Strong Business Fundamentals Remain Unchanged

Tackling two challenges today and number one priority is execution

1. Industry-wide temporary destocking more pronounced than previously expected, especially in the more accretive EZ-fill® vials
→ We believe once the market rebounds that vials will return to normalized market growth rates
2. Engineering business enjoyed a period of record orders (H2 2022) that, coupled with long lead times for components, put stress on our organization
→ Launched actions last year that we believe will help us maximize efficiencies to secure project success going forward

Updating 2024 guidance. Mid- and long-term growth prospects remain unchanged

- Temporary destocking is the main factor for the guidance revision. Updated guidance also factors in a recent postponement of expected orders for a large customer due to a change in the customer's commercialization timeframes
- Confident on our prospects as we remain on the right path to achieve our 2027 targets
 - Unique value proposition of integrated offering
 - Strong secular tailwinds: aging populations, pharma innovation, and medicine self-administration
 - Operating in growing end markets and favorably positioned in the fastest growing biologics segment, with leading presence in GLP1s. Many opportunities over the next several years

Our Global footprint, differentiated product portfolio, and integrated end-to-end solutions, offer customers a unique value proposition: this provides us with sustainable competitive advantages

Q1 2024: Financial Highlights

Q1 2024 Revenue

Q1 24 revenue decrease due to lower-than-expected growth in the BDS Segment

- BDS Segment grew 2%, partially offsetting expected decline in the Engineering Segment
- Revenue decrease mostly driven by lower revenue attributable to vials in BDS due to industry-wide destocking, which we believe is transitory

HVS increased to 37% of total revenue; less accretive product mix compared with last year, due to lower EZ-fill® vial volumes

Gross profit margin decrease was mainly due to lower revenue in EZ-fill® vials. Also tempered (but to a much lesser extent) by (i) underutilization of vial lines, (ii) lower gross profit margin in the Engineering Segment, (iii) ongoing short-term inefficiencies tied to start-up of new facilities, and (iv) higher depreciation. Prior-year period benefitted also from government grants that did not repeat in 2024

Adjusted operating profit of 12.3%

On the bottom line:

- Net profit of € 18.8M, or € 0.07 of diluted EPS
- Adjusted net profit* of € 21.5M, or € 0.08 of adjusted diluted EPS

Adjusted EBITDA* of € 50.6M; adjusted EBITDA margin* of 21.4%

Q1 2024 Margins

	Q1 2024	Q1 2023
Gross Profit Margin	26.4%	32.0%
Operating Profit Margin	10.7%	17.1%

*All comparisons refer to Q1 2023 unless otherwise specified.

Adjusted operating profit margin, adjusted net profit, adjusted DEPS, adjusted EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA margin, are non-GAAP financial measures. Please refer to slides 17 to 22 for a reconciliation of non-GAAP measures.

Q1 2024 Segments Trends

Biopharmaceutical and Diagnostic Solutions Segment (BDS)

Q1 2024 revenue increased 2%. Growth impeded by the industry-wide vial destocking

- Revenue from vials decreased 43%, offset mainly by strong growth in syringes and other product categories
- Revenue from HVS grew 15% to €88 million, while revenue from other containment and delivery solutions decreased 7%

Product mix from lower revenue from EZ-fill® vials had the most profound impact on gross profit margin. Gross profit margin also tempered by underutilization of vial lines and associated labor costs, the temporary inefficiencies from start-up of new facilities, higher depreciation, and government grants that did not repeat in 2024

Engineering Segment

Q1 2024 revenue decreased 13% to €37.1 million, due to lower sales from visual inspection and assembly & packaging lines

Gross profit margin decreased to 17.3% due to lower marginality from certain projects in process

→ Main priority in 2024 is executing the large volume of work in progress and shortening our lead times. We've hired additional resources to support these efforts, along with other important long-term projects in the pipeline

	PRIOR Guidance	UPDATED Guidance
Revenue	€ 1.180B - € 1.210B	€ 1.125B - € 1.155B
Implied Revenue Growth	9% - 12%	4% - 6%
Adjusted DEPS*	€ 0.62 - € 0.66	€ 0.51 - € 0.55
Adjusted EBITDA*	€ 314.1M - € 329.5M	€ 277.9M - € 292.2M

Guidance Update

Mainly driven by the temporary soft vial demand and order postponement from a single customer due to change in the customer's commercialization schedule

We now assume a more gradual recovery in vials; with vial orders expected to increase at the end of 2024 and into early 2025, with bulk vials expected to recover first.

UPDATED Guidance assumes:

- The second half of 2024 is expected to be stronger than the first half
- BDS Segment is expected to grow MSD to HSD, while Engineering Segment will decrease yoy
- HVS in the range of 35% to 37% of total 2024 revenue
- Capital expenditures in the range of € 300 million to € 335 million
- Tax rate of 24.3%
- Weighted shares outstanding of ~271.2 million (PRIOR Guidance assumed ~265.5 million shares)

*Adjusted operating profit margin, adjusted net profit, adjusted DEPS, adjusted EBITDA and adjusted EBITDA margin, Net Debt, CapEx, Free Cash Flow are non-GAAP financial measures. Please refer to slides 17 to 22 for a reconciliation of non-GAAP measures.

Business Update

Slower-than-expected recovery in vials is tempering BDS performance in FY 2024

- Slower recovery in vials (particularly EZ-fill® vials) will unfavorably impact our HVS mix in 2024
 - Temporary imbalance of supply & demand is having a pronounced impact on us since (i) RTU are a small portion ($\leq 5\%$) of vial market today, and (ii) we are global leader in RTU vials¹
- Near-term, carefully managing costs and taking actions including redeploying vial production staff, and improving efficiencies on maintenance activities
- Expect to retain most of vial line staff despite temporary underutilization. We firmly believe this strategy best positions us for the expected recovery, and we do not want to take short-term actions that might compromise future growth

Long-term Bulk Vial market est. growth : LSD¹

Long-term RTU Vial market est. growth: DD¹

Engineering: ongoing actions are just starting to yield operational improvements in the business

- Combination of additional resources, ongoing optimization of industrial footprint, and streamlining internal processes are helping to improve the health of the business
- While it will take time, we expect that ongoing actions will drive operational efficiencies and shorten lead times, benefitting the Segment's margins
- Demand landscape in Engineering remains favorable.
For example: trend towards self-administration of medicine (especially given the popularity of GLP1s) is generating demand for assembly & packaging lines, and we are supporting many customers as they rapidly expand their drug delivery device programs

Long-term Engineering Segment addressable est. market growth : MSD to HSD¹

- Set to begin build-out of contract manufacturing capabilities related to a drug delivery platform multiple biologic indications for a large customer. Commercial activities related to this new CMO activity are expected to begin in 2026

Latina, Italy

- Commercial production launched last year
- Ramp-up activities ongoing as we continue installing and validating new lines into 2026
