Solving Salesforce's payment collection

Creating tailor-made solutions at scale to address our merchants pain points

Splitting and settling payments, as well as accepting local payment methods, are some of the major challenges for global players that collect payments directly on their own platform.

dLocal's latest no-code solution solves the complexity of B2B payment collection, dealing with currency volatility, enabling local payment options, and providing for the expatriation and settlement of funds.

Localized checkout to enhance our merchants' payment experience

dLocal allows clients such as Meta to deliver a smooth and frictionless payment experience in Africa by enabling dominant local payment methods outside of traditional international credit card payments, including mobile money, local cards, as well as cash payments.

Payment methods using mobile money had 346M¹ monthly active users worldwide in 2021 and in markets like Kenya have a 60%² penetration vs 5-6%³ for credit cards.

Note: ¹ "NRR" means net revenue retention rate, which is the U.S. dollar-based measure of retention and growth of our merchants. We calculate the NRR of a period by dividing the current period revenue by the prior period revenue. The prior period revenue is the revenue billed by us to all of our merchant customers in the corresponding period for the prior fiscal year. The current period revenue is the revenue billed by us in the corresponding period for the current fiscal year to the same merchant customers included in the calculation of the prior period revenue. Current period revenue includes any upsells and cross sells of products, geographies, and payment methods to such merchant customers, and is net of any contractions or attrition, but excludes revenue from new customers on-boarded during the last 12 months. ² dLocal has only one operating segment. Although Adjusted EBITDA may be commonly viewed as non-IFRS measure in other contexts, pursuant IFRS 8, Adjusted EBITDA is treated by dLocal as IFRS measure based on the manner in which dLocal utilizes these measures. See detailed methodology for Adjusted EBITDA in appendix. ³ Unaudited quarterly results.

Solving for the complex, fragmented payments ecosystem in EMs

Maximizing reach by accepting key local payment methods

Non-credit card volume accounted for 67% of total TPV in 2022

Other payment methods include:

Industry-agnostic solutions operating across numerous verticals

TPV growth during the year supported by a well diversified segment base and growth across all verticals

Note: ¹In 2022, financial services include wallets (1% of total TPV) and crypto (0.2% of total TPV).

Although Adjusted EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA Margin may be commonly viewed as non-IFRS measures in other contexts, pursuant to IFRS 8, Adjusted EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA Margin are treated by dLocal as IFRS measures based on the manner in which dLocal utilizes these measures. Adjusted EBITDA as used by dLocal is defined as the profit from operations before financing and taxation for the year or period, as applicable, before depreciation of property, plant and equipment, amortization of right-of-use assets and intangible assets, and further excluding the changes in fair value of financial assets and derivative instruments carried at fair value through profit or loss, impairment gains/(losses) on financial assets, transaction costs, share-based payment non-cash charges, secondary offering expenses, transaction expenses and inflation adjustment.

¹Corresponds to expenses assumed by dLocal in relation to secondary offerings of its shares which occurred in 2021. ² Corresponds to costs related to the acquisition of assets of PrimeiroPay. ³ During 2022, the Company utilized FTX Trading Ltd. ("FTX") banking services for the repatriation of funds from one country. On November 11, 2022, when FTX filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in the United States, the Company had deposits of USD 5.6 million whose withdrawals had not been processed by FTX. Such deposits were included in the loss allowance.⁴ It includes non-recurring costs related to an internal review of the allegations made by a short-seller report, including fees from independent counsel, independent global expert services and forensic accounting advisory firm.
