Important Disclaimer:

As the Issuer is a startup company with a limited history of operation, lacking of material assets and has conducted no prior sales of securities except to its founders and initial shareholders, the reliability, accuracy and appropriateness of the valuation methods used in this section in determining the valuation of the securities being offered is not guaranteed. The valuation methods used in this section do not infer that the Issuer assumes any fiduciary duties and should not be construed as financial, legal or tax advice. In addition, such valuation methods should not be relied upon as the only valuation methods. The Issuer cannot guarantee the reliability, accuracy and appropriateness of these valuation methods.

We strongly encourage you to consult with qualified business financial analysis professionals, attorneys, or tax advisors prior to making any investment decisions.

Valuation of Our Class B Membership Units

Unlike companies whose stocks are publicly traded, our Class B Membership Units are not priced and tradable in any secondary market and therefore in order to price and value our Class B Membership Units, we have considered the following criteria:

- Anticipated growth in earnings per Unit
- Anticipated total return from the Units, estimated from the expected distribution yield

- Expected distribution yield relative to other yield-oriented investments (e.g., bonds and other high-income investments)
- Payout ratio
- Management capability
- Expected underlying asset values of the real estate and liabilities (e.g. mortgages) and other assets
- Estimates of capital and expense requirements

Based on the above criteria, we price and value our Class B Membership Units at $100 per Unit. The offering price is not based on perceived market value, book value but arbitrarily and subjectively based on the above qualitative criteria. Also, we did not rely on any independent third party's opinion on the valuation of the Units.

Investors must understand that the Membership Units may have a value significantly less than the offering price and there is no guarantee that the Units will ever attain a value equal to or greater than the offering price.

Methods for how the securities may be valued by the issuer in the future:

We will evaluate and provide our Net Asset Value (NAV) per Unit on a yearly basis, which will be used as a basis for how the securities may be valued by the issuer in the future. The valuation will also be based on the underlying real estates and will be subject to a number of judgments and assumptions. Other than NAV, we may also use the following methods to evaluate our securities:

1. Price/Book Value, Price/ Earnings Ratio of companies in the real estate sector.
2. Dividend Yield of companies in the real estate sector and other yield-oriented investments like bonds.
3. Current market value of the properties owned by the Company minus total amount of debt owed by the Company.
4. The Net Present Value (NPV) by applying the discounted free cash flow method.

The Board of Directors will, from time to time, review the use of valuation methods in valuing our securities to ensure fair and reasonable estimations in different situations and different corporate stages. For example, if the Company grows in size with significant assets accumulated, valuations based on our assets could be an appropriate approach to value the Company and the securities to be issued. The Company may hire independent third parties to assist in the assessment of the valuation of the Company and the securities to be issued in the future.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

- Purchasers of the securities in this offering have limited rights to demand distributions (e.g. dividends) from the Issuer.
- The majority owner may make a decision that the Purchasers consider bad and puts Purchaser's interest in the Issuer at risk.

- Although, as Class B Membership Units holders, the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.
- Since the securities in this offering are not publicly traded and are subject to restrictions on resale or transfer including holding period requirements, the securities in this offering are illiquid.
- The Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no voting rights and therefore they are not entitled to exert influence in the affairs of the company or the composition of its board of directors.
- The Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions:

a. Additional Issuances of Securities

Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

b. Issuer Repurchases of Securities

The issuer could be authorized to repurchase the company's issued securities subject to the approval by the company's board of directors. Purchasers of the securities may not impede the issuer's right to repurchase its securities from other shareholders. Moreover, the repurchase could be made at a price much lower than company's business value or its fair valuation, which could be indicative of the resale price of the securities thereafter.

c. A Sale of the Issuer or of Assets of the Issuer

Although as Class B Membership Units holders the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

d. Transactions with Related Parties

Transactions with related parties are transactions between the issuer or any of its subsidiaries and a connected person. These transactions include both capital and revenue nature transactions. They may be one-off transactions or continuing transactions.

Purchasers should be aware that these transactions may create conflicts of interests between themselves and the Issuer.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

- a. any director or officer of the issuer;
- b. any person who is, as of the most recent practicable date, the beneficial owner of 20 percent or more of the issuer's outstanding voting equity securities, calculated on the basis of voting power;
- c. if the issuer was incorporated or organized within the past three years, any promoter of the issuer; or
- d. any immediate family member of any of the foregoing persons.

Revenues, Operating Expenses and Net Income

As of December 31, 2020, our revenues were $0.

As of December 31, 2020, our total operating expenses were $1,595, for office, travel and utilities expenses.

As of December 31, 2020, our net loss was $1,595.

Cash flows

As of December 31, 2020, the cash flow used in operating activities was $1,595. As of December 31, 2020, the cash flow from investing activities was $0 while the cash flow generated by financing activities was $4,595, which was equal to the capital from member contributions.

Our historical results and cash flows are not representative of what investors should expect in the future.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Our principal sources of liquidity are our cash and cash equivalents and cash generated from operations. Cash and cash equivalents consist primarily of cash on deposit with banks. As of December 31, 2020, the Company had cash and cash equivalents equal to $3,000.

As of December 31, 2020, the Company does not have any liabilities, material indebtedness nor any contingent liabilities.

Discussion of our financial milestones and operational, liquidity and challenges

In this offering, the Company plans to issue Class B Membership Units and use the proceed to acquire residential properties in the USA. We develop and/or renovate the properties and hold them for the long-term or, when prices are reasonable, we may sell them to generate liquid funds.

If we cannot raise $10,000, the target offering amount, we may have to delay the acquisition of real estate properties or we will raise additional funding by another round of Regulation Crowdfunding offering. We may also use debt instruments, primarily bank mortgages to finance our acquisitions of properties, but there can be no assurance that we will be able to do so on acceptable terms or at all.

New business developments or other unforeseen events may occur, resulting in the need to raise additional funds. There can be no assurances regarding the Company's business prospects with respect to any other opportunity. Any other development would require us to obtain additional financing.

The Company is seeking a minimum of $10,000 in this offering. We expect that the Company's proceeds from this offering would be enough to finance its operation in the next 18 months.

The proceed of this offering will significantly improve our financial condition and liquidity, and will allow us to expand our business in the coming 1-2 years, though we believe the proceed of this offering does not affect the viability of our business. However, investors should be aware that our past records are not representative of the future.

We will primarily fund our operations and capital expenditure requirements from operating cash flows. We also expect to fund our operations from the proceeds of this offering and any credit facilities available to us in the future.

We may need additional crowdfunding offerings to finance our operation and we intend to use substantially all of the net proceeds from these offerings to acquire and develop a diversified portfolio of real estate with a primary focus on well-located residential properties that we believe present us with significant opportunities for long-term capital appreciation, and preferably, those available at opportunistic prices from distressed or time-constrained sellers.

- we offer quality products to our customers through an emphasis on planning and design and strict quality control;
- we have an experienced management team and operation team;

- we have an in-depth understanding of market conditions and consumer preferences for residential properties in our target markets across the USA;
- we are experienced in promoting products to our target markets and to manage our customer relationships;
- we are committed to high standards of corporate governance; and
- we have a highly disciplined approach to investment and capital management

OUR BUSINESS STRATEGIES

We aim at becoming a leading developer, owner and operator of residential properties in the US by continuing to implement the following business strategies:

- emphasize on project planning and design and to improve the quality and appeal of our products;
- adhere to prudent financial management to ensure sustainable growth and capital sufficiency; and
- leverage our brand name and increase our brand value.
- continue to create value through transformational projects;
- manage our capital base conservatively;
- we will seek to continue to create value through transformational projects;
- we will seek to maximize the earnings and value of our properties through active asset management and by reinforcing our assets through enhancement, redevelopment;
- we will remain focused principally in USA; and
- we will manage our capital base conservatively

We may adjust our targeted portfolio allocation based on, among other things, prevailing real estate market conditions and the availability of attractive investment opportunities.

TARGET REGIONS

Although we intend to diversify our portfolio by geographic location, we expect to focus on four demographically attractive regions which we believe provide high potential for attractive returns. These regions include: Pennsylvania, California, Florida and Texas. Within these states, we will seek to focus on suburb areas where we have established relationships and market knowledge as well as an ability to direct property management and leasing operations efficiently.

LEVERAGE AND BORROWINGS

We are committed to its conservative financial policies, maintaining high liquidity and low financial leverage. The Company adopts conservative treasury policies in cash and financial management. To achieve better risk control and minimize the cost of funds, cash is generally placed in short-term deposits mostly denominated in U.S. dollars. The Company's liquidity and financing requirements are reviewed regularly. The Company's will continue to maintain a strong capital structure when considering financing for new investments or maturity of bank loans.

DISTRIBUTION POLICY

The Board has absolute discretion as to whether to declare any dividend for any year and, if it decides to declare a dividend, how much dividend to declare. The Company currently intends to distribution 90% of our underlying profit attributable to the unitholders. Going forward, we will re-evaluate our distribution policy in light of our financial position and the prevailing economic climate. However, the determination to pay dividends will be made at the discretion of the Board and will be based upon our earnings, cash flow, financial condition, capital requirements, distributable reserves and any other conditions that the Directors deem relevant. The payment of distribution may also be limited by legal restrictions and by financing agreements that we may enter into in the future.

USE OF PROCEEDS

We plan to use our net proceeds from the Offering as follows:

- to finance the development and renovation costs for properties;
- to acquire new properties for development;

We may need additional crowdfunding offerings to finance our operation and we intend to use substantially all of the net proceeds from this offering to acquire and develop a diversified portfolio of real estate with a primary focus on well-located residential properties that we believe present us with significant opportunities for long-term capital appreciation, and preferably, those available at opportunistic prices from distressed or time-constrained sellers.

US HOUSING MARKET OUTLOOK

COVID-19 has weighed heavily on the US real estate investment. Although uncertainty grips markets across the country, we expect that the US housing market will pick up in 2021. In fact, the US housing market is experiencing steady recovery while supply has not kept pace due to the shutdown of the economy earlier in 2020. Further demand for affordable homes is driven largely by the pandemic-induced shift to remote work.

House Price Index for the United States

Source: The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

House prices in the United States experienced strong growth in the past 10 years and the first 6 months of 2020. The house price index for the United States calculated by the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis recorded a year-on-year growth of 5.1% in Q1 2020, while the inflation rate was around 1.5% during the same period.

Employment

US unemployment rate went from a 50-year low at 3.5% in Feb 2020 to an all-time high of 14.7% in April 2020. But in June, the unemployment rate had dropped to 11.1%. We believe US employment will continue to improve, which would be a favorable factor to the rental demand and prices of residential properties in the USA.

Increased Demand for Homeownership

The initial slowdown in residential real estate activities was essentially caused by a deliberate effort to control the spread of COVID-19 which halted many home showings. As a surprise to many, the residential real estate market mounted a record increase of 44% in pending home sales activities in May after a two-month decline due to COVID-19.

Increased demand for homeownership in the suburbs is being aided by the recent shift to remote work due to the pandemic. About two-thirds of businesses that have adopted remote work policies as a result of COVID-19 plan to keep at least some of those policies in place long-term or permanently. Homebuyers are looking for houses in more affordable markets with space for home offices. As the U.S. economy continues its shift into services, full-time employees around the country have become less chained to their offices, often able to work from any location. Such a work-from-home trend is favorable to homeownership and therefore housing prices.

Mortgage Rates

The 30-year mortgage rates have dropped as low as 2.75% for conventional loans and 2.375% for VA loans. The Federal Reserve had also pledged to keep the federal fund rates close to zero until 2022.

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE

The Board of Directors and the management of the Company are committed to the maintenance of good corporate governance practices and procedures. The corporate governance principles of the Company emphasize a quality Board, sound internal controls, and transparency and accountability to all shareholders.

Appendix B - RISK FACTORS

RISKS RELATING TO OUR BUSINESS

We are heavily dependent on the performance of the residential property markets in the USA and North America

Our business and prospects depend on the performance of the US residential markets. Any housing market downturn in the US could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

There can be no assurance that there will be continued or growing demand for residential properties in the US. In addition, there can be no assurance that there will not be over-development or market downturn in the residential property sectors in the US. Any such over-development or market downturn and the resultant decline in property demand or decrease in property prices in the US may adversely affect our business and financial condition.

We may not have adequate financing to fund our properties acquisitions and property developments

Property development is capital intensive. We finance our property projects primarily through securities offerings and borrowings from financial institutions. Our ability to procure adequate financing for property acquisition and property development depends on a number of factors that are beyond our control.

Our financing costs are subject to changes in interest rates

Changes in interest rates have affected and will continue to affect our financing costs and, ultimately, our results of operations. We cannot assure you that the Federal Reserve will not further raise lending rates or that our business, financial condition and results of operations will not be adversely affected as a result.

We may not be able to acquire properties that are suitable for development

We derive our revenues principally from the rental income or sale of properties that we have acquired, renovated and re-developed. Thus we must consistently acquire properties in order to ensure sustainable business growth but we cannot guarantee that we are able to do so.

We may not have insurance to cover potential losses and claims

We may not maintain enough insurance coverage against liability from tortious acts or other personal injuries on our project sites, which may in turn adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.

Our controlling shareholders may take actions that conflict with the best interests of our other shareholders

Before and immediately after the Offering, the shareholder owning the Class A Membership Unit will remain our controlling members, with substantial controlling ownership and voting power. The shareholder(s), by virtue of their substantial controlling ownership and voting power as well as their positions on our Board, will be able to exercise significant control or exert significant influence over our business or otherwise on matters of significance to other unitholders by voting at the general meetings of the company or at the Board of Directors' meetings.

If our partners act in contradiction to our interests, our business may be adversely affected

Our project companies may involve joint ventures and, for some of these joint ventures, we are a minority equityholder. This gives rise to the possibility that we may only have limited control over the operations of these joint ventures. Therefore, it may be necessary for us to obtain consent from our joint venture partners before we can cause the joint venture to make or implement a particular business development decision or to distribute profits to the shareholders, including ourselves. Furthermore, we and our joint venture partners may hold different views. Thus, the joint venture partners might act in a way contrary to our interests, or otherwise be unable or unwilling to fulfil their obligations under the joint venture contracts. As a result, the joint ventures may face difficulties in their operations and our interests in the joint ventures may be harmed.

We are reliant on third party contractors

We employ third party contractors to carry out various works, including design, pile setting, foundation digging, construction, equipment installation, internal decoration, electromechanical engineering and pipeline engineering. We endeavor to employ companies with good reputation, credibility and financial resources, but we cannot guarantee that any such third party contractor will provide satisfactory services at the quality level required by us. All of these factors will have a negative impact on our reputation, credibility, financial position and business operations.

If any key management members leave, we may be unable to find suitable substitutes

We depend on the services provided by our management and experienced staff. Competition for such talented employees is intense in the real estate sector. We are very dependent on Chun Hin Leung, Brian, our controlling member and senior management member. In case any core management team member leaves and we fail to find suitable substitutes, our business will be adversely impacted. Moreover, we will need to employ, train and retain employees. If we cannot attract and retain suitable human resources, our business and future growth will be negatively affected.

We are dependent on rental income from our investment property portfolio

Leasing of our investment properties constitutes a very important part of our business. However, we are subject to risks incidental to the ownership and operation of residential properties including, amongst other things, changes in market rental levels, competition for tenants and inability to collect rent from tenants or renew leases with tenants due to bankruptcy, insolvency or other financial difficulties. In addition, we may not be able to renew leases with our tenants on terms acceptable to us, or at all, upon the expiration of the existing terms. Furthermore, any downturn in the rental market for residential properties could negatively affect the demand for our rental properties and the amount of rental income we earn, which may have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial position.

Any economic slowdown may adversely affect our business and our ability to obtain necessary financing for our operations

The outbreak of coronavirus 2020 resulted in a marked slowdown in world economic growth, economic contractions in certain markets, more commercial and consumer delinquencies, weakened consumer confidence and increased market volatility in the places in which we operate. The shutdown of the nationwide economy could cause a decrease in property prices in the USA. The market volatility and uncertainty caused by the coronavirus pandemic may contribute to a lower demand for properties and a decline in their rents or selling prices. Any economic slowdown or financial market turmoil in the future may adversely affect the business of the tenants of our investment properties and potential purchasers of our trading properties.

We may not be able to continue to attract and retain quality tenants

Our properties compete for tenants with other properties on, amongst other things, location, quality, maintenance, property management, rent levels and other lease terms. We cannot assure you that existing or prospective tenants will not choose other properties. Any future increase in the supply of properties which compete with ours would increase the competition for tenants and as a result we may have to reduce rent or incur additional costs to make our properties more attractive. If we are not able to retain our existing tenants or attract new tenants to replace those that leave or to lease our new properties, our occupancy rates may decline. This in turn could have a material adverse effect on our brand, business, results of operations and financial position.

Increases in the cost of labour or construction materials may have an adverse impact on our results of operations.

If the costs of labour or construction materials increase significantly, and we cannot offset such increase by reducing other costs or cannot pass on such increase to the buyers or tenants of our properties, our business, results of operations and financial position may be materially and adversely affected.

We may be involved in disputes and legal and other proceedings arising out of our operations from time to time and may face significant liabilities as a result

We may be involved in disputes arising out of the leasing or sale of our properties with contractors, suppliers, construction workers, tenants, residents, residents of surrounding areas, joint venture partners, purchasers or other parties. These disputes may lead to legal or other proceedings and may damage our reputation and divert our resources and management's attention. Significant costs may have to be incurred in defending ourselves in such proceedings. If we are not successful in defending ourselves in such proceedings, we may be liable for damages, the amount of which may be significant. In addition, we may have disagreements with regulatory bodies in the course of our operations, which may subject us to administrative proceedings or unfavourable decrees that may result in liabilities and cause delays to our property developments. We may also be involved in disputes or legal proceedings in relation to delays in the completion and delivery of our projects. Any of the above could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial position.

We may not be able to generate adequate returns on our properties held for long-term

The properties held by us are generally intended to be held for long-term and therefore we are exposed to varying degrees of risks. The investment returns available from real estate depend, to a large extent, on the amount of capital appreciation generated, income earned from the rental of the relevant properties as well as the expenses incurred. Maximizing yields from properties held for long-term investment also depends to a large extent on active ongoing management and maintenance of the properties. The ability to dispose of investment properties eventually will also depend on market conditions and levels of liquidity, which may be limited or subject to significant fluctuation in the case of certain types of properties. The revenue derived from investment properties and the value of property investments may be adversely affected by a number of factors, including but not limited to changes in rental levels at comparable properties, the inability to collect rent due to bankruptcy or insolvency of tenants and the costs resulting from periodic maintenance, repair and re-letting. If our property portfolio is unable to generate adequate returns, our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects may be adversely affected.
