...and a diverse educational experience at Central Catholic High School. I was in business and sociology classes gaining an understanding of how to develop organizations for a purpose. During my sophomore year, I joined the Net Impact sustainability club. Around the same time, I had some friends in my advertising class who were working on very creative projects meant to motivate and inspire. Advertising classes were based on group projects where we turned into a concept, and then how to distribute your message. I was a major in Advertising and had a great experience, especially in sales, and presentation classes. Rest in Peace Ma
