RISK FACTORS

Investing in the Securities involves a high degree of risk and may result in the loss of your entire investment. Before making an investment decision with respect to the Securities, we urge you to carefully consider the risks described in this section and other factors set forth in this Form C. In addition to the risks specified below, the Company is subject to same risks that all companies in its business, and all companies in the economy, are exposed to. These include risks relating to economic downturns, political and economic events and technological developments (such as hacking and the ability to prevent hacking). Additionally, early-stage companies are inherently riskier than more developed companies. Prospective Investors should consult with their legal, tax and financial advisors prior to making an investment in the Securities. The Securities should only be purchased by persons who can afford to lose all of their investment.

Risks Related to the Company's Business and Industry

We have a limited operating history upon which you can evaluate our performance, and accordingly, our prospects must be considered in light of the risks that any new company encounters.

The Company is beginning to implement its business plan as it has a relatively short operating history. There can be no assurance that we will ever operate profitably. The likelihood of our success should be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications and delays usually encountered by early stage companies. The Company may not be successful in attaining the objectives necessary for it to overcome these risks and uncertainties.

The amount of capital the Company is attempting to raise in this Offering may not be enough to sustain the Company's current business plan.

In order to achieve the Company's near and long-term goals, the Company may need to procure funds in addition to the amount raised in the Offering. There is no guarantee the Company will be able to raise such funds on acceptable terms or at all. If we are not able to raise sufficient capital in the future, we may not be able to execute our business plan, our continued operations will be in jeopardy and we may be forced to cease operations and sell or otherwise transfer all or substantially all of our remaining assets, which could cause an Investor to lose all or a portion of their investment.

The Company utilizes technology that may pose health and safety concerns.

Our technology uses microwaves to transmit energy. Extended exposure to high power microwave radiation is known to have harmful effects on humans and animals. While our system is designed to ensure that the beam in which the energy is transmitted never touches anything but clear air, we cannot guarantee that our safety measures and built-in safety mechanisms are or will ever be sufficient to account for and safeguard against any or all potential health and safety risks. Technological failure or human error may interfere with the quality, adequacy and/or sustainability of our current safety controls, which may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Unforeseen technological challenges may emerge during field trials that may inhibit, delay or decelerate commercialization.

Our technology has yet to be commercially implemented and our products are still in development. Our profitability, key metrics, commercial applications and innovations and other projections related to our technology's capabilities are primarily based upon demonstrations and assessments derived from lab-based trials of our prototypes. Unforeseen challenges and new information may result during or from ongoing field trials that may require us to reevaluate or modify the specifications of our products and underlying technology and/or otherwise negatively impact our projected technological applications or capabilities. For example, issues to due atmospheric conditions, structural issues with components of the prototype, lower efficiency levels due to real-world conditions, and tracking and focusing challenges may slow down or inhibit implementation in moving targets such as drones and ships. As a result, our business, financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected.

We may implement new lines of business or offer new products and services within existing lines of business.

As an early-stage company, we may implement new lines of business at any time. There are substantial risks and uncertainties associated with these efforts, particularly in instances where the markets are not fully developed. In developing and marketing new lines of business and/or new products and services, we may invest significant time and resources. Initial timetables for the introduction and development of new lines of business and/or new products or services may not be achieved, and price and profitability targets may not prove feasible. We may not be successful in introducing new products and services in response to industry trends or developments in technology, or those new products may not achieve market acceptance. As a result, we could lose business, be forced to price products and services on less advantageous terms to retain or attract clients or be subject to cost increases. As a result, our business, financial condition or results of operations may be adversely affected.

Our future success and ability to compete depends, in part, on maintaining, securing and building upon the Company's first mover advantage.

A rival company might emerge, develop competitive technology, and enter the market before we are in a position to quickly and effectively scale our revenues and achieve operating efficiencies. Failure to secure our patent applications in key countries may allow potential market entrants to develop or utilize the key intellectual property underlying our technology for commercial application and may cause our business, market position, financial condition and results of operations to suffer. In addition, if we are unable to sufficiently establish clientele and secure a sales funnel in our target verticals before competition emerges, our commercial momentum may be adversely affected.

The COVID-19 pandemic has impacted, and may continue to impact, our business, key metrics, and results of operations in volatile and unpredictable ways.

The uncertainty around the COVID-19 pandemic in the United States, New Zealand and worldwide will likely continue to adversely impact national and global economies. The full extent of the impact of the pandemic on our business, key metrics, and results of operations depends on future developments that are uncertain and unpredictable, including the duration, severity, and spread of the pandemic, its impact on capital and financial markets, and any new information that may emerge concerning the virus or vaccines or other efforts to control the virus. Exacerbated by the conditions of the ongoing pandemic, unpredictable circumstances may have a negative impact on the execution of our business plans and operations. For example, if a natural disaster, power outage, connectivity issue, or other event occurs that impacts our employees' ability to work, coordinate with our partner(s) or gain access into certain commercial or geographic markets, it may be difficult or, in certain cases, impossible, for us to continue our business for a substantial period of time. Furthermore, we may experience disruptions if our employees, partner(s) or prospective client(s) become ill and are unable to perform their duties, or if our operations, networks, or the operations of our partner(s) or prospective client(s) are adversely impacted by the pandemic. Any of these uncertainties or actions we take to mitigate the effects of the pandemic and/or other uncertainties related to the pandemic could harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We rely on other companies to provide components and services for our products.

We depend on suppliers and contractors to meet our contractual obligations to our customers and conduct our operations. Our ability to meet our obligations to our customers may be adversely affected if suppliers or contractors do not provide the agreed-upon supplies or perform the agreed-upon services in compliance with customer requirements and in a timely and cost-effective manner. Likewise, the quality of our products may be adversely impacted if companies to whom we delegate manufacture of major components or subsystems for our products, or from whom we acquire such items, do not provide components which meet required specifications and perform to our and our customers' expectations. Our suppliers may be unable to quickly recover from natural disasters and other events beyond their control and may be subject to additional risks such as financial problems that limit their ability to conduct their operations. The risk of these adverse effects may be greater in circumstances where we rely on only one or two contractors or suppliers for a particular component. Our products may utilize custom components available from only one source. Continued availability of those components at acceptable prices, or at all, may be affected for any number of reasons, including if those suppliers decide to concentrate on the production of common components instead of components customized to meet our requirements. The supply of components for a new or existing product could be delayed or constrained, or a key manufacturing vendor could delay shipments of completed products to us adversely affecting our business and results of operations.

We rely on various intellectual property rights, including trademarks, in order to operate our business.

The Company relies on certain intellectual property rights held by its subsidiaries to operate its business. Those intellectual property rights may not be sufficiently broad or otherwise may not provide us a significant competitive advantage. In addition, the steps that we have taken to maintain and protect our intellectual property may not prevent it from being challenged, invalidated, circumvented or designed-around, particularly in countries where intellectual property rights are not highly developed or protected. In some circumstances, enforcement may not be available to us because an infringer has a dominant intellectual property position or for other business reasons, or countries may require compulsory licensing of our intellectual property. Our failure to obtain or maintain intellectual property rights that convey competitive advantage, adequately protect our intellectual property or detect or prevent circumvention or unauthorized use of such property, could adversely impact our competitive position and results of operations. We also rely on nondisclosure and noncompetition agreements with employees, consultants and other parties to protect, in part, trade secrets and other proprietary rights. There can be no assurance that these agreements will adequately protect our trade secrets and other proprietary rights and will not be breached, that we will have adequate remedies for any breach, that others will not independently develop substantially equivalent proprietary information or that third parties will not otherwise gain access to our trade secrets or other proprietary rights. As we expand our business, protecting our intellectual property will become increasingly important. The protective steps we have taken may be inadequate to deter our competitors from using our proprietary information. In order to protect or enforce our patent rights, we may be required to initiate litigation against third parties, such as infringement lawsuits. Also, these third parties may assert claims against us with or without provocation. These lawsuits could be expensive, take significant time and could divert management's attention from other business concerns. The law relating to the scope and validity of claims in the technology field in which we operate is still evolving and, consequently, intellectual property positions in our industry are generally uncertain. We cannot assure you that we will prevail in any of these potential suits or that the damages or other remedies awarded, if any, would be commercially valuable.

The Company's success depends on the experience and skill of the board of directors, its executive officers and key employees.

In particular, we are dependent on Zvi (Greg) Kushnir, our Chief Executive Officer and director, and our other employees. The Company has or intends to enter into employment agreements with Zvi (Greg) Kushnir however there can be no assurance that it will do so or that they will continue to be employed by the Company for a particular period of time. The loss of Zvi (Greg) Kushnir, or any member of the board of directors, executive officer or key person could harm the Company's business, financial condition, cash flow and results of operations.

The Company's success depends on the experience and skill of the board of directors, its executive officers and key employees. However, , the Company does not have any key person life insurance policies on any such people.

We are dependent on certain key personnel in order to conduct our operations and execute our business plan, however, the Company has not purchased any insurance policies with respect to those individuals in the event of their death or disability. Therefore, if any of these personnel die or become disabled, the Company will not receive any compensation to assist with such person's absence. The loss of such person could negatively affect the Company and our operations. We have no way to guarantee key personnel will stay with the Company, as many states do not enforce non-competition agreements, and therefore acquiring key man insurance will not ameliorate all of the risk of relying on key personnel.

Damage to our reputation could negatively impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our reputation and the quality of our brand are critical to our business and success in existing markets, and will be critical to our success as we enter new markets. Any incident that erodes customer loyalty for our brand could significantly reduce its value and damage our business. We may be adversely affected by any negative publicity, regardless of its accuracy. Also, there has been a marked increase in the use of social media platforms and similar devices, including blogs, social media websites and other forms of internet-based communications that provide individuals with access to a broad audience of customers and other interested persons. The availability of information on social media platforms is virtually immediate as is its impact. Information posted may be adverse to our interests or may be inaccurate, each of which may harm our performance, prospects or business. The harm may be immediate and may disseminate rapidly and broadly, without affording us an opportunity for redress or correction.

Our business could be negatively impacted by cyber security threats, attacks and other disruptions.

We may face attacks on our information infrastructure where we manage and store various proprietary information and sensitive/confidential data relating to our operations. These attacks may include sophisticated malware (viruses, worms, and other malicious software programs) and phishing emails that attack our products or otherwise exploit any security vulnerabilities. These intrusions sometimes may be zero-day malware that are difficult to identify because they are not included in the signature set of commercially available antivirus scanning programs. Experienced computer programmers and hackers may be able to penetrate our network security and misappropriate or compromise our confidential information or that of our customers or other third-parties, create system disruptions, or cause shutdowns. Additionally, sophisticated software and applications that we produce or procure from third-parties may contain defects in design or manufacture, including “bugs” and other problems that could unexpectedly interfere with the operation of the information infrastructure. A disruption, infiltration or failure of our information infrastructure systems or any of our data centers as a result of software or hardware malfunctions, computer viruses, cyber-attacks, employee theft or misuse, power disruptions, natural disasters or accidents could cause breaches of data security, loss of critical data and performance delays, which in turn could adversely affect our business.

Security breaches of confidential customer information or confidential employee information may adversely affect our business.

Our business requires the collection, transmission and retention of personally identifiable information, in various information technology systems that we maintain and in those maintained by third parties with whom we contract to provide services. The integrity and protection of that data is critical to us. The information, security and privacy requirements imposed by governmental regulation are increasingly demanding. Our systems may not be able to satisfy these changing requirements and customer and employee expectations, or may require significant additional investments or time in order to do so. A breach in the security of our information technology systems or those of our service providers could lead to an interruption in the operation of our systems, resulting in operational inefficiencies and a loss of profits. Additionally, a significant theft, loss or misappropriation of, or access to, customers’ or other proprietary data or other breach of our information technology systems could result in fines, legal claims or proceedings.

The use of individually identifiable data by our business, our business associates and third parties is regulated at the state, federal and international levels.

The regulation of individual data is changing rapidly, and in unpredictable ways. A change in regulation could adversely affect our business. Costs associated with information security – such as investment in technology, the costs of compliance with consumer protection laws and costs resulting from consumer fraud – could cause our business and results of operations to suffer materially. Additionally, our operations could depend upon the secure transmission of confidential information over public networks. The intentional or negligent actions of employees, business associates or third parties may undermine our security measures. As a result, unauthorized parties may obtain access to our data systems and misappropriate confidential data. There can be no assurance that advances in computer capabilities, new discoveries in the field of cryptography or other developments will prevent the compromise of our customer transaction processing capabilities and personal data. If any such compromise of our security or the security of information residing with our business associates or third parties were to occur, it could have a material adverse effect on our reputation, operating results and financial condition. Any compromise of our data security may materially increase the costs we incur to protect against such breaches and could subject us to additional legal risk.

The Company is not subject to Sarbanes-Oxley regulations and may lack the financial controls and procedures of public companies.

The Company may not have the internal control infrastructure that would meet the standards of a public company, including the requirements of the Sarbanes Oxley Act of 2002. As a privately-held (non-public) Company, the Company is currently not subject to the Sarbanes Oxley Act of 2002, and its financial and disclosure controls and procedures reflect its status as a development stage, non-public company. There can be no guarantee that there are no significant deficiencies or material weaknesses in the quality of the Company's financial and disclosure controls and procedures. If it were necessary to implement such financial and disclosure controls and procedures, the cost to the Company of such compliance could be substantial and could have a material adverse effect on the Company’s results of operations.

We operate in a highly regulated environment, and if we are found to be in violation of any of the federal, state, or local laws or regulations applicable to us, our business could suffer.

We are also subject to a wide range of federal, state, and local laws and regulations, such as local licensing requirements, and retail financing, debt collection, consumer protection, environmental, health and safety, creditor, wage-hour, anti-discrimination, whistleblower and other employment practices laws and regulations and we expect these costs to increase going forward. The violation of these or future requirements or laws and regulations could result in administrative, civil, or criminal sanctions against us, which may include fines, a cease and desist order against the subject operations or even revocation or suspension of our license to operate the subject business. As a result, we have incurred and will continue to incur capital and operating expenditures and other costs to comply with these requirements and laws and regulations.

As a holding company, we will depend on the ability and success of our subsidiaries.

We are a holding company and do not have any significant operations or assets other than our ownership of the shares of our subsidiaries. We therefore depend on our subsidiaries' operations and our success depends largely upon the success of our subsidiaries. Our subsidiaries are located in New Zealand and changes in the legal landscape in New Zealand could also affect our subsidiaries and us adversely. Moreover, dividends, revenue and other permitted distributions from our subsidiaries will be our primary source of funds to meet ongoing cash requirements, including future debt service payments, if any, and other expenses, and to pay dividends to our shareholders if we choose to do so. Our subsidiaries could be subject to applicable law as well as significant regulatory restrictions limiting their ability to declare and pay dividends. The inability of our subsidiaries to pay dividends in an amount sufficient to enable us to meet our cash requirements at the holding company level could have an adverse effect on our operations. Additionally, if our subsidiaries fail to manage their operations, such failure can adversely affect the Company.

The Company is not registered in its principal place of business, but its subsidiaries are.

The Company is incorporated in Delaware. However, the Company has its principal place of business in Auckland, New Zealand. The Company's subsidiaries are located in and registered in New Zealand. Presently, the Company is not registered to do business in Auckland. However, the Company could be required to register in New Zealand. In such case, even if the Company complies with such requirement, there could be sanctions or liability imposed on the Company for its lack of registration. All of the foregoing could lead to an adverse effect and/or a loss in revenue to the Company.

Risks Related to the Offering

State and federal securities laws are complex, and the Company could potentially be found to have not complied with all relevant state and federal securities law in prior offerings of securities.

The Company has conducted previous offerings of securities and may not have complied with all relevant state and federal securities laws. If a court or regulatory body with the required jurisdiction ever concluded that the Company may have violated state or federal securities laws, any such violation could result in the Company being required to offer rescission rights to investors in such offering. If such investors exercised their rescission rights, the Company would have to pay to such investors an amount of funds equal to the purchase price paid by such investors plus interest from the date of any such purchase. No assurances can be given the Company will, if it is required to offer such investors a rescission right, have sufficient funds to pay the prior investors the amounts required or that proceeds from this Offering would not be used to pay such amounts.

In addition, if the Company violated federal or state securities laws in connection with a prior offering and/or sale of its securities, federal or state regulators could bring an enforcement, regulatory and/or other legal action against the Company which, among other things, could result in the Company having to pay substantial fines and be prohibited from selling securities in the future.

The Company could potentially be found to have not complied with securities law in connection with this Offering related to "Testing the Waters."

Prior to filing this Form C, the Company engaged in "testing the waters" permitted under Regulation Crowdfunding (17 CFR 227.206), which allows issuers to communicate to determine whether there is interest in the offering. All communication sent is deemed to be an offer of securities for purposes of the antifraud provisions of federal securities laws. Any Investor who expressed interest prior to the date of this Offering should read this Form C thoroughly and rely only on the information provided herein and not on any statement made prior to the Offering. The communications sent to Investors prior to the Offering are attached as Exhibit E. Some of these communications may not have included proper disclaimers required for "testing the waters."

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission does not pass upon the merits of the Securities or the terms of the Offering, nor does it pass upon the accuracy or completeness of any Offering document or literature.

You should not rely on the fact that our Form C is accessible through the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission's EDGAR filing system as an approval, endorsement or guarantee of compliance as it relates to this Offering. The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not reviewed this Form C, nor any document or literature related to this Offering.

Neither the Offering nor the Securities have been registered under federal or state securities laws.

No governmental agency has reviewed or passed upon this Offering or the Securities. Neither the Offering nor the Securities have been registered under federal or state securities laws. Investors will not receive any of the benefits available in registered offerings, which may include access to quarterly and annual financial statements that have been audited by an independent accounting firm. Investors must therefore assess the adequacy of disclosure and the fairness of the terms of this Offering based on the information provided in this Form C and the accompanying exhibits.

The Company's management may have broad discretion in how the Company uses the net proceeds of the Offering.

Unless the Company has agreed to a specific use of the proceeds from the Offering, the Company's management will have considerable discretion over the use of proceeds from the Offering. You may not have the opportunity, as part of your investment decision, to assess whether the proceeds are being used appropriately.

The Company has the right to limit individual Investor commitment amounts based on the Company's determination of an Investor's sophistication.

The Company may prevent any Investor from committing more than a certain amount in this Offering based on the Company's determination of the Investor's sophistication and ability to assume the risk of the investment. This means that your desired investment amount may be limited or lowered based solely on the Company's determination and not in line with relevant investment limits set forth by the Regulation CF rules. This also means that other Investors may receive larger allocations of the Offering based solely on the Company's determination.

The Company has the right to extend the Offering Deadline.

The Company may extend the Offering Deadline beyond what is currently stated herein. This means that your investment may continue to be held in escrow while the Company attempts to raise the Target Offering Amount even after the Offering Deadline stated herein is reached. While you have the right to cancel your investment in the event the Company extends the Offering Deadline, if you choose to reconfirm your investment, your investment will not be accruing interest during this time and will simply be held until such time as the new Offering Deadline is reached without the Company receiving the Target Offering Amount, at which time it will be returned to you without interest or deduction, or the Company receives the Target Offering Amount, at which time it will be released to the Company to be used as set forth herein. Upon or shortly after the release of such funds to the Company, the Securities will be issued and distributed to you.

The Company may also end the Offering early.

If the Target Offering Amount is met after 21 calendar days, but before the Offering Deadline, the Company can end the Offering by providing notice to Investors at least 5 business days prior to the end of the Offering. This means your failure to participate in the Offering in a timely manner, may prevent you from being able to invest in this Offering – it also means the Company may limit the amount of capital it can raise during the Offering by ending the Offering early.

The Company has the right to conduct multiple closings during the Offering.

If the Company meets certain terms and conditions, an intermediate close of the Offering can occur, which will allow the Company to draw down on half of the proceeds committed and captured in the Offering during the relevant period. The Company may choose to continue the Offering thereafter. Investors should be mindful that this means they can make multiple investment commitments in the Offering, which may be subject to different cancellation rights. For example, if an intermediate close occurs and later a material change occurs as the Offering continues, Investors whose investment commitments were previously closed upon will not have the right to re-confirm their investment as it will be deemed to have been completed prior to the material change.

Risks Related to the Securities

The Securities will not be freely tradable under the Securities Act until one year from the initial purchase date. Although the Securities may be tradable under federal securities law, state securities regulations may apply, and each Investor should consult with their attorney.

You should be aware of the long-term nature of this investment. There is not now and likely will not ever be a public market for the Securities. Because the Securities have not been registered under the Securities Act or under the securities laws of any state or foreign jurisdiction, the Securities have transfer restrictions and cannot be resold in the United States except pursuant to Rule 501 of Regulation CF. It is not currently contemplated that registration under the Securities Act or other securities laws will be effected. Limitations on the transfer of the Securities may also adversely affect the price that you might be able to obtain for the Securities in a private sale. Investors should be aware of the long-term nature of their investment in the Company. Each Investor in this Offering will be required to represent that they are purchasing the Securities for their own account, for investment purposes and not with a view to resale or distribution thereof.

Investors will not become equity holders until the Company decides to convert the Securities into “CF Shadow Securities” (the type of equity securities issuable upon conversion of the Securities) or until there is a change of control or sale of substantially all of the Company’s assets.

Investors will not have an ownership claim to the Company or to any of its assets or revenues for an indefinite amount of time and depending on when and how the Securities are converted, the Investors may never become equity holders of the Company. Investors will not become equity holders of the Company unless the Company receives a future round of financing great enough to trigger a conversion and the Company elects to convert the Securities into CF Shadow Securities. The Company is under no obligation to convert the Securities into CF Shadow Securities. In certain instances, such as a sale of the Company or substantially all of its assets, an initial public offering or a dissolution or bankruptcy, the Investors may only have a right to receive cash, to the extent available, rather than equity in the Company.

Investors will not have voting rights, even upon conversion of the Securities into CF Shadow Securities. Upon the conversion of the Securities into CF Shadow Securities (which cannot be guaranteed), the holders of the CF Shadow Securities will be required to enter into a proxy with the Intermediary or its designee to ensure any statutory voting rights are voted in tandem with the majority holders of whichever series of securities the CF Shadow Securities follow.

Investors will not have the right to vote upon matters of the Company even if and when their Securities are converted into CF Shadow Securities (the occurrence of which cannot be guaranteed). Upon such conversion, the CF Shadow Securities will have no voting rights and, in circumstances where a statutory right to vote is provided by state law, the CF Shadow Security holders are required to enter into a proxy agreement with the Intermediary or its designee to vote their CF Shadow Securities with the majority of the holder(s) of the securities issued in the round of equity financing that triggered the conversion right. For example, if the Securities are converted in connection with an offering of Series B Preferred Stock, Investors would receive CF Shadow Securities in the form of shares of Series B-CF Shadow Preferred Stock and would be required to enter into a proxy that allows the Intermediary or its designee to vote their shares of Series B-CF Shadow Preferred Stock consistent with the majority of the Series B Preferred Stockholders. Thus, Investors will essentially never be able to vote upon any matters of the Company.

Investors will not be entitled to any inspection or information rights other than those required by law.

Investors will not have the right to inspect the books and records of the Company or to receive financial or other information from the Company, other than as required by law. Other security holders of the Company may have such rights. Regulation CF requires only the provision of an annual report on Form C and no additional information. Additionally, there are numerous methods by which the Company can terminate annual report obligations, resulting in no information rights, contractual, statutory or otherwise, owed to Investors. This lack of information could put Investors at a disadvantage in general and with respect to other security holders, including certain security holders who have rights to periodic financial statements and updates from the Company such as quarterly unaudited financials, annual projections and budgets, and monthly progress reports, among other things.

Investors will be unable to declare the Security in “default” and demand repayment.

Unlike convertible notes and some other securities, the Securities do not have any “default” provisions upon which Investors will be able to demand repayment of their investment. The Company has ultimate discretion as to whether or not to convert the Securities upon a future equity financing and Investors have no right to demand such conversion. Only in limited circumstances, such as a liquidity event, may Investors demand payment and even then, such payments will be limited to the amount of cash available to the Company.

The Company may never elect to convert the Securities or undergo a liquidity event and Investors may have to hold the Securities indefinitely.

The Company may never conduct a future equity financing or elect to convert the Securities if such future equity financing does occur. In addition, the Company may never undergo a liquidity event such as a sale of the Company or an initial public offering. If neither the conversion of the Securities nor a liquidity event occurs, Investors could be left holding the Securities in perpetuity. The Securities have numerous transfer restrictions and will likely be highly illiquid, with no secondary market on which to sell them. The Securities are not equity interests, have no ownership rights, have no rights to the Company’s assets or profits and have no voting rights or ability to direct the Company or its actions.

Equity securities acquired upon conversion of the Securities may be significantly diluted as a consequence of subsequent equity financings.

The Company’s equity securities will be subject to dilution. The Company intends to issue additional equity to employees and third-party financing sources in amounts that are uncertain at this time, and as a consequence holders of equity securities resulting from the conversion of the Securities will be subject to dilution in an unpredictable amount. Such dilution may reduce the Investor’s control and economic interests in the Company.

The amount of additional financing needed by the Company will depend upon several contingencies not foreseen at the time of this Offering. Generally, additional financing (whether in the form of loans or the issuance of other securities) will be intended to provide the Company with enough capital to reach the next major corporate milestone. If the funds received in any additional financing are not sufficient to meet the Company’s needs, the Company may have to raise additional capital at a price unfavorable to their existing investors, including the holders of the Securities. The availability of capital is at least partially a function of capital market conditions that are beyond the control of the Company. There can be no assurance that the Company will be able to accurately predict the future capital requirements necessary for success or that additional funds will be available from any source. Failure to obtain financing on favorable terms could dilute or otherwise severely impair the value of the Securities.

In addition, the Company has certain equity grants outstanding. Should the Company enter into a financing that would trigger any conversion rights, the converting securities would further dilute the equity securities receivable by the holders of the Securities upon a qualifying financing.

Equity securities issued upon conversion of the Securities may be substantially different from other equity securities offered or issued by the Company at the time of conversion.

In the event the Company decides to exercise the conversion right, the Company will convert the Securities into equity securities that are materially different from the equity securities being issued to new investors at the time of conversion in many ways, including, but not limited to, liquidation preferences, dividend rights, or anti-dilution protection. Additionally, any equity securities issued at the Conversion Price (as defined in the Crowd SAFE agreement) shall have only such preferences, rights, and protections in proportion to the Conversion Price and not in proportion to the price per share paid by new investors receiving the equity securities. Upon conversion of the Securities, the Company may not provide the holders of such Securities with the same rights, preferences, protections, and other benefits or privileges provided to other investors of the Company.

The forgoing paragraph is only a summary of a portion of the conversion feature of the Securities; it is not intended to be complete, and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Crowd SAFE agreement, which is attached as Exhibit C.

A Crowd SAFE holder may lose their right to any appreciation or return on investment due to defaulting on certain notice and require action requirements in such Crowd SAFE; failure to claim cash set aside in this case may result in a total loss of principalCrowd SAFE offered requires a holder to complete, execute and deliver any reasonable or necessary information and documentation requested by the Company or the Intermediary in order to effect the conversion or termination of the Crowd SAFE, in connection with an Equity Financing or Liquidity Event, within thirty (30) calendar days of receipt of notice (whether actual or constructive) from the Company. Failure to make a timely action may result in the Company declaring that the Investor is only eligible to receive a cash payment equal to their Purchase Amount (or a lesser amount in certain events). While the Company will set aside such payment for the investor, such payment may be subject to escheatment laws, resulting in a total loss of principal if the Investor never claims their payment.

There is no present market for the Securities and we have arbitrarily set the price.

The Offering price was not established in a competitive market. We have arbitrarily set the price of the Securities with reference to the general status of the securities market and other relevant factors. The Offering price for the Securities should not be considered an indication of the actual value of the Securities and is not based on our asset value, net worth, revenues or other established criteria of value. We cannot guarantee that the Securities can be resold at the Offering price or at any other price.

In the event of the dissolution or bankruptcy of the Company, Investors will not be treated as debt holders and therefore are unlikely to recover any proceeds.

In the event of the dissolution or bankruptcy of the Company, the holders of the Securities that have not been converted will be entitled to distributions as described in the Securities. This means that such holders will only receive distributions once all of the creditors and more senior security holders, including any holders of preferred stock, have been paid in full. Neither holders of the Securities nor holders of CF Shadow Securities can be guaranteed any proceeds in the event of the dissolution or bankruptcy of the Company.

While the Securities provide mechanisms whereby holders of the Securities would be entitled to a return of their purchase amount upon the occurrence of certain events, if the Company does not have sufficient cash on hand, this obligation may not be fulfilled.

Upon the occurrence of certain events, as provided in the Securities, holders of the Securities may be entitled to a return of the principal amount invested. Despite the contractual provisions in the Securities, this right cannot be guaranteed if the Company does not have sufficient liquid assets on hand. Therefore, potential Investors should not assume a guaranteed return of their investment amount.

There is no guarantee of a return on an Investor's investment.

There is no assurance that an Investor will realize a return on their investment or that they will not lose their entire investment. For this reason, each Investor should read this Form C and all exhibits carefully and should consult with their attorney and business advisor prior to making any investment decision.

IN ADDITION TO THE RISKS LISTED ABOVE, RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES NOT PRESENTLY KNOWN, OR WHICH WE CONSIDER IMMATERIAL AS OF THE DATE OF THIS FORM C, MAY ALSO HAVE AN ADVERSE EFFECT ON OUR BUSINESS AND RESULT IN THE TOTAL LOSS OF YOUR INVESTMENT.

BUSINESS

Description of the Business

The Company is opening up the world's access to energy without the need to lay down miles of cables. We have developed and are continuing to improve proprietary technology to enable long-range wireless energy transmission that is safe, reliable and cost-effective. Our system, which works by shaping microwave energy into a beam that's sent and received by a pair of antennas, is aimed at providing a more cost-effective, quicker and environmentally friendly solution for energy companies to transmit power over difficult terrain, including waterways, forests and mountains, than traditional infrastructure. This technology could be game-changing for the industry, opening up opportunities for improving energy access, grid decentralization and increasing the uptake of renewables. It is also an enabling technology – in addition to the applications mentioned above, long range wireless transmission could be used for powering remote cell sites, remote mining and other equipment including EV charging stations, powering islands, as well as in the marine and aerospace industries.

Business Plan

The Company will initially sell primarily direct to electricity distribution companies, supplying equipment and providing maintenance to enable these companies to implement wireless solutions that will reduce operating costs and decrease structural failure points. Once we have achieved sufficient traction and demonstrated our technology in live scenarios, in order to accelerate growth, we will look to licensing our technology by partnering with large engineering firms who manufacture and sell electricity grid equipment, enabling us to leverage their existing customer base and scale into international territories. In the future, after gaining sufficient market share within our primary markets, we will target other applications for the technology as mentioned above.

The Company's Products and/or Services

Product / Service	Description	Current Market
EM-Bridge	Permanent installation used for ongoing power supply on a large scale across long distances.	Utilities
EM-Bridge Edge	Permanent units typically used at the edge of a distribution network where traditional wire-based connections are not economically viable or difficult to install and maintain.	Utilities; telcos; renewable power generation project developers; mining companies; ports and shipping companies; defense
MOR ("Mobile Outage Response")	Truck-mounted units for addressing planned or unplanned outages by bridging the "gap" in the network caused by down lines or segments.	Utilities; disaster relief/aid agencies
Galvanix	Smaller permanent units installed as a backup system to improve network resilience and secure energy supply continuity during emergencies.	Governments; hospitals; telcos; other critical infrastructure

Competition

As far as we are aware, there is no currently available competing technology and no companies offering the same capabilities. The closest are resonance and coupling technologies and technologies that operate like strong WIFI, but for our applications they are significantly less efficient, cover significantly shorter distances and handle significantly less power. Microgrids, batteries, wind and solar could also be seen as competing, but in applicable use cases our tech can be implemented at lower costs, provide an ongoing solution that works all the time, produce less noise and pollution and an overall lower environmental footprint, can be mobile where needed, and can be implemented faster.

Customer Base

We are still in private testing phase for our main product and we seek to initially roll out our products and services gradually. We intend to sell and contract our products and services to target utilities/electricity distribution companies, engineering firms selling to line companies globally, owners of cell tower infrastructure, tech integrators, renewable power generation project developers, mining companies, ports and shipping companies, defense agencies, disaster relief/aid agencies, owners of critical infrastructure and other end-clients.

Supply Chain

The majority of components the Company requires are non-manufacturer specific and can be sourced from a variety of potential suppliers. There are two components presently used (though may not be components in the next generation of our technology) which are only available from one manufacturer. For these components, the Company has established a close working relationship with the agent for the manufacturer and with the manufacturer themselves, which enables the Company to ensure our required supply.

For manufacture of elements required for the assemblies, such as printed circuit boards or CNC-machined components, there are again multiple options for suppliers both in New Zealand and overseas – it's "run-of-the-mill" manufacturing. To date the Company has used New Zealand-based suppliers, but in future, depending on locations of end use, the Company will likely use overseas suppliers where there is an advantage to do so.

Intellectual Property

The Company has no intellectual property in its own name. The Company owns 100% of Emrod Group Ltd, the Company's previous parent, and Emrod Group Ltd in turn is the 100% owner of Emrod Ltd, which has the following intellectual property:

Application or Registration #	Title	Description	File Date	Grant Date	Country
1176522	Trademark	Emrod	20 Apr 2021	Pending	New Zealand
1154133	Trademark	EM-Bridge	21 July 2020	Registered 22 January 2021	New Zealand
62/934,511	Patent	Provisional Patent Application relating to a long-range wireless power (LWPT) concept	12 November 2019	Pending	USA
2019904254	Patent	Provisional Patent Application relating to a LWPT concept	12 November 2019	Pending	Australia
PCT/IB2020/060559	Patent	Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) application	11 November 2020	Pending	Switzerland*
109139320	Patent	Substantially the same as the PCT specification	11 November 2020	Pending	Taiwan

*Patent Cooperation Treaty - The Treaty is administered by World Intellectual Property Organization out of its office in Switzerland.

Governmental/Regulatory Approval and Compliance

Deployment of our systems in any particular country may require the approval of the equivalent of its FCC and/or similar regulatory bodies, as well as export controls approvals from the supplier of certain components used in some of our systems. We cannot be certain that we will receive the necessary approvals in any particular country. Failure to obtain them in a timely manner or at all will delay or prevent us from entering that country, which will slow or limit our growth.

Litigation

The Company is not subject to any current litigation or threatened litigation.

THE OFFERING AND THE SECURITIES

The Offering

The Company is offering a minimum amount of $25,000 (the “Target Offering Amount”) and up to a maximum amount of $1,070,000 (the “Maximum Offering Amount”) of Crowd SAFE (Simple Agreement for Future Equity) (the “Securities”) on a best efforts basis as described in this Form C (this “Offering”). We must raise an amount equal to or greater than the Target Offering Amount by 31 March 2022 (the “Offering Deadline”). Unless we raise at least the Target Offering Amount by the Offering Deadline, no Securities will be sold in this Offering, all investment commitments will be cancelled and all committed funds will be returned. Potential purchasers of the Securities are referred to herein as “Investors” or “you”.

The price of the Securities was determined arbitrarily, does not necessarily bear any relationship to the Company’s asset value, net worth, revenues or other established criteria of value, and should not be considered indicative of the actual value of the Securities. The minimum amount that an Investor may invest in the Offering is $100 and the maximum amount that an Investor may invest in the Offering is $107,000, each of which is subject to adjustment in the Company’s sole discretion.

In order to purchase the Securities, you must make a commitment to purchase by completing the subscription process hosted by OpenDeal Portal LLC dba Republic (the “Intermediary”), including complying with the Intermediary’s know your customer (KYC) and anti-money laundering (AML) policies. If an Investor makes an investment commitment under a name that is not their legal name, they may be unable to redeem their Security indefinitely, and neither the Intermediary nor the Company are required to correct any errors or omissions made by the Investor.

Investor funds will be held in escrow with Prime Trust, LLC until the Target Offering Amount has been met or exceeded and one or more closings occur. Investors may cancel an investment commitment until up to 48 hours prior to the Offering Deadline, or such earlier time as the Company designates pursuant to Regulation CF, using the cancellation mechanism provided by the Intermediary. Investors using a credit card to invest must represent and warrant to cancel any investment commitment(s) by submitting a request through the Intermediary at least 48 hours prior to the Offering Deadline, instead of attempting to claim fraud or claw back their committed funds.

The Company will notify Investors when the Target Offering Amount has been reached through the Intermediary. If the Company reaches the Target Offering Amount prior to the Offering Deadline, it may close the Offering early provided (i) the expedited Offering Deadline must be twenty-one (21) days from the time the Offering was opened, (ii) the Intermediary must provide at least five (5) business days’ notice prior to the expedited Offering Deadline to the Investors and (iii) the Company continues to meet or exceed the Target Offering Amount on the date of the expedited Offering Deadline.

Material Changes

If any material change occurs related to the Offering prior to the current Offering Deadline the Company will provide notice to Investors and receive reconfirmations from Investors who have already made commitments. If an Investor does not reconfirm their investment commitment after a material change is made to the terms of the Offering within five (5) business days of receiving notice, the Investor’s investment commitment will be cancelled and the committed funds will be returned without interest or deductions. If an Investor does not cancel an investment commitment before the Target Offering Amount is reached, the funds will be released to the Company upon the closing of the Offering and the Investor will receive the Securities in exchange for their investment.

Intermediate Closings

In the event an amount equal to two (2) times the Target Offering Amount is committed and meets all required terms of the Offering prior to the Offering Deadline on such date or such later time the Company designates pursuant to Rule 304(b) of Regulation CF, the Company may conduct the first of multiple closings of the Offering early, provided (i) the early closing date must be twenty-one (21) days from the time the Offering opened and (ii) that all Investors will receive notice of such early closing date at least five (5) business days prior to such new offering deadline (absent a material change that would require an extension of the Offering and reconfirmation of all investment commitments).

Investors who committed on the date such notice is provided or prior to the issuance of such notice will be able to cancel their investment commitment until 48 hours before such early closing date.

If the Company conducts an initial closing (the “Initial Closing”), the Company agrees to only withdraw half of the proceeds that are in escrow and will only conduct such Initial Closing if there are more than twenty-one (21) days remaining before the Offering Deadline as of the date of the Initial Closing. The Company may only conduct another close (a “Subsequent Closing”) before the Offering Deadline if the amount of investment commitments made as of the date of such Subsequent Closing exceeds two times the amount committed as of the date of the Initial Closing and there are more than twenty-one (21) days remaining before the Offering Deadline as of the date of such Subsequent Closing.

Any investment commitments received after an intermediate closing will be released to the Company upon a subsequent closing and the Investor will receive evidence of the Securities via electronic certificate/PDF in exchange for their investment commitment as soon as practicable thereafter.

The Company has agreed to return all funds to Investors in the event a Form C-W is ultimately filed in relation to this Offering, regardless of whether multiple closings are conducted.

Investment commitments are not binding on the Company until they are accepted by the Company, which reserves the right to reject, in whole or in part, in its sole and absolute discretion, any investment commitment. If the Company rejects all or a portion of any investment commitment, the applicable prospective Investor’s funds will be returned without interest or deduction.

The Securities

We request that you please review this Form C and the Crowd SAFE instrument attached as Exhibit C, in conjunction with the following summary information.

Transfer Agent and Registrar

The Company will act as transfer agent and registrar for the Securities.

Not Currently Equity Interests

The Securities are not currently equity interests in the Company and merely provide a right to receive equity at some point in the future upon the occurrence of certain events.

Dividends

The Securities do not entitle Investors to any dividends.

Conversion

Upon each future equity financing resulting in proceeds to the Company of not less than $1,000,000 (each an “Equity Financing”), the Securities are convertible at the option of the Company, into CF Shadow Securities, which are non-voting securities otherwise identical to those issued in such future Equity Financing except (1) they do not provide the right to vote on any matters except as required by law, (2) they require Investors to vote in accordance with the majority of the investors purchasing securities from the Company in such Equity Financing with respect to any such required vote and (3) they do not provide any inspection or information rights (other than those contemplated by Regulation CF or otherwise required by law). The Company has no obligation to convert the Securities in any Equity Financing.

Conversion Upon the First Equity Financing

If the Company elects to convert the Securities upon the first Equity Financing following the issuance of the Securities, the Investor will receive the number of CF Shadow Securities equal to the greater of the quotient obtained by dividing the amount the Investor paid for the Securities (the “Purchase Amount”) by (a) or (b) immediately below (the “Conversion Price”):

(a) the quotient of (i) $14,000,000, for total initial subscriptions amounting up to a sum of $750,000, and (ii) $17,000,000 for any subscriptions thereafter, divided by the aggregate number of issued and outstanding shares of capital stock, assuming full conversion or exercise of all convertible and exercisable securities then outstanding, including shares of convertible preferred stock and all outstanding vested or unvested options or warrants to purchase capital stock, but excluding (i) shares of capital stock reserved for future issuance under any equity incentive or similar plan, (ii) convertible promissory notes, (iii) any Simple Agreements for Future Equity, including the Securities (collectively, “Safes”), and (iv) any equity securities that are issuable upon conversion of any outstanding convertible promissory notes or Safes;

OR

(b) the price per share of the securities sold in such Equity Financing multiplied by 80%.

Such Conversion Price shall be deemed the “First Equity Financing Price”.

Conversion After the First Equity Financing

If the Company elects to convert the Securities upon an Equity Financing other than the first Equity Financing following the issuance of the Securities, the Investor will receive the number of CF Shadow Securities equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (a) the Purchase Amount by (b) the First Equity Financing Price.

If the Investor fails to complete, execute and deliver any reasonable or necessary information and documentation requested by the Company or the Intermediary in order to effect the conversion of the Crowd SAFE, as contemplated above in connection with an Equity Financing, within thirty (30) calendar days of receipt of notice (whether actual or constructive) from the Company of the closing of the First Equity Financing, or Subsequent Equity Financing, as applicable, and of the Company’s decision to convert the Crowd Safe to capital stock, then the Investor shall only be eligible to receive a cash payment equal to the Purchase Amount (or a lesser amount as described below), and the Company shall keep a record of the cash payment that the Investor is entitled to claim; provided, that any unclaimed cash payment amount shall be subject to applicable state escheatment laws.

If there are not enough funds to pay the Investor and holders of other Crowd SAFEs that failed to act as required herein (collectively, the “Cash-Default Investors”) in full, then all of the Company’s available funds will be allocated with equal priority and pro rata among the Cash-Default Investors to claim in proportion to their Purchase Amounts.

Conversion Upon a Liquidity Event Prior to an Equity Financing

In the case of the initial public offering of the Company’s capital stock or reverse merger or take-over by certain entities, such as an entity that is a reporting issuer (the “IPO”) or a Change of Control (as defined below) of the Company (either of these events, a “Liquidity Event”) prior to any Equity Financing, the Investor must select, at the option of the Investor and within thirty (30) days of receiving notice (whether actual or constructive), either (i) a cash payment equal to the Purchase Amount subject to the following paragraph (the “Cash Out Option”) or (ii) a number of shares of Common Stock of the Company equal to the Purchase Amount divided by the quotient of (a)(1) $14,000,000, for total initial subscriptions amounting upto a sum of $750,000, and (2) $17,000,000 for any subscriptions thereafter, divided by (b) the number, as of immediately prior to the Liquidity Event, of shares of the Company’s capital stock outstanding (on an as-converted basis), assuming the exercise or conversion of all outstanding vested and unvested options, warrants and other convertible securities, but excluding: (x) shares of capital stock reserved for future issuance under any equity incentive or similar plan; (y) any Safes; (z) convertible promissory notes; and (aa) any equity securities that are issuable upon conversion of any outstanding convertible promissory notes or Safes.

In connection with the Cash Out Option, the Purchase Amount (or a lesser amount as described below) will be due and payable by the Company to the Investor immediately prior to, or concurrent with, the consummation of the Liquidity Event. If there are not enough funds to pay the Investors and the holders of other Safes (collectively, the “Cash-Out Investors”) in full, then all of the Company’s available funds will be distributed with equal priority and pro rata among the Cash-Out Investors in proportion to their Purchase Amounts.

“Change of Control” as used above, means (i) a transaction or series of related transactions in which any person or group becomes the beneficial owner of more than fifty percent (50%) of the outstanding voting securities entitled to elect the Company’s board of directors, (ii) any reorganization, merger or consolidation of the Company, in which the outstanding voting security holders of the Company fail to retain at least a majority of such voting securities following such transaction or (iii) a sale, lease or other disposition of all or substantially all of the assets of the Company.

Conversion Upon a Liquidity Event Following an Equity Financing

In the case of a Liquidity Event following any Equity Financing, the Investor must select, at the option of the Investor and within thirty (30) days of receiving notice (whether actual or constructive), either (i) the Cash Out Option or (ii) a number of shares of the most recently issued capital stock equal to the Purchase Amount divided by the First Equity Financing Price. Shares of capital stock granted in connection therewith shall have the same liquidation rights and preferences as the shares of capital stock issued in connection with the Company’s most recent Equity Financing.

If there are not enough funds to pay the Investors and the other Cash-Out Investors in full, then all of the Company’s available funds will be distributed with equal priority and pro rata among the Cash-Out Investors in proportion to their Purchase Amounts.

If the Investor fails to (i) complete, execute and deliver any reasonable or necessary information and documentation requested by the Company or the Intermediary in order to effect the conversion of the Crowd SAFE or (ii) notify Company of its selection to receive the cash payment or shares of the most recently issued capital stock, as contemplated above in connection with a Liquidity Event, within thirty (30) calendar days of receipt of notice (whether actual or constructive) from the Company of such Liquidity Event, then the Investor shall only be eligible to receive the cash payment option, and the Company shall keep a record of the cash payment that the Investor is entitled to claim; provided, that any unclaimed cash payment amount shall be subject to applicable state escheatment laws.

If the Company’s board of directors (or other applicable governing body if the Company is a limited liability company) determines in good faith that delivery of equity securities to the Investor pursuant to Liquidity Event paragraphs above would violate applicable law, rule or regulation, then the Company shall deliver to Investor in lieu thereof, a cash payment equal to the fair market value of such capital stock, as determined in good faith by the Company’s board of directors (or other applicable governing body if the Company is a limited liability company).

Dissolution

If there is a Dissolution Event (as defined below) before the Securities terminate, subject to the preferences applicable to any series of preferred stock then outstanding, the Company will distribute all proceeds legally available for distribution with equal priority among the (i) holders of the Securities (on an as converted basis based on a valuation of Common Stock as determined in good faith by the Company’s board of directors at the time of the Dissolution Event), (ii) all other holders of instruments sharing in the distribution of proceeds of the Company at the same priority as holders of Common Stock upon a Dissolution Event and (iii) all holders of Common Stock.

A “Dissolution Event” means (i) a voluntary termination of operations by the Company, (ii) a general assignment for the benefit of the Company’s creditors or (iii) any other liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the Company (excluding a Liquidity Event), whether voluntary or involuntary.

Termination

The Securities terminate upon (without relieving the Company of any obligations arising from a prior breach of or non-compliance with the Securities) upon the earlier to occur of: (i) the issuance of shares in the CF Shadow Securities to the Investor pursuant to the conversion provisions of the Crowd SAFE agreement or (ii) the payment, or setting aside for payment, of amounts due to the Investor pursuant to a Liquidity Event or a Dissolution Event.

Voting and Control

Neither the Securities nor the securities issuable upon the conversion of the Securities have voting rights.

The Company does not have any voting agreements in place.

The Company does not have any shareholder or equity holder agreements in place.

Anti-Dilution Rights

The Securities do not have anti-dilution rights, which means that future equity issuances and other events will dilute the ownership percentage that the Investor may eventually have in the Company.

Restrictions on Transfer

Any Securities sold pursuant to Regulation CF being offered may not be transferred by any Investor of such Securities during the one-year holding period beginning when the Securities were issued, unless such Securities are transferred: (1) to the Company; (2) to an accredited investor, as defined by Rule 501(d) of Regulation D promulgated under the Securities Act; (3) as part of an IPO; or (4) to a member of the family of the Investor or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the Investor, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the Investor or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the Investor or other similar circumstances. "Member of the family" as used herein means a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother/father/daughter/son/sister/brother-in-law, and includes adoptive relationships. Each Investor should be aware that although the Securities may legally be able to be transferred, there is no guarantee that another party will be willing to purchase them.

In addition to the foregoing restrictions, prior to making any transfer of the Securities or any capital stock into which they are convertible, such transferring Investor must either make such transfer pursuant to an effective registration statement filed with the SEC or provide the Company with an opinion of counsel reasonably satisfactory to the Company stating that a registration statement is not necessary to effect such transfer.

In addition, the Investor may not transfer the Securities or any capital stock into which they are convertible to any of the Company's competitors, as determined by the Company in good faith.

Furthermore, upon the event of an IPO, the capital stock into which the Securities are converted will be subject to a lock-up period and may not be lent, offered, pledged, or sold for up to 180 days following such IPO.

Other Material Terms

- The Company does not have the right to repurchase the Securities.
- The Securities do not have a stated return or liquidation preference.
- The Company cannot determine if it currently has enough capital stock authorized to issue upon the conversion of the Securities, because the amount of capital stock to be issued is based on the occurrence of future events.

COMMISSION AND FEES

At the conclusion of the Offering, the issuer shall pay a fee of six percent (6%) of the amount raised in the Offering to the Intermediary.

Stock, Warrants and Other Compensation

The Intermediary will also receive compensation in the form of securities equal to two percent (2%) of the total number of the Securities sold in the offering.

Emrod Inc.
Notes to Combined Financial Statements
March 31, 2021
(Unaudited)

1. Nature of Operations

Emrod Inc. (which hereinafter is referred to as the “Company”, “we,” “us,” or “our”) was formed in Delaware on April 27, 2021. The Company is opening up the world's access to power by developing rapidly scalable disruptive technology to enable long range wireless power transmission that is safe, reliable and cost effective. By leveraging recent developments in meta-materials and radar technology, and creating state of the art IP, the Company has developed a first-in-market application that makes long distance energy transmission safe & reliable for commercial purposes all over the world.

On July 16, 2021 Emrod Inc. (the “Parent”) acquired all of the stock of Emrod Group Limited, (hereinafter referred to as the “Subsidiary”). The transaction represents a business combination between entities under common control. The net assets are transferred at a cost. In accordance with ASC 250-10, the financials are represented on a combined basis, whereby financials of the Parent and Subsidiary are combined using pooling of interest method. Since the Parent was formed on April 27, 2021, the combined financial statements for the years ended March 31, 2021 and March 31, 2020 effectively include the financial results of Emrod Limited.

Since inception, the Company has relied on contributions from owners and securing loans to fund its operations. As of March 31, 2021, the Company had negative working capital and will likely incur additional losses prior to generating positive working capital. These matters raise substantial concern about the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern (see Note 11). During the next twelve months, the Company intends to fund its operations with funding from a crowdfunding, issuance of promissory notes and funds from revenue producing activities, if and when such can be realized. If the Company cannot secure additional short-term capital, it may cease operations. These financial statements and related notes thereto do not include any adjustments that might result from these uncertainties.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The accounting and reporting policies of the Company are designed to conform to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("US GAAP"). In the opinion of management, all adjustments considered necessary for the fair presentation of the financial statements for the years presented have been included.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires management to make certain estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and footnotes thereto. Actual results could materially differ from these estimates. It is reasonably possible that changes in estimates will occur in the near term.

Fair value measurement

The Company is required to determine the fair value of financial assets and liabilities based on the price that would be received to sell the asset or pay to transfer the liability to a market participant. Fair value is a market-based measurement, not an entity-specific measurement. The fair value of certain assets and liabilities approximates carrying value, because of the short-term nature of the accounts, including other current assets and accounts payable.

Risks and Uncertainties

The Company has a limited operating history. The Company's business and operations are sensitive to general business and economic conditions in the United States. A host of factors beyond the Company's control could cause fluctuations in these conditions. Adverse conditions may include recession, downturn or otherwise, local competition or changes in consumer taste. These adverse conditions could affect the Company's financial condition and the results of its operations.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company maintains its cash with a major financial institution located in New Zealand, which it believes to be credit worthy however New Zealand does not currently have a deposit insurance plan for its banks. This means that, in the event that a deposit taking institution failed, depositors would be dependent upon a liquidation or receivership process to try to recover their money.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers short-term, highly-liquid investment with original maturities of three months or less at the time of purchase to be cash equivalents.

Patents

Property and equipment exist in the form of manufacturing tooling and are recorded at cost. Expenditures for renewals and improvements that significantly add to the productive capacity or extend the useful life of an asset are capitalized. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are charged to expense. When equipment is retired or sold, the cost and related accumulated depreciation are eliminated from the accounts and the resultant gain or loss is reflected in income.

Depreciation is provided using the straight-line method, based on useful lives of the assets which is three to five years.

The Company reviews the carrying value of property and equipment for impairment whenever events and circumstances indicate that the carrying value of an asset may not be recoverable from the estimated future cash flows expected to result from its use and eventual disposition. In cases where undiscounted expected future cash flows are less than the carrying value, an impairment loss is recognized equal to an amount by which the carrying value exceeds the fair value of assets. The factors considered by management in performing this assessment include current operating results, trends and prospects, the manner in which the property is used, and the effects of obsolescence, demand, competition, and other economic factors. Based on this assessment there was no impairment for March 31, 2021 and March 31, 2020.

Software Development Costs

Capitalization of software development costs for software to be sold, leased, or otherwise marketed begins upon the establishment of technological feasibility, which is generally the completion of a working prototype that has been certified as having no critical bugs and is a release candidate. Amortization begins once the software is ready for its intended use, generally based on the pattern in which the economic benefits will be consumed.

Foreign Currency

The company summarizes in the equity section of its balance sheet all exchange differences resulting from the translation of the financial statements of its foreign Subsidiary into U.S. dollars at the end of any reporting period. Transactions in foreign currencies are measured and recorded in U.S. dollars using the exchange rates in effect at the date of the transaction. At each balance sheet date, recorded monetary balances that are denominated in foreign currencies are adjusted to reflect the rates at the balance sheet date. Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rates as at the dates of initial transactions. Non-monetary assets and liabilities measured at fair value in foreign currencies are translated to U.S. dollars at foreign exchange rates ruling at the dates the fair value was determined. All exchange adjustments are taken to the profit or loss.

Income Taxes

Income taxes are provided for using the asset and liability method. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates in the respective jurisdictions in which we operate. The Company assesses the realizability of deferred tax assets and provides a valuation allowance for deferred tax assets when it is more likely than not that at least a portion of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The realizability of deferred tax assets depends on the ability to generate sufficient taxable income within the carryback or carryforward periods provided for in the tax law for each applicable tax jurisdiction and also considers all available positive and negative evidence.

Revenue Recognition and Deferred Revenues

Effective September 8, 2020, the Company adopted Accounting Standards Codification 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers ("ASC 606"). Revenue is recognized when performance obligations under the terms of the contracts with our customers are satisfied. Prior to the adoption of ASC 606, we recognized revenue when persuasive evidence of an arrangement existed, delivery of products had occurred, the sales price was fixed or determinable and collectability was reasonably assured.

The Company plans to generate revenue primarily from sales of subscriptions to its software and platform together with related support services to its customers. Agreements with customers do not provide the customer with the right to take possession of the software. Instead, customers are granted continuous access to the platform over the contractual period. Access to the platform represents a series of distinct services as the Company continually provides access to and fulfills its obligation to the customer over the subscription term. The series of distinct services represents a single performance obligation that is satisfied over time. The Company's general policy is to have customers prepay an annual subscription and records the payment as deferred revenue whereby the Company then recognizes the revenue on a monthly basis as it is earned. Revenue will be recognized monthly on a straight-line basis over each period that service is provided.

Operating Expenses

Administrative expenses are expensed as incurred.

Organizational Costs

In accordance with FASB ASC 720, organizational costs, including accounting fees, legal fees, and costs of incorporation, are expensed as incurred.

Advertising

The Company expenses advertising costs as they are incurred.

Accounting Pronouncement Recently Adopted

In February 2019, FASB issued ASU No. 2016-02, Leases, that requires organizations that lease assets, referred to as "lessees" to recognize on the balance sheet the assets and liabilities for the rights and obligations created by those leases with lease terms of more than 12 months. ASU 2019-02 will also require disclosures to help investors and other financial statement users better understand the amount, timing, and uncertainty of cash flows arising from leases and will include qualitative and quantitative requirements. The new standard for nonpublic entities will be effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2020, and interim periods within those fiscal years, and early application is permitted. We are currently evaluating the effect that the updated standard will have on the financial statements and related disclosures.

In November 2019, the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) No. 2019-08, Compensation—Stock Compensation (Topic 718) and Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606): Codification Improvements—Share-Based Consideration Payable to a Customer, which simplifies and increases comparability of accounting for nonemployee share-based payments, specifically those made to customers, ASU No. 2019-08 will affect companies that issue share-based payments (e.g., options or warrants) to their customers.

Similar to issuing a cash rebate to a customer, issuing a share-based payment to a customer can incentivize additional purchases. The share-based payments can also serve a strategic purpose by aligning the interests of a supplier and its customer, because the customer's additional purchases increase its investment in the supplier.

In August 2018, amendments to existing accounting guidance were issued through Accounting Standards Update 2018-15 to clarify the accounting for implementation costs for cloud computing arrangements. The amendments specify that existing guidance for capitalizing implementation costs incurred to develop or obtain internal-use software also applies to implementation costs incurred in a hosting arrangement that is a service contract. The guidance is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2020, and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, and early application is permitted. We have recorded no significant stock based compensation but continually evaluate the effect that the updated standard will have on the financial statements and related disclosures.

The FASB issues ASUs to amend the authoritative literature in ASC. There have been a number of ASUs to date, including those above, that amend the original text of ASC. Management believes that those issued to date either (i) provide supplemental guidance, (ii) are technical corrections, (iii) are not applicable to us or (iv) are not expected to have a significant impact on our financial statements.

3. Other receivables

At March 31, 2021 and 2020 the Company had recorded other receivables for government grants and tax credits in New Zealand by satisfying certain criteria for research and development in technology. As of March 31, 2020 the company had $24,760 in receivables for eligible grant money from working with a corporate incubator program in New Zealand and collected this grant money in April 2020. There were no additional grants receivable as of March 31, 2021. Also included in other receivables at March 31, 2021 and 2020 were tax credit receivables for qualifying research and development earned through the same corporate incubator program. The Company continually adjusts this asset through realization and analysis on a periodic basis and as of the date of this financial report the Company expects to fully realize the R&D tax credits recorded at March 31, 2021.

	$42,027	$13,389

5. Capitalized Software Costs

There have been no capitalized Software Costs.

6. Income Taxes

The Company is taxed as a C Corporation. On March 27, 2020, the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (“CARES”) Act was signed into law. The CARES Act provides a substantial stimulus and assistance package intended to address the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, including tax relief and government loans, grants and investments. The Company has not completed its determination of the accounting implications of the CARES Act on its tax accruals. However, the Company has reasonably estimated the effects of the CARES Act to have $0 impact to income tax expense.

As the Company completes its analysis of the CARES Act, collects and prepares necessary data and interprets any additional guidance issued by the U.S. Treasury Department, the IRS, and other standard-setting bodies, the Company may make adjustments to the provisional amounts. Those adjustments may materially impact the Company’s provision for income taxes in the period in which the adjustments are made.

7. Accounts Payable and Accrued Expenses

The Company records expenses in the month the services are rendered or their purchases are received and pays the related provider in accordance with the terms of their invoices. Included in accounts payable are amounts due to vendors, contractors and tax agencies for normal operating expenses as well as certain payroll and sales taxes.

During 2020 and 2019, the Company entered into loan agreements with various lenders with the following balance as at 31 March, 2021 and the following terms:

Loan	Issue Date	Amount	Due Date	Interest Rate

Related Party Loans	Various	445,710	Not Specified	0%
	Total	$725,578

During fiscal year 2020, the Company received a loan from Callaghan Innovation. The loan is provided for the purpose of funding eligible R&D activity. The loan is to be repaid monthly beginning from the 37th month of the loan period out to the Final Repayment Date (120 months), i.e. no repayments of principal or interest required in years 1 to 3, then monthly repayments in years 4 to 10 of the loan agreement.

During fiscal years 2019 and 2020, the Company received loans from related parties, including the shareholder and director. The loans do not carry any interest rate and do not have a defined maturity date. The Company expects to convert the loans into equity. Consequently, the loans have been deemed as non-current. The imputed interest has been deemed immaterial.

10. Commitments & Contingencies

The Company is not currently involved with and does not know of any pending or threatening litigation against the Company as of March 31, 2021 and through to the date of this report.

Problem

Power lines restrict humanity's ability to access and use sustainable energy

Power lines are expensive and, in some cases, not feasible to install and maintain across challenging terrain. This limits the ability to transfer electricity to and from hard to reach locations.

New and innovative ways of generating and distributing sustainable energy underpin the transition to a clean and inclusive energy industry. 13% of the world doesn't have reliable access to electricity, and fossil fuels account for 84% of the world's primary energy consumption.

Currently, electricity distribution companies spend billions of dollars each year maintaining expensive physical wire infrastructure in remote areas and transporting electricity across difficult terrains, such as forests, mountains and waterways. Many areas are inaccessible due to the high cost of laying and maintaining power lines, leaving remote areas without access to reliable power or dependent on diesel generators.

To improve the uptake of renewable energy and energy access and help accelerate decarbonization, a new and improved solution is needed for distributing electricity.

Solution

A long-range wireless power transfer system designed for commercial purposes

Emrod has developed technology for sending large amounts of power over long distances, without wires.

Our in-house research and development team have leveraged advancements in radar and metamaterials technology and developed our own patent-pending technology to make long-distance energy transmission safe and reliable for commercial purposes.

Emrod's patent applications cover the core wireless transmission technology and the key elements required for extending transmission efficiency and range.

We are focused on providing a solution for energy distribution companies to improve their edge of network services, ongoing network delivery, outage response, backup installation services and access to renewable energy sources.

We currently have an indoor prototype system (shown below) that is being optimised ahead of a planned field trial later in 2021.

Product

A better way to transport energy to and from challenging locations

Providing an alternative to power lines and opening up new opportunities to use sustainable power

Emrod's infrastructure works by converting electricity into electromagnetic energy, which is shaped into a collimated beam and sent directly through the air from a transmitting antenna to a receiving antenna, without requiring wires. At the receiving antenna, the electromagnetic energy is converted back into electricity for use by consumers.

One of Emrod's proprietary features is the ability to extend the range or reduce the antenna size, through the use of passive relays. These relays refocus the electromagnetic beam and allow energy to be transmitted over long distances.

Emrod's system includes a laser-based safety "curtain" which encloses the transmitting beam. Any interruption by an object passing through the beam will cause the system to block power transmission over the entire antenna or a section of the antenna where the obstruction is detected. This can be achieved while maintaining supply continuity.

We expect our system to reach 60% end-to-end efficiency with our current technology and have a development roadmap for further improving system efficiency, as well as transmission distance and power levels. We will add in additional functionality such as beam steering to open up access to other markets such as powering or charging vehicles, ships and aircraft.

Applications:

The images shown below are for illustrative purposes only. The system's actual configuration will vary, and generally speaking the larger the amount of power to be sent and the longer the distance to cover, the larger the antennas will need to be.

Crossing Challenging Terrain

Using power line infrastructure to cross challenging terrain, such as waterways, forests and gullies, is costly and often economically unviable. This means many remote communities do not have reliable access to the electricity. In some cases, Emrod's solution is cheaper to install and maintain than traditional power lines, or battery and micro-grid solutions.

Outage Response

Outages are significant cost-drivers for both electricity distribution companies and power-critical companies such as Telcos and hospitals. Generators are expensive to run, polluting, noisy and in case of an outage require some time to deploy or activate.

Using Emrod's fixed or Mobile Outage Response systems, outage downtime time and cost can be reduced to near zero.

Powering Cellular Base Stations

Cellular base stations require power, which is normally sourced from utility supplies. Making the connection from the utility point of supply to the cellular base station can be expensive and time-consuming.

Emrod's system provides a wireless point to point connection between the utility point of supply and the base station using a pair of antenna.

Powering Mining Trucks and Sites

Emrod's wireless power transfer system allows the benefits of replacing diesel engines with an electric solution while removing the requirement for large batteries and eliminating charging downtime.

Emrod's technology can also be used to transmit power from sustainable energy sources to mining sites

Emrod's wireless system is an enabling technology with many applications. We are actively discussing the above use cases with potential clients and partners.

Customers

Empowering communities by offering access to sustainable energy

We work with utilities and renewable generation developers, lines companies, and engineering, procurement and construction companies whose customers are in the business of electricity transmission and distribution or need smarter ways of getting electricity to and around their developments. Our first commercial partner is Powerco, the second-largest electricity distributor in New Zealand.

"We envisage using this to deliver electricity in remote places, or across areas with challenging terrain. There's also potential to use it to keep the lights on for our customers when we're doing maintenance on our existing infrastructure."

Nicolas Vessiot
Network Transformation Manager @ Powerco

Our global vision is to empower communities by offering those most in need access to sustainable energy. By significantly reducing infrastructure costs, Emrod's technology can support areas in Africa, the Pacific Islands and other remote communities to access sustainable energy. Emrod's technology can also be used to improve network resilience by reducing outages and addressing fire hazards caused by power line system failures. In these contexts, our customers will also include multilateral donor organizations and industrial and bigger commercial users of power too.

"Being able to transmit high-power electricity without any cables is game-changing for the continent. It means barriers to energy-access are smashed and Africa could be fully electrified within ten years. This is the technology millions of people have been waiting for."

Simon Gosling
Managing Director @ EnergyNet

Business Model

Staged go-to-market strategy

In 2020, Emrod invoiced a total of $150k (based on recent NZD to USD conversion rates). For 2021, we project revenue of $3.3M driven by the delivery of key pilot projects.

Emrod's initial revenue will come from direct equipment sales and maintenance contracts to energy distribution companies and other organizations working on sustainable energy projects.

Scaling up through channel partners

Once we have demonstrated a sufficient number of in-field projects and commercial scalability, we will begin selling through third-party distribution channels. This includes engineering firms that are selling to lines companies globally and integrators of communication/power systems.

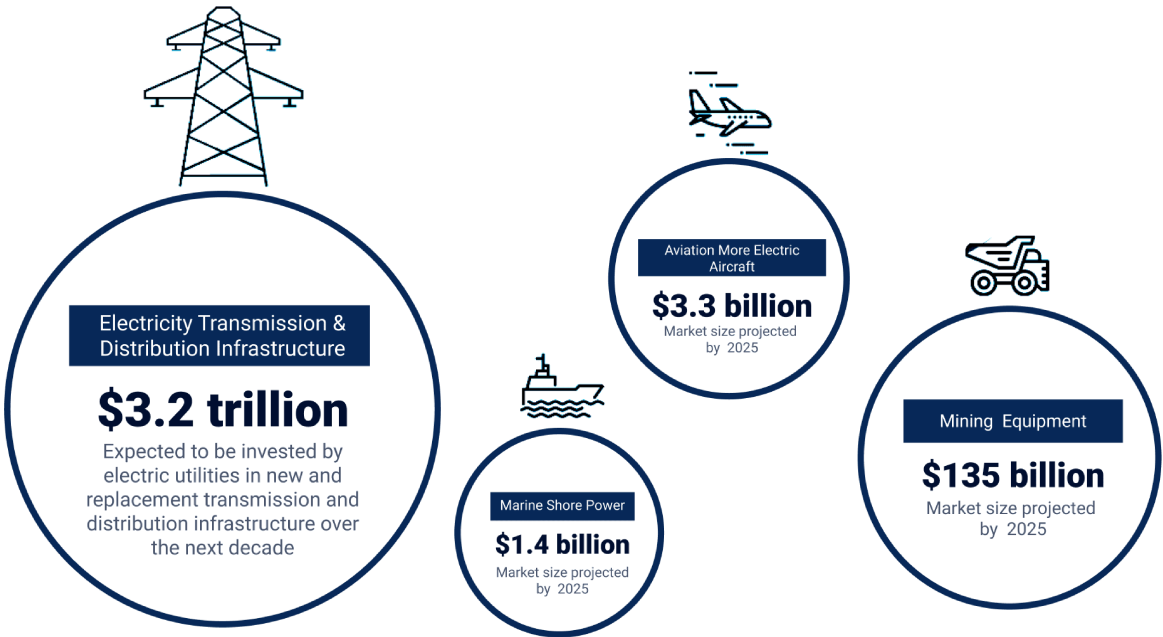

Licensing into other verticals to accelerate revenue growth

There are opportunities to license our technology to rapidly grow in additional verticals. We have been approached by manufacturers and integrators in marine, aviation, space, mining and other industries outside our initial market focus.

Market

First-in-market long-range wireless power transfer technology for commercial purposes, with many applications

Our initial target market is a global electricity transmission and distribution infrastructure. Our unique technology enables us to sell into a number of fast-emerging markets, supporting the electrification and de-carbonisation of marine, aviation and mining industries.

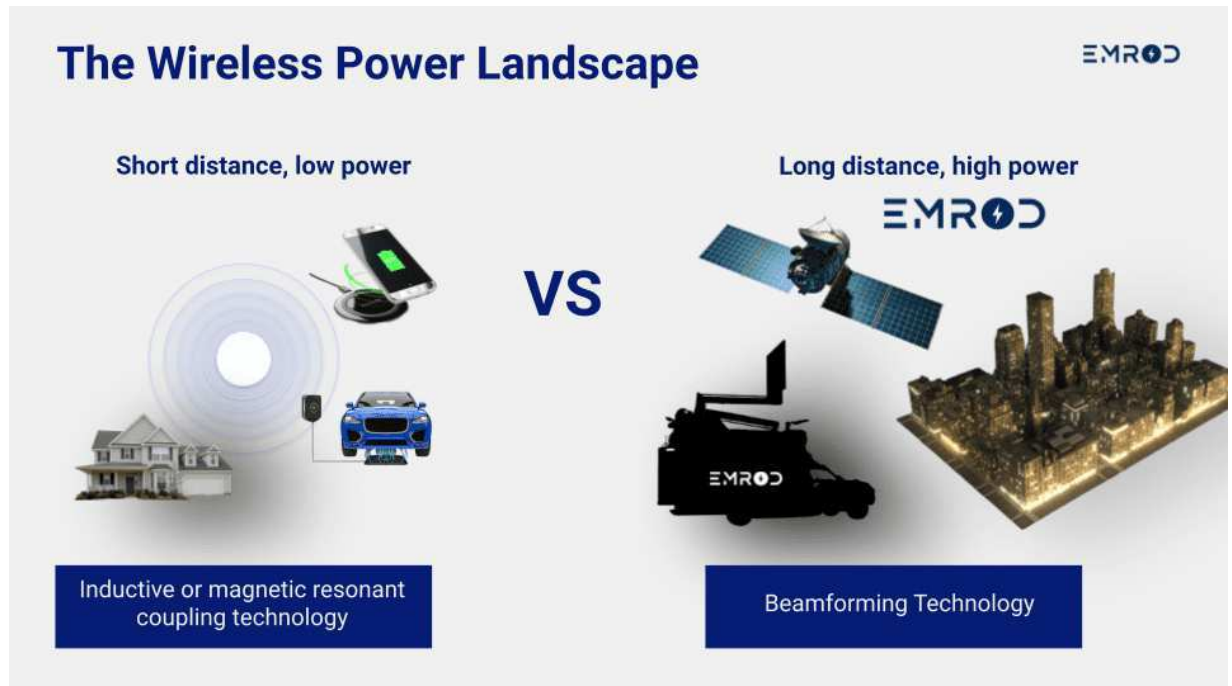

Emrod's technology is well-positioned to support anticipated changes in the energy market, including the growing demand for renewable and sustainable energy sources in the transportation industry, and the shift towards decentralized power solutions, all of which will benefit from efficient, long-range power transmission.

Competition

Carving out a new market in wireless power transfer

Existing wireless power transmission technologies are primarily for transmitting smaller amounts of power over smaller distances for the purpose of charging devices. Emrod's system is designed to transport larger amounts of power over long distances.

The other organizations working on wireless technology with similar capabilities, in terms of power levels and distances, are government-funded organisations, including NASA, DARPA and the Japanese Space Agency. This technology has been primarily for military and space-related applications. It is not available for commercial use.

Compared to existing transmission and distribution infrastructure, Emrod's technology is more suitable in circumstances where it is challenging, dangerous or not suitable (e.g. powering mobile sites or equipment) to lay and maintain power line infrastructure.

Vision

A world where energy transfer is not constrained by wires

Long-range wireless transmission is the next stage in the evolution of the energy industry. Our mission is to make it happen and use our innovative and transformative technology to have the most positive impact on the largest number of people. With immediate, highly valuable applications and proven market demand, our technology has the ability to open up a world of possibilities and solve the world's most important sustainable energy and energy transportation challenges.

With your investment we will continue to develop our technology, introducing newer and more efficient versions of our product with greater distance and power capacities.

"Power can be, and at no distant date will be, transmitted without wires, for all commercial uses, such as the lighting of homes and the driving of aeroplanes. I have discovered the essential principles, and it only remains to develop them commercially.

When this is done, you will be able to go anywhere in the world — to the mountain top overlooking your farm, to the arctic, or to the desert — and set up a little equipment that will give you heat to cook with, and light to read by."

Investors

Raising to support field trials and commercial growth

We've received $2.0m of funding to date (based on recent NZD to USD conversion rates). This has been from Emrod's founder, Greg Kushnir, and non-dilutive funding from Callaghan Innovation (New Zealand's Innovation Agency) and Powerco.

We are currently raising to support the next stage of Emrod's growth, including:

- Ramping up R&D and production capability
- Deploying the planned field trials
- Hiring new staff (engineers, sales and account managers)

Your investment will help to accelerate the development of wireless power and enable Emrod to serve communities and customers eager to connect to cleaner and more sustainable power.

Recent advancements in radar and materials technology have made energy transmission over long distances possible

Advancements primarily driven by research and development for the purpose of drone, autonomous vehicles and space capabilities

Emrod has leveraged these developments and created new, patent pending IP to make long range wireless power transfer technology available for commercial purposes

Significant market tailwinds including the global focus on decarbonization, sustainability, environmental protection and access to energy have paved the way for a high demand for this technology

Founders

Greg Kushnir, Founder & CEO

Greg is an experienced founder who has been inventing and commercialising tech for over 15 years. He holds a BSc in Computer Science from The Academic College of Tel-Aviv and an MBA from NYU Polytechnic University. He got partway through completing a PhD in philosophy of mathematics from The University of Waikato before the commercial world consumed him.

Greg worked as VP of Business Development for NPI and Product Manager for 888Holdings before starting and selling several software companies of his own. His success as an entrepreneur paved the way for him to focus more resources on solving some of the world's most significant problems - Energy Access and Climate Change.

Greg realised that the challenges with accessing sustainable energy were not with generating energy or storing it in many cases. The main problem that no one seemed to be addressing was moving clean energy from where it is generated to where it is needed in a cost-effective, eco-friendly way. After developing a proof of concept system to validate that long-range wireless power transfer was indeed possible, Greg founded Emrod.

Team

With the support of Callaghan Innovation, the New Zealand Governments Innovation Agency, Greg recruited Ray Simpkin, a Distinguished Scientist in Electromagnetics, Microwave Engineering and Materials Science. Greg also recruited Mark Tomkins, an Electrical Engineer and Experienced Project Manager, to support the early development of Emrod. The team quickly grew to nine, with experience spanning microwave engineering, electromagnetics, energy project management and technology commercialization.

FAQ

How does Emrod's technology work?

Emrod's system uses proprietary beam shaping and specialised materials technology to convert electricity into electromagnetic waves, which are sent directly over air to receivers and converted back into electricity for use by consumers. The electromagnetic waves are sent directly from one antenna to another in the form of a narrow, collimated beam which incurs very little loss.

Instead of laying cables and pylons to transmit electricity, it can be sent wirelessly using Emrod's system. Our technology offers a solution to distribute electricity to and from locations that have previously been too hard or expensive to reach, such as remote communities or renewable energy sites. The technology also has the potential to send power to moving vehicles, such as powering ships from the port and powering large mining trucks.

What stage is the technology at?

We have an operational prototype which is currently undergoing testing in our facility in New Zealand. This prototype system has been developed in partnership with Powerco, New Zealand's second largest electricity distributor. Our current prototype system is transmitting power across a distance of 120 feet (~36 metres) at our indoor test facility. Our next in-field pilot is scheduled for deployment later this year.

What is the range of your technology?

The range over which Emrod's system can transmit power between a pair of transmitting and receiving antennas is governed by the size of the antenna and the wavelength of the electromagnetic waves used. For a given wavelength, the larger the antenna, the longer the range. However, by introducing Emrod's patent-applied-for relay technology, the range can be extended without having to increase the antenna size. The relays are passive devices and work by re-focusing the power beam at one or more intermediate down-range locations which extends the beam's useful range in a 'daisy chain' fashion. The further the distance, the more relays required for a given wavelength and antenna size.

With our next in-field pilot project, we are aiming to transmit power over 1.1 miles (1.8km) which will break the current world record for the distance across which power has been transmitted wirelessly. We will continue to increase this distance in subsequent field trials.

What is the efficiency of your technology?

The overall efficiency of the system is determined by three things:

- The efficiency associated with converting electricity into electromagnetic power at the transmitter.
- The beam collection efficiency in the air space between transmitter and receiver.
- The efficiency associated with converting electromagnetic power back into electricity at the receiver.

With our current technology, the beam collection efficiency is very high being around 97%. The material efficiency loss of the system is associated with the conversion of electricity into electromagnetic power, and vice versa, at the transmitter and receiver. We expect to demonstrate 36% overall end-to-end efficiency during the upcoming trials and have a technology roadmap for improving this figure to over 80%.

What is the power capacity of your technology?	Emrod's system uses a pair of antennas with an electromagnetic beam generated by the transmitting antenna which is focused on the receiving antenna. The amount of power that can be transmitted is dictated by the power density (Watts per square metre across the antenna aperture) and the generating capacity of the transmitter electronics. There is no theoretical limit for the amount of power that can be transmitted, however, there is a practical limit guided by the antenna size and power handling ability of the antenna which is related to the power density. With our current technology, we can practically transmit 10's of kilowatts. With planned developments we expect the capacity of our system to increase to megawatts in the future.
What happens if something crosses the beam pathway, e.g birds, helicopters?	The highly directional, collimated nature of the power beam, and how Emrod's system is implemented, means that the chances of something lingering in the beam pathway are minimal. The system requires that there must be a clear line of sight between the transmitting and receiving antenna, which dictates that the system be elevated high up off the ground. Consequently, nothing can walk or drive through the power beam's path. In the event that something does cross the power beam's path, such as a bird, we have designed a safety system that senses when an object is about to pass through the beam pathway and shuts down the relevant section of the system momentarily. This means that no objects come into contact with the beam. This can be achieved while maintaining supply continuity.
Are there any health risks to humans?	Using our system, energy is sent point-to-point, so it is very controlled. The design of our system means there is no significant energy spillover outside of the main beam. The shut-off safety system will mean that no human, bird, or other object interacts with the beam if crossing its path. So the chance of something being exposed to the beam is very low. The density of the power beam and the frequency used also means that an object would have to stay in the beam for more than a couple of minutes to experience any thermal effect. The safety of our system is of the utmost importance to us. We will continue to engage industry experts and regulators to ensure our system meets the necessary safety standards.
How do you see Emrod's technology fitting in with existing power lines, do you see it replacing this technology or complementing it?	It is a complementary technology. It makes sense to use Emrod's wireless system in circumstances where it is hard, expensive, or too time-consuming to lay power lines, or because it is not possible to use cables for some other reason. For example, crossing bodies of water, forests, or contentious sites. It doesn't yet make economic sense to use a wireless power system to completely replace all power lines as this is not feasible from an efficiency point of view.
Why did Powerco partner with Emrod?	Powerco's interest in Emrod's system, and reason for partnering with Emrod, arises from some of the challenges Powerco has in their network. With a large existing network of cables and overhead lines supplying electricity to its customers, Powerco sees the potential for wireless power transmission to distribute electricity to and from locations that have previously been difficult or expensive to reach, such as remote communities.

How does the power beam operate efficiently without significant loss through diffraction?

Emrod's system is designed to operate in the so-called Fresnel region of the antennas. This means that there is no inverse square law power density drop-off with distance. This is in contrast to the radiating far-field systems used widely for wireless communications.

Emrod's patent pending technology creates a highly directional, collimated beam between the transmitting and receiving antennas which virtually eliminates beam divergence and maximises power transfer via the beam. Any residual beam losses are almost entirely due to atmospheric dissipation and scattering and not diffraction. The use of weather-agnostic frequencies (2.4GHz - 5.8GHz) ensures that adverse weather conditions have a negligible impact on the power beam.

How big are the antennas and relays?

This is dependent upon the application scenario. For a given wavelength of operation, the antenna size is largely determined by the distance between transmitter and receiver over which power is to be transferred. The system is designed to operate in the radiating near-field, or Fresnel region, so that a highly directional, collimated beam can be produced that maximises the beam collection efficiency. The antenna aperture area at the transmitting and receiving ends is proportional to the distance between them. The larger the range, the larger the antenna size. This size can be reduced if one or more relays are placed between the transmitter and receiver. The relays are the same size as the transmitting and receiving antennas.

For certain use cases - ones that require very high power levels to be transmitted - the antenna aperture size may need to be increased over and above the requirements needed to satisfy a Fresnel beam over the specified range.

Our up-and-coming outdoor field trial is designed to operate at a frequency of 5.8GHz over a range of 1.1 miles (1.8Km) using a single transmitting antenna and receiver, with no intermediate relays. The radiating apertures at the transmit and receive sites are approximately 49ft x 49ft (15m x 15m) to achieve this range at this frequency in a 'single hop'.

As an illustration of the use of relays in reducing the antenna size, if in the above scenario we were to place two relays between transmitter and receiver, the antenna aperture sizes could be reduced to around 28ft x 28ft (8.5m x 8.5m). The relays would be of similar size.

With further development, we expect the required antenna and relay size for a given range and power level to reduce significantly.

lieu thereof, a cash payment equal to the fair market value of such Capital Stock, as determined in good faith by the Company's board of directors.

If the Investor fails to (i) complete, execute and deliver any reasonable or necessary information and documentation requested by the Company or the Intermediary in order to effect the conversion of this Crowd SAFE or (ii) notify Company of its selection to receive the cash payment or shares of the most recently issued Capital Stock, as contemplated in this Section 1(b), within thirty (30) calendar days of receipt of notice (whether actual or constructive) from the Company of such Liquidity Event, then the Investor shall only be eligible to receive the cash payment option, and the Company shall keep a record of the cash payment contemplated in Section 1(b) that the Investor is entitled to claim; provided, that any unclaimed cash payment amount shall be subject to applicable state escheatment laws.

5. Transfer Restrictions.

(a) The Investor hereby agrees that during the Lock-up Period it will not, without the prior written consent of the managing underwriter: (A) lend; offer; pledge; sell; contract to sell; sell any option or contract to purchase; purchase any option or contract to sell; grant any option, right, or warrant to purchase; or otherwise transfer or dispose of, directly or indirectly, any shares of Common Stock or any securities convertible into or exercisable or exchangeable (directly or indirectly) for Common Stock (whether such shares or any such securities are then owned by the Investor or are thereafter acquired); or (B) enter into any swap or other arrangement that transfers to another, in whole or in part, any of the economic consequences of ownership of such securities; whether any such transaction described in clause (A) or (B) above is to be settled by delivery of Common Stock or other securities, in cash, or otherwise.

(b) The foregoing provisions of Section 5(a) will: (x) apply only to the IPO and will not apply to the sale of any shares to an underwriter pursuant to an underwriting agreement; (y) not apply to the transfer of any shares to any trust for the direct or indirect benefit of the Investor or the immediate family of the Investor, provided that the trustee of the trust agrees to be bound in writing by the restrictions set forth herein, and provided further that any such transfer will not involve a disposition for value; and (z) be applicable to the Investor only if all officers and directors of the Company are subject to the same restrictions and the Company uses commercially reasonable efforts to obtain a similar agreement from all stockholders individually owning more than 5% of the outstanding Common Stock or any securities convertible into or exercisable or exchangeable (directly or indirectly) for Common Stock. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, the underwriters in connection with the IPO are intended third-party beneficiaries of Section 5(a) and will have the right, power and authority to enforce the provisions hereof as though they were a party hereto. The Investor further agrees to execute such agreements as may be reasonably requested by the underwriters in connection with the IPO that are consistent with Section 5(a) or that are necessary to give further effect thereto.

(c) In order to enforce the foregoing covenant, the Company may impose stop transfer instructions with respect to the Investor's registrable securities of the Company (and the Company shares or securities of every other person subject to the foregoing restriction) until the end of the Lock-up Period. The Investor agrees that a legend reading substantially as follows will be placed on all certificates representing all of the Investor's registrable securities of the Company (and the shares or securities of the Company held by every other person subject to the restriction contained in Section 5(a)):

SUCH LOCK-UP PERIOD IS BINDING ON TRANSFEREES OF THESE SECURITIES.

(d) Without in any way limiting the representations and warranties set forth in Section 4 above, the Investor further agrees not to make any disposition of all or any portion of this instrument or the underlying securities unless and until the transferee has agreed in writing for the benefit of the Company to make the representations and warranties set out in Section 4 and the undertaking set out in Section 5(a) and:

(i) There is then in effect a registration statement under the Securities Act covering such proposed disposition and such disposition is made in accordance with such registration statement; or

(ii) The Investor shall have notified the Company of the proposed disposition and shall have furnished the Company with a detailed statement of the circumstances surrounding the proposed disposition and, if reasonably requested by the Company, the Investor shall have furnished the Company with an opinion of counsel reasonably satisfactory to the Company that such disposition will not require registration of such shares under the Securities Act.

(e) The Investor agrees that it shall not make any disposition of this instrument or any underlying securities to any of the Company's competitors, as determined by the Company in good faith.

(f) The Investor understands and agrees that the Company will place the legend set forth below or a similar legend on any book entry or other forms of notation evidencing this Crowd SAFE and any certificates evidencing the underlying securities, together with any other legends that may be required by state or federal securities laws, the Company's charter or bylaws, any other agreement between the Investor and the Company or any agreement between the Investor and any third party:

Exhibit A – CF Shadow Share ProxyIrrevocable Proxy

Reference is hereby made to a certain Crowdfunding Simple Agreement for Future Equity (the “Crowd SAFE”) dated [Date of Crowd SAFE] between Emrod Inc., a Delaware corporation (the “Company”) and [Investor Name] (“Stockholder”). Capitalized terms used but not defined herein shall have the respective meanings ascribed thereto in the Crowd SAFE. In connection with a conversion of Stockholder’s investment in the Crowd SAFE into Capital Stock of a CF Shadow Series (as defined in the Crowd SAFE) pursuant to the Crowd SAFE, the Stockholder and OpenDeal Portal LLC (the “Intermediary”) as another holder of Capital Stock of a CF Shadow Series hereby agree as follows:

1) Grant of Irrevocable Proxy.

- a) With respect to all of the shares of Capital Stock of CF Shadow Series owned by the Stockholder as of the date of this Irrevocable Proxy or any subsequent date (the “Shares”), Stockholder hereby grants to Intermediary an irrevocable proxy under Section 212 of the Delaware General Corporation Law to vote the Shares in any manner that the Intermediary may determine in its sole and absolute discretion. For the avoidance of doubt, the Intermediary, as the holder of the irrevocable proxy (rather than the Stockholder) will vote the Shares with respect to all shareholder meetings and other actions (including actions by written consent in lieu of a meeting) on which holders of Shares may be entitled to vote. The Intermediary hereby agrees to vote all Shares consistently with the majority of the shares on which the CF Shadow Series is based. This proxy revokes any other proxy granted by the Stockholder at any time with respect to the Shares.
- b) The Intermediary shall have no duty, liability or obligation whatsoever to the Stockholder arising out of the Intermediary’s exercise of this irrevocable proxy. The Stockholder expressly acknowledges and agrees that (i) the Stockholder will not impede the exercise of the Intermediary’s rights under this irrevocable proxy and (ii) the Stockholder waives and relinquishes any claim, right or action the Stockholder might have, as a stockholder of the Company or otherwise, against the Intermediary or any of its affiliates or agents (including any directors, officers, managers, members, and employees) in connection with any exercise of the irrevocable proxy granted hereunder.
- c) This irrevocable proxy shall expire as to those Shares on the earlier of (i) the date that such Shares are converted into Common Stock of the Company or (ii) the date that such Shares are converted to cash or a cash equivalent, but shall continue as to any Shares not so converted.

2) Legend. The Stockholder agrees to permit an appropriate legend on certificates evidencing the Shares or any transfer books or related documentation of ownership reflecting the grant of the irrevocable proxy contained in the foregoing Section 1.

3) Representations and Warranties. The Stockholder represents and warrants to the Intermediary as follows:

- a) The Stockholder has all the necessary rights, power and authority to execute, deliver and perform his obligations under this Irrevocable Proxy. This Irrevocable Proxy has been duly executed and delivered by the Stockholder and constitutes such Stockholder’s legal and valid obligation enforceable against the Stockholder in accordance with its terms.

- b) The Stockholder is the record owner of the Shares listed under the name on this Appendix A and the Stockholder has plenary voting and dispositive power with respect to such Shares; the Stockholder owns no other shares of the capital stock of the Company; there are no proxies, voting trusts or other agreements or understandings to which such Stockholder is a party or bound by and which expressly require that any of the Shares be voted in any specific manner other than pursuant to this irrevocable proxy; and the Stockholder has not entered into any agreement or arrangement inconsistent with this Irrevocable Proxy.

Wireless electricity. Sounds like science fiction, but it's not.
It's happening, right here.

Cut to the opening title card "Join us in powering the future."

I'm Greg Kushnir, Founder and CEO of Emrod. At Emrod we are opening up the world's access to sustainable power. We have developed commercially viable long range wireless power transmission. Using our system large amounts of energy can be safely sent across long distances without requiring any wires.

Greg Kushnir

The magnitude of the opportunity struck home for me after learning about Pacific Island Nations struggling with economic growth due to their lack of energy infrastructure. The cost of transporting this energy using traditional lines and poles makes many sustainable energy projects just too expensive.

This is becoming even more important as energy grids become decentralised and companies and communities look to deploy their own solutions for generating and distributing energy.

Recent these advancements in meta materials and radar technologies, driven by the likes of NASA and the Japanese Space Agency, have brought us to a point where long range wireless technology is finally possible.

At Emrod, we have evolved this technology and created new, state of the art IP to make this commercially viable for the first time ever.

Our system can be used to send power across challenging terrain, power remote cell towers and to support the decarbonisation of industries such as shipping, mining and others.

Dr. Ray Simpkin, Chief Science Officer

The system works by transmitting energy wirelessly between antennas using proprietary beam shaping technology. Electromagnetic energy is focused into a collimated beam to send power from a transmitter to a receiver, where it is then converted back into electricity. The distance across which power can be transmitted can be extended using Emrod's proprietary relay technology.

We're currently at our testing facility where our indoor prototype is being put through some rigorous testing. This is providing us with promising results. Our system is currently undergoing testing before deployment in the field as part of a larger pilot project.

So, you can tell Ray is passionate about Emrod's system, and so are our industry partners who recognise the commercial potential. We have already partnered with the second largest electricity distribution company in New Zealand, PowerCo. They have supported us through the development of a prototype system.

Since announcing our technology in 2020, we have been inundated with commercial requests and received a lot of interest from individuals who are as excited as we are about a future with wireless power. We are running a Republic investment campaign to give a wider range of people the opportunity to invest in this future.

And with your help we can bring to market the technology that will not only help to fast track the uptake of sustainable energy, it will open up a whole range of new applications, some of which we haven't even yet imagined yet.

The time for wireless power is here. Will you join us in powering the future?

Letter from the CEO

Hi there,

Thanks for signing up to be kept up-to-date about Emrod's progress. I have some exciting news to share with you!

Since announcing our technology late last year, we've been positively overwhelmed with requests from people from all over the world, asking how they can invest in Emrod.

So, we have decided to open up the opportunity to invest in Emrod by running an investment campaign on Republic's respected startup crowdfunding platform. This gives more people a chance to invest in Emrod's growing business and share in our success.

I'm emailing to invite you to participate in this fundraising round!

Here's a snapshot of Emrod's business and the opportunity that you will be able to invest in:

- Our mission is to open up the world's access to power by bringing to market the first long-range wireless power transfer technology that is commercially viable.
- After incorporating as a company in 2019 we demonstrated a proof of concept system and secured our first commercial partner, Powerco. Over the last 12 months, we have built and demonstrated a larger scale prototype system to Powerco and committed to our first in-field pilot project, scheduled for deployment in New Zealand later in 2021.
- We have received a huge amount of commercial interest from energy distribution and telecommunications companies, sustainable development organisations and industry leaders within industries including mining, shipping and aviation. We've signed several MOUs with organisations to progress potential pilot projects.
- We've become global leaders in long-range wireless power transmission, participating in industry-leading conferences including EnergyNet's Powering Africa and IEEE and having received media coverage by leading publications including The Economist, New Atlas and Popular Mechanics.

This Republic campaign will support our next period of growth, including planned field trials with customers, hiring new staff and charging ahead on Emrod's vision to open up the world's access to power.

*to the best of our knowledge

Hi there,

If you're following news about Emrod, you'll know that we've been busily working away on the new prototype system set up in our indoor test facility in New Zealand. Using this system, we transmitted power wirelessly across 120 feet, the length of the testing warehouse.

Something you might not know about Emrod is that our Chief Science Officer, Dr Ray Simpkin, is not only a Distinguished Scientist, but he is also the lead guitarist of a band called Crimson Coast, who once opened for Billy Idol! Naturally, wirelessly charging an electric guitar for Ray to play was on our "to power" list.

So here you have it, to our knowledge the world's first electric guitar riff powered by long-range wireless power transmission. You are one of the first to see it 🎸

We're continuing to test and optimise the prototype system ahead of the infield trial planned for later in 2021. This outdoor system will transfer power over a longer distance; we plan to break the existing world record for wireless power transfer distance, which is currently held by NASA.

We've received an overwhelming amount of commercial interest and are prioritizing our pipeline of projects for 2022. We have some exciting opportunities for possible projects, including:

- ☀️ Sending power from a small solar farm to a nearby client
- 🌲 Transmitting green energy across protected sites to reduce the environmental impact of power lines and pylons
- 📶 Powering cell towers in remote, hard to reach locations
- 🚢 Powering ships in port wirelessly

Invest in Emrod - $480k reserved already!

Last week we shared that we'll be running a crowdfunding campaign to give public investors the opportunity to invest in Emrod early. In just one week we've received over $480k of investment reservations, and we haven't even gone live with the campaign yet!

Reserve your investment position in Emrod to ensure that you're the first to know when our campaign goes live and to make the most of the early investor offer.

Early Investor Special: We're offering a valuation discount for early investors. Right now, we have a page live where you can reserve your investment. Register your interest below to make sure you don't miss out on the early investor offer.
