitability and ability to generate cash to fund our business plan.

The following factors, among others, could affect continued market acceptance and profitability of our products:

- the introduction of competitive products;
- changes in consumer preferences among commercial beverage products;
- changes in consumer drinking habits, including trends away from certain categories, including major allergen-free, gluten-free and non-GMO products;
- changes in awareness of the social effects of farming and commercial beverage production;
- changes in consumer perception about trendy beverages;
- changes in consumer perception regarding the healthfulness of our products;
- the level and effectiveness of our sales and marketing efforts;
- any unfavorable publicity regarding products or similar products;
- any unfavorable publicity regarding our brand;
- litigation or threats of litigation with respect to our products;
- the price of our products relative to other competing products;
- price increases resulting from rising commodity costs;
- any changes in government policies and practices related to our products, labeling and markets;
- regulatory developments affecting the manufacturing, labeling, marketing or use of our products;
- new science or research that disputes the purported healthfulness of our products; and
- adverse decisions or rulings limiting our ability to promote the benefits of our beverages.

Adverse developments with respect to the sale of our products would significantly reduce our net sales and profitability and have a material adverse effect on our ability to maintain profitability and achieve our business plan.

As a food production company, all of our products must be compliant with regulations by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

We must comply with various FDA rules and regulations, including those regarding product manufacturing, food safety, required testing and appropriate labeling of our products. It is possible that regulations by the FDA and its interpretation thereof may change over time. As such, there is a risk that our products could become non-compliant with the FDA's regulations and any such non-compliance could harm our business.

Our products rely on independent certification that they are organic.

We rely on independent certification of our organic products and must comply with the requirements of independent organizations or certification authorities in order to label our products as such. Currently, the FDA does not directly regulate the labeling of organic products as such. Our products could lose their organic certifications if our raw material suppliers lose their product certifications for those specified claims. We could also lose our organic certification if a contract manufacturing plant is found to be in violation of required manufacturing or cleaning processes. The loss of any of this independent certification, including for reasons outside of our control, could harm our business.

Ingredient and packaging costs are volatile and may rise significantly, which may negatively impact the profitability of our business.

We purchase large quantities of raw materials. In addition, we purchase and use significant quantities of packaging materials to package our products. Costs of ingredients and packaging are volatile and can fluctuate due to conditions that are difficult to predict, including global competition for resources, weather conditions, natural or man-made disasters, consumer demand and changes in governmental trade and agricultural programs. As such, any material upward movement in raw materials pricing could negatively impact our margins, if we are not able to pass these costs on to our customers, or sales if we are forced to increase our prices, which would adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Certain of our raw material contracts have minimum purchase commitments that could require us to continue to purchase raw materials even if our sales have declined.

We are contractually obligated to purchase a certain amount of raw materials from our suppliers even if we do not have the customer demand to sustain such purchases. The purchase of raw materials, which we are not able to convert into finished products and sell to our customers would have a negative effect on our business and results of operations.

Our future business, results of operations and financial condition may be adversely affected by reduced availability of our core ingredients.

Our ability to ensure a continuing supply of our core ingredients at competitive prices depends on many factors beyond our control, such as the number and size of farms that grow crops, poor harvests, changes in national and world economic conditions and our ability to forecast our ingredient requirements. The ingredients used in our products are vulnerable to adverse weather conditions and natural disasters, such as floods, droughts, frosts, earthquakes, hurricanes and pestilences. Adverse weather conditions and natural disasters can lower crop yields and reduce crop size and quality, which in turn could reduce the available supply of our core ingredients. If supplies of our core ingredients are reduced or there is greater demand for such ingredients, from us and others, we may not be able to obtain sufficient supply on favorable terms, or at all, which could impact our ability to supply products to distributors and retailers.

Failure by our transportation providers to deliver our products on time or at all could result in lost sales.

We currently rely upon third-party transportation providers for a significant portion of our product shipments. Our utilization of delivery services for shipments is subject to risks, including increases in fuel prices, which would increase our shipping costs, and employee strikes and inclement weather, which may impact the ability of providers to provide delivery services that adequately meet our shipping needs. We may, from time to time, change third-party transportation providers, and we could therefore face logistical difficulties that could adversely affect deliveries. We may not be able to obtain terms as favorable as those we receive from the third-party transportation providers that we currently use or may incur additional costs, which in turn would increase our costs and thereby adversely affect our operating results.

If our brand or reputation is damaged, the attractive characteristics that we offer retailers may diminish, which could diminish the value of our business.

We are currently an attractive brand for our customers because our products are high quality and generate a high level of retail sales at a premium margin relative to their shelf space. This is due to both our premium price point and our sales velocity. If our brand or reputation is damaged for any reason, consumers may no longer be willing to pay a premium price for our products and we may no longer be able to generate a high sales velocity at our then-current prices. If we no longer offer these characteristics, retailers may decrease their orders of our products and downgrade the in-store placement of our products, which could have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

Risks Related to the Securities

Neither the Offering nor the Securities have been registered under federal or state securities laws, leading to an absence of certain regulation applicable to the Company.

No governmental agency has reviewed or passed upon this Offering, the Company or any Securities of the Company. The Company also has relied on exemptions from securities registration requirements under applicable state securities laws. Investors in the Company, therefore, will not receive any of the benefits that such registration would otherwise provide. Prospective investors must therefore assess the adequacy of disclosure and the fairness of the terms of this Offering on their own or in conjunction with their personal advisors.

No Guarantee of Return on Investment

There is no assurance that a Purchaser will realize a return on its investment or that it will not lose its entire investment. For this reason, each Purchaser should read the Form C/A and all Exhibits carefully and should consult with its own attorney and business advisor prior to making any investment decision.

The Crowd Note will not be freely tradable until one year from the initial purchase date. Although the Crowd Note may be tradable under federal securities law, state securities regulations may apply and each Purchaser should consult with his or her attorney.

You should be aware of the long-term nature of this investment. There is not now and likely will not be a public market for the Crowd Note. Because the Crowd Note have not been registered under the Securities Act or under the securities laws of any state or non-United States jurisdiction, the Crowd Note have transfer restrictions and cannot be resold in the United States except pursuant to Rule 501 of Regulation CF. It is not currently contemplated that registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the “Securities Act”), or other securities laws will be effected. Limitations on the transfer of the Crowd Note may also adversely affect the price that you might be able to obtain for the Crowd Note in a private sale. Purchasers should be aware of the long-term nature of their investment in the Company. Each Purchaser in this Offering will be required to represent that it is purchasing the Securities for its own account, for investment purposes and not with a view to resale or distribution thereof.

Upon conversion of the Crowd Notes, Purchasers who are not “Major Investors” will grant a proxy to vote their underlying securities to the intermediary or its affiliate, and, thus, will not have the right to vote on any matters coming before the shareholders of the Company for a vote. By granting this proxy you are giving up your right to vote on important matters, including significant corporate actions like mergers, amendments to our certificate of incorporation, a liquidation of our company and the election of our directors.

Upon conversion of the Crowd Notes and by virtue of a provision contained in the Crowd Notes, if you are not a Major Investor, that is, an investor who has purchased at least $25,000 in principal amount of the Crowd Notes, you will grant a proxy to the intermediary or its affiliate to vote the underlying securities that you will acquire upon conversion on all matters coming before the shareholders for a vote. The intermediary does not have any fiduciary duty to you to vote shares in a manner that is in your best interests. Accordingly, the intermediary may vote its proxy in a manner that may not be in the best interests of you as a security holder. For example, the intermediary may vote the proxy in favor of an amendment to our charter that adversely affects the rights of the holders of your class of securities in order to allow for a new investment to occur where the new investor requires senior rights.

A majority of the Company is owned by a small number of owners.

Prior to the Offering the Company's current owners of 20% or more beneficially own up to 91.57% of the Company. Subject to any fiduciary duties owed to our other owners or investors under Oregon law, these owners may be able to exercise significant influence over matters requiring owner approval, including the election of directors or managers and approval of significant Company transactions, and will have significant control over the Company's management and policies. Some of these persons may have interests that are different from yours. For example, these owners may support proposals and actions with which you may disagree. The concentration of ownership could delay or prevent a change in control of the Company or otherwise discourage a potential acquirer from attempting to obtain control of the Company, which in turn could reduce the price potential investors are willing to pay for the Company. In addition, these owners could use their voting influence to maintain the Company's existing management, delay or prevent changes in control of the Company, or support or reject other management and board proposals that are subject to owner approval.

Affiliates of the Company, including officers, directors and existing shareholders of the Company, may invest in this Offering and their funds will be counted toward the Company achieving the Minimum Amount.

There is no restriction on affiliates of the Company, including its officers, directors and existing shareholders, investing in the Offering. As a result, it is possible that if the Company has raised some funds, but not reached the Minimum Amount, affiliates can contribute the balance so that there will be a closing. The Minimum Amount is typically intended to be a protection for investors and gives investors confidence that other investors, along with them, are sufficiently interested in the Offering and the Company and its prospects to make an investment of at least the Minimum Amount. By permitting affiliates to invest in the offering and make up any shortfall between what non-affiliate investors have invested and the Minimum Amount, this protection is largely eliminated. Investors should be aware that no funds other than their own and those of affiliates investing along with them may be invested in this Offering.

You will not have a vote or influence on the management of the Company.

All decisions with respect to the management of the Company will be made exclusively by the officers, directors, managers or employees of the Company. You, as a Purchaser of Crowd Notes, will have no ability to vote on issues of Company management and will not have the right or power to take part in the management of the Company and will not be represented on the board of directors or managers of the Company. Accordingly, no person should purchase a Security unless he or she is willing to entrust all aspects of management to the Company.

The Company has the right to extend the Offering deadline. The Company has the right to end the Offering early.

The Company may extend the Offering deadline beyond what is currently stated herein. This means that your investment may continue to be held in escrow while the Company attempts to raise the Target Amount even after the Offering deadline stated herein is reached. While you have the right to cancel your investment in the event the Company extends the Offering, if you choose to reconfirm your investment, your investment will simply be held until such time as the new Offering deadline is reached without the Company receiving the Target Amount, at which time it will be returned to you without interest or deduction, or the Company receives the Target Amount, at which time it will be released to the Company to be used as set forth herein. Upon or shortly after release of such funds to the Company, the Securities will be issued and distributed to you. The Company may also end the Offering early; if the Offering reaches its target Offering amount after 30-calendar days but before the deadline, the Company can end the Offering with five business days' notice. This means your failure to participate in the Offering in a timely manner, may prevent you from being able to participate – it also means the Company may limit the amount of capital it can raise during the Offering by ending it early.

There is no present market for the Securities and we have arbitrarily set the price.

We have arbitrarily set the price of the Securities with reference to the general status of the securities market and other relevant factors. The Offering price for the Securities should not be considered an indication of the actual value of the Securities and is not based on our net worth or prior earnings. We cannot assure you that the Securities could be resold by you at the Offering price or at any other price.

Purchasers will be unable to declare the Security in “default” and demand repayment.

Unlike convertible notes and some other securities, the Securities do not have any “default” provisions upon which the Purchasers will be able to demand repayment of their investment. With respect to Purchasers who invest less than $25,000 in the Securities, the Company has ultimate discretion as to whether or not to convert the Securities upon a future equity financing and such Purchasers have no right to demand such conversion. Only in limited circumstances, such as a liquidity event, may Such Purchasers demand payment and even then, such payments will be limited to the amount of cash available to the Company.

The Company may never elect to convert the Securities or undergo a liquidity event.

The Company may never receive a future equity financing or, with respect to those Purchasers who invest less than $25,000, elect to convert the Securities upon such future financing. In addition, the Company may never undergo a liquidity event such as a sale of the Company or an IPO. If neither the conversion of the Securities nor a liquidity event occurs, the Purchasers could be left holding the Securities in perpetuity. The Securities have numerous transfer restrictions and will likely be highly illiquid, with no secondary market on which to sell them. The Securities are not equity interests, have no ownership rights, have no rights to the Company's assets or profits and have no voting rights or ability to direct the Company or its actions.

The Company has the right to conduct multiple closings during the Offering. If the Company meets certain terms and conditions, an intermediate close of the Offering can occur, which will allow the Company to draw down on a portion of the proceeds of the offering committed and captured during the relevant period. The Company may choose to continue the Offering thereafter. Purchasers should be mindful that this means they can make multiple investment commitments in the offering, which may be subject to different cancellation rights. For example, if an intermediate close occurs and later a material change occurs as the Offering continues, Purchasers previously closed upon will not have the right to re-confirm their investment as it will be deemed completed.

In addition to the risks listed above, businesses are often subject to risks not foreseen or fully appreciated by the management. It is not possible to foresee all risks that may affect us. Moreover, the Company cannot predict whether the Company will successfully effectuate the Company's current business plan. Each prospective Purchaser is encouraged to carefully analyze the risks and merits of an investment in the Securities and should take into consideration when making such analysis, among other, the Risk Factors discussed above.

THE SECURITIES OFFERED INVOLVE A HIGH DEGREE OF RISK AND MAY RESULT IN THE LOSS OF YOUR ENTIRE INVESTMENT. ANY PERSON CONSIDERING THE PURCHASE OF THESE SECURITIES SHOULD BE AWARE OF THESE AND OTHER FACTORS SET FORTH IN THIS FORM C/A AND SHOULD CONSULT WITH HIS OR HER LEGAL, TAX AND FINANCIAL ADVISORS PRIOR TO MAKING AN INVESTMENT IN THE SECURITIES. THE SECURITIES SHOULD ONLY BE PURCHASED BY PERSONS WHO CAN AFFORD TO LOSE ALL OF THEIR INVESTMENT.

Operations

The Company anticipates that this Offering will allow it to operate and grow into Q4 2021. Its primary challenges will be around capital, having enough funds for slotting and driving trial at shelf to gain and retain customers.

Goodwolf plans to grow by increasing SKU offerings, on-shelf promotions, and in-store product demos. The Company hopes to increase market penetration by continuing to work with its brokers while adding additional distributors. Goodwolf hopes to decrease cost of goods sold and overhead per case by increasing production rates and upgrading equipment and production processes.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

The proceeds from this raise will help the Company to continue working with its broker network, expand distribution into other regions, increase its marketing and brand awareness, attend Expo East Natural tradeshow and increase its raw material purchases in an effort to lower costs.

The Company has the following sources of capital in addition to the proceeds from the Offering: Revenues from current operations, lines of credit and bank loans, as listed in the Capitalization and Ownership section.

Capital Expenditures and Other Obligations

The Company does not intend to make any material capital expenditures in the foreseeable future.

Material Changes and Other Information

Trends and Uncertainties

After reviewing the above discussion of the steps the Company intends to take, potential Purchasers should consider whether achievement of each step within the estimated time frame is realistic in their judgment. Potential Purchasers should also assess the consequences to the Company of any delays in taking these steps and whether the Company will need additional financing to accomplish them.

The financial statements are an important part of this Form C/A and should be reviewed in their entirety. The financial statements of the Company are attached hereto as Exhibit A.

THE OFFERING AND THE SECURITIES

The Offering

The Company is offering up to 194,000 of Crowd Notes for up to $194,000. The Company is attempting to raise a minimum amount of $25,000.00 in this Offering (the "Minimum Amount"). The Company must receive commitments from investors in an amount totaling the Minimum Amount by January 10, 2022 (the "Offering Deadline") in order to receive any funds. If the sum of the investment commitments does not equal or exceed the Minimum Amount by the Offering Deadline, no Securities will be sold in the Offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned to potential investors without interest or deductions. The Company has the right to extend the Offering Deadline at its discretion. The Company will accept investments in excess of the Minimum Amount up to $194,000.00 (the "Maximum Amount") and the additional Securities will be allocated on at the Company's discretion.

The price of the Securities does not necessarily bear any relationship to the Company's asset value, net worth, revenues or other established criteria of value, and should not be considered indicative of the actual value of the Securities.

In order to purchase the Securities, you must make a commitment to purchase by completing the Subscription Agreement. Purchaser funds will be held in escrow with Evolve Bank & Trust until the Minimum Amount of investments is reached. Purchasers may cancel an investment commitment until 48 hours prior to the Offering Deadline or the Closing, whichever comes first using the cancellation mechanism provided by the Intermediary. The Company will notify Purchasers when the Minimum Amount has been reached. If the Company reaches the Minimum Amount prior to the Offering Deadline, it may close the Offering at least five (5) days after reaching the Minimum Amount and providing notice to the Purchasers. If any material change (other than reaching the Minimum Amount) occurs related to the Offering prior to the Offering Deadline, the Company will provide notice to Purchasers and receive reconfirmations from Purchasers who have already made commitments. If a Purchaser does not reconfirm his or her investment commitment after a material change is made to the terms of the Offering, the Purchaser's investment commitment will be cancelled, and the committed funds will be returned without interest or deductions.

In the event that at least $75,000 in investments is committed and received by the escrow agent and more than thirty (30) days remain before the Offering Deadline, the Company may, at the discretion of the Intermediary, conduct the first of multiple closings of the Offering (an "Intermediate Close") and withdraw funds from escrow, provided that all investors receive notice that an Intermediate Close will occur and funds will be released to the Company, at least five (5) business days prior to the Intermediate Close (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment). Investors who committed on or before such notice will have until 48 hours before the Intermediate Close to cancel their investment commitment.

Thereafter, the Company may, at the discretion of the Intermediary, only conduct another Intermediate Close before the Offering Deadline if (i) the amount of investment commitments made and received in escrow exceeds $125,000 since the time of the last Intermediate Close, and (ii) more than thirty (30) days remain before the Offering Deadline.

If a Purchaser does not cancel an investment commitment before an Intermediate Close or before the Offering Deadline, the funds will be released to the Company upon closing of the Offering and the Purchaser will receive the Securities in exchange for his or her investment. Any Purchaser funds received after the initial closing will be released to the Company upon a subsequent closing, and the Purchaser will receive Securities in exchange for his or her investment as soon as practicable thereafter.

The Company has agreed to return all funds to investors in the event a Form C-W is ultimately filed in relation to this Offering, regardless of any subsequent closes.

Subscription Agreements are not binding on the Company until accepted by the Company, which reserves the right to reject, in whole or in part, in its sole and absolute discretion, any subscription. If the Company rejects all or a portion of any subscription, the applicable prospective Purchaser's funds will be returned without interest or deduction.

The price of the Securities was determined arbitrarily. The minimum amount that a Purchaser may invest in the Offering is $100.00.

The Offering is being made through MicroVenture Marketplace, Inc., the Intermediary. The following two fields set forth the compensation being paid in connection with the Offering.

Commission/Fees

At the conclusion of the Offering, the Issuer shall pay to the Intermediary a fee consisting of five percent (5%) commission based on the amount of investments raised in the Offering and paid upon distribution of funds from escrow at the time of closing.

Stock, Warrants and Other Compensation

The Intermediary will receive a number of Crowd Notes of the Issuer equal to two percent (2%) of the total number of Securities sold by the Issuer in the Offering.

Transfer Agent and Registrar

The Company will act as transfer agent and registrar for the Securities.

The Securities

We request that you please review our organizational documents in conjunction with the following summary information.

Authorized Capitalization

See “CAPITALIZATION AND OWNERSHIP” above.

General

A Crowd Note is similar to a SAFE (Simple Agreement for Future Equity) security where an investor makes a cash investment in our company, but gets company stock at a later date in connection with a specific event. Although the security is called a Crowd Note, the Crowd Note is not a debt instrument. It is intended to be an alternative to a convertible note that is beneficial for both our company and you as an investor.

Valuation Cap

For the first $100,000.00 of Securities sold in the Offering, the Valuation Cap is equal to $900,000.00 ($900 thousand). For Securities sold in the Offering between $100,000.00 and $194,000.00, the Valuation Cap is equal to $1,000,000.00 ($1 million).

Events Triggering Conversion of Crowd Notes

If you are a Major Investor, which is defined as an investor who invests at least $25,000 in this offering, then the specified event upon which the Crowd Note would convert into capital stock of our company is (i) a Qualified Equity Financing, which we define below, or (ii) a Corporate Transaction, which we define below, if instead of receiving two times (2X) the outstanding principal of your Crowd Note, your Crowd Note is converted immediately prior to the closing of the Corporate Transaction..

If you are not a Major Investor, then the Crowd Note will only convert into capital stock of our company upon the earlier of (i) our company’s election to convert your Crowd Note, including upon a Qualified Equity Financing if our company elects to convert your Crowd Note then, or (ii) a Corporate Transaction, if instead of receiving two times (2X) the outstanding principal of your Crowd Note, your Crowd Note is converted immediately prior to the closing of the Corporate Transaction.

Qualified Equity Financing

The Crowd Note defines “Qualified Equity Financing” as the first sale (or series of related sales) by us of our preferred stock following the closing of this Offering from which we receive gross proceeds of not less than $1,000,000.00 (excluding the aggregate amount of securities converted into preferred stock in connection with such sale or series of related sales).

If the Crowd Note converts into equity in connection with a Qualified Equity Financing, then we will convert the Crowd Note into shares of our preferred stock that are issued in connection with the Qualified Equity Financing, which we refer to as Conversion Shares, equal to the quotient obtained by dividing the outstanding principal amount of the Crowd Note by the Conversion Price, which is defined below. The issuance of Conversion Shares will be on the same terms and conditions applicable to the stock sold in the Qualified Equity Financing; provided, however, that if you are not a Major Investor, you will receive shares of a shadow series, as we describe below, with certain limited rights. The Conversion Price applicable to a Qualified Equity Financing is the lower of:

- (i) the product of (a) one minus the Discount of 20%, and (b) the price paid per share for preferred stock by the investors in the Qualified Equity Financing, or
- (ii) the quotient resulting from dividing (a) the Valuation Cap ($900,000 or $1,000,000, depending on whether the Purchaser is an early bird investor), as defined below by (b) the total number of our shares of capital stock that are outstanding on a fully diluted basis (assuming for this purpose the exercise, exchange or conversion of all securities exercisable or exchangeable for, or convertible into, our capital stock), immediately prior to the closing of the Qualified Equity Financing.

Any investor who is not a Major Investor will receive a shadow series of preferred stock upon conversion of such investor's Crowd Note. A shadow series is a series of our preferred stock that is identical in all respects to the shares of preferred stock issued in the Qualified Equity Financing (e.g., if the Company sells Series A Preferred Stock in the Qualified Equity Financing, the shadow series would be Series A-1 Preferred Stock), except that the liquidation preference per share of the shadow series shall equal the Conversion Price and the following additional differences will apply:

- (i) shadow series shareholders will grant their vote on any matter that is submitted to a vote or for the consent of the stockholders of our company (except for on matters required by law) by irrevocable proxy; and
- (ii) shadow series shareholders will receive quarterly business updates from the company through the Intermediary but will have no additional information or inspection rights (except with respect to such rights which are required by law).

Corporate Transaction and Corporate Transaction Payment

The Crowd Note defines "Corporate Transaction" as

- (i) the closing of the sale, transfer or other disposition of all or substantially all of our assets,
- (ii) the consummation of the merger or consolidation of our company with or into another entity (except a merger or consolidation in which the holders of capital stock of our company immediately prior to such merger or consolidation continue to hold at least 50% of the voting power of the capital stock of our company or the surviving or acquiring entity),
- (iii) the closing of the transfer (whether by merger, consolidation or otherwise), in one transaction or a series of related transactions, to a person or group of affiliated persons (other than an underwriter of our securities), of securities of our company if, after such closing, such person or group of affiliated persons would hold 50% or more of the outstanding voting stock of our company (or the surviving or acquiring entity), or
- (iv) the initial public offering, liquidation, dissolution or winding up of our company; provided, however, that a transaction shall not constitute a Corporate Transaction if its sole purpose is to change the state of our incorporation or to create a holding company that will be owned in substantially the same proportions by the persons who held our securities immediately prior to such transaction.

If the Crowd Note converts in connection with a Corporate Transaction (defined above) then you will receive an amount equal to two times (2x) the price you paid for your Crowd Note (i.e., 2x your principal amount). If there are not enough funds to pay you and other Crowd Note investors in full, then proceeds from the respective transaction will be distributed with equal priority and pro rata among the Crowd Note investors in proportion to their Purchase Price.

If there are not enough funds to pay you and other Crowd Note investors in full, then proceeds from the respective transaction will be distributed with equal priority and pro rata among the Crowd Note investors in proportion to their Purchase Price.

Termination of Crowd Note

The Crowd Notes will terminate upon the earlier of: (a) a conversion of the entire Purchase Price under the Crowd Notes into Conversion Shares; or (b) the payment of amounts due to the investor pursuant to a Corporate Transaction.

No Voting Rights, No Shareholders Agreement and No Anti-Dilution Rights

The Crowd Notes do not have any voting rights. Further, upon conversion of the Crowd Notes into Conversion Shares, shadow series shareholders shall grant their vote on any matter that is submitted to a vote or for the consent of the members of the Company (except for on matters required by law) by irrevocable proxy.

The Company does not have any shareholder/equity holder agreements in place.

The Securities do not have anti-dilution rights.

Restrictions on Transfer

Any Securities sold pursuant to Regulation CF being offered may not be transferred by any Purchaser of such Securities during the one-year holding period beginning when the Securities were issued, unless such Securities were transferred: i) to the Company, ii) to an accredited investor, as defined by Rule 501(d) of Regulation D promulgated under the Securities Act, iii) as part of an IPO or iv) to a member of the family of the Purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the Purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a family member of the Purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the Purchaser or other similar circumstances. “Member of the family” as used herein means a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother / father / daughter / son / sister / brother-in-law, and includes adoptive relationships. Remember that although you may legally be able to transfer the Securities, you may not be able to find another party willing to purchase them.

In addition to the foregoing restrictions, prior to making any transfer of the Securities or any Securities into which they are convertible, such transferring Purchaser must either make such transfer pursuant to an effective registration statement filed with the SEC or provide the Company with an opinion of counsel stating that a registration statement is not necessary to effect such transfer.

Additional Transfer Restrictions

In addition, you may not transfer the Crowd Notes or any securities into which they are convertible to any of our competitors, as determined by us in good faith.

IPO Lock Up

Furthermore, upon the event of an initial public offering, the equity interest into which the Crowd Notes are converted will be subject to a lock-up period and may not be sold for up to 180 days following such initial public offering.

Other Material Terms

The Company does not have the right to repurchase the Crowd Notes. The investor agrees to take any and all actions determined in good faith by the Company's Manager to be advisable to reorganize the instrument and any shares issued pursuant to the terms of the Crowd Notes into a special purpose vehicle or other entity designed to aggregate the interests of holders of Crowd Notes.

COMPANY SUMMARY

Opportunity

According to academic research, fermentation - the process of chemical breakdown by microorganisms such as bacteria or yeast - may positively impact food's nutritional value. These potential benefits include improved antioxidant activity, anti-hypertensive peptides, and changes in vitamin content. Further, fermented foods and beverages, which still contain the microorganisms responsible for the fermentation, can enhance one's gut microbiome when ingested, which may positively affect the brain and central nervous system.ⁱ

It appears that consumers have begun to acknowledge the potential health benefits of fermented foods and beverages. According to Hartman Group, 39% of consumers are adding more probiotics to their diets. Digestive health now ranks third among the most sought-after benefits from foods and drinks—just ahead of heart health, according to the International Food Information Council's 2019 Health & Nutrition Survey. Further, 58% of consumers linked the microbiome to weight management, 57% associated it with energy levels, and 56% made a connection to mental well-being, according to the HealthFocus 2019 U.S. Consumer Trends Survey.ⁱⁱ

Goodwolf Feeding Company, a Portland-based producer of water kefir, aims to provide the benefits of fermented beverages while providing a unique alternative to current offerings such as kombucha and milk kefir. The company's water kefir, which is created by fermenting water kefir crystals in water with the help of cane sugar and mission figs, offers a sparkling, organic, and non-dairy option for consumers seeking the sensation of sparkling water with the probiotic nature of kombucha.

Goodwolf's Origin

Keenan Smith, the founder of Goodwolf, began making water kefir for his wife and daughters in his kitchen as an alternative to kombucha and sparkling water. Keenan found that the beverage could combine the probiotic benefits of kombucha (which was too sour tasting for his family) and the refreshing taste of sparkling water. From there, Keenan began selling his water kefir as a side hustle while working as a broker in the natural foods industry before deciding to start a business in October 2016 to begin selling the product full time.

MICROVENTURES

Keenan's brand, Goodwolf, is a reference to a parable in which two wolves live inside each and every person: one good, one bad. The good (which represents positive elements such as love, optimism, and overall good decisions) and the bad (which represents negative elements like harm, envy, and anger) engage in constant, eternal strife within a person. The winner of this internal fight, the parable proclaims, will be the wolf that is fed. Either wolf is fed when people make various choices, which can include economic, dietary, and personal decisions. Both wolves inevitably live, given the mix of choices people make, but Keenan envisions that his water kefir could play a small role in helping consumers "feed the Goodwolf" a little bit more.

Product

What is Water Kefir?

Water Kefir is a traditional fermented drink made from water and a symbiotic culture of bacteria and yeasts (SCOBY). Unlike kombucha, which is created by fermenting sugary black or green tea with a SCOBY, water kefir is created by soaking a SCOBY in sugar water to allow for fermentation. Water kefir SCOBYs typically take the form of water kefir crystals.

MICROVENTURES

The basic preparation method for producing water kefir is to add the water kefir grains to a sugary water mixture and allow the mixture to ferment for 24 to 48 hours. During this fermentation period, fruits or other ingredients may be introduced to create new water kefir flavors. Water kefir contains probiotics, which are believed to play an integral role in gut health. It is also believed that the fermented beverage may contain cancer-fighting and immune-boosting properties.ⁱⁱⁱ The pictures below show water kefir during the fermentation process (left) and the finished product (right).

Goodwolf Water Kefir

Goodwolf has created a line of probiotic, naturally sparkling water kefir beverages. The base for these beverages consists of the traditional ingredients of water and kefir crystals, which the company then ferments with organic mission figs, pink rock salt, and cane sugar. Each batch of water kefir is brewed in small batches in Portland, Oregon. Currently, Goodwolf's water kefir is bottled in 12-ounce cans, featuring labels with the company's uniquely colorful logo indicating specific flavors. The company also produces 2 liter bottles of water kefir.

Before enjoying, consumers are encouraged to tilt the can or bottle to mix the contents. Goodwolf water kefir is also meant to be kept refrigerated and have a shelf life of six months. Goodwolf currently offers its water kefir in totaling $126,010, a decline from 2019 in which the company generated $159,253 in revenue. Goodwolf's decline in revenue year-over-year in 2020 can be attributed to the adverse effects of the COVID-19 pandemic on retail sales. In 2020, Goodwolf achieved gross margins of ~36%.

From Q4 2017 to Q2 2021, Goodwolf has incurred expenses totaling $338,593. In 2020, Goodwolf incurred expenses totaling $123,465, which remained relatively flat from 2019. In Q3 2020, the company experienced its second-highest quarter of expenses, due primarily to increases in costs of goods sold, rent, and advertising expenses.

Goodwolf's expenses over the last two years can be broken down into the following categories:

INDUSTRY AND MARKET ANALYSIS

Goodwolf's line of water kefir beverages is based upon fermented water kefir grains. According to Technavio, the global fermented food and beverage industry is projected to grow over $340 billion during the forecast period of 2018 to 2022. The research firm estimates that the sector will grow at a compounded annual growth rate (CAGR) of almost 6% over the five-year period. Technavio notes that the introduction of new products will continue to drive the fermented food and drinks market. The demand for cultured dairy products is rising globally, led by new product development, improved taste and versatility, and high marketing support. This will propel the overall fermented food and drinks market size. Also, several vendors have launched, or are planning to launch, new variants of yogurt, cream cheese, kombucha, beer, kefir, and cottage cheese, during the forecast period. These new product launches will further boost the fermented food and drinks market growth.^{vii}

Goodwolf also competes more narrowly within the kefir industry. Market Research Future estimates that the global kefir market will reach $2.89 billion by the end of 2024, growing at a CAGR of 6.07% between 2019 and 2024. The kefir market in North America is expected to dominate the global market due to the increased awareness about the health benefits offered by kefir among consumers. Additionally, the high disposable income in the region is anticipated to boost the growth of the market. The Asia-Pacific segment is projected to register the highest CAGR in the global kefir market due to increasing disposable income. Moreover, the changing lifestyle and food habits of the consumers in the region are anticipated to foster industry growth. The global kefir market among the rest of the world is expected to grow at a steady rate due to growing awareness regarding the benefits of probiotic food products among consumers in many South American countries such as Argentina and Brazil.^{viii}

Consumers may also seek out fermented foods as a way to introduce more probiotics to their diet. According to Hartman Group, 39% of consumers are adding more probiotics to their diets. Increasing awareness of the link between gut health and overall health may also drive demand for fermented options. Digestive health now ranks third among the most sought-after benefits from foods and drinks—just ahead of heart health, according to the International Food Information Council's 2019 Health & Nutrition Survey. Further, 58% of consumers linked the microbiome to weight management, 57% associated it with energy levels, and 56% made a connection to mental well-being, according to the HealthFocus 2019 U.S. Consumer Trends Survey.^{ix}

No administrator or arbitrator shall have the power or authority to waive, modify, or fail to enforce this paragraph, and any attempt to do so, whether by rule, policy, and arbitration decision or otherwise, shall be invalid and unenforceable. Any challenge to the validity of this paragraph shall be determined exclusively by a court and not by the administrator or any arbitrator. If this paragraph shall be deemed unenforceable, then any proceeding in the nature of a class action shall be handled in court, not in arbitration.

HOW WE'RE DOING

We have two main channels: Retail (grocery stores) and Alt channel (coffee shop, corporate accounts, cafe's, among others).

- With the recent drop in our alt channel sales, we've learned to adapt to the recent challenges of COVID to focus on our increasing retail market share.
- We essentially lost $70,000 in alt channel sales but almost doubled our retail doors to make up for it.
- Most of our new retail doors opened in late 2020 during a pandemic making for an unenviable launch in most stores...Whole Foods, for example, launched in late August and we're just now getting our first promo in December.
- Once things open back up, we are confident that we will pick up all that alt biz plus more.

Hi, I'm Keenan. I'm the creator of Goodwolf, a probiotic sparkling beverage company based in Portland, Oregon. I've been in the natural foods industry for two decades, working as a broker and sales manager. I spent years working with distributors and retailers, building relationships and helping to launch and grow some really great brands. But eventually I decided that I wanted to put my time and energy into my own creation, and Goodwolf was born.

Goodwolf is a water kefir drink, similar to kombucha but generally less sour, almost like a bridge between kombucha and sparkling water. We traditionally ferment live kefir crystals and flavor them with organic cold-pressed juice and the result is a really tasty drink that's incredibly healthy and refreshing.

Water kefir contains pre-biotics and probiotics that are great for immune health, gut health and even mental health.

Last year we moved into our own microbrewery space, purchased new brewing and bottling equipment, and refreshed our branding. This year we signed on with two of the largest natural products distributors, KeHE and UNFI. Back in 2019, we won the Expo East Pitch Slam. This past summer we were finalists for the Nexty Awards (considered the Grammys for natural foods) and I had the privilege of speaking at a few key events at the Spark Change Summit, our industry's largest annual conference¹. All of this is to say, we have some momentum right now!

Prior to Covid, 30 – 40% of our business was coffee shops, restaurants and corporate accounts like Nike and Airbnb. Like a lot of companies, we've had to adapt, putting most of this on hold to focus now more than ever on retail business. Over the past few months, we've expanded outside of our home region and are now available from Portland to LA and at points across America all the way east to New York.

We ran our first successful crowdfunding raise through MicroVentures in early 2020 and were able to use those funds to expand our distribution into these new regions, upgrade our facility, and continue growing. Now that we've established Goodwolf as a brand with staying power, we need your help to continue our expansion and build on this growth.

We launched into Whole Foods regionally in September of this year and we're under review for a Global launch in 2021. The grocery industry is thriving, and people are looking for healthy and immune supporting foods now more than ever!

We currently have 6 unique and on-trend flavors,

Hibiscus Bloom which is a very rich and floral blend of organic hibiscus, rose, lavender, elderberry and passionflower.

Ginger Lemon which is our healthy response to a ginger ale soda. Works great as a mixer in cocktails or mocktails.

Turmeric Gold, a bright, golden brew of organic ginger, turmeric, lemon and black pepper.

Coconut Lime, a tropical cult classic!

Habanero Fire which combines ginger, lemon and apple cider vinegar with just the right amount of spice and roundness from habanero and cayenne.

And our newest flavor, Tulsi Rose, which is a light and refreshing caffeine-free tea and lemonade blend. Like an Arnold Palmer but less calories plus functional probiotics.

These are all low calorie, low sugar² drinks that make an excellent alternative to soda and are perfect for the current low/no alcohol craze³.

Our larger goal is building an open-ended lifestyle brand, Goodwolf Feeding Company, which leaves us open for the possibility of multiple line extensions in various categories as our company evolves. One such innovation we're exploring is small mobile canning runs of our product to make it easier to ship direct-to-consumer. We're also researching a pivot into kids' immune and wellness drinks, like Goodwolf for the wolf pups. 🐺

In addition to the canned lines, we're in the R&D process of a powdered supplement line that is geared toward stress and relaxation, something we can all use more of these days. This product fits nicely in our existing line up and aligns with our mission to feed the good wolf inside. It's very exciting with an estimated 60-80% profit margin, the ability to ship easily and we believe it would favorably position us ahead of an anticipated trend in magnesium supplementation⁴⁵⁶⁷⁸.

With your support and our industry experience, we are preparing for what we believe will be quick and strategic growth in 2021 and beyond. Thank you and Feed the Goodwolf!

Webinar Transcript

Brett Andrews: Hey everybody. This is Brett Andrews with MicroVentures. Thank you all for joining us today and listening into this webinar. Today, we're going to be hearing from Goodwolf, the makers of a line of organic water kefir beverages based out of Portland, Oregon. We're joined by their founder and CEO, Keenan Smith. Keenan founded Goodwolf in October 2016, and currently serves as the company CEO. When Keenan founded Goodwolf, he had already been in the natural product space for almost two decades. His experience includes working as a broker, helping to launch and build brands. He also worked as a sales manager, both regionally and nationally, handling planning and presentations for retailers. These experiences helped him develop a 360 degree view of the industry working with distributors and retailers while gaining knowledge of how to execute at the shelf. Keenan currently resides in Portland, Oregon, along with his wife and two daughters. How are you doing today, Keenan?

Keenan Smith: I'm doing great, Brett. Thank you. How about you?

Brett Andrews: I'm doing great. I appreciate it. Yeah, to see you on beautiful Friday. So I appreciate you taking some time here. Just real quick before we kind of get into it for folks listening wanted to sort of set expectations here. So what we're going to do today is, Keenan's going to spend about 10 or 15 minutes just going through his pitch deck. Hopefully you can see that intro slide with his beautiful Goodwolf cans on them.

Brett Andrews: And he's going to give us a little, really more of an update than anything. Probably introduction for those of you who aren't familiar with Goodwolf. If you aren't, this is actually the second time we've worked with Keenan, really excited to be working with him again. And yeah, excited to just kind of hear more about the business. And the idea here is just to share more with prospective investors and let you kind of hear from him. And then when he's done with that presentation, he's going to kick it over to me. And we're going to go into a little bit of Q&A and kind of get conversational with it. So with that Keenan, I'll let you take it away and introduce everyone to Goodwolf.

Keenan Smith: Great. Thank you so much. So, yeah. Thanks, Brett. As Brett said, my name is Keenan. I do live here in beautiful sunny Portland, Oregon. That's a joke. And we make Goodwolf probiotic tonic. It's a sparkling probiotic drink similar to kombucha, but kind of less sour, less vinegar-y. None of that floaty stuff. We like to think of it as about a bridge between kombucha and sparkling water. We currently have these six SKUs. We have the hibiscus rose, the habanero fire, turmeric gold, ginger lemon, coconut lime, and tulsi rose. These are all 100% certified organic. We use 100% cold pressed juice. So these are raw and living, cold chain, usually placed in the kombucha case at most grocers and I'm just going to scroll down now.

Keenan Smith: So what makes Goodwolf special? Is a unique and innovative spin on a product that does really well, the kombucha set, which kind of hasn't had any new innovation in a while. And so we're creating these probiotic, sparkling tonics made by fermenting living water kefir crystals. So this is different than kombucha in the fact that it uses a SCOBY. Some of the listeners may know the kind of flat looking pancake fermentation SCOBY. Ours are these beautiful, little, clear kefir crystals. It's almost like a probiotic sparkling water. We basically, rather than feeding a tea, which has caffeine, which is how kombucha makes their products. We actually ferment with these kefir crystals and just pure organic cane sugar. And so that makes a probiotic sparkling water that we then flavor with 100% cold pressed juice. The result like it says here is a low calorie, low sugar beverage that's good for your gut and delicious too. 35 calories or less per bottle, certified organic, really good stuff.

Keenan Smith: Get into the bubble business. So Goodwolf is, we are at the cutting edge of this really big category. Global kombucha market in 2019 was $1.6 billion. The sparkling water market was $30 billion. Projected global kombucha sales are $5.5 billion. It's a big category. There are some big players and we are small in terms of that, but lots of room to grow. And that's why we're really excited.

Keenan Smith: Here is our team. There is a picture of me on a happy sunny day in Portland. This is JJ, next to me. He is our operations manager. He's a chef by training and just all around great human. Nicole, who's actually my wife is also our accounting and distributor and retail manager. We have a designer. We have a couple of advisors who have been in the space for a while. Wes Crain here helped to take Revive Kombucha into their big exit. And Zach DeAngelo has been in the industry, had many brands himself and he helps brands now. Shara is an investor and advisor. Andrew Chae our broker. This is the Wolf gang. We hope to add you to the Wolf gang.

Keenan Smith: These are our partners. So UNFI and KeHE for those who are listening, who don't know, those are the two largest natural distributors nationally. So those are our two large ones. And then Azure Standard is actually a website-based, almost like an Amazon for buying natural food and products. And they deliver to points all across the country. We're in some great retailers. We're in Whole Foods, Mother's, Lassens, Erewhon, Good Eggs, New Seasons Market, you can see them here. You can find the full list on our website by the way. And locate stores near you, if you'd like to check those out.

Keenan Smith: Here's some shots of Goodwolf in the wild. Please note, these are the bottles. I'll just take a brief moment to explain this. The price of glass has gone through the roof and availability is very limited. And so we've made the decision to switch to cans. So we're in the process of migrating everything to the aluminum can. There's a few pluses to this. Our net case weight went from a six count case, used to be 8.4 pounds. It is now five pounds. So 40% difference there. That's not just good for us and good for the bottom line in terms of shipping, but also good for the planet in terms of sustainability, using less fuel to ship them, obviously. And then also the product is more portable. It's easier to recycle and all of that. And there's a precedent set but a lot of other brands that are making this move, by the way.

Keenan Smith: How we're doing. So 2019, we did about 160, that's $160,000. 2020, we dipped. Why did we dip? COVID. I'm not going to go into that too much, but there were... We took hits like a lot of people, but we've stayed in the game. And we lost some of our key accounts. Airbnb corporate office moved out of Portland. That was a bummer. We used to sell them a lot of kegs. But what we did is we doubled down on retail doors. We did double our retail doors during 2020. And so this year, you can see the run rate there, we are doing good. We're on the mend and things are looking up, especially since we did the pivot to more retail doors and got out of more of the sort of corporate, on-campus stuff. Hoping that comes back. And if it does, that's just obviously gravy there.

Keenan Smith: Our 2021 product roadmap. Again, we launched the cans. We are working right now on R&D on a product called Goodcalm, which will also help to insulate us from the fluctuating retail space of people, stores closing, limited capacity. That sort of thing. It's hard to have product discovery when people are shopping online, but this one is going to be online ads, online direct to consumer, and also kind of fits in with our company's motto of helping to feed the good wolf inside you, making the right choices, healthy living immune system, all that good healthy stuff.

Keenan Smith: Here's a case study. This is Good Eggs in the San Francisco Bay Area. We launched with Good Eggs in June 2020. And between June 1st and August 31st, we sold over a thousand units. So, that's almost four cases of Goodwolf per SKU per week. And we get people tagging us all the time. In the San Francisco Bay Area, we've gotten a lot of great feedback from them and that's good movement, good velocity out of Good Eggs.

Keenan Smith: What are we going to do with the funds? Well, here's a quick pie chart. See the way I said that, you could tell I'm hungry. We have not had lunch here in Portland yet. So this is the pie chart here and has the full breakdown. We need a couple of pieces of equipment. There's some general marketing. What that basically means is running 15% off invoice deals with our distributor so that the retailers will put the product on sale for the month. And sometimes that also includes ad fees. Then there's also slotting fees. You're going to get into a new door, you need to pay the retailer. So we're looking at some larger chains, but in order to get into those larger chains, we would need slotting fees, funding to make that work.

Keenan Smith: And yeah, that's it. Just a quick note on the name. The company name is Goodwolf Feeding Company, and that comes from the story. And I'll be quick about this, Brett. I just want everyone to know, that comes from the story of the two wolves inside each person. There's a good wolf, which represents love, peace, compassion, empathy, making good healthy choices for what you eat and drink and exercise, etc. And the bad wolf, which is fear, pain, frustration, anger, making bad choices. Did you grab a soda? Could you grab a Goodwolf or water? You going to lay on the couch and watch TV, which is, that's fine. But could you be working out, could you do something good for yourself?

Keenan Smith: So the idea is the two wolves battle it out. Only one can win. Which one wins? The one you feed. And so that's why we are the Goodwolf Feeding Company and our flagship product here, Goodwolf water kefir, Goodwolf probiotic tonic. And that is it. Thanks. Thanks for tuning in.

Brett Andrews: Great, thanks Keenan. I really appreciate that. And I love the story. I'm happy that you shared that piece. I always have found that really cool, just origin story of the business. But speaking of origin stories, I know we had one of these last time when we worked with you. I don't think I ever really got in into this, but I was sort of curious. I went through your bio and your background and you've obviously worked in the CPG and natural product space for a long time. I was curious, I guess, how did you get into this particular business? What drove you to water kefir? I guess in specific. And I guess maybe just the origin story of Goodwill and itself outside of the really cool name.

Keenan Smith: Yeah. So, I apologize if this is noisy, we are having a production day here at the warehouse. So, that's a good thing. That means we're busy, but it does mean that there's some background noise. I apologize.

Brett Andrews: No problem at all. No problem at all.

Keenan Smith: So yeah, Goodwolf started. I was a natural food broker. I was working for other brands basically, and would drive these brand sales, we would get them into retailers, push the brand, push the brand, other people's companies and we'd see them do well. And we'd sort of lift them up out of the water. And once they got above the water, they would fly off and there they go. And I saw some successful exits. I saw a lot of brands doing well. And then I saw in the space what was needed.

Keenan Smith: There was a lot of kombucha brands, but no one was really making a water kefir. Other than another brand Kavita, which is a brand that Pepsi acquired. They were doing it, but we thought, small batch. Let's do it without adding any additional probiotic powders, which is what a lot of brands do, they pasteurize. So we said, let's start fermenting this traditionally and see how it goes. And so we started with two SKUs, and that's how it happened. We just saw that the market needed a sort of top shelf premium, small batch, truly fermented raw probiotic water kefir drink.

Brett Andrews: That's great. That's a good background. It's funny when we first spoke, I was familiar with kombucha. I hadn't heard of water Kefir really until I met you. You got some, done a really good job manufacturing this. So speaking of manufacturing, that was sort of where I wanted to go next. For the folks out there who may not really know maybe much about just the beverage industry in general, but more specifically, a product like water kefir or kombucha where you're dealing with cultures. Could you share maybe a little bit about how that process works and maybe add in, are you guys doing this in house? Is it outsourced to a co-packer?

Keenan Smith: Sure. So the way it works is we have a 2000 square foot warehouse, which is not huge, but it's plenty for how we operate. And what we do is, we have big fermentation vessels. We take the kefir culture and we put it in a tank and we add the sugar water and the filtered water, the diluted organic cane sugar, and the filtered water, and it ferments for three days. And then we put that into our big tanks, our big brite tanks and brite tanks. In the case of some of our SKUs that are like the coconut lime or the ginger lemon, we're just adding cold pressed, raw juice that we buy from a third party. But again, it's all certified organic helping with the regenerative agriculture piece, which we're proud of and non GMO, all that good stuff.

Keenan Smith: But on the tea ones like the picture we see here, the hibiscus bloom, we're making a tea slurry. Basically take an organic hibiscus, organic rose, lavender, passion flour, elderberry and steeping that, and then adding that to the mix. We then force carbonate this product because we want to keep the alcohol level low. So we're not doing like a bottle condition in order to build up the carbonation. We do force carbonate it to keep those controls in place. And then once it has had a chance to carbonate, we actually bring in, so now with the new process, we were hand bottling these hand, capping them. I mean, real, very artisanal. But not a great use of time and not very efficient, to be honest.

Keenan Smith: And so now with this new canning line, we actually just schedule our mobile canner, which we use Craft Canning out here. They bring their mobile canning line, back it up to our dock. They bring it right into the warehouse, run their line into our tank. And what used to take us about 10 days to create a certain amount of product, we can do now in six hours. We actually just did it this morning. So I'm at the end of the shift. Now, here we are at noon here in Portland. And we got started at about 7:00 A.M. and we just got through what is going to essentially be about two to three weeks' worth of product just in this morning. So it's highly efficient, lots of room to scale up, lots of room. And yeah, that's the product. The machine is great. The machine comes in, we used to hand label, hand apply to caps. This machine fills the cans, seals the lid, rinses it, labels it, and then it comes right off and we put it in the box and it's ready to go. It's amazing.

Brett Andrews: Yeah. Automation these days, right.

Keenan Smith: I'm pretty sure it's been around for a while.

Brett Andrews: It's like getting, the first time you get a smartphone and you're like, wow, I can't believe I've been in life without this. It's like that, but for your business. I did want to talk a little bit about the... I'm sorry, were you going to say something?

Keenan Smith: No, that's it.

Brett Andrews: Yeah. I did want to talk a little bit actually about the canning because, that's obviously a new development and it sounds really exciting. And I think it makes sense for a lot of the reasons that you touched on the presentation. Obviously shipping costs, I can imagine or just would go down quite a bit. A lot of things that you're going to be able to do. How does that affect retail price or is there an effect at all? I don't know if I caught this, but is the unit volume the same and then you to kind of understand the unit economic change.

Keenan Smith: Sure. So everything stayed the same, the unit volume, the ingredients. The only thing that changed was the vessel and the production method. But what we've seen is, so we are what's called FOB, freight on board. Our distributors are picking Goodwolf up here at our warehouse and taking it to their warehouse. And so just at the beginning of this year, Q1, we saw huge increases and I don't know the exact amount, but brands, a lot of pricing went up. Brands had to renegotiate just due to freight charges and a lot of variables, the economy. And so the good thing is we went into the can, it lowered our freight cost. What we saw was that, although it didn't lower our retail price, we're still in the range of like around $2.99, 3 bucks. We didn't go up. Whereas, a lot of brands went up. So, that's the good thing.

Keenan Smith: So we were able to hold the line on the pricing. And so that's kind of how it worked in our favor. And then of course the efficiencies on the production, the total overall cost of goods went down. And it will continue to go down as we scale, just with the efficiencies, it's just obvious.

Brett Andrews: Yeah. Got it. So yeah, it helps the unit economics on a profit basis. It sounds like. So that's super encouraging. And I wanted to also kind of touch on and turn this into a question, I'll try, about kind of where you're available. So obviously people can go to your website and they can go see the store finder. And when you go on there, one of the things that may surprise people is how much coverage that you have from a geographical perspective. I talk to a lot of CPG companies who are maybe based, let's say based up in the Northwest and that's really the only place that their product is available. If this map is correct, that I'm looking at on the site, it looks like there's a lot of regions that you're available in the US. I guess, can you talk a little bit about that strategy and how you're able to have such a far reach?

Keenan Smith: Yeah. So, having these national distributors has helped with that and we've done some new ad programs, they call them, the new ad KeHE program where you can open up a DC and offer them 50% for the first month or so. And so we've been able to open up some great accounts that way. However, it's not our intention now to continue that vast sort of expansion. We are digging in and want to drive velocities at the accounts that we're at and that we're doing really well at. So it's sort of like, you put it out there, you see where it does well, and then where you see, you can get some traction. We're kind of digging in to those retailers primarily along the West Coast right now.

Keenan Smith: So we do have, distribution out to New York, New Jersey, we're in a great 38 store chain—Kings, Balducci's out in New York and now one does well. But it's really not our intention right now to just dig a thousand, one-inch holes. We are really trying to... the holes that we've already dug, we want to just keep digging them deeper and deeper and deeper, get the velocity going and really build the cult base around Goodwolf.

Brett Andrews: Yeah. I can see that that makes sense. Especially as an early stage company and you're somewhat resource constrained. And so trying to kind of double down on what's working. Yeah. I mean, that makes a lot of sense. And then I wanted to touch, I only got a couple more questions for you here, but I wanted to touch a little on. So you mentioned, 2019 verse 2020. Obviously, I think 2020 it was a challenging year for all of us on a number of different factors. Both business, health, what have you. I mean, it was a tough year. I think a silver lining from when you showed the financials is, and you mentioned this, the retail stores still grew. You saw growth in sales there, which is super encouraging.

Brett Andrews: I wanted to, maybe you mentioned this and I missed it, but I wanted to ask a little bit about what those old channels were. I think you said they were sort of like office or food service and just kind of your view on whether or not, I guess, how critical those are to the long term impact of the top line. And then what you foresee, I know none of us have a crystal ball, and this is obviously lasted a lot longer than any of us expected in the first place, but just sort of curious how you view that at.

Keenan Smith: Yeah. So some of them, like I gave the example of Airbnb. So Airbnb, not their total corporate headquarters, which I assume is in San Francisco area. They had a satellite office here, nice little building and we would sell them kegs. So we offer the cans, the bottles, but then we also have five gallon kegs, like any beverage company, like you would get a beer keg or whatnot, and a lot of office buildings. We work, those kind of places. We'll put these in there, like corporate headquarters will. And this is something we self-distribute for the most part. We do have a small network of DSDs that'll deliver some kegs here or there.

Keenan Smith: But the nice thing about the keg business is and was that it's a higher margin, much higher margin. You're taking that five gallons of liquid and you're putting into one reusable vessel versus the cost of all the materials on the packaging labels and all the stuff. So definitely the keg business was a hit because even when you made less money, you made a higher margin. You were more profitable. So, that's unfortunate. I don't know, a lot of these places are, I assume are saying, y'all can work from home. This is actually good for us. Why don't you just keep working there? So, hopefully some of them will reopened, but we...

Keenan Smith: And then the other ones were coffee shops. And we saw a lot of those, I think we had a harder sort of lockdown out west here than a lot of places and we're primarily out west. And so you had coffee shops closed down and that sort of thing. So that's why we doubled down on the retail doors because grocery stores stayed in business. Although, discovery was hard during the lockdowns. You had one, like in my house, we had one family member going and doing the shopping. And that was usually me. And you're not out really perusing the arrows on the floor, telling you, keep it moving and that kind of stuff.

Keenan Smith: So what we did though, and the way that we... So let me just say this, if anyone's still listening to this, when this goes live, if you made it this far, let me tell you this one thing. This is just going to come from a true place. We ran no promotions in 2020. We couldn't afford to. We couldn't afford to run promotions while scaling. We just needed to keep our shirt on. It's amazing to me. And it is the coming from being a broker and being a salesperson that Goodwolf stayed on all these shelves. We did not get discontinued from any retailers, even though they usually require you to do quarterly promotions, run ads, we held strong.

Keenan Smith: So we were just steady. It's not a hockey stick, but we didn't run any promo... We didn't throw any money at it. I know of another beverage brand that's going to do $50 million this year, coffee company. Ready to drink coffee. They're going to spend $60 million to do the $50 million. We can't afford to do that. As you said, we're resource constricted. It's a polite way of putting it. But yeah, we are... So, yeah, so I just think it's a testimony to the brand. The fact that people like it and they continue reordering it. And with the resources we're going to get from this raise, those will be applied, and we will see that increase, the return on that by being able to run more promotions, drive the trial.

Keenan Smith: The one thing we did do, and I forgot to mention this was, although we didn't run any ads, we did double down on Instacart ads. So we have put some thousands of dollars into Instacart, so that for all of people who are shopping from home, if they type in the word kombucha, and my understanding is we're one of the very early adopters of this Instacart promotions. A lot of people aren't doing this and we would pay per click like in a Google ad model. And we would see a nice return. Our return on that investment was like a 2.1 or 2.4. I'll have to get you that information. But yeah, they seemed to think it was a great case study. They sent me the case study on Goodwolf.

Keenan Smith: And we're going to continue doing that, working with Instacart to promote and get our product into people's carts. Because part of that is also when they come back onto the site, and they want to do their grocery shopping again. "So would you like to buy this again" and there's Goodwolf again. So you promote once, and this is different than just being on a grocery store shelf and there's a tag there, two for five. This is, you promoted it, you got into their cart, and then when they come back next week or next month, whenever it is to Instacart. There it is again, Goodwolf, "Would you like to buy it again?" So it's been nice. We've seen a lot of repeat business with that.

Brett Andrews: It's funny you bring them up. I had a conversation today with a CPG company, not in the beverage space, totally different product, but they were telling me that they're super excited about that as well. This is a refrigerated item.

Keenan Smith: Nice.

Brett Andrews: The deliveries direct to consumers is really, really challenging. And they were just saying that they've started to explore it as well. It just seems like it's going to be a massive growth channel for the foreseeable future. So, that's great to hear that you guys are executing on that.

Brett Andrews: Well, last one for me, I just... I think I'd be remiss if I left this out. You mentioned in the presentation, but I just kind of wanted to give you an opportunity to share a little bit more is Goodcalm. Obviously, a new product. I think you shared a little bit about sort of the thoughts around releasing this, but I think from some of the comments we've seen from investors so far, are it seems to be an area of interest for folks. So maybe just, I don't know, give a little bit more background on the product itself. And then if you have any guidance into when it might be released again with no crystal balls. But I think there's some people sort of excited to, it seems like a cool product and I think there's some people excited to try it. So would love to have you share a little bit on that.

Keenan Smith: Yeah. So in my house, so magnesium became a staple item on the grocery shopping list. We're talking milk, eggs, bread, and then the single element, magnesium, we always crack up about that. It's like right off the periodic chart. It's just like, what are you doing buying magnesium. And not in like a vitamin form, it's like literally, it's a powder and we were consuming this. It just became our nightly ritual we take. There's a brand called Natural Calm and it's just not that righteous, our stuff is better. We kind of took the idea, reformulated it. Took the sugar out, added a tiny bit of monk fruit, a little organic beet root for pink color. We call the flavor pink lemonade and it's got some organic citrus and some organic beet, a little organic berry powder. And it basically, you just take it and it comes in a little two ounce jar and it's a very high margin item for us. We're excited about that.

Keenan Smith: We went through a lot of formulations. We got the flavor down now. It's great. And we improved upon what was already, successful the Natural Calm stuff by adding L-theanine and GABA, which are two additionally sort of relaxing amino acids. And so we formulated this and we actually had, if anybody... Again, if anyone makes it this far in this webinar and you're listening to this and you would like some, please email me Keenan@drinkgoodwolf. We have some small batches that we've already produced and they're labeled and they're ready to go. We're just not pushing it yet. So most of the R&D's already been done. What we need now is the capital to push the brand and do the online piece. It is obviously a different arena for us, because we're used to distributors and retailers and all that sort of thing and not so much the direct to consumer business. But we've already started the Amazon store, Amazon seller page. And we got the website up and everything's pretty much ready to go. So anybody that wants samples, I'm happy to send new samples

Brett Andrews: That's great. And actually two really quick follows. One is, will this also be a canned beverage? And I guess two, is it going to be single serve or is it coming in packs as well?

Keenan Smith: Yeah, I guess that is confusing from just what we've talked about so far. So what this is, is a two ounces of powder and there's 20 servings. And so it's this pink powder, almost like Emergen-C, if you've ever taken Emergen-C. It's like a Kool-Aid powder and you take it and you make hot water at night and you put a teaspoon in your cup and you pour it over it and it fizzes up. It gets fizzy and then it settles down and it's like slightly sweet again with monk fruit, no calories, but slightly sweet, relaxing beverage. And also the functionality, I should say, like why? You're drinking magnesium in case anyone's like, what are you talking about?

Keenan Smith: There's a few things. A lot of people are taking vitamin D right now.ⁱ This is the part where compliance is going to have to sift through this. But a lot of people are taking vitamin D right now. Vitamin D needs magnesium, your body needs magnesium to utilize the Vitamin D.ⁱⁱ People are taking it for their immune system. The magnesium at night goes into your body. It does a few things. It relaxes you, it calms you, it helps you sleepⁱⁱⁱ and it helps with bowel movements. So this is going to help keep you regular.^{iv} That kind of goes with our brand. We're selling this gut health tonic by day, and then this relaxing gut calming powder by night. And that's the Goodcalm.

Brett Andrews: Yep. And it goes with the whole Goodwolf theme. By the end of this, you're going to have a whole like Nutrisystem here. So it's really exciting.

Keenan Smith: That's the dream.

Brett Andrews: I'm sorry.

Keenan Smith: That's the dream. That is the goal. Yeah. Goodwolf Feeding. We could, so many ideas.

Brett Andrews: Yeah. You kept it broad for a reason. It sounds like a super exciting product line. And I can't wait to try it myself so. Well, Keenan, this has been great. I really appreciate you taking some time out of your Friday and joining us as you mentioned. I know you're busy with a production run. Real quick before I give you kind of the floor to sign off. Just want to thank everyone who tuned in. You're likely listening to this if you are on the MicroVentures campaign page for Goodwolf. If not, we'd encourage you to check that page out. There's a lot of other information that we put together in conjunction with Keenan and his team. We've got everything from, just a little bit more background on the company. There's some really nice product shots. The traction that they've had so far digs a little deeper into that. The use of funds, which Keenan went through. This pitch deck that Keenan went through as well is also listed there.

Brett Andrews: The terms of the investment. Again, the reason for this webinar in the first place is to just educate perspective the investors who might have an interest in joining the Goodwolf mission. So yeah, we encourage you to check that page out. And then if you do have any questions after this, and maybe if it's not answered on the page, there's a discussion form down at the bottom, Keenan's done a great job responding to those. So if you have any question for him, I'd encourage you to go ahead and ask away right there. To get to that link by the way, the direct URL is invest.microventures.com/offerings/goodwolf-ii. "II" for the second round here. Or you can go to microventures.com, click the Invest tab and scroll down until you see the Goodwolf tombstone and click there.

Brett Andrews: And then of course, if you'd like to be a part of this mission and join in the success of what these guys are building, we'd encourage you to do that as well. If you're already an investor with MicroVentures, then you probably know how the process works. If not, please sign up, it's free to do so. And then you can kind of elect to participate at any level you want. There's perks related to this raise. So if you go down on that same campaign page, you'll see at different levels of investment. There's some other things that Keenan and his team are giving away. So it's really cool stuff. So like I said, I really encourage you to check all that stuff out. But Keenan, before we jump here, any kind of final thoughts you'd like to share, or I guess anywhere else you want to point people towards?

Keenan Smith: No, I think that's it. I do encourage them to go to the page, check out our Instagram @drinkgoodwolf. You can find me on LinkedIn, if you want to friend me on there. And if you have any questions, well, you can do the discussion board on the page, I'm happy to answer. Absolutely any questions you might have. I really appreciate everyone tuning in and I appreciate you, Brett.

Brett Andrews: Yeah, I appreciate you too, Keenan as always. And I guess one, one quick, last thing, if you do want to try the product. I know Keenan offered for the Goodcalm to send some out if anyone wants to reach out to him. But also if you want to actually see if there's a store near you. The website is drinkgoodwolf.com. You can go there and there's a "Find Us" button up at the top and kind of zoom in and see if you're in an area where they're selling it. So definitely would encourage you to go check it out and give it a try. So, well, Keenan, I really appreciate the time again for the second go around. It's always great working with you and we're really excited to see the rest of this race go and follow along the success.

Keenan Smith: Thanks. We're off to a good start. Thanks everyone for tuning in. And please can tribute if you can, and if you cannot share it with your network, that's a big help. Just sharing it. We really appreciate it.

Brett Andrews: Yep. All right, man. Well, I appreciate it. Have a great weekend. We'll talk to you soon.

Keenan Smith: Thanks. You too. Thanks so much. Bye.
