THE PITCH

Gut-friendly Bread is seeking investment to lease a building to expand into the wholesale market to work toward This is a preview. It will become public when you start accepting investment.

OUR STORY

Gut-friendly Bread started in 2020 during the pandemic. I didn't know a thing about bread, or how to start a business from God. That small seed is now growing into a beautiful tree.

In 2020 I left school and got in with Bread Man Baking Co. as an intern where I learned how to run farmer's market Through Sprouting grains and sourdough fermentation I make delicious easily digestible breads.

Even though I left school and my dream of becoming a dietitian I couldn't be happier to follow the Lord. I still have the Lord's will for me to serve and make good quality breads and desserts that not only taste delicious, but are nourish the United States desperately needs.

At the beginning of this journey I couldn't make one loaf of bread, but God is always faithful! Jeremiah 29:11

OUR MISSION AND ETHOS

As a Christian-owned family business we have a desire to fill you physically, mentally, and emotionally through

This sprouted sourdough has simple ingredients of just flour, salt, water, and starter but carries amazing flavor and ancient whole grains.

Cranberry & Walnut:

A good sourdough bread with a fan favorite combination of cranberries and walnuts.

Fruit-Sweetened Carrot Cake Bread:

Between the flavors of our ancient grains, spice blend, and whole fruits this carrot bread has no refined sugar sweet craving and nourish your gut.

Sprouted Sandwich:

This sandwich bread packs an amazing distinct sour tang for our sourdough lovers.

Chocolate Treats:

These alternate zero sugar chocolate chip cookies will satisfy that sweet tooth but still fill your stomach with energy from whole fruits and fortified yogurt. None of that bad stuff that will weigh you down.

THE TEAM

Jordan Garcia

Co-owner/ Head Baker

My name is Jordan Garcia. I am a father, husband, baker, and founder of Gut-friendly Bread. I started Gut-friendly just an idea. Today I serve my customer base through home deliveries and the Tomball Farmer's market. With my food science I continue to expand the reach of gut-friendly breads and desserts and teach the people of America breads and sweets.

Yasmin Cardenas-Garcia

Co-owner

My name is Yasmin Cardenas-Garcia. I am a mother, wife, and co-founder of Gut-friendly Bread. The idea came started as a leap of faith to trust. I filled in the gaps to areas my husband could not finish alone, and focus on our media. With my expertise with numbers I handle all the logistics of the company.

Financial Condition

No operating history

The market in which we operate is highly competitive and could become increasingly competitive with new entrants. Bread competes with many other businesses, both large and small, on the basis of quality, price, location, and customer preference away from Gut-friendly Bread's core business or the inability to compete successfully against them could negatively affect Gut-friendly Bread's financial performance.

Reliance on Management

As a securities holder, you will not be able to participate in Gut-friendly Bread's management or vote on and/or regarding Gut-friendly Bread. Furthermore, if the founders or other key personnel of Gut-friendly Bread were to become unable to work, Gut-friendly Bread (and your investment) could suffer substantially.

Financial Forecasts Risks

The financial forecasts provided by us herein are reasonable forecasts by us based upon assumption of stable conditions and various assumptions regarding operations. The validity and accuracy of these assumptions will depend in large part on the success of Gut-friendly Bread and the key persons will have no control. Changes in assumptions or their underlying facts could affect the forecasts. To the extent that the assumed events do not occur, the outcome may vary significantly from the projections. There can be no assurance that the actual operating results will correspond to the forecasts provided herein. As a newly established entity and therefore has no operating history from which forecasts could be projected with any degree of certainty.

Inability to Sell Your Investment

The law prohibits you from selling your securities (except in certain very limited circumstances) for 12 months after the one-year period, a host of Federal and State securities laws may limit or restrict your ability to sell your securities. As a result, you will likely have difficulty finding a buyer because there will be no established market. Given these factors, you may not be able to sell your investment for its full term.

The Company Might Need More Capital

Gut-friendly Bread might need to raise more capital in the future to fund/expand operations, buy property and equipment, market its services, pay overhead and general administrative expenses, or a variety of other reasons. There is no assurance that additional capital will be available when needed, or that it will be available on terms that are not adverse to your interests as an investor. If we are unable to obtain additional funding when needed, it could be forced to delay its business plan or even cease operations.

Changes in Economic Conditions Could Hurt Gut-friendly Bread

Factors like global or national economic recessions, changes in interest rates, changes in credit markets, changes in consumer spending, declining employment, changes in real estate values, changes in tax policy, changes in political conditions, and other factors are unpredictable and could negatively affect Gut-friendly Bread's financial performance or ability to operate. If Gut-friendly Bread ceases operations due to the foregoing factors, it can not guarantee that it will be able to resume operations in the future.

Although Gut-friendly Bread will carry some insurance, Gut-friendly Bread may not carry enough insurance to business. Additionally, there are some kinds of risks that are very difficult or impossible to insure against, at least. Gut-friendly Bread could incur an uninsured loss that could damage its business.

Changes in Laws

Changes in laws or regulations, including but not limited to zoning laws, environmental laws, tax laws, consumer protection laws, antitrust laws, and health care laws, could negatively affect Gut-friendly Bread's financial performance or ability to operate. Any additional regulation on the industry could significantly negatively affect the business.

Conflict of Interest With Companies and Their Management

In many ways, your interests and the interests of Gut-friendly Bread's management will coincide: you both want the business to be successful as possible. However, your interests might be in conflict in other important areas, including these: You want to act conservative to make sure they are best equipped to repay the Note obligations, while Gut-friendly Bread may want to invest in the business. You would like to keep the compensation of managers low, while managers want to make it high.

Future Investors Might Have Superior Rights

If Gut-friendly Bread needs more capital in the future and takes on additional debt or other sources of financing, the new investors might have superior to yours. For example, they might have the right to be paid before you are, to receive larger distributions, to have management, or otherwise.

The Company is Not Subject to the Corporate Governance Requirements of the National Securities Exchanges

Any company whose securities are listed on a national stock exchange (for example, the New York Stock Exchange) is subject to a set of rules about corporate governance that are intended to protect investors. For example, the major U.S. stock exchange requires a company to have an audit committee made up entirely of independent members of the board of directors (i.e., directors with no material relationship to Gut-friendly Bread or management), which is responsible for monitoring Gut-friendly Bread's compliance with the listing requirements required to implement these and other investor protections.

You Have a Limited Upside

Notes include a maximum amount you can receive. You cannot receive more than that even if Gut-friendly Bread becomes very successful than your initial expectations.

You Do Have a Downside

Conversely, if Gut-friendly Bread fails to generate enough revenue, you could lose some or all of your money.

Payments and Return Are Unpredictable

Because your payments are based on the revenue of Gut-friendly Bread, and the revenue of Gut-friendly Bread is unpredictable, your payments are also unpredictable.

that the representative will do things you believe are wrong or misguided. If an event of default has occurred and appointed, all of the representative's reasonable expenses must be paid before any further payments are made.
