THE TEAM

Ana Fanakra

Owner

I grew up in Norway, but moved to America after graduating high school in 1999. I have been a baker my whole life, and when COVID-19 hit and I lost my job I decided to bake and sell iconic Norwegian pastries. I started my business by selling online and at Farmers Markets and the support from customers was so wonderful that I ended up opening my first bakery location after one year, and I'm so excited to offer baked goods to a larger audience.

I love the community we're building within the community. We host two Norwegian meetings monthly, and offer Norwegian books and magazines to our customers and/or anyone who is interested in them.

I have a previous career in HR, and I enjoy working with people. I am a see-a-need fill-a-need type of person, and will always strive to be the best I can be.

2022 Q1 Update

We ended up closing March with roughly the same sales as November 2021 through February 2022 had combined. I hired a Norwegian named Anne Katrine who works at the Bakeri Tuesday through Friday, which has helped tremendously. She is able to speak Norwegian with the Norwegians who come in to the Bakeri, which is one of the reasons why some of the regular Norwegians come in as often as they do. Because of Anne Katrine's help I am now back to my regular sleep schedule, and I am able to complete 99% of what I need ready for the next day while she is working with the customers. I am so excited to see how much the community enjoys our baked goods, and I'm so thankful for the support they're showing us daily. Spring is in the air, and I can't wait to put the umbrellas in the tables outside so customers can enjoy the nice weather while they eat some delicious baked goods.

Update

Hi!

I would like to share something pretty amazing with you all: Two weeks ago a woman came into our Bakeri and purchased some baked goods after taking some pictures. She posted the details of her visit along with pictures on the app Nextdoor, recommending it to her neighborhood, and people started liking the post, and commenting on it. The following Tuesday (we are closed Sunday/Monday) when we opened we were bombarded with new customers and sold out of everything by 11:30! 95% of the customers that came in had read about us on Nextdoor. We had to turn away so many people because we just didn't have enough product. For Wednesday I baked double what I had the day before and we still sold out! We sold out of everything every day last week. This week was the same story on Tuesday, but Wednesday and Thursday were much slower because of bad weather. Having said that, however, I feel I should also mention that even though those two days were slower, they were still great numbers. Friday and today has followed the trend from last week. I get up at 1 am so I can make sure I bake enough to meet the demand, and we are still selling out.

On Thursday this week there was an article on 303magazine.com about our Bakeri and we are now seeing customers coming on because of this article.

We currently have 2 part time employees, 1 full time and myself (the baker) to help accommodate the amazing growth we're seeing.

Q4 Update

We ended the year on a great note. This quarter started a little weak with lower than expected sales in October due to having to close the Bakeri for two weeks in response to Covid. November saw our second highest sales of the year, and December was our highest selling month of the year.

I can't wait to see what this year brings!

Grand Opening update

We hosted the grand opening yesterday, and it was a great success. We sold out of the majority of pastries by 10:30, but I had two extra doughs in the refrigerator and ended up making three dozen more cinnamon rolls because they were particularly requested. We had 71 paying customers, and an additional 10-15 people who are coming back another day because I was sold out of what they came in for. I received a few reviews and our community grew by several hundred people this last week. All in all a successful grand opening and I can't wait to see what this next week brings!

We are going to have a raffle for 5 free 6 packs of pastries that anyone making a purchase will be entered in to. I can't wait to tell you all about it after the event is through!

News

Today I had the opportunity to bake in a commercial kitchen, with baking capacity of 6 trays at a time. I am currently only able to do 1 tray at a time, and I am limited with regards to quantity due to this. Being able to produce product at a quicker rate, in much larger quantities, will be a major game changer for us. I am so excited to have tested these ovens today, and can't wait til next time! Next time isn't far off.

We've seen an uptick in orders, just as expected due to the Holiday Season and local Scandinavian's Lefse craze. We feel blessed and thankful to be able to provide these goods, and look forward to baking them for our customers for Holidays to come.

Other outstanding debt or equity

As of 07.07.2022 Ana's Norwegian Bakeri has debt of $28951.56 outstanding and a cash balance of $7000. This debt is sourced primarily from previous Mainvest campaign and will be senior to any investment raised on Mainvest. In addition to the Ana's Norwegian Bakeri's outstanding debt and the debt raised on Mainvest, Ana's Norwegian Bakeri may require additional funds from alternate sources at a later date.

To date we have made quarterly repayments on the previous campaigns, and the repayment amounts have increased each quarter due to quarterly revenue increases, and we expect that to continue.

Risk Factors

You Might Lose Your Money

When you buy a certificate of deposit from a bank, the Federal government (through the FDIC) guarantees you will get your money back. Buying a Note is not like that at all. The ability of Ana's Norwegian Bakeri to make the payments you expect, and ultimately to give you your money back, depends on a number of factors, including many beyond our control.

Limited Services

Ana's Norwegian Bakeri operates with a very limited scope, offering only particular services to potential clients, making them vulnerable to changes in customer preferences.

Lack of Accounting Controls

Larger companies typically have in place strict accounting controls. Smaller companies typically lack these controls, exposing themselves to additional risk.

Competition

The market in which we operate is highly competitive and could become increasingly competitive with new entrants in the market. Ana's Norwegian Bakeri competes with many other businesses, both large and small, on the basis of quality, price, location, and customer experience. Changes in customer preference away from Ana's Norwegian Bakeri's core business or the inability to compete successfully against the with other competitors could negatively affect Ana's Norwegian Bakeri's financial performance.

Reliance on Management

As a securities holder, you will not be able to participate in Ana's Norwegian Bakeri's management or vote on and/or influence any managerial decisions regarding Ana's Norwegian Bakeri. Furthermore, if the founders or other key personnel of Ana's Norwegian Bakeri were to leave Ana's Norwegian Bakeri or become unable to work, Ana's Norwegian Bakeri (and your investment) could suffer substantially.

Financial Forecasts Risks

The financial forecasts provided by us herein are reasonable forecasts by us based upon assumption of stable economic conditions and other various assumptions regarding operations. The validity and accuracy of these assumptions will depend in large part on future events over which Ana's Norwegian Bakeri and the key persons will have no control. Changes in assumptions or their underlying facts could significantly affect the forecasts. To the extent that the assumed events do not occur, the outcome may vary significantly from the projected outcomes. Consequently, there can be no assurance that the actual operating results will correspond to the forecasts provided herein. Additionally, Ana's Norwegian Bakeri is a newly established entity and therefore has no operating history from which forecasts could be projected with.

Inability to Sell Your Investment

The law prohibits you from selling your securities (except in certain very limited circumstances) for 12 months after you acquire them. Even after that one-year period, a host of Federal and State securities laws may limit or restrict your ability to sell your securities. Even if you are permitted to sell, you will likely have difficulty finding a buyer because there will be no established market. Given these factors, you should be prepared to hold your investment for its full term.

The Company Might Need More Capital

Ana's Norwegian Bakeri might need to raise more capital in the future to fund/expand operations, buy property and equipment, hire new team members, market its services, pay overhead and general administrative expenses, or a variety of other reasons. There is no assurance that additional capital will be available when needed, or that it will be available on terms that are not adverse to your interests as an investor. If Ana's Norwegian Bakeri is unable to obtain additional funding when needed, it could be forced to delay its business plan or even cease operations altogether.

Changes in Economic Conditions Could Hurt Ana's Norwegian Bakeri

Factors like global or national economic recessions, changes in interest rates, changes in credit markets, changes in capital market conditions, declining employment, changes in real estate values, changes in tax policy, changes in political conditions, and wars and other crises, among other factors are unpredictable and could negatively affect Ana's Norwegian Bakeri's financial performance or ability to continue to operate. In the event Ana's Norwegian Bakeri ceases operations due to the foregoing factors, it can not guarantee that it will be able to resume operations or generate revenue in the future.

No Registration Under Securities Laws

The Notes will not be registered with the SEC or the securities regulator of any State. Hence, neither Ana's Norwegian Bakeri nor the Notes will be subject to the same degree of regulation and scrutiny as if they were registered.

Incomplete Offering Information

Title III does not require us to provide you with all the information that would be required in some other kinds of securities offerings, such as a public offering of shares (for example, publicly-traded firms must generally provide investors with quarterly and annual financial statements that have been audited by an independent accounting firm). Although Title III does require extensive information, it is possible that you would make a different decision if you had more information.

Lack of Ongoing Information

Ana's Norwegian Bakeri will be required to provide some information to investors for at least 12 months following the offering. However, this information is far more limited than the information that would be required of a publicly-reporting company; and Ana's Norwegian Bakeri is allowed to stop providing annual information in certain circumstances.

Uninsured Losses

Although Ana's Norwegian Bakeri will carry some insurance, Ana's Norwegian Bakeri may not carry enough insurance to protect against all risks to the business. Additionally, there are some kinds of risks that are very difficult or impossible to insure against, at least at a reasonable cost. Therefore, Ana's Norwegian Bakeri could incur an uninsured loss that could damage its business.

Changes in Laws

Changes in laws or regulations, including but not limited to zoning laws, environmental laws, tax laws, consumer protection laws, securities laws, antitrust laws, and health care laws, could negatively affect Ana's Norwegian Bakeri's financial performance or ability to continue to operate. Specifically, any additional regulation on the industry could significantly negatively affect the business.

Conflict of Interest With Companies and Their Management

In many ways, your interests and the interests of Ana's Norwegian Bakeri's management will coincide: you both want Ana's Norwegian Bakeri to be as successful as possible. However, your interests might be in conflict in other important areas, including these: You might want Ana's Norwegian Bakeri to act conservative to make sure they are best equipped to repay the Note obligations, while Ana's Norwegian Bakeri might prefer to spend aggressively to invest in the business. You would like to keep the compensation of managers low, while managers want to make as much as they can.

Future Investors Might Have Superior Rights

If Ana's Norwegian Bakeri needs more capital in the future and takes on additional debt or other sources of financing, the new investors might have rights superior to yours. For example, they might have the right to be paid before you are, to receive larger distributions, to have a greater voice in management, or otherwise.

The Company is Not Subject to the Corporate Governance Requirements of the National Securities Exchanges

Any company whose securities are listed on a national stock exchange (for example, the New York Stock Exchange) is subject to a number of rules about corporate governance that are intended to protect investors. For example, the major U.S. stock exchanges require listed companies to have an audit committee made up entirely of independent members of the board of directors (i.e., directors with no material outside relationships with Ana's Norwegian Bakeri or management), which is responsible for monitoring Ana's Norwegian Bakeri's compliance with the law. Ana's Norwegian Bakeri will not be required to implement these and other investor protections.

You Have a Limited Upside

Notes include a maximum amount you can receive. You cannot receive more than that even if Ana's Norwegian Bakeri is significantly more successful than your initial expectations.

You Do Have a Downside

Conversely, if Ana's Norwegian Bakeri fails to generate enough revenue, you could lose some or all of your money.

Payments and Return Are Unpredictable

Because your payments are based on the revenue of Ana's Norwegian Bakeri, and the revenue of Ana's Norwegian Bakeri can go up or down (or even disappear altogether) unpredictably, it is impossible to predict how much you will receive and when. And because the payments are unpredictable, so is your ultimate return.

The Notes Are Unsecured and Uninsured

The Notes are not secured by any collateral, nor are they guaranteed or insured by the FDIC or any other entity.

Subordination

The Notes shall be subordinated to all indebtedness of Ana's Norwegian Bakeri to banks, commercial finance lenders, leasing and equipment financing institutions, and/or other institutions regularly engaged in the business of lending money.

Lack of Guaranty

The Notes are not personally guaranteed by any of the founders or any other person.

Limitation of Individual Rights in Event of Default

In the event of a default under the Notes, you will not be able to enforce your rights individually (for example, by bringing a lawsuit). Instead, a representative will be appointed according to the procedures set forth in the Note Indenture. It's possible that you will not like the representative, or that the representative will do things you believe are wrong or misguided. If an event of default has occurred and a representative has been appointed, all of the representative's reasonable expenses must be paid before any further payments are made with respect to the Notes.

COVID-19 Impact

The ongoing COVID-19 pandemic may impact the Company's ability to generate revenue and/or continue operations. If operations are ceased due to COVID-19 restrictions, the Company can not guarantee that it will resume operations in the future.

This information is provided by Ana's Norwegian Bakeri. Mainvest never predicts or projects performance, and has not reviewed or audited this information. For additional information, review the official Form C filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission on the EDGAR website.

congrats on the news. You may want to bring in a person to help with the early morning baking, will help you as doing 1am work will burn you out quickly. If I remember the counter had limited display space as the goods were displayed on top of counter. Recommend to remove counter and get larger display cases. See if other bakers will provide you with goods also == baked to your specifications. Also when pulling out a box for customers to put good in, order larger boxes so they will order more. The extra revenue goes to pay employees, full time and help the company build some cash reserves

Ana - congrats on the minimum raise. I invested in the first round. Wanted to send you some info from outside point of view. The entire counter is covered. Suggest to make space for the cash register to be seen and interact more with customers. There appears to be a lot of open space-- so the recommendation is to make more product-- take the right side that has wall seating and make shelves for ready to go products in boxes or more breads. Also when customers come in-- take out a box for 4-6 pastry and that will encourage them to buy more than just 1 for themselves. Also maybe on the side shelves display larger pastery items and charge 3x. I have a sweet tooth-- since I see the pastry they all look the same size, but if I saw something larger- I would always chose that first

Hi Lon! I apologize for taking so long to respond to your feedback. I really appreciate that you took the time to write me some suggestions, and I will look at how some of these would work in the Bakeri. Thank you so much for supporting my business in the first round I held, and again for your support during this round. I truly appreciate it! Ana

What is the current head count in your bakery? I see the salary expense rather low over the course of a 5 year period. What are your goals for scaling the business as sales grow?

Anne-Marie F. Englewood, CO 12 months ago Ana's Norwegian Bakeri Entrepreneur

I've been in business since May 2020. I have not started paying myself until recently. I am the only person on payroll currently. I hope to add a few menu items to offer a simple breakfast and lunch option. Long term I envision the Bakeri to open other locations. I'm decided on the first two possible locations after doing market research this past year. I see increases in sales and customer count weekly, and if sales continue in the same pattern it's currently following I will need to hire part time and/or full time help sooner than I originally anticipated.

I love your dedication to the business. I thought based on the profile page

...you will be hiring a business and marketing manager to scale your business by increasing the partnerships with catering halls, restaurants, and coffee shops. Your numbers are pretty conservative, which is good. Your long term goal is suitable with your forecast in the data room.

Thank you so much for your feedback, I appreciate it very much. I just partnered with a company to help me optimize my SEO's on a monthly basis to help drive more business my way through search engines. Many of my new customers found me through their online search for a bakery or while searching for cakes, and I feel confident that this partnership will increase my customer count and revenue.

What are your current profit margins between wholesale to local coffee shops and individual customers? Also do you have intentions on starting an e-commerce website to sell your products online and ship them nationwide? I feel you will have larger profit margins selling online rather than wholesale.

Anne-Marie F. Englewood, CO 12 months ago Ana's Norwegian Bakeri Entrepreneur

My current profit margin in retail is 300-600% depending on the product. Wholesale will be 200-300% depending on the product. I already sell online, but I do not currently ship because once I ship I can no longer guarantee the integrity and quality of the product.

Hello - Can you share if you've been able to secure any retail stores to sell/feature your items? If so how are sales going at those locations? Is revenue still averaging around 2500 a month?

Hi, and thank you for your question! I have three prospective coffeeshop clients, and one additional business interested in offering my baked goods. There are no sales yet in these venues because I need to secure a commercial kitchen in order to wholesale. Sales are down a little overall this month due to new Covid restrictions, but have been picking up over the last week for the Holidays. Please let me know if I can answer anything else.

Nothing quite like a local bakery. Wish I had one here in Florida, but for now, I hope all those Coloradans enjoy it.

Ana's Norwegian Bakeri isn't accepting investments right now, but is trying to get a sense of how they should structure their offering. You will not need to provide any money, and we won't be accepting money or selling securities, until all of its forms with the SEC and you have no obligation to ultimately invest. All investments must be done through Mainvest.com. Once the offering goes live, you'll be able to invest if you so choose.
