What is American Stories Entertainment All About

American Stories Entertainment, Inc. (ASE) has a simple mission--provide creative, uplifting content that improves the lives of our viewers. The company does this through telling the unique stories of real people. The subject matter of ASE programming covers a broad range of lifestyles including hunting, fishing, sports, small business and survival strategies. ASE films its shows primarily in small and medium size towns--locations not generally portrayed in traditional Media.

Maximum Amount	500,000	$1,000,000	$920,000.00

ASE's Secret Sauce

ASE will create and control its own content. The company is building and employing an ever growing series of distribution channels for its content. Diversity of broadcast platforms is at the core of the ASE business model which ensures that its content is never de-platformed by the whims of anyone. ASE will not go down!! The current platforms include ASE's own Roku channel, Apple TV channel and Amazon Fire TV channel.

The company also directly creates its own content. The company develops its shows through a series of stages which involves producing a limited series of shows for proof of concept and then expansion of the specific programming. Lavish production costs are not part of the ASE culture. All company programming will be produced by efficient creative teams who can produce quality content yet not break the bank.

End Result

Once again, the company is designed to produce a high quantity of great programs designed to make the lives of our viewers better. American Stories will ensure its future by building a movement of dedicated viewers who are looking for uplifting content.

Traditional Entertainment Media--The Problem

Both the top executives and talent found in the twin entertainment epicenters of New York and Los Angeles have been busy alienating a significant portion of the U.S. population. This market, found in the broad expanse between the two elite population centers, makes up over 150 million people who are considered to be more conservative. The results of an avalanche of cultural attacks that revolve around politics, religion and the 2nd amendment has led to the massive decline in viewership of a broad array of content.

Presently, because of this mass disenchantment with the coastal media centers, there is a gigantic undelivered desire waiting to be quenched. It is this opening that ASE intends to rapidly meet and satisfy.

The Plan--Meeting the Demand

American Stories Entertainment targets the viewers who considers themselves left behind by traditional entertainment providers. This includes people in small town America and the general population found between the east and west coasts of the USA.

American Stories Entertainment's plan revolves around creating original content using a phased approach to be able to adjust and modify programming that best serves ASE's unique audience. ASE starts with the production of four to 10 12 to 40 minute episodes (segments). This allows the content to be shown on YouTube, Roku or on traditional TV.

Advertisers are briefed on the nature of the programming and sometimes shown past programming to provide insight into the ASE process. Advertisers can purchase ad time or preferably product placement slots for such shows. ASE, because it controls various distribution assets on Roku, Apple, Amazon and its own direct channel, www.Americanstories.tv, can make future content decisions based on direct viewer and advertiser input.

If a show is successful, both from the consumer perspective and advertiser response, ASE will extend the respective series for additional shows with additional seasons of the show. As the additional seasons or even episodes are added to the series, the content can be tweaked and modified to better serve ASE's audiences (consumers and advertisers). Consumer opinion is weighted much higher as concerns content decisions.

You Make the Stories

A breakthrough viral growth tool will be deployed that brings the audience directly into the production of content. Using mass online market research platforms, ASE will ask its viewers to participate in the creation of content. By asking viewers to answer a series of questions they can provide story ideas to ASE and help in the selection of scripts and even potential talent for future shows. This tool will result in an ever growing database of "You Make The Stories" participants. A movement of millions of fans will be built through this process who have direct “buy in” for each project through participation in the ongoing research process.

The Duck Dynasty Effect

The massively successful show, Duck Dynasty, made most of their money through product placement within the shows that eventually found its way into tens of thousands of stores. By 2013 Duck Dynasty was generating $500 million in sales. Through ASE’s relationship with Kevin Harrington as host of a series of business related shows starting with Beyond The Close, the company can begin embedding products in each show with the intent to get mass marketing in the future.

Content Distribution

ASE’s shows are intended for broadcast via multiple channels. Diversification is at the heart of the company’s business model. The core principle is that no one executive decision to de- platform or otherwise shutdown ASE’s programming can ever fully take down its content. Call it decentralized media distribution--a revolutionary step to protect ASE’s free speech rights. Distribution will involve various web video platforms including YouTube, RecoilTV and Rumble. In addition, the company will also broadcast through streaming services such as Roku, Amazon Fire TV and Apple TV. Finally, ASE ultimately will seek to have a full channel on DirectTV.

Income Centers

There are two distinct publics that ASE targets for income: 1) viewers (content consumers); 2) advertisers who purchase broadcast ads and product placement within the shows. The following section shall discuss the value ladders of free and paid service as well as products for both viewers and Advertisers.

Advertisers will be happy to see that ASE doesn’t just depend on one media platform to get in front of the right viewers. As described above, the company’s strategy is decentralized media distribution which also expands the viewer reach for its shows. Advertisers will be able to purchase traditional ad space before, during and after the shows are broadcast. They would also have the option to have their various products placed within the shows in a relevant manner.

Finally, a third income center for the company is the development of its own branded products (in partnership with various manufacturers) which are placed in the show and then subsequently sold in third party stores and its own product site. This also includes digital products such as NFTs involving the cast members of each show.

Viewers will have access to a series of “movement” products (T-shirts, hats, jackets, clothing) and digital memorabilia. The digital memorabilia include celebrity based collectibles and user generated content in the form of their own memorabilia created by them. ASE plans on building a giant base of devotees that fully believe in the mission of the company. It is to this group that ASE wants to sell movement products to build brand loyalty and also physically promote the brand.

The Marketing And Sales Sequence

ASE's marketing and sales sequence is designed to involve the viewer first and the advertiser second. Not because the advertiser is secondary but because it is important to let them know the position of the viewer and the number of eyeballs that could be on their offering. This is the sequence:

- Viral "You Make the Story" participation (free)
- Movement memorabilia (physical and digital–NFTS)
- ASE show products
- Advertiser product placement (in shows)

Risk factors

One should understand the risks inherent in the early stage of a startup company doing business in the new media and entertainment industries. These risks include:

- There is a significant number of competitors in the entertainment and new media industries.
- Governmental organizations adopting regulatory rules and laws that hamper or even curtail the operations of the company.
- The company may have insufficient capitalization of the company so as to restrict growth or impede it altogether.
- The company has little or no operating history.
- There is a possibility that part or all of the distribution channels that the company intends to use will restrict the content.

RISK FACTORS

A crowdfunding investment involves risk. You should not invest any funds in this offering unless you can afford to lose your entire investment.

In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the issuer and the terms of the offering, including the merits and risks involved. These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of any securities offered or the terms of the offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any offering document or literature.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky:

Risk Factors

Investments in small businesses and start-up companies are often risky.

The Company's management may be inexperienced and investors will not be able to evaluate the Company's operating history. Small businesses may also depend heavily upon a single customer, supplier, or employee whose departure would seriously damage the company's profitability. The demand for the company's product may be seasonal or be impacted by the overall economy, or the company could face other risks that are specific to its industry or type of business. The Company may also have a hard time competing against larger companies who can negotiate for better prices from suppliers, produce goods and services on a large scale more economically, or take advantage of bigger marketing budgets. Furthermore, a small business could face risks from lawsuits, governmental regulations, and other potential impediments to growth.

Trend information

The Company is an early-stage development company. The trends projected for the Company for production, sales and inventory have not been established.

The state of the order book, costs, and selling prices for the products and services sold since the latest financial year for the Company are up to date and accurate with the financial information contained within this Proposed Private Placement Memorandum.

The Company may need additional capital, which may not be available.

The Company may require funds in excess of its existing cash resources to fund operating deficits, develop new products or services, establish and expand its marketing capabilities, and finance general and administrative activities.

Due to market conditions at the time the Company may need additional funding, or due to its financial condition at that time, it is possible that the Company will be unable to obtain additional funding as and when it needs it. If the Company is unable to obtain additional funding, it may not be able to repay debts when they are due and payable. If the Company is able to obtain capital, it may be on unfavorable terms or terms which excessively dilute then-existing equity holders. If the Company is unable to obtain additional funding as and when needed, it could be forced to delay its development, marketing and expansion efforts and, if it continues to experience losses, potentially cease operations.

The offering price of the securities offered on the Site has been arbitrarily determined and may not be indicative of its actual value or future market prices.

Offering Price Was Determined by The Company

The offering price was not established in a competitive market but was determined by the Company. The offering price bears no relationship to the Company's assets, book value, historical results of operations or any other established criterion of value. The offering price should not be considered as an indication of the Company's actual value or the value of the securities.

The Company's management may have broad discretion in how the Company use the net proceeds of an offering.

Unless the Company has agreed to a specific use of the proceeds from an offering, the Company's management will have considerable discretion over the use of proceeds from their offering. You may not have the opportunity, as part of your investment decision, to assess whether the proceeds are being used appropriately.

The Company may not be able to manage its potential growth.

For the Company to succeed, it needs to experience significant expansion. There can be no assurance that it will achieve this expansion. This expansion, if accomplished, may place a significant strain on the Company's management, operational and financial resources. To manage any material growth, the Company will be required to implement operational and financial systems, procedures and controls. It also will be required to expand its finance, administrative and operations staff. There can be no assurance that the Company's current and planned personnel, systems, procedures and controls will be adequate to support its future operations at any increased level. The Company's failure to manage growth effectively could have a material adverse effect on its business, results of operations and financial condition.

The Company faces significant competition.

The Company faces competition from other companies, some of which might have received more funding than the Company has. One or more of the Company's competitors could offer programming similar to those offered by the Company at significantly lower prices, which would cause downward pressure on the prices the Company would be able to charge for its services. If the Company is not able to charge the prices it anticipates charging for its services, there may be a material adverse effect on the Company's results of operations and financial condition. In addition, while the Company believes it is well-positioned to be the market leader in its industry, the emergence of one of its existing or future competitors as a market leader may limit the Company's ability to achieve national brand recognition, which could also have a material adverse effect on the Company's results of operations and financial condition.

The Company's growth relies on market acceptance.

While the Company believes that there will be significant customer demand for its entertainment content, there is no assurance that there will be broad market acceptance of the Company's offerings. There also may not be broad market acceptance of the Company's offerings if its competitors offer entertainment content which are preferred by prospective customers. In such event, there may be a material adverse effect on the Company's results of operations and financial condition, and the Company may not be able to achieve its goals.

The Company's assumptions concerning future operations may not be realized.

Any operating and financial information contained in the projected financial data have been prepared by management of the Company based upon its goals and objectives for the future performance and various assumptions concerning future phenomena. In addition, the Company's projected results are dependent on the successful implementation of the Company's business plan and strategies and are based on hypothetical assumptions and events over which the Company has only partial or no control. While management believes that its goals and objectives are reasonable and achievable, no assurance can be given that they will be realized. The Company does not currently have any contractual agreements that can provide assurances with respect to projected revenues. The selection of assumptions underlying the projected information required the exercise of judgment by, and represent the opinions and beliefs of, the Company's management. Others may have different opinions and beliefs. In addition, the projections and underlying assumptions have not been compiled, reviewed or examined by any independent public accountants and were not prepared with a view to public disclosure or compliance with published guidelines of the Securities and Exchange Commission or with the guidelines established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants regarding projections. Such a review could result in changes to the assumptions underlying the projected financial data. Moreover, the Company's projections are subject to uncertainty due to the effects that economic, legislative, political or other changes may have on future events. Changes in the facts or circumstances underlying such assumptions could materially and adversely affect the projections. To the extent assumed events do not materialize, actual results may vary substantially from the projected results. As a result, no assurance can be given that the Company will achieve the operating or financial results set forth in its financial projections and, accordingly, investors are cautioned about placing undue reliance thereon.

Because the entertainment business is highly speculative, the Company may never achieve profitability.

The entertainment industry is highly speculative and involves a substantial degree of risk. No assurance can be given of the economic success of any show or film since the revenues derived from the production and distribution of shows or films is primarily dependent on its acceptance by the public, which cannot be predicted. The commercial success of a show or film also depends on the quality and acceptance of competing shows or films released into the marketplace at or near the same time, the availability of alternative forms of entertainment and leisure time activities, general economic conditions and other tangible and intangible factors, all of which can change and cannot be predicted with certainty. No assurance can be given that the shows or films will appeal to the public or that other shows or films may not be more appealing and therefore reduce the demand to view the shows or films. Accordingly, there is a substantial risk that the Film will not be commercially successful, in which case the Company may be unable to recoup costs associated with the production of the shows or films or realize revenues or profits from the sale of the shows or films.

The Shows or Films may not succeed if it receives unfavorable reviews.

The financial success of shows or films, in large measure, depends on the reaction of the public, which is often influenced by professional reviewers or critics for newspapers, television and other media. It is impossible to judge in advance what the reaction of these reviewers and critics will be to the shows or films. To the extent that the shows or films receive unfavorable reviews from these reviewers and critics, its chances of success may be substantially diminished.

The Company may abandon prematurely certain show or film development, production or distribution.

Any of the shows or films in development, production or distribution may be abandoned by the Company at any stage if further expenditures do not appear commercially feasible. This would result in a loss of some or all of the funds previously expended on the development, production and/or distribution of the shows or films, as the case may be, including funds expended in connection with the development of the screenplay and production of the shows or films. Abandonment of the shows or films at any stage would have a material adverse impact on the Company.

The Shows or Films produced by Company may infringe the intellectual property rights of others and resulting claims against the Company could be costly and require the Company to enter into disadvantageous license or royalty agreements.

Although the Company expects the shows or films to be original works, third parties may claim that the shows or films infringe their intellectual property rights. Any claims relating to the infringement of third-party proprietary rights, even if not successful or meritorious, could be time-consuming, result in costly litigation, divert resources and management's attention, cause production delays or require the Company to enter into royalty or license agreements. Such royalty or licensing agreements, if required, may not be available on terms acceptable to the Company, if at all. In the event of a successful claim of infringement against the Company and the Company's failure or inability to license the infringed rights, the Company's business, operating results and financial condition would be materially and adversely affected. Even if a claim of infringement against the Company is unsuccessful, legal fees incurred in defending the infringement claim likely would cause material harm to the Company and the Company's financial condition and reduce the amount of net proceeds and cash available for distribution to investors.

CAPITAL LOSS

The prospective returns from an equity investment in unlisted companies are necessarily accompanied by a high risk of a total or partial loss of the sums invested.

This loss could be linked to the bankruptcy of the company in case of failure of its project or a lack of future financing. However, even if the company does not fail, a partial loss can result from lower-than-expected results in the future.

Investments in company bonds also feature a risk of loss of invested capital in case of a lack of liquidity at maturity or bankruptcy of the company.

The Company may not pay dividends for the foreseeable future.

Unless otherwise specified in the offering documents and subject to state law, you are not entitled to receive any dividends on your interest in the Company. Accordingly, any potential investor who anticipates the need for current dividends or income from an investment should not purchase any of the securities offered on the Site.

DILUTION

Any investment realized through the platform could be subject to dilution. In other words, if the company raises additional funds at a later date through the issue of new shares subscribed to by new Investors, the percentage stake in the issuing company held by Investors who do not subscribe to this capital increase will fall.

Because the Company's founders, directors and executive officers may be among the Company's largest stockholders, they can exert significant control over the Company's business and affairs and have actual or potential interests that may depart from those of subscribers in the offering.

The Company's founders, directors and executive officers own or control a significant percentage of the Company. Additionally, the holdings of the Company's directors and executive officers may increase in the future upon vesting or other maturation of exercise rights under any of the options or warrants they may hold or in the future be granted or if they otherwise acquire additional interest in the Company. The interests of such persons may differ from the interests of the Company's other stockholders, including purchasers of securities in the offering. As a result, in addition to their board seats and offices, such persons will have significant influence over and control all corporate actions requiring stockholder approval, irrespective of how the Company's other stockholders, including purchasers in the offering, may vote, including the following actions:

- to elect or defeat the election of the Company's directors;
- to amend or prevent amendment of the Company's Certificate of Incorporation or By-laws;
- to effect or prevent a merger, sale of assets or other corporate transaction; and
- to control the outcome of any other matter submitted to the Company's stockholders for vote.

Such persons' ownership may discourage a potential acquirer from making a tender offer or otherwise attempting to obtain control of the Company, which in turn could reduce the Company's stock price or prevent the Company's stockholders from realizing a premium over the Company's stock price.

Legal Proceedings

The Company is not involved in any legal or regulatory proceedings. From time to time, the Company may become involved in various lawsuits and legal proceedings which arise in the ordinary course of business. However, litigation is subject to inherent uncertainties, and an adverse result in these or other matters may arise from time to time that may harm our business. Content Development Costs

Content development costs are expensed as incurred. Such costs are incurred in the development of new shows or significant improvements to existing shows. The company cannot estimate these costs at this time and makes no representation of such costs.

No Public Trading Market for The Securities

There is no public trading market for the securities, and none may develop. The securities sold in this offering are restricted and not freely transferable.

There has been no public or private market for the Company's securities, and there can be no assurance that any such market would develop in the foreseeable future. There is, therefore, no assurance that the securities can be resold at all, or near the offering price. You will be required to represent that it is acquiring such securities for investment and not with a view to distribution or resale, that it understands that the securities are not freely transferable and, in any event, that it must bear the economic risk of an investment in the securities for an indefinite period of time because the securities have not been registered under the Act or applicable state Blue Sky or securities laws. The securities cannot be resold unless they are subsequently registered or an exemption from registration is available.

There is no active trading market for the securities being offered and no market may develop in the foreseeable future for any of such securities. Further, there can be no assurance that the Company will ever consummate a public offering of any of the Company's securities. Accordingly, investors must bear the economic risk of an investment in the securities for an indefinite period of time. Even if an active market develops for such securities, Rule 144 promulgated under the Securities Act ("Rule 144"), which provides for an exemption from the registration requirements under the Securities Act under certain conditions, requires, among other conditions, for resales of securities acquired in a non-public offering without having to satisfy such registration requirements, a six-month holding period following acquisition of and payment in full for such securities assuming the issuer of such securities has filed periodic reports with the SEC under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act") for a period of 90 days prior to the proposed sale. If the issuer of such securities has not made such filings, such securities will be subject to a one-year holding period before they can be resold under Rule 144. There can be no assurance that the Company will fulfill any reporting requirements in the future under the Exchange Act or disseminate to the public any current financial or other information concerning the Company, as is required by Rule 144 as part of the conditions of its availability.

Accordingly, you should be prepared to hold the securities acquired in such offerings indefinitely and cannot expect to be able to liquidate any or all of their investment even in case of an emergency. In addition, any proposed transfer must comply with restrictions on transfer imposed by the Company and by federal and state securities laws. The Company may permit the transfer of such securities out of a subscriber's name only when his or her request for transfer is accompanied by an opinion of counsel reasonably satisfactory to the Company that neither the sale nor the proposed transfer results in a violation of the Securities Act or any applicable state securities or "blue sky" laws.

We have used an arbitrary offering price. The offering price per unit was arbitrarily determined by the Company and is unrelated to specific investment criteria, such as the assets or past results of the Company's operations. In determining the offering price, the Company considered such factors as the prospects, if any, of similar companies, the previous experience of management, the Company's anticipated results of operations, and the likelihood of acceptance of this offering. Please review any financial or other information contained in this offering with qualified persons to determine its suitability as an investment before purchasing any shares in this offering.

Management has broad discretion as to the use of proceeds. The net proceeds from this Securities Offering will be used for the purposes described under "USE OF PROCEEDS." The Company reserves the right to use the funds obtained from this Offering for other similar purposes not presently contemplated, which it deems to be in the best interests of the Company in order to address changed circumstances or opportunities. This poses a risk to an investor should they be relying on current use of proceeds forecasts for the investment as business conditions may require a change of the use of these funds.

Public health epidemics or outbreaks could adversely impact our business. In December 2019, a novel strain of coronavirus (COVID-19) emerged in Wuhan, Hubei Province, China. While initially the outbreak was largely concentrated in China and caused significant disruptions to its economy, it has now spread to several other countries and infections have been reported globally. The extent to which the coronavirus impacts our operations will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted with confidence, including the duration of the outbreak, new information which may emerge concerning the severity of the coronavirus and the actions to contain the coronavirus or treat its impact, among others. In particular, the continued spread of the coronavirus globally could adversely impact our operations, and could have an adverse impact on our business and our financial results.

If we make mistakes or have unforeseen things happen to us, our suppliers, partners, vendors, etc, or the world, we can make little or no profit and can be driven out of business.

THE BOTTOM LINE:

Investment in the securities of smaller companies can involve greater risk than is generally associated with investment in larger, more established companies. All investments can result in significant or total loss of your loan and/or investment. If we do well, the stock should do well also, yet life offers no guarantees and neither can we. If we make mistakes or have unforeseen things happen to us, our suppliers or the world, we can make little or no profit and can be driven out of business. We cannot guarantee success, return on investment, or repayment of loans.

Please only invest what you can afford to lose.

These methods are combined in a weighted average that applies the weights (see above image) according to the stage of development of the company (assessed by the valuation software), giving more emphasis on the 2 qualitative methods for early-stage businesses, and vice versa.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

The right to demand current distributions from an operating business is limited. A majority owner, if she is committed to avoiding any distributions to a minority owner, can usually avoid making any distributions of profits. By establishing generous reserves for future expenses, paying a salary to herself or her relatives at the high range of what is reasonable, pre-paying expenses, investing in new business or new equipment, leasing expensive cars, etc., a majority owner can spend enough that there are rarely any profits to be distributed. So long as the expenses are not grossly unreasonable, the investor, probably, won't be able to force the company to allow you to share in any of the current income of the company.

No right to participate in any management decisions of the company. The majority owner may make a decision that the investor think is bad and puts your interest in the company at risk. The investor may see the majority owner running the company into the ground. The investor can try to convince him that it is the wrong decision, but he doesn't have to take your calls.

The investor has limited rights, if any, to have your interest bought out. You may want to cash out your interest and do other things with the money. State law may give you the right to force the company to buy you out, but these rights are limited.

While the investor would be entitled to a share of any profits on sale of the entire business, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions including:

- Additional issuances of securities:

Following the investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interest to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the investor in the Company. The Investor might have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional capital needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and the objectives of the Company.

- Issuer repurchases of securities:

The company may have the authority to repurchase its securities from shareholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

- A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer:

As a minority owner of the Company, the Investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for shareholders.

- Transactions with related parties:

The Investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management and the Board of Directors of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its shareholders. By acquiring and interest in the company, the investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

1. "Loans Payable" $185,500 - $234,751 in 270 Day Commercial Note to various investors. Upon the occurrence of a Qualified Equity Filing ("QEF"), the Commercial Note shall convert automatically, without any further action on the part of either the Company or the Investor, whereupon the Commercial Note shall be deemed canceled, into the number of Conversion Shares equal to the quotient obtained by dividing the Outstanding Loan Balance by the Conversion Price prior to the closing of the Qualified Equity Filing. A qualified equity filing includes a Regulation CF filing on a Form C, a Regulation A+ filing on Form 1-A, Form 10 or an S-1 filing under the Securities Act of 1933. The Conversion Price is currently set at $0.50 for each share.
 - a. Since the date of the audited financials that number increased to $234,751
 - b. Upon the filing of the Form C associated with this offering, these notes were converted into shares of Class B Common Stock and this debt is no longer owed.
2. "QSM - Loan" $24,000 - $24,000 loan from a related party, Quadrant Sales and Marketing, with no interest rate or maturity date.

- e. To the extent necessary, the Subscriber has retained, at its own expense, and relied upon appropriate professional advice regarding the investment, tax and legal merits and consequences of this Agreement and the purchase of the shares hereunder. The Subscriber disclaims reliance on any statements made or information provided by any person or entity in the course of Subscriber’s consideration of an investment in the shares. - h. The Subscriber understands that there is not yet any public market for the shares and that no market may develop for any of such Securities. The Subscriber understands that even if a public market develops for such Securities, Rule 144 ("Rule 144") promulgated under the Securities Act requires for nonaffiliates, among other conditions, a one year holding period prior to the resale (in limited amounts) of securities acquired in a nonpublic offering without having to satisfy the registration requirements under the Securities Act. The Subscriber understands and hereby acknowledges that the Company is under no obligation to register any of the shares under the Securities Act or any state securities or "blue sky" laws.
- i. The Subscriber consents to the placement of a legend on any certificate or other document evidencing the Securities that such Securities have not been registered under the Securities Act or any state securities or "blue sky" laws and setting forth or referring to the restrictions on transferability and sale thereof contained in this Agreement. - l. The Subscriber acknowledges that at such time, if ever, as the Securities are registered, sales of the Securities will be subject to state securities laws.
- m. In connection with any public offering of the Company's Securities, the Subscriber hereby agrees to be subject to a lockup for a period of one hundred eighty (180) days or such longer period following such public offering as and if required by the underwriter or underwriters of such public offering (the "LockUp Period") provided, however, that notwithstanding the foregoing, the Subscriber shall not be subject to the LockUp Period unless all of the Company's directors, officers and shareholders owning five percent (5%) or more of the Company's fully diluted voting shares are subject to the same LockUp Period. The foregoing lockups shall be applicable regardless of whether the Securities are then registered for resale under the Securities Act. This Section 1.17 shall be binding upon any transferee of the Securities.
- n. In order to enforce the foregoing covenant, the Company may impose stop transfer instructions with respect to any shares or securities exchangeable, convertible or exercisable for shares of each Subscriber or its transferee (and the shares or securities of every other person subject to the foregoing restriction) until the end of such period.
- o. The Subscriber agrees not to issue any public statement with respect to the Subscriber's investment or proposed investment in the Company or the terms of any agreement or covenant between them and the Company without the Company's prior written consent, except such disclosures as may be required under applicable law or under any applicable order, rule or regulation.

There are no other promises, conditions, understandings or other agreements, whether oral or written, relating to the subject matter of this Agreement.
