

Form C: Offering Memorandum

(Exhibit A to Form C)

Purpose of This Form

A company that wants to raise money utilizing Regulation Crowdfunding must give certain information to prospective investors to allow investors a basis to formulate an informed investment decision. The Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") has issued regulations at 17 CFR §227.201 listing the information companies are required to provide. Form C is the form used to submit and file this information to the SEC.

Each heading below corresponds directly to a section(s) of the SEC's regulations.

COVID-19 Relief

Investors may cancel an investment commitment for any reason within 48 hours from the time of his or her investment commitment (or such later period as the issuer may designate)

This offering has been launched with financial information that has been certified by the principal executive officer of the issuer instead of financial statements reviewed by a public accountant that is independent of the issuer. This is pursuant to the SEC's temporary COVID-19 regulatory relief as described in Regulation Crowdfunding §227.201(z).

The issuer may close the offering at any time after it has aggregate investment commitments for which the right to cancel pursuant to paragraph (z)(1)(iv)(A) of this section has lapsed that equal or exceed the target offering amount (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment).

If an investor does not cancel an investment commitment within 48 hours from the time of the initial investment commitment, the funds will be released to the issuer upon closing of the offering and the investor will receive securities in exchange for his or her investment.

Description of Company's Business – §227.201(d)

CarStart is a new mobile application platform that allows consumers to purchase roadside assistance, order service and / or repair, and automotive protection plans all at the tap of a button, on-demand, from the convenience of their home or office. The app is free to download, easily navigated and of special note and difference - there are no monthly subscriptions or service fees required. The execution scenario is as follows; once service has been requested on the app, financial transaction is initiated to secure payment, upon verification a licensed and insured mobile Car Specialist is dispatched and attends to the consumer needs on site. Most services that can be performed in a standard brick & mortar service location can be handled in a mobile capacity by our trained specialists. Roadside assistance individuates us from our competitors, which is why we will focus on launching with this component of the business. The mobile application was built like Uber; therefore, consumers pay as they go or only when they require our services. All Car Specialists will be responsible for procuring their own company service van and providing tools and supplies. CarStart Specialists are given 80% of the gross revenue and the remaining 20% is withheld by CarStart. Our key focus in 2020 will be to gain brand recognition in the DFW Metroplex and to develop trust with consumers all while growing the business. Long-term will be to take the DFW model and expand into additional markets, with the final goal being nationwide brand distribution.

Risks & Disclosures – §227.201(f)

Required Statement

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. You should not invest any funds in this offering unless you can afford to lose your entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

General Risk

Investing in early stage companies without a proven track record of performance or sound liquidity such as CarStart, Inc. (the “Company”) is highly speculative in nature and presents significant risk to you, as the investor. In short, you may lose your entire investment. Prior to investing, you need to thoroughly research and understand all potential risk associated with investing in the Company. Until the Company has achieved profitability and is without need of raising additional capital, the chance of you losing your entire investment remains likely. Therefore, you should not invest more than you are willing to comfortably lose. Like the Company, many companies engaging in crowd funding are early stage start-ups with a high likelihood of failure due to various factors contained in these risk disclosures. Regardless of future revenue and/or profitability performance, good and bad, there is no guarantee that you will ever see a return on your investment, or that you will ever be in a place to exit your investment for a profit or a loss.

As with all investments, you should proceed with caution, do your own research, due diligence, and seek professional investment advice prior to investing. A professional adviser may identify and alert you to risk not covered in these disclosures. The realization of any of the risks contained herein or unknown risks not disclosed could lead to an immediate need for the Company to raise additional capital, make difficult and unpopular operational decisions, or cease operations altogether. You understand that in the event you lose your entire investment you may have limited or no recourse against the Company.

Dilution

The Company plans to raise more capital in the future with possibly more than one round of funding. Dependent upon the offering, new investors may receive additional equity shares in the Company and existing shareholders may experience a decrease in ownership percentage (dilution) upon the issuance of new shares by the Company, possibly at a lower price. Future offerings may provide the new investors with advantages not available to you as a previous investor.

Economic Risk

The Company's success is extremely sensitive to various known and unknown internal and external societal, regulatory, and economic factors. These factors may impact the performance of the Company and its ability to achieve stated objectives.

Known factors include, but are not limited to:

- Local, regional, national, or global economic recessions.
- Changes in capital market conditions and the Company's ability to obtain future funding.
- Changes or declines in employment within the Company and outside the Company.
- Domestic or international tax policy changes.
- Domestic and global political conditions.
- Wars, natural disasters and other potential crisis.

Unknown factors include ones undisclosed herein that have a high likelihood of occurring without forewarning or knowledge thereof. Such events could lead to a sudden and intense need for the Company to raise additional capital, make difficult and unpopular operational decisions, or cease operations.

Competitive Risk

The market in which the Company operates is highly competitive and is likely to become increasingly competitive in the future. The Company may ultimately face declining sales, decreased revenue or smaller margins as a direct result of competition in the marketplace. Changes in customer preference or the inability to successfully compete with other companies offering a similar product or service could negatively impact the Company's financial performance.

Loans

If funds in excess of those raised are needed by the Company, the Company retains the right to obtain a loan or additional debt, the repayment of which will take priority over the payment of dividends, revenue sharing returns and prior debt offerings to investors.

Offering Price

The price of the Company's stock has been arbitrarily established by the Company, considering such matters as the state of the Company's business development and the general condition of the industry in which it operates. The offering price bears little relationship to the assets, net worth, or any other objective criteria of value applicable to the Company.

Capital Risk

The Company requires ongoing intensive capital formation and allocation until profitability is achieved which may not happen due to various internal and external known and unknown factors. The amount of capital the Company is attempting to raise in this offering will not be enough to sustain its business operations to profitability. The Company will have to raise additional capital to continue development and fund operations and expansion. There is no guarantee that additional capital will be able to be raised by the Company even if this raise is successful. If the Company is unable to acquire additional capital it may be required to alter its business plan, business strategy, sell assets, reduce workforce, restructure under the protections of a bankruptcy filing, or cease operations and dissolve. Under such scenarios, no return of capital, shareholder settlement or refund would be issued to investors. The Company's inability to secure future capital could adversely impact the business, its valuation, and/or the value of shareholder securities.

Risk of Limited Operating History

The Company is a newly established entity that lacks a substantial operating history. Prospective investors will have limited information on which to base their investment decision.

Rolling Close Risk

The Company's offering may involve "Rolling Closes". In such cases, once the target amount of the offering has been met investors with accepted subscription agreements become the Company's investors. Should a material change occur after the closing, you will no longer have the right to withdraw from the offering, regardless of such material change.

Financial Condition of the Issuer §227.201(s)

Does the issuer have an operating history? Yes

Historical Financial Highlights:

CarStart is still a very new and young company. When we founded our company two years ago, we started doing fleet services for commercial accounts. We quickly learned that we had a business model here, but that we did not want to pursue "commercial" accounts any longer. So, at the beginning of 2019, we partnered with KiwiTech to build the first Uber style, on-demand mobile app, that allows you to pay as you go for Roadside Assistance, Service, & Repair. So basically we spent all of 2019 focused 100% on the design & build of our new mobile app., and basically started over, focusing entirely on the consumer industry. Yes, this has caused a "stall" on our growth over the past year, but we have since we just launched our new app in January and spent over $150,000 building over the last 10 months, it is time to throw a bunch of marketing and traction at it and relaunch our brand and vision.

From what we have learned by this industry, is that it appears that our net income runs about 20% of our gross revenue. The reason it does so, is because our mechanics are independent operators. They reap the benefits of the work that they provide. The harder they work, the more money they make. So, after their share of proceeds is credited back to their account, CarStart corporate retains the remaining 20% and uses those funds for growth and expansion of the brand.

The main difference from what we are doing today, from what we did yesterday, is we are shifting the money and focus from "sales people," to marketing. We are driving individuals to our mobile app. and currently have eliminated the need for sales people.

Financial Projections:

CarStart has one partner who has helped and will continue to help with our IT buildouts. Collaboratively we have over $150,000 invested to date. We also have several LARGE investors who are ready to invest in our company and our brand once we get our revenue numbers to a certain point. Hopefully, we will have the traction and revenue there by the end of 2020. This is where YOU and Fundopolis comes in. We're trying to get over that final, last leg of our vision.

For 2020, if we JUST raise $100,000, and infuse that money into our current marketing budget, we should generate about $650,000 in revenue. However, if we decide to raise $1,000,000, then we will infuse 60% of that into our current marketing budget and will expect to see upwards towards $4,000,000 or $5,000,000.

CarStart's current business model, is to raise $1,000,000 in 2020, another $6,000,000 by year end of 2021, and another $15,000,000 by of 2022, depending on the number of rounds and investors received.

By the end of year 5 we fully anticipate that our gross revenue will be upwards of $125,000,000, with net profits of around $25,000,000
