BUSINESS AND ANTICIPATED BUSINESS PLAN

7. Describe in detail the business of the issuer and the anticipated business plan of the issuer.:

Summary

Aktyva Therapeutics is a platform technology company developing therapies for unmet medical needs with the same underlying condition - vascular leak. Its first program is a drug for Acute Respiratory Distress Syndrome (ARDS), a deadly condition with no treatment, which is the cause of tragic loss of human life and economic consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Aktyva has developed an efficient computational AI-assisted drug-discovery approach that allows it to rapidly discover and validate our candidate drugs in laboratory experiments. In order to address this unmet need as rapidly as possible, our first candidate has already been approved for another indication and, thus, has a known safety profile. This will allow us to get to human clinical trials faster and with fewer resources. We are raising a $1M seed round to get our drug candidate to Investigational New Drug Application (IND) with the US FDA.

Key Reasons to Invest:

- The biggest risk in these types of investments is the safety profile of new drugs: the majority fails in clinical trials when they are first tested on humans. Aktyva's ARDS program drug candidate has already been approved and in the market for another indication. Subsequently, this asset is significantly de-risked.
- The downside of an existing drug is that the exclusivity will be limited, but Aktyva has developed a patent strategy for a new indication and is reformulating the drug for an additional 7 years of exclusivity.
- Aktyva is already in early discussions with a large pharmaceutical company and is planning to partner development of its ARDS therapeutic, further reducing the risk to early investors.
- Aktyva is co-founded and led by seasoned drug discovery and development entrepreneurs who have co-founded 16 companies, took 2 of them to IP, and have developed multiple drugs for various indications.

Problem

There is Currently No Treatment for the Many Devastating Medical Conditions with the Common Pathology of Vascular Leak.

The vascular endothelium separates circulating fluid from the surrounding tissues. Endothelial dysfunction, or vascular leak, occurs in response to wide-spread inflammatory processes, including acute viral, bacterial or direct toxin exposure.

In the lung, vascular leak leads to Acute Respiratory Distress Syndrome (ARDS), a deadly condition with no treatment. ARDS is the most common cause of death among intensive care units (ICU) patients. Before COVID-19, ARDS affected about 200,000 patients in the U.S., causing 75,000 deaths (>35% mortality rate) and an economic burden of $1.6B. The COVID-19 pandemic has doubled these numbers and further highlighted the need for effective therapies to treat this deadly condition.

ARDS has many causes, which include bone fractures, head injury, pancreatitis, cardiac surgery, monoclonal antibody therapies, radiation or sepsis. ARDS patients end up in ICU with the only therapeutic options being supportive mechanical ventilation and fluid management.

Solution

Activation of a stress response pathway to restore vascular barrier

Aktyva addresses the root cause of ARDS and over 60 other medical conditions - with a drug that regulates the permeability of endothelial barrier and stops vascular leak. The connection between MK2 pathway and cytoskeleton of the endothelial cells has been first described over 15 years ago and has been confirmed in numerous models of disease by other investigators. The foundation of Aktyva's approach is addressing the root cause of ARDS.

Product

AKT-001 is a small molecule drug for ARDS

Aktyva's first product is AKT-001, a small molecule drug, which has been in human safety Phase 1 trials, that the company is planning to reformulate, conduct bridging IND-enabling studies and to take to human Phase 2a in ARDS indication.

The Science Behind It:

Targets:

- MK2 pathway involved in stress response when activated
- Pathway activation in endothelial cells stops vascular leak
- In vivo proof-of-concept established

Approach:

- Direct activation of MK2 pathway with small molecule to stop vascular leak

AIDE360 Aktyva Drug Discovery Platform

Proprietary Artificial Intelligence (AI)-assisted machine learning (ML) platform used to discover drug binding pockets and small molecule drugs

Business Model

B2B

Aktyva will build a sustainable B2B business model through the development of a pipeline of new projects. Aktyva will license new lead candidates to pharmaceutical companies, reinvesting the revenues in R&D efforts for new indications. The licensing agreement is envisaged after the completion of Phase 2 clinical trials and will likely comprise the exclusivity of worldwide commercialization upon market authorization.

The pharmaceutical company will make milestone-based payments to Aktyva during the development and commercialization, anticipated as follows:

- (i) Upfront payment: ~$7M upon signature of the contract,

(ii) Milestone payments: Upon entry into phase II clinical development, completion of phase 3 enrollment, and market approval for a total amount of ~$14M.

(iii) Royalties: ~5% royalties on sales over the life cycle.

Akttyva also is engaged in discussions with smaller pharma companies with goals:

1. i) to provide synergistic treatment for conditions of mutual interest;
2. ii) to establish partnerships for the identification of drug candidates using Akttyva's drug discovery and molecular docking approach.

*Estimates made based on recent comparable deals.

Traction

Awards and Notable Achievements:

- Has been a semi-finalist of X-Y Factor business pitch competition at Biotech Gate,
- is a finalist of MassChallenge 2021 cohort, selected out of 3,000 companies,
- is in due diligence with a couple of angel investors.

Traction with Government Agencies:

- Akttyva has been invited to submit an application for NSF award and BARDA DRIVE
- selected for NIH Application Assistance Program

Competition

Akttyva is developing first-in-class therapy for ARDS

In the absence of an effective cure for ARDS, the market is mainly dominated by manufacturers of ventilators and supplemental oxygen including GE Healthcare (US, yearly revenue $3.7B), Hamilton Medical AG (Switzerland, $138M), Smiths Medical (US, $500M), ResMed (US, $3B). These companies provide solutions for supportive care, without addressing the underlying medical condition.

Different companies are developing small molecules with antiviral properties or targeting the inflammation state associated with ARDS, but the direct cause. Among them, Veru (US, $31M) is developing a treatment based on sabizabulin, an antiviral and anti-inflammatory agent; Vanda Pharmaceutical (US, $248M) is performing clinical trials using tradipitant to target inflammatory lung injury associated with COVID-19 infection; Foresee pharmaceuticals (Taiwan, $3M) is developing an MMP-12 inhibitor targeting inflammation and fibrosis; Biomarck pharmaceuticals (US, $8M) is developing treatments based on the inhibition of MARCKS peptides to prevent the influx of inflammatory cells into the lung. Windtree Therapeutics (US, $ 1M) are developing a pulmonary surfactant indicated to improve lung function and reduce duration and risk of mechanical ventilation in children. Other companies such as Stemedica (US, $24M) and Arthersys (US, $24M) are developing approaches based on stem cells with immunomodulatory effects to suppress pro-inflammatory responses.

None of these solutions target the pathological process leading to ARDS, i.e. vascular leak of lung endothelium. Moreover, immunosuppression can potentially lead to complications such as infections or malignancy and would not be recommended for frail patients. Furthermore, therapies based on stem cells still have safety concerns and high costs.

Aktyva is developing first-in-class small molecule affordable therapy for ARDS, which addresses the direct cause, endothelial vascular leak.

Market

USD 1.6 B market in ARDS alone

By developing innovative therapies for vascular leak, Aktyva will enter the Global Endothelial Dysfunction Market at the intersection of different medical conditions. This market is expected to grow from $ 14B in 2020 to $ 34B by 2027, registering a compound annual growth (CAGR) of 12.7%. North America is expected to account for the highest market share over the forecast period.

Aktyva decided to focus its efforts first on the identification of lead candidates to repair vascular leak in ARDS, a deadly condition with no treatment. The Global Market for ARDS is expected to reach $16.9B by 2027, expanding at a CAGR of 7.2% from 2020 driven by increasing prevalence and incidence of acute lung injury and associated clinical conditions, rising aging population and lack of pharmacological treatments. The ongoing Covid-19 pandemic has increased the incidence of ARDS in the US more than two-fold, leading to market estimates of $500M-1.5B for Covid-19-caused ARDS only.

Aktyva's therapeutic compounds are going to be able to treat ARDS caused not only by COVID-19, but by other medical conditions such as viral/bacterial pneumonia ($1.5B market), sepsis, inhalation of direct lung toxicants, acute pancreatitis, kidney injury, and acute ulcerative colitis. In the long term, Aktyva's drug discovery programs will be directed towards other unmet needs in medical conditions associated with Endothelial Barrier Disorders such as capillary leak syndrome, diabetic macular edema, kidney injury and fibrosis.

Trends in drug discovery.

The Covid-19 pandemic has underlined the need to have fast and efficient drug development processes. As a result, the global in-silico drug discovery market is gaining traction and is projected to reach $5B in 2025 with a CAGR of 13% from 2020. Artificial Intelligence and machine learning are the main innovation trends in the pharma industry. Aktyva is at the forefront of these trends with its fast docking engine capable of quickly predicting the best small molecules treating ARDS and other vascular leak disorders.

Company Vision

Aktyva is harnessing the understanding of biological pathways, artificial intelligence, and machine learning on the structure of cell barriers to bring new therapies to patients. Our mission is to develop life-saving therapies addressing cell barrier dysfunction across multiple indications. Our vision is to be the leaders in the field to develop a portfolio of products addressing indications underlined by vascular leak, in partnership with government, foundations and industry stakeholders.

Press

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky:

SUMMARY

An investment in our common stock involves a high degree of risk. You should carefully consider the risks summarized below. These risks are discussed more fully in the “Risk Factors” section of this section immediately following this summary. These risks include, but are not limited to, the following:

- we have a limited operating history and have incurred operating losses from inception through December 31, 2021 and we expect to incur substantial losses for the foreseeable future and may never achieve or maintain profitability which could materially limit our ability to raise additional funds through the issuance of new debt or equity securities or otherwise;
- we will need to obtain additional financing to complete clinical development of our MK2 modulator drugs;
- clinical trials for our product candidate may be successful and we may not obtain approval from the FDA or other regulatory bodies in different jurisdictions;
- we are highly dependent on the success of our MK2 modulators product candidate which is still in early stage development;

- we expect to rely on third parties to manufacture our MK2 modulator drugs and to conduct our clinical trials;
- we currently do not have the infrastructure to commercialize our MK2 modulator drugs should we be successful in obtaining FDA approval;
- we face significant competition from other biotechnology and pharmaceutical companies;
- even if we obtain marketing approval for our MK2 drugs, we will be subject to ongoing obligations and continued regulatory review; and
- we rely on our key employees and executives and the loss of the services of our key employees and executives would adversely impact our business prospects.

We have a limited operating history upon which you can evaluate our performance, and accordingly, our prospects must be considered in light of the risk that any new company encounters.

The Company is still in its early phases and has not yet implemented its business plan. There can be no assurance that we will ever operate profitably. The likelihood of our success should be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications, and delays usually encountered by early-stage companies. The Company may not be successful in attaining the objectives necessary for it to overcome these risks and uncertainties.

We have not prepared any audited financial statements.

Therefore you have no audited financial information regarding the Company's capitalization or assets or liability on which to make your investment decision. The Company did have an independent Certified Public Accountant review their financials.

The amount of capital the Company is attempting to raise in this Offering may not be enough to sustain the Company's current business plan.

In order to achieve the Company's near and long-term goals, the Company may need to procure funds in addition to the amount raised in the Offering. There is no guarantee the Company will be able to raise such funds on acceptable terms or at all. If we are not able to raise sufficient capital in the future, we may not be able to execute our business plan, our continued operations will be in jeopardy and we may be forced to cease operations and sell or otherwise transfer all or substantially all of our remaining assets, which could cause an Investor to lose all or a portion of their investment. In this case, the SAFE note may not convert to equity.

We may face potential difficulties in obtaining capital.

We may have difficulty raising needed capital in the future as a result of, among other factors, our lack of revenues from sales, as well as the inherent business risks associated with our Company and present and future market conditions. We will require additional funds to execute our business strategy and conduct our operations. If adequate funds are unavailable, we may be required to delay product launches or marketing efforts, any of which may materially harm our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

We rely on other companies to provide services for our products development.

We depend on some contractors to conduct our product development and to manufacture the products. Our ability to meet our goals may be adversely affected if contractors do not provide the agreed-upon services in compliance with customer requirements and in a timely and cost-effective manner. Likewise, the quality of our final products may be adversely impacted if companies to whom we delegate manufacture of our products, or from whom we acquire such items, do not provide components that meet required specifications and perform to our expectations. Our suppliers may be unable to quickly recover from natural disasters and other events beyond their control and may be subject to additional risks such as financial problems that limit their ability to conduct their operations. The risk of these adverse effects may be greater in circumstances where we rely on only one or two contractors or suppliers for a particular service or reagent. Our products may utilize custom reagent / chemical available from only one source. The continued availability of those reagents at acceptable prices, or at all, may be affected for any number of reasons, including if those suppliers decide to concentrate on the production of common reagents or services instead of reagents or services customized to meet our requirements. The product development could be delayed or constrained, or a key manufacturing vendor could delay shipments of completed products to us adversely affecting our business and may force the Company to cease its operations.

We rely on various intellectual property rights, including trademarks, in order to operate our business.

The Company relies on certain intellectual property rights to operate its business. Threats to any company's intellectual property always exist. The pending patent may not be granted. The Company's intellectual property rights may not be sufficiently broad or otherwise may not provide us a significant competitive advantage. In addition, the steps that we have taken to maintain and protect our intellectual property may not prevent it from being challenged, invalidated, circumvented, or designed around, particularly in countries where intellectual property rights are not highly developed or protected. In some circumstances, enforcement may not be available to us because an infringer has a dominant intellectual property position or for other business reasons, or countries may require compulsory licensing of our intellectual property. Our failure to obtain or maintain intellectual property rights that convey competitive advantage, adequately protect our intellectual property or detect or prevent circumvention or unauthorized use of such property, could adversely impact our competitive position. We also rely on nondisclosure and non-competition agreements with employees, consultants, and other parties to protect our intellectual property, trade secrets and other proprietary rights. There can be no assurance that these agreements will adequately protect our trade secrets and other proprietary rights and will not be breached, that we will have adequate remedies for any breach, that others will not independently develop substantially equivalent proprietary information or that third parties will not otherwise gain access to our trade secrets or other proprietary rights. As we expand our business, protecting our intellectual property will become increasingly important. The protective steps we have taken may be inadequate to deter our competitors from using our proprietary information. In order to protect or enforce our patent rights, we may be required to initiate litigation against third parties, such as infringement lawsuits. Also, these third parties may assert claims against us with or without provocation. These lawsuits could be expensive, take significant time, and could divert management's attention from other business concerns. The law relating to the scope and validity of claims in the technology field in which we operate is still evolving and, consequently, intellectual property positions in our industry are generally uncertain. We cannot assure you that we will prevail in any of these potential suits or that the damages or other remedies awarded, if any, would be commercially valuable.

Although dependent on certain key personnel, the Company does not have any key person life insurance policies on any such people.

We are dependent on certain key personnel in order to conduct our operations and execute our business plan, however, the Company has not purchased any insurance policies yet with respect to those individuals in the event of their death or disability. Therefore, if any of these personnel die or become disabled, the Company will not receive any compensation to assist with such a person's absence. The loss of such a person could negatively affect the Company and our operations. We do plan to acquire key man insurance once we close the current funding round. We have no way to guarantee key personnel will stay with the Company, as many states do not enforce non-competition agreements, and therefore acquiring key man insurance will not ameliorate all of the risk of relying on key personnel.

We operate in a highly regulated environment.

We are subject to regulations by various government agencies including the US Food & Drug Administration (US FDA). Obtaining US FDA market authorization is the key to the company's success. Delays in clinical trials, required for market approval, are possible, which will require additional funding, delay market approval of the Company's products and may result in Company's seizing the operations.

Partnerships risks

The early discussions with larger pharmaceutical companies may not result in any actual partner development.

Instructions:

Discussion should be tailored to the issuer's business and the offering and should not repeat the factors addressed in the legends set forth above. DELIVERY & CANCELLATIONS

11. How will the issuer complete the transaction and deliver securities to the investors?:

The Aktyva Therapeutics, Inc., will issue to investors the right to certain shares of the company's capital stock via a SAFE. See the attached Smart SAFE and Proxy related exhibit to this Form C or https://www.sec.gov/oiea/investor-alerts-and-bulletins/ib_safes for more information and description of risks on this type of agreement.

12. How can an investor cancel an investment commitment?:

NOTE: Investors may cancel an investment commitment until 48 hours prior to the deadline identified in these offering materials.

The intermediary will notify investors when the target offering amount has been met. If the issuer reaches the target offering amount prior to the deadline identified in the offering materials, it may close the offering early if it provides notice about the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to such new offering deadline (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment).

If an investor does not cancel an investment commitment before the 48-hour period prior to the offering deadline, the funds will be released to the issuer upon closing of the offering and the investor will receive securities in exchange for his or her investment.

If an investor does not reconfirm his or her investment commitment after a material change is made to the offering, the investor's investment commitment will be cancelled and the committed funds will be returned.

An Investor's right to cancel. An Investor may cancel his or her investment commitment at any time until 48 hours prior to the offering deadline.

If there is a material change to the terms of the offering or the information provided to the Investor about the offering and/or the Company, the Investor will be provided notice of the change and must re-confirm his or her investment commitment within five business days of receipt of the notice. If the Investor does not reconfirm, he or she will receive notifications disclosing that the commitment was cancelled, the reason for the cancellation, and the refund amount that the investor is required to receive. If a material change occurs within five business days of the maximum number of days the offering is to remain open, the offering will be extended to allow for a period of five business days for the investor to reconfirm.

If the Investor cancels his or her investment commitment during the period when cancellation is permissible, or does not reconfirm a commitment in the case of a material change to the investment, or the offering does not close, all of the Investor's funds will be returned within five business days.

Within five business days of cancellation of an offering by the Company, the Company will give each investor notification of the cancellation, disclose the reason for the cancellation, identify the refund amount the Investor will receive, and refund the Investor's funds.

The Company's right to cancel. The Investment Agreement you will execute with us provides the Company the right to cancel for any reason before the offering deadline.

If the sum of the investment commitments from all investors does not equal or exceed the target offering amount at the time of the offering deadline, no securities will be sold in the offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned.
