Problem

Giving back should be easier

If you want to give back today, where do you start? If you're in need, where can you reach out for help? And if you have a cause that matters to you, how can you get the word out scalably?

While volunteerism is deeply ingrained in our culture, it usually isn't easy to find interesting ways to help the causes you care about and get others involved so you can make a noticeable impact.

This need is becoming even more pressing with Millennials and Gen Zers who have an appetite for purpose and now make up almost half of the U.S. population.

- 70% of Millennials and Gen Zers believe they can create change
- 84% of Millennials donate every year and 43% volunteer their time
- There are an estimated 70M+ volunteers composed mostly of Millennials and Gen Zers.

What about brands that want to make a social impact -- and that are now expected to make a social impact? How do they align with causes in a scalable way, rather than one-off experiences that are incredibly time consuming and can be expensive.

Cluster was developed to solve these problems.

Solution

Socializing Volunteerism

Cluster uses next-gen technology to make it easy for advocates and individuals to create, discover and join social impact causes. Those in need can easily create volunteer events that share across our community.

Our app makes it easy to share information about specific volunteer events across all social networks with one click. That means more people are able to do more good in their communities and the world.

We also enable brands to connect with consumers by sponsoring events digitally or in real life.

Product

A Revolutionary App

Individuals download the Cluster app for free and create a profile showing the causes they value. Nonprofits and other impact organizations also join and describe the ways they need help.

Our recommendation algorithm matches people with relevant impact events nearby. While traveling, users can find events in that area to help out at. They can see reviews and ratings from other volunteers and learn about experiences through featured stories and media.

With just a few clicks, users can share an event with like-minded people on Cluster and to their social networks off app allowing them to scale impact experiences and connect with others in meaningful ways.

Additionally, users can track their impact and, with higher engagement, are rewarded with badges and other in-app recognition. This celebrates social good, while increasing app usage.

Our community also benefits from advocates who support causes in authentic ways and amplify events across social media to extend the reach.

Business Model

Advertising + Data

Our model brings Creators and Causes together through the Cluster platform to leverage media dollars to create positive change. This is realized through brand sponsorship of aligned In Real Life or Virtual events open to community participation. The Cluster platform allows users to generate content at and in promotion of these social impact focused events, which drives the media offering in a fun, gamified way.

Traction

Growth and Brands

The Cluster community is growing rapidly! Since launching just a few months ago, our user base has grown with more than 7,000 events created and shared from our platform!

Our first advertising client, Aspiration, successfully reached millions of viewers with their #PlantYourChange campaign, an effort to plant 100 million trees and remove millions of pounds of carbon dioxide from our air.

Environmental responsibility is at the core of Aspiration's identity, and CLUSTER provides a platform to engage influencers and change makers to share our offering authentically across social media.

- Andrei Cherny, CEO of Aspiration

Conversations are ongoing with other brand partners like Dole, Samsung, Mercedes Benz and Prestige Brands, to name a few.

Cluster Investor Perks

Founders

While traveling abroad Cluster Founder, Celona, and his wife found themselves eager to find local volunteer activities happening around them but lacked a resource to locate these opportunities. That led to the idea of a mobile app that would easily allow them to connect with other like-minded activists and nearby volunteer opportunities. A chance to live like locals, learn from locals and give back to the communities and places contributing to their new memories.

Upon returning home, Celona combined his digital media experience with a savvy business team and award-winning creators and advocates to work on an app that would simplify volunteerism and turn everyone into their own changemaker.

Following extensive research, work, and development the Cluster app was completed during the time of a global pandemic, racial injustice at the forefront of the conversation and suffering climate change. Now more than ever individuals are craving change and have developed a newfound desire to give back to their communities.

Cluster is providing the platform to turn that change into action through authentic and impactful engagement. Now is your opportunity to join us on a journey to streamline and mobilize social impact around the world and let us help you scale the causes that matter most to you.

Invest in Cluster and help us do more good!
