Offering Statement

Respond to each question in each paragraph of this part. Set forth each question and any notes, but not any instructions thereto, in their entirety. If disclosure in response to any question is responsive to one or more other questions, it is not necessary to repeat the disclosure. If a question or series of questions is inapplicable or the response is available elsewhere in the Form, either state that it is inapplicable, include a cross-reference to the responsive disclosure, or omit the question or series of questions.

Be very careful and precise in answering all questions. Give full and complete answers so that they are not misleading under the circumstances involved. Do not discuss any future performance or other anticipated event unless you have a reasonable basis to believe that it will actually occur within the foreseeable future. If any answer requiring significant information is materially inaccurate, incomplete or misleading, the Company, its management and principal shareholders may be liable to investors based on that information.

RISK FACTORS

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. You should not invest any funds in this offering unless you can afford to lose your entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky:

This is a very young company.

The company was incorporated on September 15, 2020. It is a startup company that has not yet started operations, and has not started full operations. There is no history upon which an evaluation of its past performance and future prospects can be made. Thoroughbred racing is an intensely competitive activity, and we will be competing with persons who have significantly greater experience and financial resources than we do. There can be no assurance that we will be successful in our endeavors.

The company's performance is entirely dependent upon the performance and sale of the horses that are purchased or bred by the Company.

The company's sole source of revenues will be derived from the performance and value created by the Horse. The company may receive winnings resulting from the performance of the Horse in races, or profits from the sale of racehorse. The company may potentially be able to charge stud fees if the Horse is successful enough. All of these payments will be received net of commissions. If the Horse does not perform well, the company may receive no revenues, and yet still be responsible for the upkeep expenses. Since a horse's performance is affected by the skill of its trainer and jockey, the decisions made by management with respect to the choice of trainer, jockey and the races in which the horses are entered will affect whether the company can initially generate any revenue. Investors will have no input into these decisions.

Valuation of the Horse.

The company will not obtain 3rd party appraisals after every race or milestone achieved. In the event of future offerings, the company may and likely will revise the valuation of the horse without guidance from a 3rd party appraisal based on several factors including performance on the track, performance while in training, races the horse may be pointed to, 3rd party offers for a horse, among other things. The value of a horse can change dramatically day to day because of performance, injury, or sickness. The value ascribed to a horse by the company or by a 3rd party appraiser may be significantly different than the actual value and should be considered before making an investment.

The company will be required to pay trainer fees and other outgoings with respect to the horse whether or not the horse wins any races.

We anticipate entering into customary contracts with trainers. Under these contracts, we will be required to pay for the upkeep of the horse, regardless of the horse's success. The company will thus be subject to significant expenses, which the revenues received may not offset. We will also be required to pay K&G fees for management of the company's operations. We may ultimately pay more in expenses than we receive in revenues.

The cost of racing is unpredictable and speculative and may negatively impact the company's ability to generate revenue.

The company will be subject to increases in operation costs, labor rates and other variable costs, such as costs of feed and grain and costs of transporting animals (all of which are subject to inflationary pressure and should be expected to increase), to an extent which cannot be matched by increases in revenue. The racehorse industry, like other industries, is subject to labor disputes, labor shortages, and government intervention, changes in laws, licensing or regulatory restrictions may adversely impact the availability of grooms, trainers, jockeys and other horse industry workers. Adverse weather and economic conditions may result in unforeseen circumstances including, without limitation, restrictions on attendance at a particular race or racetrack, ability to transport the horses, and increases in costs or decreases in revenues. Changes in government regulations, whether or not relating to the horse racing industry, may result in additional expenses or reduced revenue from operations.

The valuation of racehorses is a highly speculative matter and the market for racehorses is extremely volatile. If the valuation of the company's horses decreases, the company will still be responsible for the expenses of maintaining, training and racing its horses at lower level races or smaller venues, which could negatively impact the revenues from the horse.

The valuation of racehorses is a highly speculative matter and prices have fluctuated widely, particularly in recent years. The success of the company will be dependent upon the present and future values of racehorses generally, and of the company's horses in particular, and the racing industry in general, as well as the racing success of the company's horses.

Although the future value of horses generally cannot be predicted, it will be affected by general economic conditions such as inflation, employment, recessions, tariffs, unstable or adverse credit market conditions, other business conditions, the amount of money available for investment purposes, and the continued interest of investors and enthusiasts in the racehorse industry. In the past, there has been growing foreign investment in certain types of racehorses, and the continued ability of foreign investors to acquire horses is subject to change due to economic, political or regulatory conditions. The value of racehorses is also subject to federal income tax treatment of racing and related activities, the continuation or expansion of legalized gambling and the size of racing purses, all which cannot be predicted. The expense of maintaining, boarding, training and racing horses can be expected to increase, regardless of what happens to the future market price of racehorses or the performance of the company's horses.

There can be no assurances that the performance or value of any horse owned by the company will not decrease in the future, which may have an adverse impact on the company's activities and financial position.

The business of owning, training and racing horses is a high-risk venture. There is no assurance that any horse and therefore any interest in such horse acquired by the company will be successful. Horses are subject to aging, illness, injury and disease, which may result in permanent or temporary retirement from racing, restrictions in racing schedules, layoffs, and even natural death or euthanasia of the animal. There can be no assurances that the value of the interest in any horse which may be acquired and owned by the company will not decrease in the future or that the company will not subsequently incur losses on the racing careers or sale or other disposition of any or all of the horses. No combination of management ability, experience, knowledge, care or scientific approach can avoid the inherent possibilities of loss.

While the company believes that there is a market for horse breeding, training and racing, that market is highly volatile. The horse industry is dependent upon the present and future values of horses and of the company's horses in particular. The company can provide no assurance that it will be successful in its proposed activity. The expenses incurred may result in operating losses for the company and there is no assurance that the company will generate profits or that any revenues generated will be sufficient to offset expenses incurred or would result in a profit to the company. As a result, it is possible that investors will lose all or a substantial part of their investment in the company. Additionally, there is no assurance that there will be any cash available for distribution.

If the horse is unsuccessful in racing, becomes sick or injured, the company's revenue will be adversely affected.

Horse racing is extremely speculative and expensive. The horse in which the company has an interest must earn enough through racing to cover expenses of boarding and training. If the horse in which the company has an interest is unsuccessful in racing, its value will be adversely affected. Furthermore, revenues from racing are dependent upon the size of the purses offered.

The size of the purses depends in general on the extent of public interest in horse racing, and in particular on the relative quality of the specific horses in contention in any specific meeting or race. Although public interest has been strong in recent years, there is no assurance that public interest will remain constant, much less increase. Legalized gambling proliferating in many states threatens to curtail interest in horse racing as a means of recreation. In addition, there is no assurance that the horse in which the company has an interest will be of such quality that they may compete in any races which offer purses of a size sufficient to cover the company's expenses.

The company may purchase insurance on its horse which could require company resources to be spent to cover any losses from the death or injury of a horse.

At the discretion of management, insurance may be purchased for a horse. There is no guarantee that the company's horse will be insured. Mortality insurance insures against the death of a horse during the company's ownership. Medical insurance covers possible risks of injury during racing or training. Liability insurance covers the risk that the horse causes death, injury or damage to persons or property. Without insurance, the company is responsible for the cost of injury of veterinary expenses, surgery, and rehabilitation, or in the event of death, the company will lose its investment in the horse. The payment of such liabilities may have a material adverse effect on our financial position.

Horse racing could be subjected to restrictive regulation or banned entirely, which could adversely affect the conduct of the company's business.

The racing future of and/or market for the horses in which the company has an interest depends upon continuing governmental acceptance of horse racing as a form of legalized gambling.

Although horse racing has a long history of acceptance in the United States and as a source of revenue, at any time, horse racing could be subjected to restrictive regulation or banned entirely. The value of the interest in the company's horses would be substantially diminished by any such regulation or ban. Horse racing is regulated in various states and foreign countries by racing regulatory bodies which oversee the conduct of racing as well as the licensing of owners, trainers and others. Further, other forms of gambling are being approved throughout the United States and therefore no assurance can be provided that the legalization of other forms of gambling and competition from non-gambling sports and other activities will not adversely affect attendance and participation, and therefore the profitability of horse racing and sales.

A decrease in average attendance at races coupled with increasing costs could jeopardize the continued existence of certain racetracks which could negatively impact the company's operations.

A decrease in average attendance per racing date coupled with increasing costs could jeopardize the continued existence of certain race tracks which could impact the availability of race tracks available for horses in which the company has an interest to race at and then negatively impact its operations.

Industry practices and structures have developed which may not be attributable solely to profit-maximizing, economic decision-making which may have an adverse impact on the company's business.

Because horse racing is a sport as well as a business, industry practices and structures have developed which not be attributable solely to profit-maximizing, economic decision-making. For instance, a particular bloodline could command substantial prices owing principally to the interest of a small group of individuals having particular goals unrelated to economics. A decline in this interest could be expected to adversely affect the value of the bloodline.

The company may only own a minority interest in a horse and thus it may not have sufficient control regarding the training or racing of that horse.

The company may not own a majority interest in the horse. Therefore, despite its best efforts to build in oversight rights and major decision rights (such as the sale of the horse) the company may have minimal input with regard to the race selection and training of the horse. As a result, the company may be dependent on the majority owners' decisions as to when and where to race or show that horse and to its training regime. Additionally, there are situations in which a trainer or owner may have a conflict of interest which could negatively impact the ability of a horse to be placed in a particular race and given priority in workout times, jockeys or stabling.

Competitive interests and other factors can have unforeseen consequences.

The horse racing industry is highly competitive and speculative. Horse racing in the United States and in foreign countries draws competitors and participants from locations throughout the United States and overseas, who have been in the business of horseracing for many years and have substantially greater financial resources than the company. The company will be competing in its racing and selling activities with such persons. Similarly, horse markets are international, and auctions are frequently internationally advertised. This can be favorable in that it increases the value of the horses but, by the same token, the company has little influence and may not be able to compete with such competitors in the acquisition of horses. The company will be competing in the purchase and sale of horses with most of the major horse breeders and dealers in the United States and foreign countries. Thus, prices at which the company buys or sells its horses may vary dramatically. Market factors, which are beyond the company's control, will greatly affect the profitability of the company. Such factors include, but are not limited to, auction prices, private sales, foreign investors, federal income tax treatment of the racing industry and the size of racing purses. Further, the company and the concept of crowd-funding in the racehorse industry is a new venture and thus the risk of unforeseen issues and problems is high.

Impact of non-compliance with regulations.

The company is not registered and will not be registered as an investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "Investment Company Act"), and K&G will not be registered as an investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (the "Investment Advisers Act"). The company has taken the position that the underlying assets are either (i) not "securities" within the meaning of the Investment Company Act or the Investment Advisers Act. This position, however, is based upon applicable case law that is inherently subject to judgments and interpretation. If the company were to be required to register under the Investment Company Act or the Manager were to be required to register under the Investment Advisers Act, it could have a material and adverse impact on the results of operations and expenses, and the company may be forced to liquidate.

The company depends on a small management team and may need to hire more people to be successful.

The success of the company will greatly depend on the skills, connections and experiences of its management. The company has not entered into employment agreements with its executives. Should any of them discontinue working for the company or affiliated entities, there is no assurance that the company will continue. Further, there is no assurance that the company will be able to identify, hire and retain the right people for the various key positions.

Control of the company is in the hands of K&G

K&G owns all of the Series B Common Shares issued by the company and thus has sole voting power over all the actions of the company, except where specified by Delaware corporate law. Investors in this offering will have no power to determine the management or operations of the company. K&G is controlled by George Hall.

K&G provides management and administration services to the company for a fee of 10% of assets under management as further described in the Master Services Agreement. The company does not have its own dedicated management team and believes that its relationship with K&G provides a more efficient, flexible compensation structure for the company.

The company has no intention of paying dividend payments on a regular schedule as revenues are irregular, seasonal, and unpredictable.

The revenues, if any, of the company may be highly irregular and seasonal. While management will endeavor to sell horses for cash at the time of sale, there can be no assurance that other payment terms will not be required by the relevant market conditions. Revenues from racing winnings will depend upon the performance of the company's horses. Moreover, the payment of dividends is subject to the provisions of Delaware law, which condition the payment of dividends upon the company's having net earnings. The consequent variance in the amount or the timing of the company's dividends, if any, could pose particular risks for investors who seek to transfer their Shares at any given time.

The offering price has been arbitrarily set by the company.

The offering price of the Shares has been arbitrarily set by the company based upon its expected financial requirements. The offering price of the Shares is not necessarily indicative of their value. No assurance can be given that the Shares, if transferred, could be sold for the offering price or for any other amount.

The exclusive forum provision in the company's Certificate of Incorporation may have the effect of limiting an investor's ability to bring legal action against the company and could limit an investor's ability to obtain a favorable judicial forum for disputes.

Section IX of the company's Certificate of Incorporation contain exclusive forum provisions for certain lawsuits, see "Securities Being Offered - All Classes of Stock - Forum Selection Provisions." Further, Section 6 of the subscription agreement for this Offering includes exclusive forum provisions for certain lawsuits pursuant to the subscription agreement; see "Securities Being Offered - All Classes of Stock - Forum Selection Provisions." The forum for these lawsuits will be the Court of Chancery in the State of Delaware. These provisions may have the effect of limiting the ability of investors to bring a legal claim against us due to geographic limitations.

There is also the possibility that the exclusive forum provisions may discourage stockholder lawsuits, or limit stockholders' ability to bring a claim in a judicial forum that it finds favorable for disputes with us and our officers and directors. Alternatively, if a court were to find this exclusive forum provision inapplicable to, or unenforceable in respect of, one or more of the specified types of actions or proceedings, the company may incur additional costs associated with resolving such matters in other jurisdictions, which could adversely affect its business and financial condition.

Investors in this offering may not be entitled to a jury trial with respect to claims arising under the subscription agreement and claims where the forum selection provision is applicable, which could result in less favorable outcomes to the plaintiff(s) in any such action.

Investors in this offering will be bound by the subscription agreement, which includes a provision under which investors waive the right to a jury trial of any claim they may have against the company arising out of or relating to the subscription agreement, including any claim under the federal securities laws. Further, the Court of Chancery in Delaware is a non-jury trial court and therefore those claims will not be adjudicated by a jury. See "Securities Being Offered - All Classes of Stock - Jury Trial Waiver."

If the company opposed a jury trial demand based on the waiver, a court would determine whether the waiver was enforceable based on the facts and circumstances of that case in accordance with the applicable state and federal law. To the company's knowledge, the enforceability of a contractual pre-dispute jury trial waiver in connection with claims arising under the federal securities laws has not been finally adjudicated by a federal court. However, the company believes that a contractual pre-dispute jury trial waiver provision is generally enforceable, including under the laws of the State of New York, which governs the subscription agreement, in the Court of Chancery in the State of Delaware. In determining whether to enforce a contractual pre-dispute jury trial waiver provision, courts will generally consider whether the visibility of the jury trial waiver provision within the agreement is sufficiently prominent such that a party knowingly, intelligently and voluntarily waived the right to a jury trial. The company believes that this is the case with respect to the subscription agreement.

Investors should consult legal counsel regarding the jury waiver provision before entering into the subscription agreement.

If an investor brings a claim against the company in connection with matters arising under the subscription agreement, including claims under federal securities laws, an investor may not be entitled to a jury trial with respect to those claims, which may have the effect of limiting and discouraging lawsuits against the company. If a lawsuit is brought against the company under the subscription agreement, it may be heard only by a judge or justice of the applicable trial court, which would be conducted according to different civil procedures and may result in different outcomes than a trial by jury would have had, including results that could be less favorable to the plaintiff(s) in such an action.

Nevertheless, if this jury trial waiver provision is not permitted by applicable law, an action could proceed under the terms of the subscription agreement with a jury trial. No condition, stipulation or provision of the subscription agreement serves as a waiver by any holder of common shares or by us of compliance with any substantive provision of the federal securities laws and the rules and regulations promulgated under those laws.

In addition, when the shares are transferred, the transferee is required to agree to all the same conditions, obligations and restrictions applicable to the shares or to the transferor with regard to ownership of the shares that were in effect immediately prior to the transfer of the shares of Preferred Stock, including but not limited to the subscription agreement.

Investors cannot easily resell the securities.

The Shares are "restricted" under the Securities Act. There are strict limitations on how you can resell your securities for the next year, and they cannot be easily resold even after that year.

More importantly, there is no market for these securities, and there might never be one. That means the money you paid for these securities could be tied up for a long time.

The provisions of Section 12(g) of the Securities Exchange Act may result in our having to limit transfers of the Shares.

Section 12(g) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 provides that if a company acquires 2,000 holders of record of any class of its equity securities (or 500 non-accredited holders), it must register under the Exchange Act and become a fully-reporting public company, which would be a burden for a small company. To the extent any trading market develops for the Shares we may therefore limit transfer in order not to trigger the thresholds of Section 12(g). This may have the result of reducing any eventual trading in our Shares, and the price of such Shares.

Investors' interests may be diluted.

Swingman Thoroughbred Corp. anticipates that it may raise additional capital in the future. Future issuance of additional securities could dilute the ownership stakes of Swingman Thoroughbred Corp.'s existing owners; and there can be no assurance that the effects of such dilution will not be substantial. Additionally, any new class units that might hereafter be issued may negatively impact Swingman Thoroughbred Corp.'s existing owners.

The impact of COVID-19 on horse breeding and horseracing may have a material impact on our business and ability to operate profitably.

The current pandemic and spread of SARS CoV-2, the virus responsible for COVID-19, has had a dramatic impact on the horseracing industry as well as breeding and training of racehorse. Initially many race tracks closed and races were cancelled. As racetracks re-open, they are subject to various social distancing and other protocols that will have the effect of reducing attendance and limiting the activities and movement of jockeys, owners and trainers. Similar safety protocols have been implemented for breeding and training facilities. These restrictions and safety protocols are likely to increase the costs of breeding, owning and managing our horses and may reduce purse prizes and sale prices for horses.

Investors will have to subscribe to multiple agreements in order to invest in this offering.

In order to invest in this offering, investors agree to become a party to the Subscription Agreement with the company, and the Custodian and Voting Agreement available here: <https://wefunder.com/legal/custodian> (the "Custodian and Voting Agreement"), under which XX Investments, LLC (the "Custodian") will hold title of the securities for the benefit of the investor. The company has chosen to participate in this program offered by Wefunder as a means of simplifying communications with investors and to help facilitate future liquidity. Further, transferees will be required to become parties to the Custodian and Voting Agreement.

As part of the Custodian and Voting Agreement, investors will grant the Custodian the right to vote their shares purchased in this offering.

The Custodian will vote the shares as directed by a "Lead Investor" appointed by the company who is supposed to represent the interests of investors. This means that investors in this offering will not have the right to vote for any matters submitted to them for a vote. Instead, that right will be granted to the Custodian, and [its affiliate], the Lead Investor.

You will not hold title to the purchased securities, instead, title will be held by the Custodian.

Under the terms of the Custodian and Voting Agreement, title to the shares in this offering will be held by the Custodian for your benefit. By holding custody of the title to the shares it means that the Custodian will be required to engage in business practices that protect your interests as the beneficial owner of the shares. The shares are not protected by insurance, and it is unclear what protections are available if the Custodian enters into bankruptcy proceedings in which creditors assert rights to shares for which you are the beneficial owner.

No regulator has given their approval of the form of the arrangement with the Custodian.

The company has relied on representations by Wefunder regarding the legality of the arrangement with the Custodian. If during this offering, or in subsequent securities offerings by the company for which require regulatory review, the arrangement with the Custodian is challenged, the company may incur costs to unwind the arrangement by either transferring title to the securities from the Custodian to investors, or by engaging a different custodian.

John Hall, George E. Hall and Joseph A. De Perio are part-time officers. As such, it is likely that the company will not make the same progress as it would if that were not the case.

Our future success depends on the efforts of a small management team. The loss of services of the members of the management team may have an adverse effect on the company. There can be no assurance that we will be successful in attracting and retaining other personnel we require to successfully grow our business.

INSTRUCTION TO QUESTION 8: Avoid generalized statements and include only those factors that are unique to the issuer. Discussion should be tailored to the issuer's business and the offering and should not repeat the factors addressed in the legends set forth above. No specific number of risk factors is required to be identified.

The Offering

USE OF FUNDS

9. What is the purpose of this offering?

The Company intends to use the net proceeds of this offering for working capital and general corporate purposes, which includes the specific items listed in item 10 below. While the Company expects to use the net proceeds from the Offering in the manner described above, it cannot specify with certainty the particular uses of the net proceeds that it will receive from this Offering. Accordingly, the Company will have broad discretion in using these proceeds.

10. How does the issuer intend to use the proceeds of this offering?

If we raise: $50,000

Use of Proceeds: 20% will go to set aside for working capital. 75% will pay Wefunder intermediary fees. 72.5% will be used to purchase interests in Swingman. At the minimum raise, approximately 14.5% of Swingman will be purchased.

If we raise: $325,000

Use of Proceeds: 20% will go to set aside for working capital. 75% will pay Wefunder intermediary fees. 72.5% will be used to purchase interests in Swingman. At the maximum raise, 100% of Swingman will be purchased.

INSTRUCTION TO QUESTION 10: An issuer must provide a reasonably detailed description of any intended use of proceeds, such that investors are provided with an adequate amount of information to understand how the offering proceeds will be used. If an issuer has identified a range of possible uses, the issuer should identify and describe each probable use and the factors the issuer may consider in allocating proceeds among the potential uses. If the issuer will accept proceeds in excess of the target offering amount, the issuer must describe the purpose, method for allocating oversubscriptions, and intended use of the excess proceeds with similar specificity. Please include all potential uses of the proceeds of the offering, including any that may apply only in the case of oversubscriptions. If you do not do so, you may later be required to amend your Form C. Wefunder is not responsible for any failure by you to describe a potential use of offering proceeds.

DELIVERY & CANCELLATIONS

11. How will the issuer complete the transaction and deliver securities to the investors?

Book Entry and Use of XX Investments LLC as Transfer Agent and Custodian. Investments will be in book entry form. This means that the investor will not receive a certificate representing his or her investment. Each investment will be recorded in the books and records of our transfer agent, XX Investments LLC. XX Investments LLC will act as custodian and hold legal title to the investments for investors that enter into a Custodial and Voting Agreement with XX Investments LLC and will keep track of those investors' beneficial interests in the investments. In addition, investors' interests in the investments will be recorded in each investor's "My Investments" screen. The investor will also be emailed again the Investor Agreement and, if applicable, the Custodial and Voting Agreement. The Investor Agreement and, if applicable, the Custodial and Voting Agreement will also be available on the "My Investments" screen.

12. How can an investor cancel an investment commitment?

NOTE: Investors may cancel an investment commitment until 48 hours prior to the deadline identified in these offering materials.

The intermediary will notify investors when the target offering amount has been met. If the issuer reaches the target offering amount prior to the deadline identified in the offering materials, it may close the offering early if it provides notice about the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to such new offering deadline (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment).

If an investor does not cancel an investment commitment before the 48-hour period prior to the offering deadline, the funds will be released to the issuer upon closing of the offering and the investor will receive securities in exchange for his or her investment.

If an investor does not reconfirm his or her investment commitment after a material change is made to the offering, the investor's investment commitment will be cancelled and the committed funds will be returned.

An investor's right to cancel. An investor may cancel his or her investment commitment at any time until 48 hours prior to the offering deadline.

If there is a material change to the terms of the offering or the information provided to the investor about the offering and/or the Company, the investor will be provided notice of the change and must re-confirm his or her investment commitment within five business days of receipt of the notice. If the investor does not reconfirm, he or she will receive notifications disclosing that the commitment was cancelled, the reason for the cancellation, and the refund amount that the investor is required to receive. If a material change occurs within five business days of the maximum number of days the offering is to remain open, the offering will be extended to allow for a period of five business days for the investor to reconfirm.

If the investor cancels his or her investment commitment during the period when cancellation is permissible, or does not reconfirm a commitment in the case of a material change to the investment, or the offering does not close, all of the investor's funds will be returned within five business days.

Within five business days of cancellation of an offering by the Company, the Company will give each investor notification of the cancellation, disclose the reason for the cancellation, identify the refund amount the investor will receive, and refund the investor's funds.

The Company's right to cancel. The Investment Agreement you will execute with us provides the Company the right to cancel for any reason before the offering deadline.

If the sum of the investment commitments from all investors does not equal or exceed the target offering amount at the time of the offering deadline, no securities will be sold in the offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned.

In addition, we may cap at 450 the total number of investors who will be allowed to invest through the offering that are not "accredited investors," as defined in Rule 501(a) of Regulation D under the Securities Act of 1933. In the event that more than 450 non-accredited investors are initially accepted into an offering in step (2) described in Question 11, the Company may cancel investments based on the order in which payments by investors were received, or other criteria at the discretion of the Company, before the offering deadline.

Ownership and Capital Structure

If the Company determines, in its sole discretion, that it is likely that within six months the securities of the Company will be held of record by a number of persons that would require the Company to register a class of its equity securities under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended ("Exchange Act"), as required by Section 12(g) or 15(d) thereof, the Company shall have the option to repurchase the securities from each investor for the greater of

1. the purchase price of the securities, and
2. the fair market value of the securities, as determined by an independent appraiser of securities chosen by the Company. The foregoing repurchase option will terminate upon a Change of Control or Dissolution Event (each as defined in the Company's Subscription Agreement).

14. Do the securities offered have voting rights?

☐ Yes
☒ No

15. Are there any limitations on any voting or other rights identified above?

☒ Yes: No Voting Rights
☐ No: Irrevocable voting proxy granted to XX Team.

16. How may the terms of the securities being offered be modified?

This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties hereto with respect to the subject matter hereof and may be amended only by a writing executed by all parties.

RESTRICTIONS ON TRANSFER OF THE SECURITIES BEING OFFERED:

The securities being offered may not be transferred by any purchaser of such securities during the one year period beginning when the securities were issued, unless such securities are transferred:

1. to the issuer;
2. to an accredited investor;
3. as part of an offering registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission; or
4. to a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the purchaser or other similar circumstance.

NOTE: The term "accredited investor" means any person who comes within any of the categories set forth in Rule 501(a) of Regulation D, or who the seller reasonably believes comes within any of such categories, at the time of the sale of the securities to that person.

The term "member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent" includes a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law of the purchaser, and includes adoptive relationships. The term "spousal equivalent" means a cohabitant occupying a relationship generally equivalent to that of a spouse.

DESCRIPTION OF ISSUER'S SECURITIES

17. What other securities or classes of securities of the issuer are outstanding? Describe the material terms of any other outstanding securities or classes of securities of the issuer.

Class of Security	Securities (or Amount) Authorized	Securities (or Amount) Outstanding	Voting Rights
Class A Common	29,999	0	No
Class B Common	1	1	Yes

Securities Reserved for Issuance upon Exercise or Conversion

Warrants:

Options:

Describe any other rights:

The only differences in rights between the Class A and Class B Common stock is voting rights.

18. How may the rights of the securities being offered be materially limited, diluted or qualified by the rights of any other class of security identified above?

The holders of a majority-in-interest of voting rights in the Company could limit the Investor's rights in a material way. For example, those interest holders could vote to change the terms of the agreements governing the Company's operations or cause the Company to engage in additional offerings (including potentially a public offering).

These changes could result in further limitations on the voting rights the Investor will have as an owner of equity in the Company, for example by diluting those rights or limiting them to certain types of events or consents.

To the extent applicable, in cases where the rights of holders of convertible debt, SAFES, or other outstanding options or warrants are exercised, or if new awards are granted under our equity compensation plans, an Investor's interests in the Company may be diluted. This means that the pro-rata portion of the Company represented by the Investor's securities will decrease, which could also diminish the Investor's voting and/or economic rights. In addition, as discussed above, if a majority-in-interest of holders of securities with voting rights cause the Company to issue additional equity, an Investor's interest will typically also be diluted.

Based on the risk that an Investor's rights could be limited, diluted or otherwise qualified, the investor could lose all or part of his or her investment in the securities in this offering, and may never see positive returns.

Additional risks related to the rights of other security holders are discussed below, in Question 20.

19. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer?

None

20. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 above affect the purchasers of the securities being offered?

As holders of a majority-in-interest of voting rights in the Company, the shareholders may make decisions with which the Investor disagrees, or that negatively affect the value of the Investor's securities in the Company, and the Investor will have no recourse to change these decisions. The Investor's interests may conflict with those of other investors, and there is no guarantee that the Company will develop in a way that is optimal for or advantageous to the Investor.

For example, the shareholders may change the terms of the Articles of Incorporation for the company, change the terms of securities issued by the Company, change the management of the Company, and even force out minority holders of securities. The shareholders may make changes that affect the tax treatment of the Company in ways that are unfavorable to you but favorable to them. They may also vote to engage in new offerings and/or to register certain of the Company's securities in a way that negatively affects the value of the securities the Investor owns. Other holders of securities of the Company may also have access to more information than the Investor, leaving the Investor at a disadvantage with respect to any decisions regarding the securities he or she owns. The shareholders have the right to redeem their securities at any time. Shareholders could decide to force the Company to redeem their securities at a time that is not favorable to the Investor and is damaging to the Company. Investors' exit may affect the value of the Company and/or its viability, in cases where the rights of holders of convertible debt, SAFES, or other outstanding options or warrants are exercised, or if new awards are granted under our equity compensation plans, an Investor's interests in the Company may be diluted. This means that the pro-rata portion of the Company represented by the Investor's securities will decrease, which could also diminish the Investor's voting and/or economic rights. In addition, as discussed above, if a majority-in-interest of holders of securities with voting rights cause the Company to issue additional stock, an Investor's interest will typically also be diluted.

Based on the risks described above, the Investor could lose all or part of his or her investment in the securities in this offering, and may never see positive returns.

21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

The offering price for the securities offered pursuant to this Form C has been determined arbitrarily by the Company, and does not necessarily bear any relationship to the Company's book value, assets, earnings or other generally accepted valuation criteria. In determining the offering price, the Company did not employ investment banking firms or other outside organizations to make an independent appraisal or evaluation. Accordingly, the offering price should not be considered to be indicative of the actual value of the securities offered hereby.

In the future, we will perform valuations of our common stock that take into account factors such as the following:

1. unrelated third party valuations of our common stock;
2. the price at which we sell other securities, such as convertible debt or preferred stock, in light of the rights, preferences and privileges of our those securities relative to those of our common stock;
3. our results of operations, financial position and capital resources;
4. current business conditions and projections;
5. the lack of marketability of our common stock;
6. the hiring of key personnel and the experience of our management;
7. the introduction of new products;
8. the risk inherent in the development and expansion of our products;
9. our stage of development and material risks related to our business;
10. the likelihood of achieving a liquidity event, such as an initial public offering or a sale of our company given the prevailing market conditions and the nature and history of our business;
11. industry trends and competitive environment;
12. trends in consumer spending, including consumer confidence;
13. overall economic indicators, including gross domestic product, employment, inflation and interest rates; and
14. the general economic outlook.

We will analyze factors such as those described above using a combination of financial and market-based methodologies to determine our business enterprise value. For example, we may use methodologies that assume that businesses operating in the same industry will share similar characteristics and that the Company's value will correlate to those characteristics, and/or methodologies that compare transactions in similar securities issued by us that were conducted in the market.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

An investor in the Company will likely hold a minority position in the Company, and thus be limited as to its ability to control or influence the governance and operations of the Company.

The marketability and value of the Investor's interest in the Company will depend upon many factors outside the control of the investor. The Company will be managed by its officers and be governed in accordance with the strategic direction and decision-making of its Board Of Directors, and the Investor will have no independent right to name or remove an officer or member of the Board Of Directors of the Company.

Following the Investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the Investor in the Company. The Investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured.

The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the Investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the Investor's interest in the Company.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions, including additional issuances of securities, issuer repurchases of securities, a sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer or transactions with related parties?

Additional issuances of securities. Following the Investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interests to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the Investor in the Company. The Investor may have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such a transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional financing needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and objectives of the Company. The declining of an opportunity or the inability of the Investor to make a follow-on investment, or the lack of an opportunity to make such a follow-on investment, may result in substantial dilution of the Investor's interest in the Company.

Issuer repurchases of securities. The Company may have authority to repurchase its securities from shareholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the Investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer. As a minority owner of the Company, the investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the Investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for shareholders. Accordingly, the success of the Investor's investment in the Company will depend in large part upon the skill and expertise of the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company. If the Board Of Directors of the Company authorizes a sale of all or a part of the Company, or a disposition of a substantial portion of the Company's assets, there can be no guarantee that the value received by the Investor, together with the fair market estimate of the value remaining in the Company, will be equal to or exceed the value of the Investor's initial investment in the Company.

Transactions with related parties. The Investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management and Board of Directors of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its shareholders. By acquiring an interest in the Company, the Investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

None.

INSTRUCTION TO QUESTION 24: name the creditor, amount owed, interest rate, maturity date, and any other material terms.

25. What other exempt offerings has the issuer conducted within the past three years?

Offering Date	Exemption	Security Type	Amount Sold	Use of Proceeds
No exempt offerings.

26. Was or is the issuer or any entities controlled by or under common control with the issuer a party to any transaction since the beginning of the issuer's last fiscal year, or any currently proposed transaction, where the amount involved exceeds five percent of the aggregate amount of capital raised by the issuer in reliance on Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act during the preceding 12-month period, including the amount the issuer seeks to raise in the current offering, in which any of the following persons had or is to have a direct or indirect material interest:

1. any director or officer of the issuer;
2. any person who is, as of the most recent practicable date, the beneficial owner of 20 percent or more of the issuer's outstanding voting equity securities, calculated on the basis of voting power;
3. if the issuer was incorporated or organized within the past three years, any promoter of the issuer;
4. or (4) any immediate family member of any of the foregoing persons.

☐ Yes
☒ No

INSTRUCTIONS TO QUESTION 26: The term transaction includes, but is not limited to, any financial transaction, arrangement or relationship (including any indebtedness or guarantee of indebtedness) or any series of similar transactions, arrangements or relationships.

Beneficial ownership for purposes of paragraph (2) shall be determined as of a date that is no more than 120 days prior to the date of filing of this offering statement and using the same calculation described in Question 8 of this Question and Answer format.

The term "member of the family" includes any child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law of the person, and includes adoptive relationships. The term "spousal equivalent" means a cohabitant occupying a relationship generally equivalent to that of a spouse.

Compute the amount of a related party's interest in any transaction without regard to the amount of the profit or loss involved in the transaction. Where it is not practicable to state the approximate amount of the interest, disclose the approximate amount involved in the transaction.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE ISSUER

27. Does the issuer have an operating history?

☒ Yes
☐ No

28. Describe the financial condition of the issuer, including, to the extent material, liquidity, capital resources and historical results of operations.

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

You should read the following discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations together with our financial statements and the related notes and other financial information included elsewhere in this offering. Some of the information contained in this discussion and analysis, including information regarding the strategy and plans for our business, includes forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. You should review the "Risk Factors" section for a discussion of important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from the results described in or implied by the forward-looking statements contained in the following discussion and analysis.

Overview

Swingman Thoroughbred Corp's goal is to bring the thrill of thoroughbred to the everyday person. We're an early stage company that will acquire an ownership interest in Swingman (the "Horse"), a two-year old colt out of Eternal Grace by Tonalist. The Company will manage the ownership of the Horse, and make decisions on the choice of trainer, races, breeding opportunities, potential stud services and eventual sale of the horse. The Company is operated by K&G Stables LLC ("K&G").

We would like the company to bring new owners into the sport. Our farm has produced Max Player, who recently finished third place in the Belmont Stakes and the Travers Stakes, and has helped our farm gain significant traction in the racing industry. We want fans and investors to enjoy the entirety of Swingman's career, from his first race to his career as a stallion.

Given the Company's limited operating history, the Company cannot reliably estimate how much revenue it will receive in the future, if any.

Milestones

Swingman Thoroughbred Corp. was incorporated in the State of Delaware in September 2020.

Prospective investors should be aware that there are certain related party relationships. Today, Swingman, the horse, is owned by George Hall, SportBLX Thoroughbreds Corp. and Annestes Thoroughbreds Corp. Pursuant to the capital raise at Swingman Thoroughbred Corp., the company will purchase ownership interests from all or a subset of the current owners. George Hall is on the board of directors of Swingman Thoroughbred Corp., SportBLX Thoroughbreds Corp. and Annestes Thoroughbreds Corp. Joseph De Perio is on the board of directors of Swingman Thoroughbred Corp. and SportBLX Thoroughbreds Corp. John Hall is on the board of directors of Swingman Thoroughbred Corp. and Annestes Thoroughbreds Corp.

The company is raising money to purchase interest in a horse that is owned by a director (George Hall) of Swingman. Then George Hall (through K&G) will charge a management fee. It's a standard operating practice in the industry for the managing owner to charge a management fee for managing the horse and interfacing with trainers, vets, etc. In the case of a fully subscribed transaction and 100% of the shares are held by disparate investors, there is a practical requirement of an entity to manage the horse. You will note that at the maximum subscription amount, this is a nominal amount of money. And there are expenses in operating K&G.

Since then, we have:

- Swingman has strong pedigree on both sides of his family.
- Swingman is a two year old today. Investors have an opportunity to invest in a young racehorse as he embarks on his racing career and experience the highs and lows of thoroughbred ownership.
- Owners of 5% of Swingman Thoroughbred Corp. will have a right to first offer on a sale of Swingman in the future.
- Investors will have access to unique content on the Sportblx.com website.

Historical Results of Operations

Our company was organized in September 2020 and has limited operations upon which prospective investors may base an evaluation of its performance.

- Revenues & Gross Margin. For the period ended September 17, 2020, the Company had revenues of $0.

- Assets. As of September 17, 2020, the Company had total assets of $100, including $100 in cash.

- Net Income. The Company has had net income of $0 for 2020.

- Liabilities. The Company's liabilities totaled $0 for 2020.

Liquidity & Capital Resources

After the conclusion of this Offering, should we hit our minimum funding target, our projected runway is 12 months before we need to raise further capital.

We plan to use the proceeds as set forth in this Form C under "Use of Funds". We don't have any other sources of capital in the immediate future.

We will likely require additional financing in excess of the proceeds from the Offering in order to perform operations over the lifetime of the Company. We plan to raise capital in 12 months. Except as otherwise described in this Form C, we do not have additional sources of capital other than the proceeds from the offering. Because of the complexities and uncertainties in establishing a new business strategy, it is not possible to adequately project whether the proceeds of this offering will be sufficient to enable us to implement our strategy. This complexity and uncertainty will be increased if less than the maximum amount of securities offered in this offering is sold. The Company intends to raise additional capital in the future from investors. Although capital may be available for early-stage companies, there is no guarantee that the Company will receive any investments from investors.

Runway & Short/Mid Term Expenses

Swingman Thoroughbred Corp. cash in hand is $100, as of September 2020. Over the last three months, revenues have averaged $0/month, cost of goods sold has averaged $0/month, and operational expenses have averaged $0/month, for an average burn rate of $0 per month. Our intent is to be profitable in 6 months.

There have been no material changes or trends in our finances or operations that occurred since the date that our financials cover.

The horse racing industry is nearly impossible to predict. Please see risk factors. We do not expect that expenses for boarding, training, medical, and transportation will exceed $5,000 per month (if we raise our maximum) over a 3 month period of time. Expenses could be on the higher side depending on overall health of the horse. Revenues will be dependent on race results in the near term.

Additional sources of capital will come in the form of prize money, stud fees, or from a possible sale of the horse.

INSTRUCTIONS TO QUESTION 28: The discussion must cover each year for which financial statements are provided. For issuers with no prior operating history, the discussion should focus on financial milestones and operational, liquidity and other challenges. For issuers with an operating history, the discussion should focus on whether historical results and cash flows are representative of what investors should expect in the future. Take into account the proceeds of the offering and any other known or pending sources of capital. Discuss how the proceeds from the offering will affect liquidity, whether receiving these funds and any other additional funds is necessary to the viability of the business, and how quickly the issuer anticipates using its available cash. Describe the other available sources of capital to the business, such as lines of credit or required contributions by shareholders. References to the issuer in this Question 28 and these instructions refer to the issuer and its predecessors, if any.

The Lead Investor is an experienced investor that we choose to act in the role of Lead Investor, both on behalf of the Company and on behalf of Investors. As noted, the Lead Investor will be a representative of XX Team and will share in compensation that XX Team receives from the Company (or Wefunder Inc. on the Company behalf) or from Investors. The Lead Investor will be chosen by the Company and approved by Wefunder Inc., and the identity of the Lead Investor must be disclosed to Investors before Investors make a final investment decision to purchase the Company's securities. Investors will receive disclosure regarding all fees that may be received by the Lead Investor. In addition to the fees described above, the Lead Investor may receive compensation if, in the future, Wefunder Advisors LLC forms a special purpose vehicle ("SPV") for the purpose of investing in a non-Regulation Crowdfunding offering of the Company. In such a circumstance, the Lead Investor may act as a portfolio manager for that SPV and

Although the Lead Investor may act in multiple roles and be compensated from multiple parties, the Lead Investor's goal is to maximize the value of the Company and therefore maximize the value of the Company's securities. As a result, the Lead Investor's interests should always be aligned with those of the Investors.

Investors that wish to purchase the Company's securities through Wefunder Portal must agree to (1) hire XX Investments to serve as custodian, paying agent, and proxy agent with respect to the Company's securities; (2) give a power of attorney to XX Team to make all voting decisions with respect to the Company's securities; and (3) direct XX Investments to share 10% of the Investor's distribution from the Company with XX Team. The Company may waive these requirements for certain investors with whom the Company has a pre-existing relationship.

The XX arrangement described above is intended to benefit the Company by allowing the Company to reflect one investor of its capitalization table (XX Investments) and by simplifying the voting process with respect to the Company's securities by having one entity (XX Team), through one person (the Lead Investor), make all voting decisions and having one entity (XX Investments) carry out XX Team's voting instruments and any take any related actions. The XX arrangement also is intended to benefit investors by providing the services of an experienced Lead Investor (acting on behalf of XX Team) who is expected to make value-maximizing decisions regarding investors' securities. XX Team (acting through the Lead Investor) may further benefit both the Company and Investors by providing consulting services to the Company that are intended to maximize both the value of the Company's business and also the value of its securities.
