Jennifer Tweedy · 3rd

Executive Director, Governance at Arizona State University

February 8, 2018, Jennifer worked with Aaron but they were at different companies

Aaron is an enviable blend of vision, strategic thinking, technical know-how and passion for his craft. It's hard to be around him without walking away a bit smarter and more inspired. He is a natural communicator and brings an infectious energy to a team and an endeavor. I always look forward to an opportunity to collaborate with Aaron!

Doanh Bui · 3rd

CIO at ADOT

December 18, 2014, Doanh worked with Aaron but on different teams

I am the Arizona Department of Transportation (ADOT) CTO, then CIO and have worked with Aaron during his tenure as Arizona State CIO and Deputy Director at the Department of Administration (ADQA). As an IT Executive, Aaron has great vision and sound strategic thinking, using Business Value to drive IT Innovation. He sets the right stage for transformation of state government with technology; a ...see more

Michael Sherman · 3rd

Executive Director at Sun Corridor Network

November 19, 2014, Michael reported directly to Aaron

Aaron is an energetic, charismatic and inspirational leader. I am impressed with his ability to simultaneously think strategically as well as tactically. He has a voracious intellectual curiosity and constantly challenges members of his team – at all levels – to engage in "lifelong learning". Given his stature as the Arizona State CIO, he often has to make difficult decisions, but he does so with ...see more

APIs have captured the imagination of enterprises as an agent of change. But the most important agent of change will be you as the CIO. Technology is important, but it truly is all about the customer experience. There ...see more

Are CIOs Ready to Mine the API Gold Rush?

CIO Insight · Nov 5, 2015

Show publication ↗

APIs are the new gold rush. And just like the California gold rush 166 years ago, there will be winners and losers. Fortunately, unlike that earlier push, luck isn't a big part of the equation. Instead, CIOs who implement ...see more
