Executive summary

HighRes Labs is a testing facility originating in Oklahoma that will specialize in the analysis of CBD, hemp and medical marijuana (MMJ) and their related products. It is our mission to provide fast, accurate testing to the CBD, hemp and MMJ supply chain using modern technologies and highly trained professionals. Our leadership team is composed of a degreed Chemist with a PhD in engineering, a successful entrepreneur investor, and a marketing executive with an MBA. HighRes Labs will begin operations in CBD testing, then complete our ISO-17025 certification and, after obtaining our Oklahoma Medical Marijuana Authority (OMMA) license, will begin testing MMJ and MMJ products. As the State's MMJ industry skyrockets from $350 million in 2019 to a projected $1+ billion in 2022, the ancillary testing industry will triple along with it as demand for testing accelerates. While we solidify our operations and achieve financial stability, we will strive to open additional labs in surrounding states with growing CBD or MMJ markets.

Company description

CBD was nationally legalized in 2018, and medical marijuana was legalized in Oklahoma the same year. The growth in both has been unexpectedly high, attracting an educated, affluent consumer who wants safe products and transparency in potency components. The only way to be certain of both is to test samples using sensitive, expensive equipment. For MMJ, testing is state mandated and products cannot move into the supply chain without a passing grade from a licensed third party lab. When MMJ was first legalized in

HIGHRES LABS

Oklahoma, many labs converted from medical or oilfield water testing to meet the demand. While it was easy at first to achieve an OMMA license, certification requirements have tightened over time and many labs will not be able to satisfy the new regulations. In addition, some of the labs are slow and use old transaction recording methods which create bottlenecks. HighRes Labs will use fast, cloud based software to streamline procedures and generate accurate results with shorter turnaround time, important to growers and processors that must have these test results in hand prior to any product sale. We will be configured exclusively for handling hemp and marijuana products, and will be able to scale with additional equipment and trained staff.

Our first location will be in Edmond OK, near the highest traffic zones for local hemp and MMJ growers and processors. We will then look for additional locations in other parts of Oklahoma and expand into surrounding states like TX, KS and NE as MMJ legislation is passed.

Market analysis

The MMJ market in Oklahoma was $350 million in 2019, and expected to top $850 million in 2020. As the industry grows, products cannot move without first being tested and certified by a licensed lab like HighRes Labs. The customers for HighRes Labs are licensed growers, processors, and dispensaries and can all be found on the OMMA web site (omma.ok.gov). There are 6,000 growers, 1,300 processors, 2,000 dispensaries and 350,000 consumers in Oklahoma, and the numbers are increasing monthly.

The largest complaint of Oklahoma's growers and processors is the slow turnaround time they experience while waiting for their lab test results. The top complaint from OMMA is fraudulent "pay for play" lab activity where fictitious passing grades are being recorded for products in exchange for under the table compensation and/or guaranteed volumes of testing work from growers and processors. HighRes Labs has a co-founder who has 17 years of lab operation experience including hemp and MMJ and knows the business inside and out. We will start with fast equipment, comprehensive operational procedures, and cloud based software to run all parts of the company. We will fiercely guard our reputation for honesty and integrity in all our business dealings and will steer clear of controversy by maintaining strict adherence to all OMMA rules and regulations.

Having online operations experience and a co-founder with Certified Information Systems Auditor (CISA) experience will allow us to quickly obtain our ISO-17025 compliance certification, and the OMMA operating license will soon follow. While some competing labs will have online operations, many will not. Out of 23 licensed labs from 2020, only 5 currently have the ISO-17025 certification. Beginning Jan 1, 2021, this certification will be a requirement to obtain a new OMMA license or renew an existing OMMA license.

After we prove out our Oklahoma model with successful market penetration and streamlined operations, we plan on opening additional locations, either in Oklahoma and/or surrounding states. While the first location will be company owned, we intend to consider a franchise model, similar to the fast food industry, to fuel our expansion. Growth in MMJ product sales in the US continues to accelerate and since testing goes hand in hand with sales, demand for testing services continues to ramp up as well.

This chart confirms that testing follows sales growth but these estimates do not reflect the enormous potential impact if legalization of THC based products occurs at the national level. HighRes Labs will strive to have a substantial footprint across multiple states prior to any form of national decriminalization.

Our strategy will be to get ahead of the curve and begin testing hemp and CBD products in states where some form of MMJ legalization is likely, and be working on compliance criteria for licensing in those states. Then, when legalization occurs, our labs will already be positioned to become a dominant player in these new MMJ markets.

In the orange states above, only CBD can legally be sold since it was decriminalized nationally in 2018. From the US Sales and Testing chart featured earlier, one can see that testing is a growth market (15% compound annual growth) even before all states accept at least medical marijuana.

If marijuana is decriminalized nationally, the demand for testing will increase dramatically. HighRes Labs will be positioned to meet the supply gaps and be an acquisition target for larger multiple state organizations (MSO) interested in

Service or product line

HighRes Labs has the domain name highreslab.com along with hireslabs.com. We will trademark the name as soon as we are open for business.

Our primary CBD service will be Potency Testing (THC concentration for CBD products cannot be > 0.3%), which we will offer at a highly discounted rate to drive customer trials. Our goals in the early months of the lab operations will be to set up lab equipment, develop SOPs, acquire and train staff, optimize operating procedures and provide fast, accurate and consistent lab results as we build our reputation in the market for excellence in all phases of operation.

Once we obtain our state license to process the full range of MMJ based products, we will offer the full OMMA compliance package testing option to customers. The compliance packages are a little different for each state, but for Oklahoma they will focus on Potency (concentration of THC, CBD, terpene, etc.) and Contaminants (detection of pesticides, mycotoxins, heavy metals, microbials, residual solvents, etc.). The full Oklahoma compliance test will cost $350 with two day turnaround time, and less if customers are willing to wait or increase testing volume.

Ultimately, we wish to move to a revenue model where Growers and Processors subscribe to a monthly charge in order to reserve lab capacity and secure volume discounts.

Marketing and sales

The first potential customers for HighRes Labs' testing services are hemp growers and CBD processors and retail stores in Oklahoma and possibly in surrounding states (for example TX) as well. Since CBD customers want to know the contents of the products they're purchasing and the only way to do that is by testing, it is a logical startup path for an unlicensed lab. We will call on all of the CBD stores in the local trade area first and use price as a market penetrator. This is also a great opportunity to gain valuable operating experience as we begin to establish market visibility for our brand prior to OMMA licensing.

It will take us almost one hundred days to achieve ISO 17025 certification. During that time, we will be setting up lab equipment, developing SOPs, hiring the equipment operators, training them on our processes, documenting our operating procedures, and smoothing out any kinks in our online systems. By the end of the 4 months, we expect to achieve ISO-17025 certification and receive our OMMA operating license.

Once our OMMA license is received, we can market our services to all 6,000 licensed growers, all 1,300 licensed processors and all 2,000 licensed dispensaries that are listed on the OMMA website. As a result of our active involvement in a local cannabis industry trade organization, we now already know many of them and they are anxious for us to get funded and begin operations.

Funding request

The lab will require a two year lease agreement, funding for testing equipment, and staff to begin operations and a 1 year runway. The lease and setup will be $120k, equipment $500k, and staff $250k. We are raising $900k to comfortably set up and run operations for the first 8-10 months. By then, revenues will be strong and we will begin accumulating retained earnings. The lab is expected to operate at margins at or near 50%, so we will quickly move to profitability and then use our net income to finance additional equipment and expansion. If we choose to open another location, we may need to raise additional capital for similar startup funding.

We will be crowdfunding at a post money valuation of $4.5 million. This means that every CF share will be sold for $4/share. HighRes Labs co-founder Rick Jones is an accredited investor, and we may be able to get started with as little as $300k in equity fundraising by using debt to acquire the equipment.

Financial projections

At startup, we will slowly acquire CBD customers to ensure their complete satisfaction and allow us to validate our operations. The testing process is complex, and earning the ISO-17025 certification standard requires good controls, repeatable processes, and impeccable documentation. As our confidence grows, we will scale up our CBD testing and be ready for OMMA licensing. Once we obtain our license, it is our expectation that growth will occur quickly and revenues will climb. Our first goal is to become (Revenue - Expenses =) Income positive by the end of the second quarter of OMMA licensed operations, and then cash flow positive (i.e. retained earnings becomes positive) in the second year.

RISK FACTORS

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. You should not invest any funds in this offering unless you can afford to lose your entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky:

The company is still subject to all the same risks that all companies in its business, and all companies in the economy, are exposed to. These include risks relating to economic downturns, political and economic events and technological developments (such as hacking and the ability to prevent hacking).

Additionally, early-stage companies are inherently more risky than more developed companies. You should consider general risks as well as specific risks when deciding whether to invest.

These are the risks that relate to the company:

- negative publicity; or
- exposure to liability claims.

Any one or more of the foregoing occurrences could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations, or could cause our business to fail.

Why we may fail

• Crowdfunding for early stage companies is relatively new. Crowdfunding (defined as online offerings of the securities of early stage companies to retail investors) is a relatively new industry that has only started to develop with the SEC's adoption of Regulation A+ in June 2015 and Regulation Crowdfunding on May 16, 2016. Early stage companies may be slow to adopt crowdfunding as a method of capital formation, which would mean fewer deals for investors to choose from and less research for us to prepare. Alternatively, investors may be slow to adopt crowdfunding as a viable investment substitute, which would mean fewer early stage companies raising money and a smaller potential customer base. As a result, a risk exists that we acquire fewer customers or acquire customers at a slower pace than we anticipate.

• Will the states where marijuana is legal in some form reverse the rulings? We are dependent on the market having demand for legal cannabis products. Our numbers predict a continuing and growing demand for cannabis based products, and sweeping bias against legalization could put the demand side for our major source of revenue at risk. This could happen if some major health concern was identified in cannabis plants that made them unsafe to use. We would be able to pivot to other testing business lines, but they may not be as profitable as cannabis.

• Will there be sufficient market for our products and at what price point? We will only succeed if there is sufficient demand for our independent testing. The state of Oklahoma, where we begin operations, requires that all medical marijuana be tested before it can enter the supply chain. CBD and medical marijuana products are sought by affluent and educated consumers who expect quality and safety in their products. If Oklahoma drops the demand for third party testing and consumers lose interest in the safety and transparency of their purchased products, all testing labs will be at a disadvantage.

• This is a brand-new company. We were formed in 2020, have only recently launched our website, and have no revenues. If you are investing in this company, it's because you believe in the idea and the market opportunity, the quality of the team, and the direction of the business to date.

• We compete with other companies. A number of competitors exist that either provide hemp, CBD or licensed medical marijuana testing or some combination. Currently, the mmj testing labs operating in the state of Oklahoma have grandfathered licenses that expire at the end of the year. As the market grows, the state implements newer and tougher regulations that may stifle existing labs while giving us the advantage.

• Our accountant has included a “going concern” note in its review report. We may not raise enough funds to sustain the business until it becomes profitable. Our ability to remain in business is reliant on the purchase of equipment to be used for hemp and CBD testing. We may not generate sufficient cash flows to stay in business if we cannot purchase adequate equipment.

• We depend on a small management team. We depend on the skill and experience of Dr. Qiliang Wang, Rick Jones, and Lynn Taggart. Each has a different skill set. Rick and Lynn are currently working for the company full-time. Dr. Wang has responsibilities to other companies and is not currently a paid employee. If Regulation Crowdfunding is adopted quickly as a viable way to raise money and demand for our product is high, our ability to raise sufficient capital may have an impact on our ability to attract and hire the right talent.

• Acquiring the ISO-17025 certification and license to test MMJ in Oklahoma may take longer than expected. While we have experience with certifications and even ISO-17025, the certification is granted by a third party and is not under our direct control. We expect that our years of experience with certifications and audits will allow us to achieve the necessary licenses in a timely manner, but the path has some inherent risks.

• It is difficult for us to accurately predict our earnings potential. Because of the short operating history of Oklahoma based licensed laboratories, it is difficult to accurately assess growth rate and earnings potential. It is possible that our company will face many difficulties typical for early stage companies.

• Additional laboratories could come into the market, creating additional supply. This is a great opportunity and others may see it as well. It is imperative that we get our funding and establish our high technology operations to

• An investment in the Company’s securities involves substantial risk. Prospective investors should consider carefully the factors referred to below as well as others associated with their investment. In addition, this Memorandum contains forward-looking statements regarding future events and the future financial performance of the Company that involve significant risks and uncertainties. Investors are cautioned that such statements are predictions and beliefs of the Company, and the Company's actual results may differ materially from those discussed herein. The discussion below includes some of the material risk factors that could cause future results to differ from those described or implied in the forward looking statements and other information appearing elsewhere in this Memorandum. If any of the following risks, or any additional risks and uncertainties not listed below and not presently known to us, actually occur, our business could be harmed or fail. In such case, you may lose all or part of your Investment.

General Risks Associated with an Early Stage Company

As a new company we have a limited operating history. The Company was organized on June 2020. We have a limited operating history upon which you may evaluate our business and prospects. We are in the early stages of our business and have not yet commenced full-scale operations. Accordingly, we are in the initial revenue phase, and our activities to date have involved research and development, business planning, market testing and efforts to raise startup capital. Our business and prospects must be considered in light of the risk, expense and difficulties frequently encountered by prerevenue companies in early stages of development, particularly companies in highly competitive and evolving markets. If we are unable to effectively allocate our resources, manufacture our products, generate sales, or obtain and grow our customer base, our business operating results and financial condition would be adversely affected and we may be unable to execute our business plan, and our business could fail. Investors could therefore be at risk of losing their investment.

We expect losses in the foreseeable future. Excluding the effect of any future non-operating gains, we expect to incur losses for the foreseeable future and, if we ever generate revenues, or have profits, we may not be able to sustain them. Our expenses will increase as we build an infrastructure to implement our business model. For example, we may hire additional employees, expand information technology systems, and lease more space for our corporate offices. In addition, we plan to significantly increase our operating expenses to:

- fully develop and broaden our technology and product offerings;
- acquire customers/tenants
- explore opportunities and alliances with other companies; and
- facilitate business arrangements.

Our success is dependent on our key personnel. We believe that our success will depend on the skill and expertise of Dr. Wang. If he is unable to get us started, the operation and business will be at risk.

Projections are speculative and are based upon a number of assumptions. Any projected financial results prepared by or on behalf of the Company have not been independently reviewed, analyzed, or otherwise passed upon. Such “forward-looking” statements are based on various assumptions, which assumptions may prove to be incorrect. Such assumptions include, but are not limited to (i) the future status of local, regional and international economies, (ii) anticipated demand for our products, (iii) anticipated costs associated with the development, marketing, sales and distribution of our products, and (iv) anticipated procurement and retention of a customer base. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that such projections, assumptions, and statements will accurately predict future events or actual performance. Any projections of cash flow should be considered speculative and are qualified in their entirety by the assumptions, information and risks disclosed in this Memorandum. Investors are advised to consult with their own independent tax and business advisors concerning the validity and reasonableness of the factual, accounting and tax assumptions. No representations or warranties whatsoever are made by the Company, its affiliates or any other person or entity as to the future profitability of the Company or the results of making an investment in the Shares. If our future projections end up being significantly different than currently projected, our business could be greatly impacted. Our business therefore may not be able to sustain itself without the projected future revenues. The business could be at risk of closing, and investors may therefore be at risk of losing their investments.

We may not effectively manage growth. The anticipated growth of the Company's business will result in a corresponding growth in the demands on the Company's management and its operating infrastructure and internal controls. While we are planning for managed growth, any future growth may strain resources and operational, financial, human and management information systems, which may not be adequate to support the Company's operations and will require the Company to develop further management systems and procedures. There can be no guarantee that the Company will be able to develop such systems or procedures effectively on a timely basis. The failure to do so could have a material adverse effect upon the Company's business, operating results and financial condition. Investors could therefore be at risk of losing their investments if growth is not managed effectively.

Our efficiency may be limited while our current employees and future employees are being integrated into our operations. In addition, we may be unable to find and hire additional qualified management and professional personnel to help lead us. There is competition for qualified personnel in the area of the Company's activities, and there can be no assurance that the Company will be able to attract and retain qualified personnel necessary for the development of our business. If this business cannot effectively hire employees to help the company grow, the business could be at risk overall of not succeeding, and investors therefore may be at risk of losing their investment.

We expect our expenses to grow as the Company grows. Our expenses will increase as we build infrastructure to implement our business plan. For example, we may hire additional employees, expand our product offerings, and lease more space for our corporate offices. This poses a risk to the financial forecasts and current financial model of the Company.

The Company may not reach its sales goals. The Company has forecasted its capitalization requirements based on sales goals and cost containment measures; any reduction to these forecasts could make it difficult for the company to achieve its projected growth, which would affect available cash and working capital, ultimately affecting the Company's financial condition. This could put the investor at risk of losing their investment.

The Company may require additional financing to support working capital needs. The Company may need to explore additional financing transactions that management determines are in the best interest of the Company, including, without limitation, commercial debt transactions, private offerings of debt or equity securities, a rights offering, and other strategic alternatives. Such additional financing may not be available to the Company, or, if available, the Company may be unable to undertake such additional financing on terms that are advantageous to the Company. If the Company fails to raise additional capital in such an offering, or through other fund raising efforts, such a failure could have a material adverse effect on the Company, and investors in this Offering could be at greater risk of losing their investments due to the inability of the business to proceed with enough working capital to effectively run the Company.

If the Company incurs commercial debt, there may be risks associated with such borrowing. If the Company incurs commercial indebtedness, a portion of its cash flow will have to be dedicated to the payment of principal and interest on such indebtedness. Typical loan agreements also might contain restrictive covenants, which may impair the Company's operating flexibility. Such loan agreements would also provide for default under certain circumstances, such as failure to meet certain financial covenants. A default under a loan agreement could result in the loan becoming immediately due and payable and, if unpaid, a judgment in favor of such lender which would be senior to the rights of shareholders of the Company. A judgment creditor would have the right to foreclose on any of the Company's assets resulting in a material adverse effect on the Company's business, operating results or financial condition.

Management has broad discretion as to the use of proceeds. The net proceeds from this Offering will be used for the purposes described under "USE OF PROCEEDS." The Company reserves the right to use the funds obtained from this Offering and the Debt Offering for other similar purposes not presently contemplated, which it deems to be in the best interests of the Company in order to address changed circumstances or opportunities. This poses a risk to an investor should they be relying on current use of proceed forecasts for the investment as business conditions may require a change of the use of these funds.

Management has voting control of the Company. Management of the Company presently holds a majority of the issued and outstanding voting common stock in the Company. Due to their stock ownership and positions with the Company, the current officers will be in a position to continue to control the affairs and management of the Company after the Offering. Investors must rely entirely on our management to govern the affairs of the Company.

There may be unanticipated obstacles to the execution of the Company's business plan. The Company's business plans may change significantly. Our business plan is capital intensive. We believe that our chosen activities and strategies are achievable in light of current economic and legal conditions with the skills, background, and knowledge of our principals and advisors. Our management reserves the right to make significant modifications to its stated strategies depending on future events. Investors must be prepared for these potential modifications to stated strategies and understand the inherent risk to their investment that these modifications could pose.

Business may not grow as planned. The Company's ability to penetrate and expand markets for its products is dependent on its ability to maintain successful relationships with distributors and retailers. The Company's product will represent a small portion of any one of the distributors and retailers product line and the Company will be limited in its ability to incentivize and motivate distributors and retailers to manage and sell the Company's product vs. the potential resources of competitors. Beyond the Company's limited financial means to incentivize distributors and retailers, other external factors such as the level of demand, product pricing and production levels will affect the level of distribution. All of these factors will play a key role in the success of the Company, and if the business does not grow as planned, investors could be at risk of losing their investment due to the potential unsuccessful nature of the Company.

Risks Associated with the Business of the Company

You can lose 100% of your investment. Many small business startups like the Company fail. Real estate is a risky venture and it may fail to achieve its goals or carry out its business plans. Each investor bears the risk of losing all or part of his/her/its investment.

Delinquency risks. The Company will rent residential real estate to qualified tenants. There can be unforeseen changes in the performance of the tenants, property damage, or we could have too many tenant delinquencies. Longer-term, we are diversifying our offering by focusing increasingly on property acquisition and new lease terms, in order to attract well-qualified tenants with good rental pay histories.

Failure to adapt to technological changes may render our technology obsolete or decrease the attractiveness of our solutions to our customers. Although we believe our current technology and processes will be suitable for operations well into the foreseeable future, if new industry standards and practices emerge, or if competitors introduce new solutions embodying new services or technologies, our technology and processes may become obsolete. Our future success will depend in part on our ability to:

- fully develop and enhance our smart second screen technology;
- develop and potentially license new solutions and technologies that address the needs of our prospective customers; and
- respond to changes in industry standards and practices on a cost-effective and timely basis.

We must continue to enhance the features and functionality of our technology and product offerings. The effective performance, reliability and availability of our technology and product offerings are critical to our reputation and our ability to attract and retain users and customers. If we do not continue to make investments in product development and, as a result, or due to other reasons, fail to attract new and retain existing customers and investors, this could significantly decrease the value of our products and services to all customers and stakeholders. There can be no assurance that we will be successful in developing, marketing and selling new products and services that meet changing demands, that we will not experience difficulties that could delay or prevent the successful development, introduction, and marketing of these products and services, or that any new products and services and their enhancements will adequately meet the demands of the marketplace and achieve market acceptance.

We may experience defects and system failures with respect to our technology solutions, which would harm our business and reputation and expose us to potential liability. Our new testing service is based on sophisticated software and hardware systems, and we may encounter delays when developing new technology solutions, products and services. Further, the technology solutions underlying our products and services may in the future contain undetected errors or defects when first introduced or when new versions are released. In addition, we may experience difficulties in installing or integrating our technologies on cloud platforms. Defects in our technology solutions, errors or delays in development of our technology and products, or other difficulties could result in:

- interruption of business operations;
- delay in market acceptance;
- additional development and remediation costs;
- diversion of technical and other resources;
- loss of customers;

Other economic and public health conditions in the markets in which we operate, including rising commodity and fuel prices, higher labor costs, increased transportation costs, natural disasters, terrorist attacks, outbreaks of public health pandemics or other diseases, or third party conduct could negatively impact our business. Various economic and public health conditions can have a significant negative impact on our business. Significant increases in the costs of other products, which are required by consumers, such as gasoline, home heating fuels, or groceries, may reduce discretionary spending by our target market, which would negatively impact our business. Economic conditions may also be negatively impacted by terrorist attacks, wars and other conflicts, increases in critical commodity prices, or the prospect of such events. Such a weakened economic and business climate, as well as consumer uncertainty created by such a climate, could harm our revenues and profitability.

In addition to experiencing potentially lower or no revenues from our products during times of economic difficulty, in an effort to maintain sales during such times we may need to reduce the price of our products, increase our promotional spending, or take other steps to encourage consumer purchases of our products. Those steps may lower our net revenues, if any, decrease our operating margins, increase our costs and/or lower our profitability, to the extent it is ever achieved.

Operational risks. Supply chain matters are not entirely controllable. First, component vendors could fail to supply key inputs in a timely manner, with sufficient levels of quality, or at a scalable price. Second, our equipment depends on supplies and solvents that may not be delivered in a timely manner or with sufficient levels of quality. If any of our third party vendors or suppliers were to change product offerings, cease actively supporting our technologies, fail to update and enhance technologies to keep pace with changing industry standards, encounter technical difficulties in the continuing development of these technologies, significantly increase prices, terminate our licenses or supply contracts, suffer significant capacity constraints or suffer significant disruptions, we would need to seek alternative suppliers and incur additional internal or external development costs to ensure continued performance and productions of our solutions, products and services. Such alternatives may not be available on attractive terms, or may not be as widely accepted or as effective as the intellectual property, components, or technology provided by our existing suppliers. If the cost of licensing, purchasing or maintaining the third party intellectual property, components, or technology significantly increases, our expenses could increase, and our operating earnings, if any, could significantly decrease. Interruption of our services as a result of changes in third party suppliers could adversely affect our commitments to customers, future sales of solutions and services, and negatively affect our revenue and operating earnings.

Team risks. Our core strategic team is small, consisting of two co-founders, and a sub-contractor. The two co-founders have developed a collegial and effective working relationship through 1 year of working together. To mitigate team risk, we will seek to internalize key activities as a direct result of additional financing.

General economic conditions, including a prolonged weakness in the economy, may affect consumer purchases, which could adversely affect our sales. Our results of operations are dependent on a number of factors impacting consumer spending, including general economic and business conditions; consumer confidence; wages and employment levels; the housing market; consumer debt levels; availability of consumer credit; credit and interest rates; fuel and energy costs; energy shortages; taxes; general political conditions, both domestic and abroad; and the level of customer traffic within department stores, malls and other shopping and selling environments. Consumer CBD and MMJ product purchases may decline during recessionary periods. A prolonged downturn or an uncertain outlook in the economy may materially adversely affect our business, revenues and profits.

Risks Associated with an Investment in Securities Best efforts offering. This Offering is being made on a “best efforts” basis with no minimum number of Shares required to be sold. As subscriptions are accepted (and any required rescission periods expire), the subscription funds will be available for use by the Company immediately for its intended use of proceeds. Subscriptions are irrevocable (after expiration of any rescission period) and subscribers will not have the opportunity to have their funds returned notwithstanding any future lack of success in recruiting other investors. Accordingly, initial subscribers will necessarily have a greater degree of risk. The Company has not engaged the services of an underwriter with respect to the Offering, and there is no guarantee that any number of Shares are sold and proceeds will be realized by the Company.

There is no minimum capitalization for this offering and investors’ subscription funds will be used by us soon as they are received. There is a small minimum capitalization required in this Offering. There is no assurance that all or a significant number of Shares may be sold in this Offering. We will use investors’ subscription funds as soon as they are received. If only small portions of the Shares are placed, then we may not have sufficient capital to operate. There is no assurance that we could obtain additional financing or capital from any source, or that such financing or capital would be available to us on terms acceptable to us. Under such circumstances, the project would need to be scaled down, and would have a material adverse effect on our business.

Shares are not guaranteed and could become worthless. The Shares are not guaranteed or insured by any government agency or by any private party. The amount of earnings is not guaranteed and can vary with market conditions. The return of all or any portion of capital invested in the Shares is not guaranteed, and the Shares could become worthless.

Future capital needs; Dilution. The Company believes that the net proceeds of the Offering of the Shares will be sufficient to fund the implementation of the Company’s business plan, operations and growth for the foreseeable future, assuming that it sells all shares offered hereby and that the revenue forecasts for the first 12 months are substantially achieved. Nevertheless, in the event that additional capital is required, no assurance can be given that additional financing will be available at all or on terms favorable to the Company. If adequate funds were not available to satisfy either short or long term capital requirements, the Company may be unable to continue in business, with a resulting loss of all or part of investments made by the Company’s investors. Moreover, if additional equity securities are issued in connection with future financings, the ownership percentages of then shareholders could be diluted. Dilution of ownership percentages may also occur as a result of equity securities issued pursuant to possible sales or grants to existing shareholders, officers, managers, consultants, advisors, and/or employees.

We are relying on certain exemptions from registration. The Shares are being offered for sale in reliance upon certain exemptions from the registration requirements of the Securities Act and applicable state securities laws. If the sale of the Shares were to fail to qualify for these exemptions, purchasers may seek rescission of their purchases of the Shares. If a number of purchasers were to obtain rescission, the Company would face significant financial demands, which could adversely affect the Company as a whole, as well as any non-rescinding purchasers.

The Shares are restricted securities and a market for such securities may never develop. Investors should be aware of the potentially long-term nature of their investment. Each purchaser of Shares will be required to represent that it is purchasing such securities for its own account for investment purposes and not with a view to resale or distribution. Purchasers may be required to bear the economic risks of the investment for an indefinite period of time.

The Company has neither registered the Shares, nor any other securities under the Securities Act. Consequently, shareholders may not be able to sell or transfer their securities under applicable federal and state securities laws. Moreover, there is no public market for the Company's securities, such a market is not likely to develop prior to a registration undertaken by the Company for the public offering of its securities for its own account or the account of others, and there can be no assurance that the Company will ever have such a public offering of its securities. Ultimately, each investor's risk with respect to this Offering includes the potential for a complete loss of his or her investment.

We may be required to register under the Securities Exchange Act. The Company will be required to conform to the rules and regulations promulgated under the various federal and state securities laws applicable to the conduct of its business. Management does not believe that the Company's activities, as presently contemplated, will require registration or qualification of the Company with any federal or state agency.

Although the Company does not intend to be required to register its securities under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, it is possible that the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") may require the Company to so register. For example, under Section 12(g)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act (as amended by the JOBS Act of 2012), private companies with over 2,000 shareholders and over $10,000,000 in assets, may be required to register with the SEC within 120 days after their fiscal year end. Such registration would increase the operational expenses of the Company and would restrict its activities, thereby possibly having an adverse effect on its business.

The Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 could, should the Company take such action, make the Company's entrance into the public market difficult and expensive. In the wake of well-publicized corporate scandals associated with Enron and WorldCom involving management self-dealing and accounting fraud, in July 2002, President Bush signed into law the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. The Sarbanes-Oxley Act—the most far reaching legislation affecting the federal securities laws since they were created in the 1930's—impacts everything from the role of auditors to public reporting of stock trades by management, from committee independence to reporting of off-balance sheet transactions, and from officer loans to employee whistle-blowing.

Public and registered companies are facing dramatic changes in disclosure and corporate governance requirements under the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, and under new and proposed rules from the SEC, NASDAQ and the NYSE. While these new rules and regulations do not generally cover private companies, their influence on private companies is being felt in the following ways:

- A private company will become subject to the Sarbanes-Oxley Act upon filing a registration statement with the SEC in anticipation of an IPO.
- The Sarbanes-Oxley Act may result in increased scrutiny of a private company being considered for acquisition by a public company.
- In order to conduct an IPO, a private company would need to evaluate its organization against the requirements of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and develop a compliance program.
- Full compliance with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act – which can be time-consuming and expensive – can significantly slow the efforts of private companies such as the Company that may seek to enter the public markets.

The Offering price is arbitrary. The price of the Shares offered has been arbitrarily established by the Company, without considering such matters as the state of the Company's business development and the general condition of the industry in which it operates. The price of the Shares bears little relationship to the assets, net worth, or any other objective criteria of value applicable to the Company.

Additional unforeseen risks. In addition to the risks described in this section, “RISK FACTORS,” and elsewhere in this Memorandum, other risks not presently foreseeable could negatively impact our business, could disrupt our operations and could cause the Company to fail. Ultimately, each investor in the Shares bears the risk of a complete and total loss of his/her/its investment.

Public health epidemics or outbreaks could adversely impact our business. In December 2019, a novel strain of coronavirus (COVID-19) emerged in Wuhan, Hubei Province, China. While initially the outbreak was largely concentrated in China and caused significant disruptions to its economy, it has now spread to several other countries and infections have been reported globally. The extent to which the coronavirus impacts our operations will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted with confidence, including the duration of the outbreak, new information which may emerge concerning the severity of the coronavirus and the actions to contain the coronavirus or treat its impact, among others. In particular, the continued spread of the coronavirus globally could adversely impact our operations, and could have an adverse impact on our business and our financial results.

THE BOTTOM LINE:

Investment in the securities of smaller companies can involve greater risk than is generally associated with investment in larger, more established companies. All investments can result in significant or total loss of your loan and/or investment. We cannot guarantee success, return on investment, or repayment of loans.

Please only invest what you can afford to lose.

18. How may the rights of the securities being offered be materially limited, diluted or qualified by the rights of any other class of security identified above?
- None
19. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer? ☐ Yes ☒ No
20. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 above affect the purchasers of the securities being offered?
- None
21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

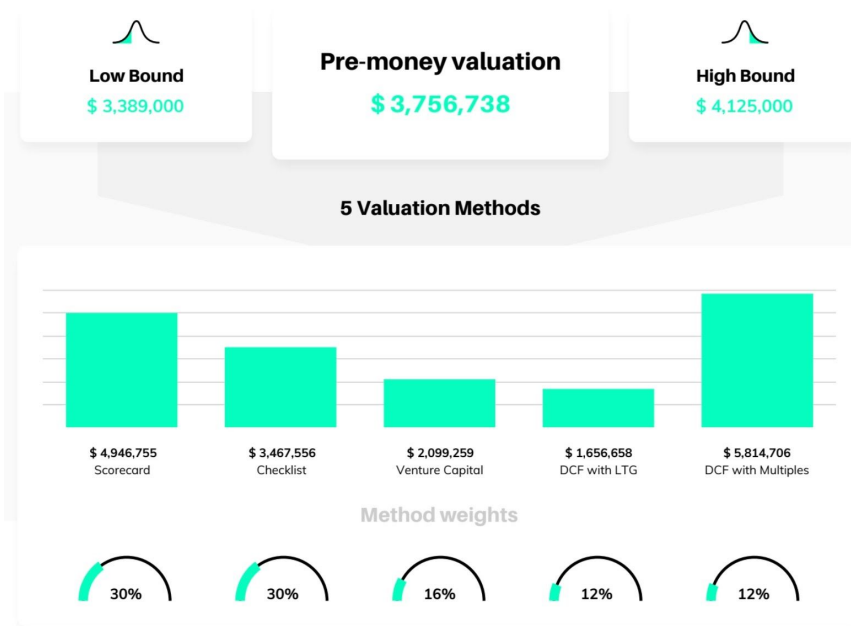

The valuation of the company has been performed based on the issuers' qualitative and financial information, including but not limited to: 1. the quality, size and experience of the management team; 2.- the market of reference and business model; 3. the product/service and customers' feedback; 4. - the presence of strategic partnerships as well as external investors; 5. - the presence of relevant IP and/or legal risks; 6. - the current financial performance of the company; 7. - the projected financial performance of the company.

This information is combined with market-industry data, provided by a comprehensive valuation software, to come up with a comprehensive valuation estimate based on 5 different valuation models, 2 based on a qualitative assessment (named Scorecard and Check-List) and 3 based financial projections (namely: VC method, Discounted Cash Flows with Multiples, and Discounted Cash Flows with Long-Term Growth).

Target Offering	2,500	$10,000	$9,200
Maximum Amount	267,500	$1,070,000.00	$984,400.00

These methods are combined in a weighted average that applies the weights (see above image) according to the stage of development of the company (assessed by the valuation software), giving more emphasis on the 2 qualitative methods for early-stage businesses, and vice versa.

The weights for the above mentioned valuation methods are: Scorecard (30%), Check-list (30%), Venture Capital (16%), DCF- Long Term Growth (12%), and DCF with Multiples (12%). The full valuation report (17 pages) is part of this offering and is to be found in the Offering's Documents Section.

The valuation was calculated at pre money $3,756,738.

The company has elected to go with a slightly more conservative valuation of $3,600,000.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

The right to demand current distributions from an operating business is limited. A majority owner, if she is committed to avoiding any distributions to a minority owner, can usually avoid making any distributions of profits. By establishing generous reserves for future expenses, paying a salary to herself or her relatives at the high range of what is reasonable, pre-paying expenses, investing in new business or new equipment, leasing expensive cars, etc., a majority owner can spend enough that there are rarely any profits to be distributed. So long as the expenses are not grossly unreasonable, the investor, probably, won't be able to force the company to allow you to share in any of the current income of the company.

No right to participate in any management decisions of the company. The majority owner may make a decision that the investor think is bad and puts your interest in the company at risk. The investor may see the majority owner running the company into the ground. The investor can try to convince him that it is the wrong decision, but he doesn't have to take your calls.

OFFERING STATEMENT

2,500 Shares of Class B Common Stock at $4.00 per Share
	# Of Units	Total Proceeds	Net Proceeds
Target Offering	2,500	$10,000	$9,200
Maximum Amount	267,500	$1,070,000.00	$984,400.00

The investor has limited rights, if any, to have your interest bought out. You may want to cash out your interest and do other things with the money. State law may give you the right to force the company to buy you out, but these rights are limited.

While the investor would be entitled to a share of any profits on sale of the entire business, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions including:

- Additional issuances of securities:

Following the investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interest to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the investor in the Company. The Investor might have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional capital needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and the objectives of the Company.

- Issuer repurchases of securities:

The company may have the authority to repurchase its securities from shareholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

- A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer:

As a minority owner of the Company, the Investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for shareholders.

- Transactions with related parties:

The Investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management and the Board of Directors of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its shareholders. By acquiring and interest in the company, the investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

The Company has no material indebtedness at this time.

25. What other exempt offerings has the issuer conducted within the past three years?

The Company has not conducted any other exempt offerings in the past three years.

26. Was or is the issuer or any entities controlled by or under common control with the issuer a party to any transaction since the beginning of the issuer's last fiscal year, or any currently proposed transaction, where the amount involved exceeds five percent of the aggregate amount of capital raised by the issuer in

Notes to Financial Statements September 30, 2020

1. Business and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Description of Business and Basis of Presentation

HighRes Labs Inc., a development stage entity, was formed on May 6, 2019 ("Inception") in the State of Delaware. The financial statements of HighRes Labs Inc. (which may be referred to as the "Company", "we," "us," or "our") are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP"). The Company's headquarters are located in Edmond, Oklahoma.

HighRes Labs is a testing facility originating in Oklahoma that will specialize in the potency testing of CBD, hemp and medical marijuana (MMJ) and their related products. It is our mission to provide fast, accurate testing to the CBD, hemp and MMJ supply chain using modern technologies and highly trained professionals. HighRes Labs will use fast, cloud based software to streamline procedures and generate accurate results with shorter turnaround time, important to growers and processors that must have these test results in hand prior to any product sale.

Risks and Uncertainties

The Company's business and operations are sensitive to general business and economic conditions in the U.S. and worldwide along with local, state, and federal governmental policy decisions. A host of factors beyond the Company's control could cause fluctuations in these conditions. Adverse conditions may include: all the risks inherent in a new business, product liability claims above the insurance coverage and / or unfavorable publicity or consumer perception of their products or any similar products distributed by other companies could have a material adverse effect on their business and financial condition.

During the next 12 months, the Company intends to operate (set up lab equipment, lease facility, develop SOPs, acquire and train staff) largely with funding from founders, and our Regulation Crowdfunding campaign, and additional debt and/or equity financing as determined to be necessary.

There are no assurances that management will be able to raise capital on terms acceptable to the Company. If we are unable to obtain sufficient amounts of additional capital, we may be required to reduce the scope of our planned development, which could harm our business, financial condition, and operating results. The balance sheet does not include any adjustments that might result from these uncertainties.

See Independent Accountant's Review Report.

September 30, 2020*Use of estimates*

The preparation of financial statements is in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and accompanying notes. Actual results could differ from those estimates. It is reasonably possible that changes in estimates will occur in the near term.

Property and Equipment, Net

Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Depreciation is computed using a straight-line mid-month convention method over the estimated useful lives of the assets, which for furniture and fixtures, auto and most computer equipment ranges primarily from five to seven years.

Any assets less than thousand dollars are expensed. In addition, repairs and maintenance performed on equipment or software are expensed as incurred.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash equivalents consist primarily of short-term investments in overnight money market funds.

Accounting Method

The Company's financial statements are prepared using the accrual method of accounting. In accordance with this method of accounting, revenue is recognized in the period in which it is earned and expenses are recognized in the period in which they are incurred. All revenue and expenses that are applicable to future periods are presented as deferred income or prepaid expenses on the accompanying balance sheets.

Income Taxes

The Company is taxed as a Corporation. The Company files income tax returns in the U.S federal jurisdiction and Delaware state. The tax benefit asset for federal and state taxes is $4,301 and $1,871, respectively, which is due to expire in 2040. Due to lack of history, the Company has decided to set up valuation allowance account until they can better estimate the realization date.
