Allow me to introduce myself, I'm Matthew, Jeffrey's partner here at 7 Grain Army.

I felt like jumping in and seasoning things up a bit. Give you an update, get a little personal and spread some

Holy cannoli it's been 6 months since we opened this little project and what a roller coaster it's been. Entrepreneurial trials and tribulations that come along with running your own business. I believe both flexibility and a ruthless backbone to success; However, Ironically having a smart plan is just as important.

When we created the 7 Grain Army, our main goal was creating food with a purpose. Not just making healthy relationship with eating.

This is personal. I started thinking about our mascot about 20 years ago when I lost my first 135 pounds driving rice and beans and whipping up my own condiments to keep things exciting. It was simple, I rode my bike to shedding years of anger why I was never taught to eat right and prioritize self worth. I ate my emotions in drugs alcohol and dipped everything in ranch dressing. So I ask you this:

Who are you betting on in a battle of craving vs sustenance?

At 7 Grain Army we think these two should be on the same team, don't you? In the next couple months, I'm launching our marketing strategy with our new, awesome social media guru, Ally. We are gonna make sure our message is content that people want and it's focused on building our customer base. Let's get this started...

Hello MainVestors,

Welcome back to regular 7 Grain Army updates! Apologies for the long delay - it's not that we haven't had any updates, we've made a HUGE transition from bake-sale pop-ups to regular (albeit limited) opening hours and the past five weeks have been a stop activity. Here are some of the biggest highlights.

7GA EAT Menu. In addition to the line-up of muFins, wellness beverages and pantry staples that were always popular, we are now offering a concise menu of made to order sandwiches and grab 'n' go breakfast and lunch items but we wanted to make sure not to lose sight of the bigger picture, which is growing from corner bakery and aisle manufacturer. It took several weeks to get it right, but we're now offering a pair of show-stopping sandwiches, breakfast tacos on our gluten free tortillas, overnight grains with coconut yogurt and 7GA granola and jams, marinated chickpeas, and snack plates featuring our pecan oat crackers. Thanks to Matthew's careful scrutiny and appeal to attract a wide variety of guests, hits all the marks for the morning and afternoon on-the-go eater and can be execute with nothing requiring more than a thirty second ticket time.

Hello MainVestors,

Last week was the inaugural 7 Grain Army Bake Sale, and what a day it was! Not only was this the first time v menu to paying customers, it also allowed us to demo the pre-order / pick-up model that we expect to utilize. As a final touch, we were able to procure branded stickers and labels just in time for the event, and boy did c

So how did it go? Pretty good, all in all. We are our own biggest critics and there are plenty of things that could have improved the execution of the food and drinks themselves, but also in the overall logistics and planning. That said, we are grateful for the support from our community, and for the opportunity to continue learning, assessing our progress and determining t

The feedback from our many happy guests was incredible, and we are fortunate to have reached some pretty good. One of the most delightful responses was a gushing review in Gothamist, by Scott Lynch. He couldn't get enough 7GA, as he ate his way through his spread. And he documented the whole affair with some fantastic photos, including our Lemon Cake and Pecan Chickpea Crackers with Sunflower Tahini.

The production for this event was heavy, especially for our two person team and small kitchen space. Our most important it is to make a few key equipment upgrades before we are open for good. These include a larger number of ovens for additional oven capacity. Our mantra throughout the entire process of building this concept is that it needs to be able to handle scaling, and is always a few steps ahead. Fortunately, those final pieces of equipment are within our reach. The capital we have raised on MainVest.

Our campaign currently stands at $52,600, and I'm pleased to announce we will be extending it for another 1 month when I say we never could have made it this far without YOU. Stay tuned, we are so close we can almost taste our announcements coming very soon.

Thank you for being a part of this.

Jeffrey

Our online shop is now open and ready to accept Bake Sale orders here.

We couldn't have made it this far without all of your support, and we want to thank you for bearing with us. Our anticipation has been palpable and we are incredibly excited to reward your patience and finally share this project with you.

With 16 days remaining on our MainVest campaign, our raise stands at $46,800. The early investor bonus of $5,000 will reach $50,000.

We look forward to seeing you all on April 20th!

Hello MainVestors,

A big part of our philosophy here at 7 Grain Army is our approach to hospitality. Even though our ultimate goal is to create a manufacturing space, we understand that we are in the business of people first. That means our most powerful customers in a fun, upbeat and memorable way. The food is the vehicle, but the emotion attached to the 7GA is everything we do.

This past Saturday, we took the first step towards bringing this hospitality experience to life. On a crisp, sunny day, we opened our windows, invited our neighbors to sample the very first almost finalized whole grain baked goodie, and spread a soundtrack of soul, reggae and old school R&B. It was meant to be a spontaneous event, but a small crowd gathered outside the shop.

We gave away 100 oat blueberry muFins in a few hours. Matthew and I have really honed in on this one, and it's gluten free and dairy free, packed with oats, flax and chia, not too much sugar, loads of gut-friendly probiotics, Coconut Yogurt, and of course plenty of antioxidant-rich blueberries. The feedback was nothing short of incredible. The texture, the restrained sweetness and the contrast of the crunchy top to the tender interior. Perhaps the best part was a gentleman with a sensitive stomach, who said he felt great afterwards and can't wait to be able to eat 7GA.

As encouraging as all of this was, the most important thing to come out of it was the opportunity to interact with our community about their wants and needs. We have a vision for 7 Grain Army, but we aren't doing it for ourselves. We do it for our community, which means we have to always keep in mind how we can best support THEM.

are a lot of expectations attached to this project because it is being labeled as a "sequel" to SCRATCHbread can't stress enough that 7GA is a different concept.

Matthew and I are working to develop a very specific ethos: gut friendly, whole grain foods that are gluten free as possible. But beneath all of that is a mission to empower the everyday eater to make better food choices by nutrient-rich baked goods.

We have to be extremely disciplined in our R&D process. It's already a huge challenge to create plant-based comforting, familiar and meet our nutritional standards. But on top of that, we also strive to make 7GA accessible we are constantly assessing our ingredients to ensure we can deliver the best quality products at friendly, even

It feels daunting at times but it is also incredibly rewarding to bring this thing to life and stay true to our ideal us. There is much more to come and we can't wait to share it with you.

Hello MainVestors,

Belated Happy New Year to all! We aren't much for making formal resolutions here at 7 Grain Army, but we are in reflection and doing our best to live in the present moment. As we forge ahead into this new and exciting chapter and feel immense gratitude. It already seems like ages, but in just over three short months we managed to secure location, outfit it with the full range of equipment necessary for operation, and develop a unique, memorable

This is the home we are building for the community-driven business of our dreams, and we never would have had your support. So THANK YOU for believing in us and being a part of this journey.

Our investment campaign was scheduled to end at midnight last night. Over the course of 70 days, we were able to hit our minimum target of $10,000 in the first two weeks! But we're not done yet - thanks to all of your investment enthusiasm for our project, the good people at MainVest offered us the opportunity to extend our campaign

People keep asking when we are opening and the answer is always "when we are ready." I want to give a quick answer means. Winter is a hard time for the hospitality industry in New York City, and this year will be especially challenging with associated restrictions. We designed our business model with that in mind and always intended to focus on a slow still taking a measured approach, avoiding commitments that require a large labor footprint, and making sure we can run 7 Grain Army without any additional staff for the next few months. We also want our products to be absolutely accessible to the public. There won't be a formal launch with a full menu, but we are not far off from rolling out at least one of our plant-based muFin flavors and you will be the first to know!

We set a relatively low minimum on MainVest because we knew we could get things rolling with some modest investments from friends. But our maximum target of $150,000 will allow us to take on staff more quickly, upgrade our kitchen with some state-of-the-art equipment to increase production capacity and the overall reach of our product line. We are instrumental in sustaining our growth and ensuring 7 Grain Army is the best version of itself for years to come.

bit of palm sugar. But don't take my word for it – see for yourself.

Corn Jalapeno – We've been excited about this one since we first imagined this whole grain muFin program. Fresh jalapenos, can't go wrong there, right? But that wasn't enough for us, because we really wanted it to stand in some fonio grains from our friends at Yolele Foods. For those who aren't familiar with it, fonio is a superfood for you, the people who grow it, and the environment.

Carrot Quinoa – We got an incredible take on your classic carrot cake. Not only does it deliver on all the great things you want, it's also loaded with cooked quinoa kernels for extra texture and enhanced with some wonderful anti-inflammatories. Everything you want in your favorite fresh juice, and tastier than any carrot muffin you've ever had.

We've got 21 days remaining in our campaign, which currently stands at $21,500. Wishing everyone happy holidays and bringing in with the rest of our muFin line-up soon. As always, thanks for all your support and generosity.

Best,

Jeffrey

DECEMBER 4TH, 2020

Friday, December 4th

Hello MainVestors,

Happy Friday! Just like that, we are in December. The year is winding down and we are pushing our hardest to reach our goal. We currently stand at $19,300 thanks to a total of 27 investors. We are humbled by all your generous support and please share this with those who came aboard in the past week and a half.

Between build-out, equipment installations, and our swanky new mural, it has felt like a mad dash to get the bakery up and running as quickly as possible. We successfully tackled all the big pieces over the course of November, and now it's all in full swing here and that means aside from tinkering with recipes all day long, we are making sure to source the best ingredients. This week we want to highlight a few of our incredible partners, who represent the same feel good values that we stand for.

Anson Mills: These folks from Columbia, South Carolina are milling some of the best darn heirloom grains around. They are using their Roasted Corn Flour, an 18th century corn variety that is milled fresh every week and wood roasted. It's sweet, buttery, smokey delicious. Also, expect to see their Antebellum coarse corn grits make an appearance in our muFins.

Rio Grande Organics: It is really important that all of our baked goods are packed with nutrients, so we take care to source the best ingredients. These guys are the largest organic pecan farm in North America, and we are thrilled to bring their incredible products to our Brooklyn neighbors. From hearty pecan streusels to rich flavorful pecan flour baked directly into our muFins, we will be honoring all the hard work these farmers put in to produce an incredible example of sustainable agriculture.

Mural: We've been working with an amazing local artist since 7 Grain Army was just an idea in our heads, and life every step of the way. One of the most exciting projects we envisioned together was to put our own distill delivered a super unique "grainscape" against a creamy, jade-grey base. What's more, the organic leafy aest plants in the windows, and wow does it pop from the street. I'll let the image speak for itself:

We're taking a little pause for Thanksgiving, but we'll be back at it next week. The great news is we are now installations. Thanks for all the love and support, and wishing everyone a safe and happy holiday.

Jeffrey

NOVEMBER 20TH, 2020

Friday, November 20th

Hello MainVestors,

Happy Friday! It's been a really exciting week here at 7GA HQ. Delighted to report that our campaign now sta 14 investors who have supported us so far, and welcome to those who came on this week!

Our space is now almost fully ready to operate. We made tons of progress this week with sourcing and settin time to add some really nice aesthetic touches. Here are the highlights:

Ovens: We just installed two brand new Moffat Turbofan Convection Ovens. That means we are ready to star mixer, and outfitted our kitchen with work tables, shelving and a few other significant pieces, like a KitchenA

Line: There's a brand new sandwich prep refrigerator in the house! This will hold all of our tasty condiments muFins, and allow us to efficiently put out sandwiches and bowls. We're starting to outfit the shelf with dual pastries and crisp up breakfast sandwiches in record time. And... we got a pretty nifty electric tortilla press t grain wraps. Can't wait to see this station in action!

FOH / Counter: Plants! We are filling out the order and pick-up windows with all the lush greenery we can fin afternoon, with the windows open and old school reggae playing on the speakers. This is a big step towards want our customers to experience every time they interact with 7 Grain Army hospitality.

Thanksgiving is right around the corner and we are getting ready to debut a few muFin flavors. The next big program. By early next week we'll have a working coffee machine and grinder, and a tap fridge for cold brew essentially complete all the big equipment purchases and have us ready to rock service!

We expect to have more news right before the holiday. As always, much LUV to everyone and thanks for beir really doing here. Also, we have this awesome new poster in the window with a QR code that takes you straight to our website. The neighborhood is really starting to get curious!

Every week feels like a big one now, but next week is going to be even more exciting!

The rest of our kitchen equipment is coming in, including a floor mixer and two convection ovens. Which means we can start to share some of the new products.

We'll be doing some serious work on the outside of the building, including hanging a branded wooden sign. A lot of things are in mind too, that will really change the entire streetscape. More on that soon.

Thanks again for all your support and well wishes. Until next time.

Seven Grain Army was established in 2021. Accordingly, there are limited financial statements and information evaluating this investment opportunity, investors should consider factors outlined in the risk section as well.

Other outstanding debt or equity

As of 01/20/21, 7 Grain Army has debt of $25,000 outstanding and a cash balance of $0. This debt is source and will be senior to any investment raised on Mainvest. In addition to the 7 Grain Army's outstanding debt a Grain Army may require additional funds from alternate sources at a later date.

Risk Factors

You Might Lose Your Money

When you buy a certificate of deposit from a bank, the Federal government (through the FDIC) guarantees your money. A Note is not like that at all. The ability of 7 Grain Army to make the payments you expect, and ultimately to complete the investment, depends on a number of factors, including many beyond our control.

Limited Services

7 Grain Army operates with a very limited scope, offering only particular services to potential clients, making customer preferences.

Lack of Accounting Controls

Larger companies typically have in place strict accounting controls. Smaller companies typically lack these controls, which is an additional risk.

Competition

The market in which we operate is highly competitive and could become increasingly competitive with new entrants.

The law prohibits you from selling your securities (except in certain very limited circumstances) for 12 months after the end of that one-year period, a host of Federal and State securities laws may limit or restrict your ability to sell your securities. If you want to sell, you will likely have difficulty finding a buyer because there will be no established market. Given these restrictions, you should hold your investment for its full term.

The Company Might Need More Capital

7 Grain Army might need to raise more capital in the future to fund/expand operations, buy property and equipment, develop new market its services, pay overhead and general administrative expenses, or a variety of other reasons. There is no assurance that additional capital will be available when needed, or that it will be available on terms that are not adverse to your interests. If 7 Grain Army is unable to obtain additional funding when needed, it could be forced to delay its business plan or even cease operations.

Changes in Economic Conditions Could Hurt 7 Grain Army

Factors like global or national economic recessions, changes in interest rates, changes in credit markets, changes in consumer spending, declining employment, changes in real estate values, changes in tax policy, changes in political conditions, and other factors are unpredictable and could negatively affect 7 Grain Army's financial performance or ability to operate. If 7 Grain Army ceases operations due to the foregoing factors, it can not guarantee that it will be able to resume operations in the future.

No Registration Under Securities Laws

The Notes will not be registered with the SEC or the securities regulator of any State. Hence, neither 7 Grain Army nor the Notes will be subject to the same degree of regulation and scrutiny as if they were registered.

Incomplete Offering Information

Title III does not require us to provide you with all the information that would be required in some other kinds of securities offerings or public offering of shares (for example, publicly-traded firms must generally provide investors with quarterly financial statements that have been audited by an independent accounting firm). Although Title III does require extensive information, it is not as complete as the information you would receive in a different decision if you had more information.

Lack of Ongoing Information

7 Grain Army will be required to provide some information to investors for at least 12 months following the offering. This information will be far more limited than the information that would be required of a publicly-reporting company; and 7 Grain Army may not provide annual information in certain circumstances.

Uninsured Losses

Although 7 Grain Army will carry some insurance, 7 Grain Army may not carry enough insurance to protect against all risks. Additionally, there are some kinds of risks that are very difficult or impossible to insure against, at least at a reasonable cost.

The Company is Not Subject to the Corporate Governance Requirements of the National Securities Exchange

Any company whose securities are listed on a national stock exchange (for example, the New York Stock Exchange) is subject to the rules about corporate governance that are intended to protect investors. For example, the major U.S. stock exchanges require a company to have an audit committee made up entirely of independent members of the board of directors (i.e., directors with no material relationships with 7 Grain Army or management), which is responsible for monitoring 7 Grain Army's compliance with these rules. 7 Grain Army is not a public company and is not required to implement these and other investor protections.

You Have a Limited Upside

Notes include a maximum amount you can receive. You cannot receive more than that even if 7 Grain Army increases the value of your investment beyond your initial expectations.

You Do Have a Downside

Conversely, if 7 Grain Army fails to generate enough revenue, you could lose some or all of your money.

Payments and Return Are Unpredictable

Because your payments are based on the revenue of 7 Grain Army, and the revenue of 7 Grain Army can go up or down (and, altogether) unpredictably, it is impossible to predict how much you will receive and when. And because the payments are not guaranteed, your ultimate return.

The Notes Are Unsecured and Uninsured

The Notes are not secured by any collateral, nor are they guaranteed or insured by the FDIC or any other entity.

Subordination

The Notes shall be subordinated to all indebtedness of 7 Grain Army to banks, commercial finance lenders, insurance companies, and/or other institutions regularly engaged in the business of lending money.

Lack of Guaranty

The Notes are not personally guaranteed by any of the founders or any other person.

Limitation of Individual Rights in Event of Default

In the event of a default under the Notes, you will not be able to enforce your rights individually (for example, you will not be able to sue 7 Grain Army individually). A representative will be appointed according to the procedures set forth in the Note Indenture. It's possible that the representative will do things you believe are wrong or misguided. If an event of default has occurred, all of the representative's reasonable expenses must be paid before any further payments are made.

Hi Jerome, thank you for checking in. The revenue report only represents the period following the close of our year. For the last two months of 2021, we reduced our hours of operation from six days a week to four days a week to support our staff the shop. Many of our team had already requested time off for the holidays, and as Omicron cases surge (many of us in the NYC hospitality industry), we made the difficult decision to close for the final two weeks of the year. These challenges impacted our profitability during this period, and we are fortunate to have had a reserve of cash on hand and the support of our MainVest community. That said, we now have a much stronger team in place, and start a five day schedule (with the goal of going back to six days in early February). We also used the additional time to trim our menu of inefficiencies and lay the groundwork for new revenue streams (more on this to come soon). Repayments will be made on a quarterly basis until all investors are paid back in full. As such, you can expect the conclusion of our first full quarter of operation following the close of our raise.

These guys have a long track record of not only cranking out ridiculously delicious baked goc businesses revamp their menus to become more successful. Their hearts are in the right place, they're wildl push our expectations of what good food means. I'm confident that they will be able to navigate this dynami these uncertain times. All the best!!
