A single deal can involve several parties: the general partner (GP), limited partners (LP), contractors, lenders, appraisers, attorneys and more. The most critical player, though, is the deal's "sponsor". In commercial real estate, the term "sponsor" is used to reference to the individual or company that effectively quarterbacks or leads the project from conception through completion. RISK FACTORS

General

The Company will be taking advantage of temporary rules that relax some of the requirements for a crowdfunding offering.

In March 2020, the SEC passed a Temporary Final Rule intended to assist small businesses with capital raising in the Regulation Crowdfunding market due to the COVID-19 pandemic and relaxed or modified some rules for offerings initiated through February 28, 2021 (As extended in August 2020.). This offering is taking advantage of some or all of these relaxed rules which may create additional risks for investors.

The Company's financials have not been reviewed by an independent third party.

Pursuant to SEC Rule §227.201(z)(2) the Company has submitted financials for this Offering that have not been reviewed by an independent third party and are only certified by a principal of the Company which creates additional risks related to financial statements.

The Company may choose to close the Offering as soon as the target fundraising amount is met.

Pursuant to SEC Rule §227.201(z)(1)(iv)(C) the Company may close the Offering sooner than the required 21 days should the target fundraising amount be met early. While investors will be notified in advance if the offering is closed early, this creates additional risks for investors by not allowing additional time to fully assess the transaction.

Investors may only cancel their commitment to invest during the first 48 hours after such commitment.

Pursuant to SEC Rule §227.201(z)(1)(iv)(D) the Company may limit investor cancellations after 48 hours following their commitment unless there is a material change in the Offering. This increases risk for investors as they will be fully committed to the Offering 48 hours after their initial commitment.

Risks Related to the Company's Business and Industry

We are subject to income taxes as well as non-income based taxes, such as payroll, sales, use, value-added, net worth, property and goods and services taxes, in the U.S..

Significant judgment is required in determining our provision for income taxes and other tax liabilities. In the ordinary course of our business, there are many transactions and calculations where the ultimate tax determination is uncertain. Although we believe that our tax estimates are reasonable: (i) there is no assurance that the final determination of tax audits or tax disputes will not be different from what is reflected in our income tax provisions, expense amounts for non-income based taxes and accruals and (ii) any material differences could have an adverse effect on our financial position and results of operations in the period or periods for which determination is made.

Changes in employment laws or regulation could harm our performance.

Various federal and state labor laws govern our relationship with our employees and affect operating costs. These laws include minimum wage requirements, overtime pay, healthcare reform and the implementation of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, unemployment tax rates, workers' compensation rates, citizenship requirements, union membership and sales taxes. A number of factors could adversely affect our operating results, including additional government-imposed increases in minimum wages, overtime pay, paid leaves of absence and mandated health benefits, mandated training for employees, increased tax reporting and tax payment [requirements for employees who receive tips, a reduction in the number of states that allow tips to be credited toward minimum wage requirements,] changing regulations from the National Labor Relations Board and increased employee litigation including claims relating to the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The Company's success depends on the experience and skill of the board of directors, its executive officers and key employees.

In particular, the Company is dependent on Frederic Richardson who is President of the Company. The Company has or intends to enter into employment agreements with Frederic Richardson although there can be no assurance that it will do so or that they will continue to be employed by the Company for a particular period of time. The loss of Frederic Richardson or any member of the board of directors or executive officer could harm the Company's business and results of operations.

Investors in the Company's properties may finance their acquisition with mortgage financing.

Property demand is adversely affected by reduced availability of mortgage financing and factors that increase the upfront or monthly cost of financing a home such as increases in interest rates, insurance premiums, or limitations on mortgage interest deductibility. The recent decrease in the willingness and ability of lenders to make home mortgage loans, the tightening of lending standards, greater down payment requirements and the limitation of financing product options, have made it more difficult for homebuyers to obtain acceptable financing. Any substantial increase in short-term and/or long-term mortgage interest rates or unavailability of mortgage financing may adversely affect the ability of prospective buyers to obtain financing for the Company's properties, as well as adversely affect the ability of prospective homebuyers to sell their current homes. A disruption in the credit markets and/or the curtailed availability of mortgage financing may adversely affect our business and results of operations.

Failure to attract and retain qualified personnel at a reasonable cost could jeopardize our competitive position.

As our industry is characterized by high demand and intense competition for talent, we may need to offer higher compensation and other benefits in order to attract and retain quality sales, technical and other operational personnel in the future. We compete with other companies engaged in real estate services for qualified personnel. We have, from time to time in the past, experienced, and we expect in the future to continue to experience, difficulty in hiring and retaining highly skilled employees with appropriate qualifications. We must hire and train qualified managerial and other employees on a timely basis to keep pace with our rapid growth while maintaining consistent quality of services across our operations in various geographic locations. We must provide continued training to our managerial and other employees so that they are equipped with up-to-date knowledge of various aspects of our operations and can meet our demand for high-quality services. If we fail to do so, the quality of our services may decline. We cannot assure you we will be able to attract or retain the quality personnel that we need to achieve our business objectives.

Competition could limit our ability to operate our business profitably.

Our business will compete with other similarly situated and better capitalized competitors to attract residents/tenants/customers/purchasers. Our competitors' properties may be better quality, in a more desirable location or have leasing terms more favorable than we can provide. In addition, our ability to compete and generate favorable returns depends upon, among other factors, trends of the national and local economies, the financial condition and liquidity of current and prospective renters, availability and cost of capital, taxes and governmental regulations. Given our significant competition, we cannot assure you that it will be successful in developing/acquiring/managing our properties or in generating favorable returns, which would materially and adversely affect our business and results of operations.

The former decline in economic conditions and disruptions to markets could cause us to suffer operating losses, adversely affect our liquidity, and create other business problems for us.

The global and U.S. economies experienced significant declines in 2008 and 2009 from which they have not fully recovered. The real estate and other markets suffered unprecedented disruptions, causing many major institutions to fail or require government intervention to avoid failure, which placed severe pressure on liquidity and asset values. These conditions were brought about largely by the erosion of U.S. and global credit markets, including a significant and rapid deterioration of the mortgage lending and related real estate markets. While there have been indications of a partial recovery we could experience significant losses, resulting primarily from significant provisions for credit losses and impairment charges resulting in substantial decreases in the net carrying value of our assets as a consequence of the difficult economic environment. Economic conditions or the real estate and other markets generally may not fully recover in the near term, in which case we could experience losses and write-downs of assets, and could face capital and liquidity constraints and other business challenges.

Our business operations are susceptible to, and could be significantly affected by, adverse weather conditions and natural disasters that could cause significant damage to our properties.

Although we intend to obtain insurance for our properties, our insurance may not be adequate to cover business interruption or losses resulting from adverse weather or natural disasters. In addition, our insurance policies may include substantial self-insurance portions and significant deductibles and co-payments for such events, and recent hurricanes in the United States have affected the availability and price of such insurance. As a result, we may incur significant costs in the event of adverse weather conditions and natural disasters. If we experience a loss that is uninsured or which exceeds our policy limits, we could incur significant costs and lose the capital invested in the damaged properties, as well as the anticipated future cash flows from those properties. In addition, if the damaged properties are subject to recourse indebtedness, we would continue to be liable for the indebtedness, even if these properties were irreparably damaged. In addition, certain of our properties may not be able to be rebuilt to their existing height or size at their existing location under current land-use laws and policies. In the event that we experience a substantial or comprehensive loss of one of our properties, we may not be able to rebuild such property to its existing specifications and otherwise may have to upgrade such property to meet current code requirements.

General economic conditions could have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

Our business is sensitive to general economic conditions, both nationally and locally, as well as international economic conditions. General poor economic conditions and the resulting effect of non-existent or slow rates of growth in the markets in which we operate could have an adverse effect on the demand for our real estate business. These poor economic conditions include higher unemployment, inflation, deflation, increased commodity costs, decreases in consumer demand, changes in buying patterns, a weakened dollar, higher transportation and fuel costs, higher consumer debt levels, higher tax rates and other changes in tax laws or other economic factors that may affect commercial and residential real estate. Specifically, high national or regional unemployment may arrest or delay any significant recovery of the residential real estate markets in which we operate, which could adversely affect the demand for our real estate assets.

If the recoverable values of our inventory of real estate assets were to drop below the book value of those properties, we would be required to write-down the book value of those properties, which would have an adverse effect on our balance sheet and our earnings.

If the market values of our commercial properties, home sites, our remaining inventory of completed homes and other developed real estate assets were to drop below the book value of those properties, we would be required to write-down the book value of those properties, which would have an adverse effect on our balance sheet and our earnings.

We have subdivided and developed parcels with infrastructure improvements and also constructed a golf course and clubhouse, which required significant capital expenditures. Many of these costs are capitalized as part of the book value of the land development. Adverse market conditions, in certain circumstances, may require the book value of the real estate assets to be decreased, often referred to as a "write-down" or "impairment." A write-down of an asset would decrease the value of the asset on our balance sheet and would reduce our earnings for the period in which the write-down is recorded.

We do not carry property insurance.

We will bear the burden of any losses or damage to the property, which may adversely affect our business and results of operations.

The sale of the Property has not been consummated and our investment in the Property has not been finalized.

Although the seller has executed an agreement to sell the Property to the new owner/operator, the transaction has not closed and may fail to do so for a number of unforeseen reasons. If the sale does not take place, our investment in the new owner/operator of the Property will not be accepted and the proceeds from this Offering will be returned to potential investors without interest.

Market Fluctuations in Rental Rates and Occupancy Could Adversely Affect Our Operations.

As leases turn over, our ability to re-lease the space to existing or new tenants at rates equal to or greater than those realized historically may be impacted by, among other things, the economic conditions of the market in which a property is located, the availability of competing space (including sublease space offered by tenants who have vacated space in competing buildings prior to the expiration of their lease term), and the level of improvements which may be required at the property. We cannot be assured that the rental rates we obtain in the future will be equal to or greater than those obtained under existing contractual commitments. If we cannot lease all or substantially all of the expiring space at our properties promptly, or if the rental rates are significantly lower than expected, then our results of operations could be negatively impacted.

Our failure to effectively develop and operate mixed-use properties could have an adverse effect on us, including our cash flows, results of operations and growth prospects.

Our business strategy depends significantly on our ability to leverage our extensive experience in completing and operating large, complex, mixed-use public/private projects. Our revenues depend significantly on our ability to develop and manage properties with both commercial and residential aspects and to integrate the two in a seamless ecosystem. In addition, we must attract and partner with state and local government agencies to undertake public/private development projects with us. Our ability to obtain new work depends on successful prior and existing projects. If we fail to maintain a track record of success, it could have a material adverse effect on our growth prospects.

We may obtain only limited warranties when we purchase a property and would have only limited recourse in the event our due diligence did not identify any issues that lower the value of our property.

The seller of a property often sells such property in its "as is" condition on a "where is" basis and "with all faults" without any warranties of merchantability or fitness for a particular use or purpose. In addition, purchase and sale agreements may contain only limited warranties, representations and indemnifications that will only survive for a limited period after the closing. The purchase of properties with limited warranties increases the risk that we may lose some or all of our invested capital in the property, as well as the loss of rental revenue from that property, which could negatively affect our business and the value of your investment.

We did not obtain any audited income statements with respect to the Property.

Our management team has limited experience in our industry and has not faced the risks and challenges specific to our business.

Members of our management team may make decisions detrimental to our business and/or be unable to successfully manage our operations. The inadequate management of our business will have a negative effect on our results of operations.

To date, we have not generated revenue and do not foresee generating any revenue in the near future.

We are a startup Company and our business model currently focuses on fill in focus and cash requirements rather than generating revenue. While we intend to generate revenue in the future, we cannot assure you when or if we will be successful in doing so. We rely on external financing to fund our operations. We anticipate, based on our current proposed plans and assumptions relating to our operations (including the timetable of, and costs associated with our business) that, if the Minimum Amount is raised in this Offering, it will be sufficient to satisfy our contemplated cash requirements through approximately October 10, 2020 assuming that we do not accelerate the development of other opportunities available to us, engage in an extraordinary transaction or otherwise face unexpected events, costs or contingencies, any of which could affect our cash requirements.

We may face potential difficulties in obtaining capital.

We may have difficulty raising needed capital in the future as a result of, among other factors, our lack of a long track record, our limited number of properties, as well as the inherent business risks associated with our company and present and future market conditions. Our business currently does not generate any sales and future sources of revenue may not be sufficient to meet our future capital requirements. We will require additional funds to execute our business strategy and conduct our operations. If adequate funds are unavailable, we may be required to delay, reduce the scope of or eliminate one or more of our property acquisitions, developments, renovations or marketing efforts, any of which may materially harm our business and results of operations.

The Property has no operating history upon which you can evaluate our performance, and accordingly, our prospects must be considered in light of the risks that any new company encounters.

[The Property has generated no revenue since the date of our inception]. Accordingly, the Property has no history upon which an evaluation of our prospects and future performance can be made. Our proposed operations are subject to all business risks associated with new enterprises. The likelihood of our creation of a viable business must be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications, and delays frequently encountered in connection with the inception of a business, operation in a competitive industry[, and the continued development of advertising, promotions, and a corresponding client base]. There can be no assurances that we will ever operate profitably. You should consider the Company's business, operations and prospects in light of the risks, expenses and challenges faced as an early-stage company.

We fail to find tax-motivated investors for our project in QOZ.

Risks Related to the Securities

The Securities will not be freely tradable until one year from the initial purchase date. Although the Securities may be tradable under federal securities law, state securities regulations may apply and each Purchaser should consult with his or her attorney.

You should be aware of the long-term nature of this investment. There is not now and likely will not be a public market for the Securities. Because the Securities have not been registered under the Securities Act or under the securities laws of any state or non-United States jurisdiction, the Securities have transfer restrictions and cannot be resold in the United States except pursuant to Rule 501 of Regulation CF. It is not currently contemplated that registration under the Securities Act or other securities laws will be effected. Limitations on the transfer of the Securities may also adversely affect the price that you might be able to obtain for the Securities in a private sale. Purchasers should be aware of the long-term nature of their investment in the Company. Each Purchaser in this Offering will be required to represent that it is purchasing the Securities for its own account, for investment purposes and not with a view to resale or distribution thereof.

Neither the Offering nor the Securities have been registered under federal or state securities laws, leading to an absence of certain regulation applicable to the Company.

No governmental agency has reviewed or passed upon this Offering, the Company or any Securities of the Company. The Company also has relied on exemptions from securities registration requirements under applicable state securities laws. Investors in the Company, therefore, will not receive any of the benefits that such registration would otherwise provide. Prospective investors must therefore assess the adequacy of disclosure and the fairness of the terms of this Offering on their own or in conjunction with their personal advisors.

No Guarantee of Return on Investment

There is no assurance that a Purchaser will realize a return on its investment or that it will not lose its entire investment. For this reason, each Purchaser should read the Form C and all Exhibits carefully and should consult with its own attorney and business advisor prior to making any investment decision.

A majority of the Company is owned by a small number of owners.

Prior to the Offering the Company's current owners of 20% or more beneficially own up to 50.0% of the Company. Subject to any fiduciary duties owed to our other owners or investors under Maryland law, these owners may be able to exercise significant influence over matters requiring owner approval, including the election of directors or managers and approval of significant Company transactions, and will have significant control over the Company's management and policies. Some of these persons may have interests that are different from yours. For example, these owners may support proposals and actions with which you may disagree. The concentration of ownership could delay or prevent a change in control of the Company or otherwise discourage a potential acquirer from attempting to obtain control of the Company, which in turn could reduce the price potential investors are willing to pay for the Company. In addition, these owners could use their voting influence to maintain the Company's existing management, delay or prevent changes in control of the Company, or support or reject other management and board proposals that are subject to owner approval.

The Company has the right to extend the Offering deadline.

The Company may extend the Offering deadline beyond what is currently stated herein. This means that your investment may continue to be held in escrow while the Company attempts to raise the Minimum Amount even after the Offering deadline stated herein is reached. Your investment will not be accruing interest during this time and will simply be held until such time as the new Offering deadline is reached without the Company receiving the Minimum Amount, at which time it will be returned to you without interest or deduction, or the Company receives the Minimum Amount, at which time it will be released to the Company to be used as set forth herein. Upon or shortly after release of such funds to the Company, the Securities will be issued and distributed to you.

There is no present market for the Securities and we have arbitrarily set the price.

We have arbitrarily set the price of the Securities with reference to the general status of the securities market and other relevant factors. The Offering price for the Securities should not be considered an indication of the actual value of the Securities and is not based on our net worth or prior earnings. We cannot assure you that the Securities could be resold by you at the Offering price or at any other price.

Your ownership of the shares of stock will be subject to dilution.

Owners of do not have preemptive rights. If the Company conducts subsequent Offerings of or Securities convertible into , issues shares pursuant to a compensation or distribution reinvestment plan or otherwise issues additional shares, investors who purchase shares in this Offering who do not participate in those other stock issuances will experience dilution in their percentage ownership of the Company's outstanding shares. Furthermore, shareholders may experience a dilution in the value of their shares depending on the terms and pricing of any future share issuances (including the shares being sold in this Offering) and the value of the Company's assets at the time of issuance.

The Securities will be equity interests in the Company and will not constitute indebtedness.

The Securities will rank junior to all existing and future indebtedness and other non-equity claims on the Company with respect to assets available to satisfy claims on the Company, including in a liquidation of the Company. Additionally, unlike indebtedness, for which principal and interest would customarily be payable on specified due dates, there will be no specified payments of dividends with respect to the Securities and dividends are payable only if, when and as authorized and declared by the Company and depend on, among other matters, the Company's historical and projected results of operations, liquidity, cash flows, capital levels, financial condition, debt service requirements and other cash needs, financing covenants, applicable state law, federal and state regulatory prohibitions and other restrictions and any other factors the Company's board of directors deems relevant at the time. In addition, the terms of the Securities will not limit the amount of debt or other obligations the Company may incur in the future. Accordingly, the Company may incur substantial amounts of additional debt and other obligations that will rank senior to the Securities.

There can be no assurance that we will ever provide liquidity to Purchasers through either a sale of the Company or a registration of the Securities.

There can be no assurance that any form of merger, combination, or sale of the Company will take place, or that any merger, combination, or sale would provide liquidity for Purchasers. Furthermore, we may be unable to register the Securities for resale by Purchasers for legal, commercial, regulatory, market-related or other reasons. In the event that we are unable to effect a registration, Purchasers could be unable to sell their Securities unless an exemption from registration is available.

The Company does not anticipate paying any cash dividends for the foreseeable future.

The Company currently intends to retain future earnings, if any, for the foreseeable future, to repay indebtedness and to support its business. The Company does not intend in the foreseeable future to pay any dividends to holders of its shares of .

In addition to the risks listed above, businesses are often subject to risks not foreseen or fully appreciated by the management. It is not possible to foresee all risks that may affect us. Moreover, the Company cannot predict whether the Company will successfully effectuate the Company's current business plan. Each prospective Purchaser is encouraged to carefully analyze the risks and merits of an investment in the Securities and should take into consideration when making such analysis, among other, the Risk Factors discussed above.

THE SECURITIES OFFERED INVOLVE A HIGH DEGREE OF RISK AND MAY RESULT IN THE LOSS OF YOUR ENTIRE INVESTMENT. ANY PERSON CONSIDERING THE PURCHASE OF THESE SECURITIES SHOULD BE AWARE OF THESE AND OTHER FACTORS SET FORTH IN THIS FORM C AND SHOULD CONSULT WITH HIS OR HER LEGAL, TAX AND FINANCIAL ADVISORS PRIOR TO MAKING AN INVESTMENT IN THE SECURITIES. THE SECURITIES SHOULD ONLY BE PURCHASED BY PERSONS WHO CAN AFFORD TO LOSE ALL OF THEIR INVESTMENT.

BUSINESS

Description of the Business

Sponsor puts real estate deals together where it may or may not own an interest in real property. A single deal can involve several parties: the general partner (GP), limited partners (LP), contractors, lenders, appraisers, attorneys and more. The most critical player, though, is the deal's "sponsor". In commercial real estate, the term "sponsor" is used to reference to the individual or company that effectively quarterbacks or leads the project from conception through completion. They aggregate capital and earn fees for managing operations.

Business Plan

The Company/Sponsor provides professional services including but not limited to, providing management consulting, technology, and outsourcing services to clients across a broad range of industries to help protect and preserve capital gains. We operate throughout the U.S drawing on a combination of industry and functional expertise, technology capabilities, and alliances, and our delivery resources, we seek to provide differentiated services that help our clients measurably improve their business performance and create sustainable returns and protect investors capital from the risk of performance and taxes. Achieve specific business outcomes and enhance shareholder value by ensuring the success of the operation probable. We bring together our capabilities in business strategy, technology strategy, and operations/functional strategy with the help of senior management teams from various tax and real estate consulting firms. As a Sponsor that puts real estate deals together the company's objective is to limit risk and improve yield. As a sponsor our objective always lines up with the investor whether or not we own an interest in real property. A single deal can involve several parties: the general partner (GP), limited partners (LP), contractors, lenders, appraisers, attorneys, and more. The most critical player, though, is the deal's "sponsor". In commercial real estate, the term "sponsor" is used to reference to the individual or company that effectively quarterbacks or leads the project from conception through completion. They are the owners of the property, responsible for all aspects of the transaction and on-going operations. They're also the one aggregating capital and signing their name on all related loan documents. A sponsor is the person or team that leads a commercial real estate project on behalf of the equity investors. The sponsor can be a General Partner (GP), or sell the lead role to another investor. The rest of the investors are Limited Partners (LPs). As a result, LP investors also have limited liability – meaning their potential loss in a downside scenario is limited to the amount of their investment. A sponsor's role starts early in a deal. It can be several months or up to a year before investors get involved and the sponsor exists the deal. The sponsor often finds the deal, whether on or off-market. The sponsor then negotiates the terms of the purchase and sale agreement. They'll prepare investor marketing materials and assemble the equity capital and debt financing needed to acquire (and later, renovate) the property. The sponsor also oversees all pre-acquisition activities, including all due diligence (such as engaging specialists to provide third party reports and reviewing existing financial information, among other things). Because of all the work that goes into evaluating, underwriting and preparing a deal for acquisition, sponsors will take an acquisition fee to cover related costs (and compensate them for this work, which they do even when a deal falls through). This can generate double digit returns on their initial investment. Following acquisition, the sponsor then oversees operations and management of the property, including any planned renovations, leasing and maintenance. Depending on the size of a project, the sponsor may hire a third-party property manager to handle day-to-day management, but the sponsor will still oversee the entire process to ensure the deal's objectives are being met and will get paid an over-ride on operational fees. At the end of the day, the sponsor is solely responsible for all aspects of the project. Throughout the project, the sponsor is responsible for all financial reporting, which is usually shared with investors in the form of a quarterly letter. They'll submit draw down requests to the lender, make payments to investors in accordance with the operating agreement, and engage accountants to prepare and distribute K-1s during tax season. Lastly, the sponsor will arrange for the refinance or disposition of the property at the end of the investment period. Sponsors make money in a few different ways. First, and as noted above, they'll often take an acquisition fee for lining up and conducting all due diligence on a transaction. Most sponsors will also directly invest in a deal, just like the LPs, though not to the same extent. Sponsors generally put about 5-10% (sometimes as much as 20%) of the equity into the deal. The equity capital comes from the LP investors and Sponsor. A project's entire capitalization is the sum of GP equity, LP equity and bank debt. A promote structure with a preferred return to LPs is usually the way deals are structured. In other words, the sponsor will be entitled to a percentage of total returns or performance above a certain threshold to LPs. In addition sponsors will also take some sort of annual asset management fee in connection with the project.

Airo Capital Management

About

Airo Capital Management a Qualified Opportunity Zone Sponsor

Airo Capital Management, Inc.(AIRO) is an innovative and entrepreneurial firm delivering quality diversified investment opportunities in the QOZ market.

This Company/Sponsor provides professional services including but not limited to, providing management consulting, technology, and outsourcing services to clients across a broad range of industries to help protect and preserve capital gains. We operate throughout the U.S drawing on a combination of industry and functional expertise, technology capabilities, and alliances, and our delivery resources, we seek to provide differentiated services that help our clients measurably improve their business performance and create sustainable returns and protect investors capital from the risk of performance and taxes. Achieve specific business outcomes and enhance shareholder value by ensuring the success of the operation probably.

We bring together our capabilities in business strategy, technology strategy, and operations/functional strategy with the help of senior management teams from various tax and real estate consulting firms. As a Sponsor that puts real estate deals together the company's objective is to limit risk and improve yield. A SPONSOR our objective always lines up with the investor whether or not we own an interest in real property. A single deal can involve several parties: the general partner (GP), limited partners (LP), contractors, lenders, appraisers, attorneys, and more. The most critical player, though, is the deal's "sponsor". In commercial real estate, the term "sponsor" is used to refer to the individual or company that effectively quarterbacks or leads the project from conception through completion. They are the owners of the property, responsible for all aspects of the transaction and on-going operations. They're also the one aggregating capital and signing their name on all related loan documents. A sponsor is a person or team that leads a commercial real estate project on behalf of the equity investors. The sponsor can be a General Partner (GP), or sell the lead role to another investor. The rest of the investors are Limited Partners (LPs). As a result, LP investors also have limited liability – meaning their potential loss in a downside scenario is limited to the amount of their investment. A sponsor's role starts early in a deal. It can be several months or up to a year before investors get involved and the sponsor exists the deal. The sponsor often finds the deal, whether on or off-market. The sponsor then negotiates the terms of the purchase and sale agreement.

They'll prepare investor marketing materials and assemble the equity capital and debt financing needed to acquire (and later, renovate) the property. The sponsor also oversees all pre-acquisition activities, including all due diligence (such as engaging specialists to provide third party reports and reviewing existing financial information, among other things). Because of all the work that goes into evaluating, underwriting, and preparing a deal for acquisition, sponsors will take an acquisition fee to cover related costs (and compensate them for this work, which they do even when a deal falls through). This can generate double-digit returns on their initial investment. Following the acquisition, the sponsor then oversees operations and management of the property, including any planned renovations, leasing, and maintenance.

Depending on the size of a project, the sponsor may hire a third-party property manager to handle day-to-day management, but the sponsor will still oversee the entire process to ensure the deal's objectives are being met and will get paid an override on operational fees. At the end of the day, the sponsor is solely responsible for all aspects of the project. Throughout the project, the sponsor is responsible for all financial reporting, which is usually shared with investors in the form of a quarterly letter. They'll submit drawdown requests to the lender, make payments to investors in accordance with the operating agreement, and engage accountants to prepare and distribute K-1s during tax season. Lastly, the sponsor will arrange for the refinance or disposition of the property at the end of the investment period. Sponsors make money in a few different ways.

First, and as noted above, they'll often take an acquisition fee for lining up and conducting all due diligence on a transaction. Most sponsors will also directly invest in a deal, just like the LPs, though not to the same extent. Sponsors generally put about 5-10% (sometimes as much as 20%) of the equity into the deal. The equity capital comes from the LP investors and Sponsor. A project's entire capitalization is the sum of GP equity, LP equity, and bank debt. A promote structure with a preferred return to LPs is usually the way deals are structured. In other words, the sponsor will be entitled to a percentage of total returns or performance above a certain threshold to LPs. In addition, sponsors will also take some sort of annual asset management fee in connection with the project.
