Troy Smith CTO & Co-Founder

💻 Troy is Cadenzo's techie. To put it lightly: there is nothing he can't build. He has worked as an engineer for NASA, Github, and as a full-stack software engineer at Hubspot.

LEAD INVESTOR

Elizabeth Wuller Executive Director, Holberton Tulsa

One of my favorite selling points for living in Tulsa, Oklahoma is that every night of the week there is live music at countless venues and bars in the city. These institutions are part of the very fabric of Tulsa - from historic Caine's Ballroom to my local watering-hole, the Mercury Lounge. And Tulsa's story is one that mirrors countless others across the U.S. However the pandemic highlighted how fragile the ecosystem around the music industry is and how much effort is required for these businesses to keep their doors open, even after just a few cancellations or weeks closed. As we look to rediscover live events and our favorite dive-bars, I believe the industry is ripe for change. Especially change that supports your neighborhood musicians and business owners. Cadenzo has a clear vision for building tools to better support and connect your favorite artists and venues to each other, enabling them to have the same stability and resources often only afforded to large-scale concert venues and arenas (at a fraction of the cost). With 7 million artists and an estimated 200,000 venues to serve, Cadenzo has the power to making live entertainment more accessible and also more stable for the music-enthusiasts like me to continue to enjoy. Not only does Cadenzo have a compelling product and go to market strategy, but they have the right team in place to make it happen. I'm proud to invest in this team as much as I am in their product.

Our Deck

Introducing Cadenzo: we make booking shows easy, fast, and fair.

cadenzo

Cadenzo is a marketplace that allows local artists and venues to book better shows faster. Our tech handles the hassles and logistics of booking shows so artists and venues can spend less time booking shows and more time building a business.

The Problem

Venues and artists desperately need a tool to free up their time.

Your favorite local venues and artists across the US are spending 30+ hours a month booking their shows. Why? Because they have never been given a tool to operationalize their booking. Instead, they are stuck piecing together tools like texting, email, and excel to manually book their shows, manage payments, and communicate with one another.

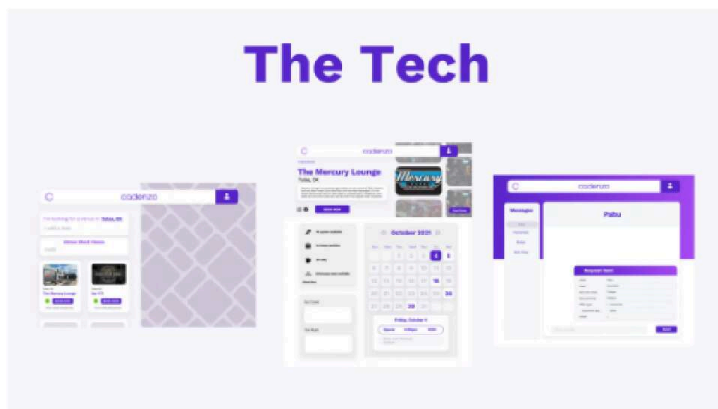

Our Solution

We bring booking into the 21st Century.

Cadenzo allows artists to become their own, efficient booking agents while providing venues with the tools to streamline the logistics of planning and managing their shows.

Less time booking means more time for artists and venues to build a business. Artists, go record that new single! Venues, run that marketing campaign to sell out your shows!

With Cadenzo, venues and artists can book a show in just a few clicks.

We turn booking a show from a string of 17 emails over a month (true story) to just a few clicks with our robust profiles, availability calendars, simple searching / filtering, and a chat portal that brings all booking communication to one location.

Customer Driven Founders

We are all graduates of the University of Oklahoma where we first began working together. Since then, we have participated in 3 accelerators where we have grown as founders and become obsessed with solving our customer's problems.

Here are our super powers:

Marc: selling Cadenzo, recruiting and culture building, ideation, crisis management.

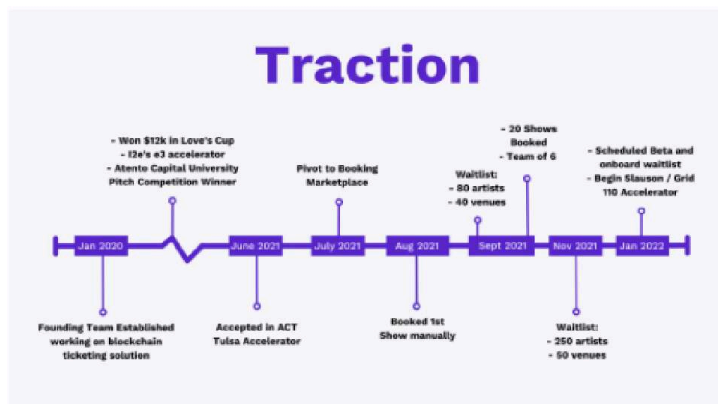

Andres: execution, dealing with the details, staying calm, receiving and implementing feedback.

Troy: building without limits, learning quickly, persuasion, ensuring a great time.

Disruption from the bottom up

We are hyper focused on small, local venues and artists. Helping this market will allow us to grow into bigger venues and bigger artists across the country and globe.

Progress that means something

We've tripled our waitlist of artists in just 3 months. In January of 2022, we plan to launch Beta and onboard our waitlist. Q2-Q4 will focus on 10-xing our users with a market by market approach using artists as micro-influencers and hosting launch parties for new venues.

What's a Cadenzo?
