The Company and its Business

Company Overview

Joulez is a startup Electric Vehicle rental company founded in 2021 by entrepreneur Micah Bergdale, who founded, built and sold Bytemark, a white label mobility platform sold to mass transit agencies around the globe. The company's sole shareholder to date is Bergdale Properties, LLC, a South Dakota LLC owned 100% by Micah Bergdale. Joulez is running a tech-forward rental car company focused solely on the mission of a 100% EV fleet starting with Tesla vehicles serving the NYC Metro Area Market. Our initial market is the largest regional market in the US, but we want Joulez to go global and scale. We will be developing custom software solutions to make the Joulez experience unlike anything ever seen in the traditional rental car business. Micah's experience with transportation software and technology development will provide the know-how to make Joulez a rental car innovator.

Competitors and Industry

Joulez's competitors include market leaders such as Hertz, AVIS, Budget and new entrants like Lyft. The rental car industry has been around for decades, but there has been limited innovation in the industry. In particular, there are a number of unique factors required for electric vehicles to successfully be a part of a rental car fleet. There is a greater level of customer engagement required so customers can make the transition to EVs from traditional gas cars. There have been no new entrants in the rental car industry focused solely on EVs. We believe we would be one of the first in the US.

Current Stage and Roadmap

Our product and platform is still in development as the company was founded recently in 2021. We are building a rental car management platform from the ground up. We have designed the web and mobile user interfaces, and we are now building out the backend software to support the launch of the rental and delivery platform. We are going to raise funds through a CF round specifically to help acquire vehicles and support financing for vehicles in the fleet. Once a successful CF round is complete, we will add vehicles to a small fleet and anticipate launching within 2-3 months of receipt of the EVs. We will be testing out the rental car platform in a small, invite only beta from Q3-Q4 2021.

Risk Factors

The SEC requires the company to identify risks that are specific to its business and its financial condition. The company is still subject to all the same risks that all companies in its business, and all companies in the economy, are exposed to. These include risks relating to economic downturns, political and economic events and technological developments (such as hacking and the ability to prevent hacking). Additionally, early-stage companies are inherently more risky than more developed companies. You should consider general risks as well as specific risks when deciding whether to invest.

These are the risks that relate to the Company:

Uncertain Risk

An investment in the Company (also referred to as “we”, “us”, “our”, or “Company”) involves a high degree of risk and should only be considered by those who can afford the loss of their entire investment. Furthermore, the purchase of any of the Shares should only be undertaken by persons whose financial resources are sufficient to enable them to indefinitely retain an illiquid investment. Each investor in the Company should consider all of the information provided to such potential investor regarding the Company as well as the following risk factors, in addition to the other information listed in the Company’s Form C. The following risk factors are not intended, and shall not be deemed to be, a complete description of the commercial and other risks inherent in the investment in the Company.

Our business projections are only projections

There can be no assurance that the Company will meet our projections. There can be no assurance that the Company will be able to find sufficient demand for our product, that people think it's a better option than a competing product, or that we will be able to provide the service at a level that allows the Company to make a profit and still attract business.

Any valuation at this stage is difficult to assess

The valuation for the offering was established by the Company. Unlike listed companies that are valued publicly through market-driven stock prices, the valuation of private companies, especially startups, is difficult to assess and you may risk overpaying for your investment.

The transferability of the Securities you are buying is limited

Any Shares purchased through this crowdfunding campaign is subject to SEC limitations of transfer. This means that the stock/note that you purchase cannot be resold for a period of one year. The exception to this rule is if you are transferring the stock back to the Company, to an "accredited investor," as part of an offering registered with the Commission, to a member of your family, trust created for the benefit of your family, or in connection with your death or divorce.

Your investment could be illiquid for a long time

You should be prepared to hold this investment for several years or longer. For the 12 months following your investment there will be restrictions on how you can resell the securities you receive. More importantly, there is no established market for these securities and there may never be one. As a result, if you decide to sell these securities in the future, you may not be able to find a buyer. The Company may be acquired by an existing player in the educational software development industry. However, that may never happen or it may happen at a price that results in you losing money on this investment.

If the Company cannot raise sufficient funds it will not succeed

The Company, is offering Shares in the amount of up to $1,070,000 in this offering, and may close on any investments that are made. Even if the maximum amount is raised, the Company is likely to need additional funds in the future in order to grow, and if it cannot raise those funds for whatever reason, including reasons relating to the Company itself or the broader economy, it may not survive. If the Company manages to raise only the minimum amount of funds, sought, it will have to find other sources of funding for some of the plans outlined in "Use of Proceeds."

We may not have enough capital as needed and may be required to raise more capital.

We anticipate needing access to credit in order to support our working capital requirements as we grow. Although interest rates are low, it is still a difficult environment for obtaining credit on favorable terms. If we cannot obtain credit when we need it, we could be forced to raise additional equity capital, modify our growth plans, or take some other action. Issuing more equity may require bringing on additional investors. Securing these additional investors could require pricing our equity below its current price. If so, your investment could lose value as a result of this additional dilution. In addition, even if the equity is not priced lower, your ownership percentage would be decreased with the addition of more investors. If we are unable to find additional investors willing to provide capital, then it is possible that we will choose to cease our sales activity. In that case, the only asset remaining to generate a return on your investment could be our intellectual property. Even if we are not forced to cease our sales activity, the unavailability of credit could result in the Company performing below expectations, which could adversely impact the value of your investment.

Terms of subsequent financings may adversely impact your investment

We will likely need to engage in common equity, debt, or preferred stock financings in the future, which may reduce the value of your investment in the Common Stock. Interest on debt securities could increase costs and negatively impact operating results. Preferred stock could be issued in series from time to time with such designation, rights, preferences, and limitations as needed to raise capital. The terms of preferred stock could be more advantageous to those investors than to the holders of Common Stock. In addition, if we need to raise more equity capital from the sale of Common Stock, institutional or other investors may negotiate terms that are likely to be more favorable than the terms of your investment, and possibly a lower purchase price per share.

Management Discretion as to Use of Proceeds

Our success will be substantially dependent upon the discretion and judgment of our management team with respect to the application and allocation of the proceeds of this Offering. The use of proceeds described below is an estimate based on our current business plan. We, however, may find it necessary or advisable to re-allocate portions of the net proceeds reserved for one category to another, and we will have broad discretion in doing so.

Projections: Forward Looking Information

Any projections or forward-looking statements regarding our anticipated financial or operational performance are hypothetical and are based on management's best estimate of the probable results of our operations and will not have been reviewed by our independent accountants. These projections will be based on assumptions that management believes are reasonable. Some assumptions invariably will not materialize due to unanticipated events and circumstances beyond management's control. Therefore, actual results of operations will vary from such projections, and such variances may be material. Any projected results cannot be guaranteed.

We are reliant on one main type of service

All of our current services are variants of one type of service, providing a platform for online electric vehicle rentals. Our revenues are therefore dependent upon the market for online electric vehicle rentals.

Minority Holder; Securities with Voting Rights

The common stock that an investor is buying has voting rights attached to them.

However, you will be part of the minority shareholders of the Company and have agreed to appoint the Chief Executive Officer of the Company (the “CEO”), or his or her successor, as your voting proxy. You are trusting in management discretion in making good business decisions that will grow your investments. Furthermore, in the event of a liquidation of our company, you will only be paid out if there is any cash remaining after all of the creditors of our company have been paid out.

You are trusting that management will make the best decision for the company

You are trusting in management discretion. You are buying securities as a minority holder, and therefore must trust the management of the Company to make good business decisions that grow your investment.

Insufficient Funds

The company might not sell enough securities in this offering to meet its operating needs and fulfill its plans, in which case it will cease operating and you will get nothing. Even if we sell all the common stock we are offering now, the Company will (possibly) need to raise more funds in the future, and if it can’t get them, we will fail. Even if we do make a successful offering in the future, the terms of that offering might result in your investment in the company being worth less, because later investors might get better terms.

This offering involves “rolling closings,” which may mean that earlier investors may not have the benefit of information that later investors have.

Once we meet our target amount for this offering, we may request that StartEngine instruct the escrow agent to disburse offering funds to us. At that point, investors whose subscription agreements have been accepted will become our investors. All early-stage companies are subject to a number of risks and uncertainties, and it is not uncommon for material changes to be made to the offering terms, or to companies’ businesses, plans or prospects, sometimes on short notice. When such changes happen during the course of an offering, we must file an amended to our Form C with the SEC, and investors whose subscriptions have not yet been accepted will have the right to withdraw their subscriptions and get their money back. Investors whose subscriptions have already been accepted, however, will already be our investors and will have no such right.

Our new product could fail to achieve the sales projections we expected

Our growth projections are based on an assumption that with an increased advertising and marketing budget our products will be able to gain traction in the marketplace at a faster rate than our current products have. It is possible that our new products will fail to gain market acceptance for any number of reasons. If the new products fail to achieve significant sales and acceptance in the marketplace, this could materially and adversely impact the value of your investment.

We face significant market competition

We will compete with larger, established companies who currently have products on the market and/or various respective product development programs. They may have much better financial means and marketing/sales and human resources than us. They may succeed in developing and marketing competing equivalent products earlier than us, or superior products than those developed by us. There can be no assurance that competitors will render our technology or products obsolete or that the products developed by us will be preferred to any existing or newly developed technologies. It should further be assumed that competition will intensify.

We are competing against other recreational activities

Although we are a unique company that caters to a select market, we do compete against other recreational activities. Our business growth depends on the market interest in the Company over other activities.

We are an early stage company and have not yet generated any profits

Joulez, Inc was formed on May 24, 2021. Accordingly, the Company has a limited history upon which an evaluation of its performance and future prospects can be made. Our current and proposed operations are subject to all business risks associated with new enterprises. These include likely fluctuations in operating results as the Company reacts to developments in its market, managing its growth and the entry of competitors into the market. We will only be able to pay dividends on any shares once our directors determine that we are financially able to do so. Joulez, Inc has incurred a net loss and has had limited revenues generated since inception. There is no assurance that we will be profitable in the next 3 years or generate sufficient revenues to pay dividends to the holders of the shares.

We are an early stage company and have limited revenue and operating history

The Company has a short history, few customers, and effectively no revenue. If you are investing in this company, it's because you think that All Electric Vehicle Rentals is a good idea, that the team will be able to successfully market, and sell the product or service, that we can price them right and sell them to enough peoples so that the Company will succeed. Further, we have never turned a profit and there is no assurance that we will ever be profitable.

Our trademarks, copyrights and other intellectual property could be unenforceable or ineffective

Intellectual property is a complex field of law in which few things are certain. It is possible that competitors will be able to design around our intellectual property, find prior art to invalidate it, or render the patents unenforceable through some other mechanism. If competitors are able to bypass our trademark and copyright protection without obtaining a sublicense, it is likely that the Company's value will be materially and adversely impacted. This could also impair the Company's ability to compete in the marketplace. Moreover, if our trademarks and copyrights are deemed unenforceable, the Company will almost certainly lose any potential revenue it might be able to raise by entering into sublicenses. This would cut off a significant potential revenue stream for the Company.

The cost of enforcing our trademarks and copyrights could prevent us from enforcing them

Trademark and copyright litigation has become extremely expensive. Even if we believe that a competitor is infringing on one or more of our trademarks or copyrights, we might choose not to file suit because we lack the cash to successfully prosecute a multi-year litigation with an uncertain outcome; or because we believe that the cost of enforcing our trademark(s) or copyright(s) outweighs the value of winning the suit in light of the risks and consequences of losing it; or for some other reason. Choosing not to enforce our trademark(s) or copyright(s) could have adverse consequences for the Company, including undermining the credibility of our intellectual property, reducing our ability to enter into sublicenses, and weakening our attempts to prevent competitors from entering the market. As a result, if we are unable to enforce our trademark(s) or copyright(s) because of the cost of enforcement, your investment in the Company could be significantly and adversely affected.

The loss of one or more of our key personnel, or our failure to attract and retain other highly qualified personnel in the future, could harm our business

To be successful, the Company requires capable people to run its day to day operations. As the Company grows, it will need to attract and hire additional employees in sales, marketing, design, development, operations, finance, legal, human resources and other areas. Depending on the economic environment and the Company's performance, we may not be able to locate or attract qualified individuals for such positions when we need them. We may also make hiring mistakes, which can be costly in terms of resources spent in recruiting, hiring and investing in the incorrect individual and in the time delay in locating the right employee fit. If we are unable to attract, hire and retain the right talent or make too many hiring mistakes, it is likely our business will suffer from not having the right employees in the right positions at the right time. This would likely adversely impact the value of your investment.

Our ability to sell our product or service is dependent on outside government regulation which can be subject to change at any time

Our ability to rent Electric Vehicles is dependent on the outside government regulation such as the State of New York, New York City and other relevant government laws and regulations. The laws and regulations concerning the rental of Electric Vehicles may be subject to change and if they do then the renting of Electric Vehicles may no longer be in the best interest of the Company. At such a point the Company may no longer want to rent Electric Vehicles and therefore your investment in the Company may be affected.

We rely on third parties to provide services essential to the success of our business

We rely on third parties to provide a variety of essential business functions for us, including manufacturing, shipping, accounting, legal work, public relations, advertising, retailing, and distribution. It is possible that some of these third parties will fail to perform their services or will perform them in an unacceptable manner. It is possible that we will experience delays, defects, errors, or other problems with their work that will materially impact our operations and we may have little or no recourse to recover damages for these losses. A disruption in these key or other suppliers' operations could materially and adversely affect our business. As a result, your investment could be adversely impacted by our reliance on third parties and their performance.

The Company is vulnerable to hackers and cyber-attacks

As an internet-based business, we may be vulnerable to hackers who may access the data of our investors and the issuer companies that utilize our platform. Further, any significant disruption in service on Joulez, Inc or in its computer systems could reduce the attractiveness of the platform and result in a loss of investors and companies interested in using our platform. Further, we rely on a third-party technology provider to provide some of our back-up technology. Any disruptions of services or cyber-attacks either on our technology provider or on Joulez, Inc could harm our reputation and materially negatively impact our financial condition and business.

Licensing & Insurance in New York State and New York City

Joulez, Inc needs to get complete all formal registration, licensing and insurance requirements as per New York State and New York City laws, so we can successfully launch. We are currently working through those requirements and we are optimistic we will be able to have the licensing and insurance required for New York State by the time vehicles arrive. We have a contingency plan to launch in New Jersey and/or Connecticut if the State of New York or New York City prevent us from launching for legal reasons, but our hope is to launch in New York City as we see the most demand in this market.

Tesla Vehicles

Given Joulez's early reliance on Tesla, our rollout is very dependent on vehicle availability from Tesla directly. If there are issues sourcing vehicles from Tesla in a timely manner that could delay launch or cause us to not have sufficient inventory to meet demand. We hope to mitigate this risk by also putting in orders for other EVs that are beginning to come onto the market in 2021, but we want to have best in class EVs, which has focused our orders on Tesla.

Software Development Delays or Security Issues

The ability to deliver on the software development plan is critical to a successful launch of Joulez. Joulez fully anticipates that the software will be in Beta in Q3 2021, but there is the possibility that our development team falls behind schedule because of potential unforeseen issues or the desire to add features we feel are mandatory to make sure we are market competitive. As we move through the software development cycle, we plan to update our investors on the progress.

Car Rental Market

The car rental market is dominated by existing players who have large control of the market. There is a risk that they adapt to the entrance of Joulez and begin a more effective rollout of EV offerings that work well for their rental car market. The ability for existing market players to adapt to our entrance and offering is a risk factor.

Each Subscriber shall appoint the Chief Executive Officer of the Company (the "CEO"), or his or her successor, as the Subscriber's true and lawful proxy and attorney, with the power to act alone and with full power of substitution, to, consistent with this instrument and on behalf of the Subscriber, (i) vote all Securities, (ii) give and receive notices and communications, (iii) execute any instrument or document that the CEO determines is necessary or appropriate in the exercise of its authority under this instrument, and (iv) take all actions necessary or appropriate in the judgment of the CEO for the accomplishment of the foregoing. The proxy and power granted by the Subscriber pursuant to this Section are coupled with an interest. Such proxy and power will be irrevocable. What it means to be a minority holder

As a minority holder of Common Stock of this offering, you have granted your votes by proxy to the CEO of the Company. Even if you were to receive control of your voting rights, as a minority holder, you will have limited rights in regards to the corporate actions of the company, including additional issuances of securities, company repurchases of securities, a sale of the company or its significant assets, or company transactions with related parties. Further, investors in this offering may have rights less than those of other investors, and will have limited influence on the corporate actions of the company.

Dilution

Investors should understand the potential for dilution. The investor's stake in a company could be diluted due to the company issuing additional shares. In other words, when the company issues more shares, the percentage of the company that you own will go down, even though the value of the company may go up. You will own a smaller piece of a larger company. This increase in number of shares outstanding could result from a stock offering (such as an initial public offering, another crowdfunding round, a venture capital round, angel investment), employees exercising stock options, or by conversion of certain instruments (e.g. convertible bonds, preferred shares or warrants) into stock. If the company decides to issue more shares, an investor could experience value dilution, with each share being worth less than before, and control dilution, with the total percentage an investor owns being less than before. There may also be earnings dilution, with a reduction in the amount earned per share (though this typically occurs only if the company offers dividends, and most early stage companies are unlikely to offer dividends, preferring to invest any earnings into the company).

Transferability of securities

For a year, the securities can only be resold:

- In an IPO;
- To the company;
- To an accredited investor; and
- To a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the purchaser or other similar circumstance.

Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Financial Condition

You should read the following discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of our operations together with our financial statements and related notes appearing at the end of this Offering Memorandum. This discussion contains forward-looking statements reflecting our current expectations that involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results and the timing of events may differ materially from those contained in these forward-looking statements due to a number of factors, including those discussed in the section entitled "Risk Factors" and elsewhere in this Offering Memorandum.

Results of Operations

How long can the business operate without revenue:

December 2021 will be the limit of how the long the business can operate without either a successful CF fundraiser or revenue generation.

Foreseeable major expenses based on projections:

For Q3-Q4 2021, the following are the expected major expenses:

Development of the web reservation platform, which includes an AWS backend infrastructure and also the customer-facing website

Customer service management platform including Zoom-based integration

Electric Vehicle Management Platform, which includes maintenance and management

Development of iOS and Android native mobile apps for reservation

Acquisition of physical EVs (likely all Teslas, but possible a non-Tesla EV is acquired to diversify the fleet)

Parking/Storage, Charging, Insurance and Maintenance of the EVs

Future operational challenges:

Joulez needs to acquire Tesla EVs in Q4 2021 to put into service, and we need to place them strategically in our launch market of NYC. Joulez needs to test our software in the real world to optimize it for real world conditions while also having a sufficient number of electric vehicles. If Tesla has any delivery issues, this could cause a delay for our operations.

Future challenges related to capital resources:

Having a sufficient inventory to match demand while also pricing the rental rates at a level that is market competitive and keeping the momentum going for accelerated growth.

Future milestones and events:

The launch of the rental service in NYC will be the most critical milestone for us to achieve, which requires us to have sizeable inventory of Electric Vehicles, currently planned to be all Teslas.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

What capital resources are currently available to the Company? (Cash on hand, existing lines of credit, shareholder loans, etc...)

Bergdale Properties, LLC owned by Micah Bergdale, the founder of Joulez, Inc. will supply cash and credit as needed to support the operations of the business during Q3 2021.

How do the funds of this campaign factor into your financial resources? (Are these funds critical to your company operations? Or do you have other funds or capital resources available?)

These funds are critical to the success of Joulez, Inc creating a Tesla EV fleet inventory for the operations and revenue generation.

Are the funds from this campaign necessary to the viability of the company? (Of the total funds that your company has, how much of that will be made up of funds raised from the crowdfunding campaign?)

The funds from this campaign are necessary for the viability of Joulez, Inc. The StartEngine campaign will make up the entirety of the funds available for the company aside from the cash and loans provided by Bergdale Properties, LLC.

How long will you be able to operate the company if you raise your minimum? What expenses is this estimate based on?

Joulez, Inc should be able to operate the company into 2022 as a scaled down operation that is generating revenue from the Tesla EVs that it acquires. Joulez, Inc. on September 22, 2021 acquired its first Tesla vehicle. We are able to operate with no full-time employees as of right now and generate revenue from this one Tesla vehicle. Below are the minimum costs we anticipate for operation in Q4 2021 and Q1 2022.

Maintenance & Delivery of Vehicles (1 Full-Time employee)-$4,000/mo including benefits

Financing per Tesla Model 3-Approximately $700/mo

Web app and Mobile app support-Minimum $500/quarter

How long will you be able to operate the company if you raise your maximum funding goal?

We expect to be able to operate the company through the end of 2022 if we hit the Maximum funding goal of $1,070,000.

Are there any additional future sources of capital available to your company? (Required capital contributions, lines of credit, contemplated future capital raises, etc...)

Micah Bergdale has had discussions with more traditional investors who have expressed interest in investing in Joulez once there is a demonstrated market demand. The issue facing Joulez is that we require extensive upfront capital to acquire the Tesla vehicles needed our operations. Traditional private equity and venture capital investors have shied away from investing in companies that require large amounts of capital for inventory buildup unless there is already a demonstrated strong market demand.

Valuation

Pre-Money Valuation: $40,000,000.00

Valuation Details:

The company determined its pre-money valuation based on an analysis of multiple factors. First, the company analyzed the underlying value of the Intellectual Property being developed for the rental car platform, the management of the vehicles and the customer engagement interface using new technology being custom developed in-house should provide a value basis for the proposed pre-money valuation. We are currently working with a patent attorney to determine what intellectual property we have developed can be patented as part of the protection of custom IP being developed. It is management's belief that there are patentable aspects to the technology being developed in-house that will allow the company to uniquely position itself in the car rental market. Second, the company valued the experience of its founder and CEO, who has previously developed and built a business.

The company determined its pre-money valuation internally, without a formal-third party independent evaluation. The pre-money valuation has been calculated on a fully diluted basis. In making this calculation, we have assumed: (i) all preferred stock is converted to common stock; (ii) the company does not have any outstanding options, warrants, and other securities with a right to acquire shares are exercised. The company currently does not have any outstanding convertible securities.

Use of Proceeds

If we raise the Target Offering Amount of $10,000.00 we plan to use these proceeds as follows:

- StartEngine Platform Fees

3.5%

- Inventory

55.0%

The funding will be used to optimize financing for the acquisition of Tesla EVs to be delivered and stored in the New York City Metro Area. The vehicle acquisition costs include the delivery, secured storage, insurance, charging infrastructure and maintenance of the vehicles.

- Company Employment

20.0%

We anticipate that the company will only need less than a dozen full-time employees at this stage including Marketing, Sales, Vehicle Maintenance and Delivery. The salaries covered will allow the company to acquire the necessary talent to support the growth of the operations in 2021 and beyond.

- Research & Development

5.0%

These funds will be used to secure the intellectual property that is being developed in-house including potential patents and trademarks. The R&D budget will also include efforts to convert older non-EV cars into EVs to determine if such conversions could be financially viable as part of a rental car model.

- Marketing

As part of the Joulez launch, we need to spread awareness of the brand as it launches likely in Q4 2021. We will focus on online advertising in addition to billboard advertising focused on the New York City market.

- Working Capital

6.5%

The working capital will cover costs like legal fees, office supplies, technology development and hosting costs, and computer hardware required for the working operations of the company. We anticipate most of these costs will be covered as part of the revenue generated by the rental operations, but this will provide a buffer between development to launch.

If we raise the over allotment amount of $1,070,000.00, we plan to use these proceeds as follows:

- StartEngine Platform Fees

3.5%

- Inventory

60.0%

We will increase the number of vehicles we acquire and spread them to more locations in the New York City Metro region. More vehicles provide a greater opportunity for on-going revenue generation and risk mitigation if there are issues with any vehicles.

- Marketing

5.0%

We expect marketing costs as a % of the raise to decrease if we are able to raise a larger amount of money. This will again be focused on online and billboard advertising for the New York City Metro area market.

- Working Capital

16.5%

We will utilize funds for an expanded working capital buffer to assist with operational needs like legal costs, office supplies and technology needed to support the fleet of vehicles. We expect to have a heavy reliance on computer hardware to support the operations of the EV fleet.

- Research & Development

15.0%

If we have a larger raise, we want to use more funds toward R&D so we can expand the unique solution offering for Joulez EV fleet. We know that EV rentals will expand, and we want to use our R&D budget toward providing a solution offering that is unlike anything else in the rental car market.

The Company may change the intended use of proceeds if our officers believe it is in the best interests of the company.

STARTENGINE SUBSCRIPTION PROCESS (Exhibit E)

Platform Compensation

- As compensation for the services provided by StartEngine Capital, the issuer is required to pay to StartEngine Capital a fee consisting of a 7-13% (seven to thirteen percent) commission based on the dollar amount of securities sold in the Offering and paid upon disbursement of funds from escrow at the time of a closing. The commission is paid in cash and in securities of the Issuer identical to those offered to the public in the Offering at the sole discretion of StartEngine Capital. Additionally, the issuer must reimburse certain expenses related to the Offering. The securities issued to StartEngine Capital, if any, will be of the same class and have the same terms, conditions and rights as the securities being offered and sold by the issuer on StartEngine Capital's website.

Information Regarding Length of Time of Offering

- Investment Cancellations: Investors will have up to 48 hours prior to the end of the offering period to change their minds and cancel their investment commitments for any reason. Once within 48 hours of ending, investors will not be able to cancel for any reason, even if they make a commitment during this period.
- Material Changes: Material changes to an offering include but are not limited to: A change in minimum offering amount, change in security price, change in management, material change to financial information, etc. If an issuer makes a material change to the offering terms or other information disclosed, including a change to the offering deadline, investors will be given five business days to reconfirm their investment commitment. If investors do not reconfirm, their investment will be cancelled and the funds will be returned.

Hitting The Target Goal Early & Oversubscriptions

- StartEngine Capital will notify investors by email when the target offering amount has hit 25%, 50% and 100% of the funding goal. If the issuer hits its goal early, the issuer can create a new target deadline at least 5 business days out. Investors will be notified of the new target deadline via email and will then have the opportunity to cancel up to 48 hours before new deadline.
- Oversubscriptions: We require all issuers to accept oversubscriptions. This may not be possible if: 1) it vaults an issuer into a different category for financial statement requirements (and they do not have the requisite financial statements); or 2) they reach $5M in investments. In the event of an oversubscription, shares will be allocated at the discretion of the issuer.
- If the sum of the investment commitments does not equal or exceed the target offering amount at the offering deadline, no securities will be sold in the offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned.
- If a StartEngine issuer reaches its target offering amount prior to the deadline, it may conduct an initial closing of the offering early if they provide notice of the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to the new offering deadline (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment). StartEngine will notify investors when the issuer meets its target offering amount. Thereafter, the issuer may conduct additional closings until the offering deadline.

Minimum and Maximum Investment Amounts

- In order to invest, to commit to an investment or to communicate on our platform, users must open an account on StartEngine Capital and provide certain personal and non-personal information including information related to income, net worth, and other investments.
- Investor Limitations: Investors are limited in how much they can invest on all crowdfunding offerings during any 12-month period. The limitation on how much they can invest depends on their net worth (excluding the value of their primary residence) and annual income. If either their annual income or net worth is less than $107,000, then during any 12-month period, they can invest either $2,200 or 5% of their annual income or net worth, whichever is greater. If both their annual income and net worth are equal to or more than $107,000, then during any 12-month period, they can invest up to 10% of annual income or net worth, whichever is greater, but their investments cannot exceed $107,000.
