Q&A

What is your background? How did you get into the industry?

Marina Gibbs Olanipekun has been in the food industry for over 30 years. She managed her brother's Sonny's Deli, near Egleston Square in the mid 90's, served in the Boston Caribbean Carnival, and also existing restaurant in Dorchester. She is now ready and well prepared to start her own venture.

Why are you raising capital and why is now a good time?

We are raising capital as we have personally funded the purchase of our food truck, commissary app certificates, and peddlers licenses. By raising capital, it will carry us over the finish line to launching us with the opportunity to become more known in the community if local community members are in

What's the most interesting thing you've learned about your industry since you got started?

Financial Condition

Historical milestones

Marina's Cuisine has been operating since JANUARY, 2020 and has since achieved the following milestones:

Secured food truck through personal finances, peddlers licenses, and food safety manager certification

On March 1st, 2021, Marina's Cuisine was accepted into the Commonwealth Kitchen as their base of operations

No operating history

Marina's Cuisine was established in January, 2020. Accordingly, there are limited financial statements for review. When evaluating this investment opportunity, investors should consider factors outlined in the following:

Risk Factors

Limited Operating History

Marina's Cuisine is a newly established entity and due to COVID postponed opening their operation. They purchased their food truck through personal finances, secured hawkers and peddlers license, secured a safe kitchen location.

With a strong reputation in the Boston area, Marina's Cuisine will become a household name in the local community.

You Might Lose Your Money

Reliance on Management

As a securities holder, you will not be able to participate in Marina's Cuisine's management or vote on decisions regarding Marina's Cuisine. Furthermore, if the founders or other key personnel of Marina's Cuisine or become unable to work, Marina's Cuisine (and your investment) could suffer substantially.

Financial Forecasts Risks

The financial forecasts provided by us herein are reasonable forecasts by us based upon assumptions and other various assumptions regarding operations. The validity and accuracy of these assumptions will vary over which Marina's Cuisine and the key persons will have no control. Changes in assumptions or the occurrence of other events may affect the forecasts. To the extent that the assumed events do not occur, the outcome may vary significantly from the forecasted outcomes. Consequently, there can be no assurance that the actual operating results will correspond to the forecasted outcomes. Additionally, Marina's Cuisine is a newly established entity and therefore has no operating history for comparison with.

Inability to Sell Your Investment

The law prohibits you from selling your securities (except in certain very limited circumstances) for one year after that one-year period, a host of Federal and State securities laws may limit or restrict your ability to sell. If you are permitted to sell, you will likely have difficulty finding a buyer because there will be no established market for your securities. You should be prepared to hold your investment for its full term.

The Company Might Need More Capital

Marina's Cuisine might need to raise more capital in the future to fund/expand operations, buy property, hire new members, market its services, pay overhead and general administrative expenses, or a variety of other needs. If additional capital will be available when needed, or that it will be available on terms that are not advantageous to Marina's Cuisine, it could be forced to delay its business operations. If Marina's Cuisine is unable to obtain additional funding when needed, it could be forced to delay its business operations or altogether.

Changes in Economic Conditions Could Hurt Marina's Cuisine

Factors like global or national economic recessions, changes in interest rates, changes in credit market conditions, declining employment, changes in real estate values, changes in tax policy, changes in public health crises, among other factors are unpredictable and could negatively affect Marina's Cuisine's financial ability to operate. In the event Marina's Cuisine ceases operations due to the foregoing factors, it can not guarantee its ability to continue operations or generate revenue in the future.

No Registration Under Securities Laws

The Notes will not be registered with the SEC or the securities regulator of any State. Hence, neither

Changes in Laws

Changes in laws or regulations, including but not limited to zoning laws, environmental laws, tax laws, antitrust laws, and health care laws, could negatively affect Marina's Cuisine's financial performance. Specifically, any additional regulation on the industry could significantly negatively affect the business.

Conflict of Interest With Companies and Their Management

In many ways, your interests and the interests of Marina's Cuisine's management will coincide: you both want the business to be as successful as possible. However, your interests might be in conflict in other important areas, including the business's ability to act conservatively to make sure they are best equipped to repay the Note obligations, while management might want to spend aggressively to invest in the business. You would like to keep the compensation of managers as low as possible, while management would like to keep it as high as they can.

Future Investors Might Have Superior Rights

If Marina's Cuisine needs more capital in the future and takes on additional debt or other sources of financing, future investors might have rights superior to yours. For example, they might have the right to be paid before you are, to have a greater voice in management, or otherwise.

The Company is Not Subject to the Corporate Governance Requirements of the National Securities Exchange Act

Any company whose securities are listed on a national stock exchange (for example, the New York Stock Exchange) is subject to a set of rules about corporate governance that are intended to protect investors. For example, the major U.S. public companies are required to have an audit committee made up entirely of independent members of the board of directors (no members with outside relationships with Marina's Cuisine or management), which is responsible for monitoring management's financial reporting. Marina's Cuisine will not be required to implement these and other investor protections.

You Have a Limited Upside

Notes include a maximum amount you can receive. You cannot receive more than that even if Marina's Cuisine becomes more successful than your initial expectations.

You Do Have a Downside

Conversely, if Marina's Cuisine fails to generate enough revenue, you could lose some or all of your investment.

Payments and Return Are Unpredictable

Because your payments are based on the revenue of Marina's Cuisine, and the revenue of Marina's Cuisine can fluctuate significantly (and even disappear altogether) unpredictably, it is impossible to predict how much you will receive and when. Therefore, the timing and amount of your payments are unpredictable, so is your ultimate return.

COVID-19 Impact

The ongoing COVID-19 pandemic may impact the Company's ability to generate revenue and/or cease operations. If operations are suspended or have been or may be ceased due to COVID-19 restrictions, the Company can not guarantee that it will resume operations.

This information is provided by Marina's Cuisine. Mainvest never predicts or projects performance, a forecast, or any other financial information. For additional information, review the official Form C filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission on the SEC's EDGAR website.
