Investors have doubled down!

Thank you to our newest investors from this past week! We're now to almost $10,000 with about 7 weeks to continue expanding our plant-based concept. We continue to operationalize processes, invest in our people, and improve our streams.

Please email Deric@WickedBOLD.com & Josh@WickedBOLD.com if you'd like to participate in our next round or have questions directly to the founding team!

SEPTEMBER 21ST, 2021

Thank you to our early investors (and 2nd round investors)

In just a couple of weeks we've already raised $5,200 to continue the expansion of this incredible concept. We've found ways to reduce our OpEx spend through payroll & Food/Bev costs and are confident that we will continue to move forward.

Our reviews continue trending in a positive direction and our loyalty program has grown to over 350 individuals.

The founders have slowly hired themselves out of the day to day and the restaurant currently operates autonomously while maintaining our high service & food standards.

As a final reminder, your investment is being doubled for the first $35,000 raised!

Thank you all so much for the support and we'll be checking back in shortly with additional updates.

BREAKING NEWS: Wicked Bold 2 Fundraise Kicks-Off!

Wicked Bold Vegan Kitchen has been a huge success to date! We're working with a commercial real estate agent to find a new location and potentially #3 and are looking for a larger, 2nd gen, restaurant space in a higher traffic location. As a prelude, let you know our Mainvest raise will kickoff TODAY and you're the first to know! If you're interested, be sure to claim the HUGE 2X multiple we're offering for the first slice (as well as our exciting perks)!

In the coming weeks, we'll be hosting two virtual Investor Offering Presentations and Q&A sessions - If you're interested, email Josh@WickedBold.com to have your space reserved!

Financial Updates: August revenue is trending towards $17,500-$18,000. We reaffirm our previous estimates.

followed we decided to make our initial payment sooner than expected! With your support, we were able to capitalize on some great weeks! From this point onwards, you'll be seeing repayments every quarter.

Financial Updates: June revenue, a partial month for the Wicked Bold Kitchen, was $16,102. We anticipate with our single location and online chocolate sales.

Operational Updates: As the initial weeks progressed, we optimized our menu by adding new categories like scheduling for FOH staff and hired all positions for Wicked Bold Kitchen. We also are piloting a program to sell pre-packaged bowls and meals that are dropped off at their location daily. We're bringing on a fraction of Wicked Bold to continue our expansion and take our brand to the next level! Lastly, I wanted to share the fan feedback on Facebook, 4.5 on Yelp and 4.6 on Google! We're closely monitoring reviews and are quickly responding to compliments.

Investor Perks: I've reached out to all of you to deliver your perks! If you haven't received an email and are not here, let me know and I'll get it right away.

Wicked Bold 2?! Wicked Bold Vegan Kitchen has been a huge success to date! We're already working with us to identify a location for WB #2! We're looking for a larger space in a higher traffic location and will have more reviews. While reviewing all of our financing options at this time, we're leaning towards another Mainvest raise and would like to give you a heads up prior to launching so you'll be able to invest at preferred terms in the coming weeks.

We're incredibly grateful for your investment in Wicked Bold and look forward to many more great updates! If you have any questions, feel free to reach out to me directly via email at Deric@WickedBold.com

Wicked BOLD Q2 Closing Update

Investors & those of you just following along - thank you so much for your continued support and I apologize for the investor perks. I have been working full-time to open the kitchen for our first 4 weeks and have finally hired a chef to help me zoom out of the kitchen a bit and get back to the reigns of our business.

We had a phenomenal opening month and positive feedback continues to flow in. We've also taken several requests to improve our menu & its presentation improve rapidly week over week.

This has been an incredible experience so far and I thank each of you for giving us the opportunity to pursue our vision.

As always, if you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to me directly at Deric@WickedBOLD.com

The final contract has left the building!

Updates, updates, updates!

Next week we should have all orders from our TikTok surge completed and sent out into the world! Overall to our fam and while we did have a few people reach out to cancel their orders due to the delay it was extra support & understanding as we scaled as a business to meet this demand in an incredible fashion.

To go from fulfilling 20 online orders per month to getting over 1,000 orders shipping out in ~30 days is so it's a testament to the team work and leadership on this small and growing team.

Yesterday we also completed the bar top at Wicked BOLD Vegan Kitchen. The image below is an application popping up in the Epoxy!

Also, Our final contractor LEFT THE BUILDING yesterday! All major projects are complete and now we've just finish some painting and get this baby ready for it's grand opening! Next Tuesday & Wednesday we expect release our Certificate of Occupancy and begin serving our community!

Last, but not least, a tremendous thank you to all of our supporters to this point - we have 6 days left to raise confident that we will meet this goal and I welcome any messages if I can help answer any questions if you are or potentially exploring investing more with us.

Financial Condition

Financial liquidity

Wicked BOLD has a low liquidity position due to its low cash reserves as compared to debt and other liabilities. The company's liquidity position to decline upon raising capital on Mainvest and deploying the capital to grow the business.

Risk Factors

You Might Lose Your Money

When you buy a certificate of deposit from a bank, the Federal government (through the FDIC) guarantees the principal. A Note is not like that at all. The ability of Wicked BOLD to make the payments you expect, and ultimately to repay the principal, is based on a number of factors, including many beyond our control.

Limited Services

Wicked BOLD operates with a very limited scope, offering only particular services to potential clients, making it difficult to meet customer preferences.

Lack of Accounting Controls

To the extent that the assumed events do not occur, the outcome may vary significantly from the projected. There is no assurance that the actual operating results will correspond to the forecasts provided herein. Additionally, the company is a newly established entity and therefore has no operating history from which forecasts could be projected with.

Inability to Sell Your Investment

The law prohibits you from selling your securities (except in certain very limited circumstances) for 12 months after the end of that one-year period, a host of Federal and State securities laws may limit or restrict your ability to sell your securities. If you want to sell, you will likely have difficulty finding a buyer because there will be no established market. Given the nature of the investment, you must hold your investment for its full term.

The Company Might Need More Capital

Wicked BOLD might need to raise more capital in the future to fund/expand operations, buy property and equipment, market its services, pay overhead and general administrative expenses, or a variety of other reasons. There is no assurance that capital will be available when needed, or that it will be available on terms that are not adverse to your interests. If the company is unable to obtain additional funding when needed, it could be forced to delay its business plan or even cease operations.

Changes in Economic Conditions Could Hurt Wicked BOLD

Factors like global or national economic recessions, changes in interest rates, changes in credit markets, changes in consumer spending, declining employment, changes in real estate values, changes in tax policy, changes in political conditions, and other factors are unpredictable and could negatively affect Wicked BOLD's financial performance or ability to raise capital. If Wicked BOLD ceases operations due to the foregoing factors, it can not guarantee that it will be able to repay your investment in the future.

No Registration Under Securities Laws

The Notes will not be registered with the SEC or the securities regulator of any State. Hence, neither Wicked BOLD nor the Notes will be subject to the same degree of regulation and scrutiny as if they were registered.

Incomplete Offering Information

Title III does not require us to provide you with all the information that would be required in some other kind of public offering of shares (for example, publicly-traded firms must generally provide investors with quarterly financial statements that have been audited by an independent accounting firm). Although Title III does require extensive information, it is a different decision if you had more information.

Lack of Ongoing Information

Wicked BOLD will be required to provide some information to investors for at least 12 months following the offering, but this information is far more limited than the information that would be required of a publicly-reporting company; and Wicked BOLD

Future Investors Might Have Superior Rights

If Wicked BOLD needs more capital in the future and takes on additional debt or other sources of financing superior to yours. For example, they might have the right to be paid before you are, to receive larger distributions, management, or otherwise.

The Company is Not Subject to the Corporate Governance Requirements of the National Securities Exchange

Any company whose securities are listed on a national stock exchange (for example, the New York Stock Exchange) is subject to rules about corporate governance that are intended to protect investors. For example, the major U.S. stock exchanges require a company to have an audit committee made up entirely of independent members of the board of directors (i.e., directors with no material relationships with Wicked BOLD or management), which is responsible for monitoring Wicked BOLD's compliance with these rules. The Company will not be required to implement these and other investor protections.

You Have a Limited Upside

Notes include a maximum amount you can receive. You cannot receive more than that even if Wicked BOLD exceeds your initial expectations.

You Do Have a Downside

Conversely, if Wicked BOLD fails to generate enough revenue, you could lose some or all of your money.

Payments and Return Are Unpredictable

Because your payments are based on the revenue of Wicked BOLD, and the revenue of Wicked BOLD can vary significantly (and altogether) unpredictably, it is impossible to predict how much you will receive and when. And because the revenue is unpredictable, your ultimate return.

The Notes Are Unsecured and Uninsured

The Notes are not secured by any collateral, nor are they guaranteed or insured by the FDIC or any other entity.

Subordination

The Notes shall be subordinated to all indebtedness of Wicked BOLD to banks, commercial finance lender institutions, and/or other institutions regularly engaged in the business of lending money.

Lack of Guaranty

The Notes are not personally guaranteed by any of the founders or any other person.
