Who is Digital Frontier Marketing?

Digital Frontier Marketing focuses its efforts on the long term well-being and expansion of its crypto currency clients and the management of its celebrity based NFT sales platform www.celebrium.com. Its primary services are designed to increase the willingness of the public and businesses to accept the client's currencies as well as purchase NFTs. In addition, DFM focuses on assisting its clients to gain broad public use of their currencies in retail outlets. DFM "does not" get involved in the direct promotion of ICOs (initial coin offerings) or sale of coins on behalf of our clients.

What is The Digital Frontier Marketing Story?

The digital currency industry is growing at a very fast rate in terms of the trading value of cryptocurrencies like Bitcoin and Ether. Current daily trading levels range as high as 80 billion dollars in volume a day. Within five years digital currency trading may reach ten to fifteen trillion dollars in annual trading volume. Retail providers are now taking steps to adopt the use of blockchain technologies in their product sales strategies.

NFTs, otherwise known as non fungible tokens or digital collectibles, is arguably the fastest growing industry in the history of commerce. From estimated sales of 150 million worldwide in 2020, NFTs sales reached 27 billion in 2021 and over 10 billion sales in January of 2022. With over 200 million memorabilia collectors and over 300 million cryptocurrency buyers, NFT's had a ready made market and worldwide infrastructure to trade NFTs. With the launch of Celebrium.com, DFM has entered the NFT space with a unique content distribution platform specializing in celebrities and influencers only. DFM is uniquely positioned to gain a first mover advantage in this space of digital currency awareness solutions and NFTs.

DFN Competition

Digital Frontier Marketing has yet to find a similar company involved in celebrity and PR services to assist its cryptocurrency clients and the sales of its own NFTs. Most of the companies involved in the digital currency industry are technology based. DFM is focused on a significant first mover advantage involving its business model to affect the price of its client coins.

Business Model

Our initial stage of growth revolves around gaining millions of crypto and digital coins as well as tokens for our services. Those services and the actions that we take are designed to increase coin value and trading volume. This will allow the company to liquidate coin holdings from time to time to cover operations and to distribute profits to our investors. Eventually DFM will begin to take digital currencies and cash in exchange for its services to fund operations. DFM also has begun the recruitment of celebrities and influencers to place NFTs on Celebrium. DFM is also involved in several massive list building projects which will be used to sell NFTs to.

Why Investors Love The DFN Plan

The Digital Frontier Marketing investor plan is simple: Distribute coins earned by DFM out to investors as quickly as possible and as often as possible. DFM wants investors to have liquidity in their investment through receipt of coins. After just one month the company has distributed over 10 million coins to its first round investors. Cash profits will also be distributed when available to do so on a quarterly basis.

DFM also is in the process of going public by the end of Spring 2022 to provide investors additional liquidity. The company plans on exploring strategic transactions including mergers, sale of business units to further increase the potential of investor success.

8. Discuss the material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky:

- The Company participates in a highly competitive market and increased competition may adversely affect its business.
- The demand for the Company's services depends in large part on our customers' acceptance of our service value. The Company's business, financial condition and results of operations may be harmed if our customers spend less on or are less successful in their activities.
- Failure to comply with existing and future regulatory requirements could adversely affect the Company's results of operations and financial condition.
- The Company's future results of operations are subject to fluctuations in the costs, availability, and suitability of the components of the services that the Company sells such as celebrity endorsement cost, web development cost, and public relations costs.
- The Company's business is complex and depends on maintaining good relationships with suppliers, customers and regulators; thus, we are dependent on key personnel who are knowledgeable and experienced concerning our business.
- The digital currency field including crypto currencies is fraught with regulatory uncertainties both inside the United States and overseas. The laws regarding the distribution and sales of digital currencies vary from one country to the next. Regulatory and legal issues within the digital currency sector pose a significant ongoing risk to the company.
- The Company has almost no operating or financial history.
- The principals of the Company have very limited experience with providing services to digital currency companies.
- If the digital currency units received by the Company are not accepted by the public, their value will be greatly reduced and they may have no value.
- Any digital currency units distributed by the Company may be difficult to market and may have to be held for an indeterminate time before they can be sold and there is no guarantee that the digital currency units will have any value.
- Because they will not have voting rights, investors will be relying entirely on the ability of the Management Members to accomplish the objectives of the Company.
- The Company anticipates offering additional non-voting Membership Interests and these additional non-voting Membership Interests will dilute the ownership percentage and affect the distributions to owners of non-voting Membership Interests.
- Even if this Offering is successful, we may need to raise additional capital in the future to continue operations, which may not be available on acceptable terms, or at all. Failure to obtain this necessary capital when needed may force us to delay, limit or terminate our product development efforts or other operations and there will be substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern.
- If we fail to maintain proper and effective internal control over financial reporting, our ability to produce accurate financial statements on a timely basis could be impaired and our reports to our members may be unreliable.
- If our competitors are able to develop and market products that are more effective or more affordable than ours, our commercial opportunities may be limited.

OFFERING STATEMENT

10,000 Class A Shares at $1 per Share
	# Of Units	Total Proceeds	Net Proceeds
Target Offering	10,000	$10,000	$9,200
Maximum Amount	1,000,000	$1,000,000	$920,000

- We will have broad discretion in the use of the net proceeds from this Offering and may not use them effectively.
- The demand for our products depends in part on our customers' acceptance of our products or services. Failure to provide quality products and services to our customers could have an adverse effect on our business and subject us to regulatory actions and costly litigation. Our business, financial condition and results of operations may be harmed if our customers spend less on or are less successful in these activities.
- We are subject to product and other liability risks that could adversely affect our results of operations, financial condition, liquidity and cash flows.
- We will be operating globally and will be subject to a number of economic, political and regulatory risks that are beyond our control.
- If we do not enhance our existing technology or introduce new technology or service offerings in a timely manner, our products may become obsolete over time and our revenue and profitability may decline.
- Our future results of operations are subject to fluctuations in the costs, availability, and suitability of the components of the products and services.
- Changes in market access in the United States or internationally could adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.
- Changes in currency regulatory laws can adversely affect the operations of the Company.
- Tax law changes or challenges to our tax positions could adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.
- Our business is complex, and we are dependent on key personnel who are knowledgeable and experienced concerning our business.
- We may in the future engage in acquisitions and other transactions that may complement or expand our business or divest of non-strategic businesses or assets. We may not be able to complete such transactions, and such transactions, if executed, pose significant risks and could have a negative effect on our operations.
- We may not be able to integrate previous or future acquisitions as intended and achieve all projected synergies or other cost savings.
- Our services may infringe on the intellectual property rights of third parties that could cause legal problems and legal expense.
- We are subject to labor and employment laws and regulations, which could increase our costs and restrict our operations in the future.

General Crowdfunding Risks

- Investments in startups and early-stage ventures are speculative and these enterprises often fail. Unlike an investment in a mature business where there is a track record of revenue and income, the success of a startup or early-stage venture often relies on the development of a new product or service that may or may not find a market. Investors should be able to afford and be prepared to lose their entire investment.
- Investors will be limited in their ability to resell their investment for the first year and may need to hold their investment for an indefinite period of time. Unlike investing in companies listed on a stock exchange where investors can quickly and easily trade securities on a market, investors may have to locate an interested buyer when they do seek to resell their crowdfunded investment.
- Once an investor makes an investment commitment for a crowdfunding offering, the investor will be committed to make that investment (unless they cancel their commitment within a specified period of time). As detailed in herein, the ability to cancel your commitment is limited.
- An investor's crowdfunding investment may purchase an equity stake in a startup. Unlike listed companies that are valued publicly through market-driven prices, the valuation of private companies, especially startups, is difficult and investors may risk overpaying for the equity stake they receive. In addition, there may be additional classes of equity with rights that are superior to the class of equity being sold through crowdfunding.

- The issuer must disclose information about the company, its business plan, the offering and its anticipated use of proceeds, among other things. An early-stage company may be able to provide only limited information about its business plan and operations because it does not have fully developed operations or a long history to provide more disclosure. The company is also only obligated to file information annually regarding its business, including financial statements. A publicly listed company, in contrast, is required to file annual and quarterly reports and promptly disclose certain events—continuing disclosure that investors can use to evaluate the status of their investment. In contrast, investors may have only limited continuing disclosure about their crowdfunding investment.
- An early-stage investment is also an investment in the entrepreneur or management of the company. Being able to execute on the business plan is often an important factor in whether the business is viable and successful. Investors should also be aware that a portion of their investment may fund the compensation of the company's employees, including its management. Investors should carefully review any disclosure regarding the company's use of proceeds.
- In light of the relative ease with which early-stage companies can raise funds through crowdfunding, it may be the case that certain opportunities turn out to be money-losing fraudulent schemes. As with other investments, there is no guarantee that crowdfunding investments will be immune from fraud.
- Many successful companies partially attribute their early success to the guidance of professional early-stage investors (e.g., angel investors and venture capital firms). These investors often negotiate for seats on the company's board of directors and play an important role through their resources, contacts and experience in assisting early-stage companies in executing on their business plans. An early-stage company primarily financed through crowdfunding may not have the benefit of such professional investors.

Development Stage Business

Digital Currency Growth, LLC (the "Company") was formed on September 19, 2017 in the State of Florida. The Company is a developmental stage company and has just commenced operations or generated revenue. Accordingly, the Company has almost no history upon which an evaluation of its prospects and future performance can be made. Furthermore, some Officers and Key Employees have little to no operating experience or history in the planned operations of the Company. Past performance of any Officer or Key Employee or the success of the President in any similar venture is no assurance of future success.

The Company's proposed operations are subject to all business risks associated with new enterprises. The likelihood of the Company's success must be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications, and delays frequently encountered in connection with the expansion of a business, operation in a competitive industry, and the continued development of advertising, promotions and a corresponding customer base. There is a possibility that the Company could sustain losses in the future or fail to even operate profitably.

Implications of Being an Emerging Growth Company and a Smaller Reporting Company.

We qualify as an "emerging growth company" as defined in the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act, or JOBS Act, enacted in April 2012. An "emerging growth company" may take advantage of reduced reporting requirements that are otherwise applicable to public companies. These provisions include, but are not limited to:

- Being permitted to present only two years of audited financial statements and only two years of related Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations in the documents incorporated by reference into this Memorandum;
- Not being required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as amended, or the Sarbanes-Oxley Act;

- Reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in our periodic reports, proxy statements and registration statements; and
- Exemptions from the requirements of holding a nonbinding advisory vote on executive compensation and Unit Holder approval of any golden parachute payments not previously approved.

We are also a “smaller reporting company” as defined in Exchange Act and have elected to take advantage of certain of the scaled disclosures available to smaller reporting companies.

We may elect to take advantage of other reduced reporting requirements in future filings. As a result, the information that we provide to our Unit Holders may be different than you might receive from other companies in which you hold equity interests.

The JOBS Act provides that an emerging growth company can take advantage of an extended transition period for complying with new or revised accounting standards. We have irrevocably elected not to avail ourselves of this exemption and, therefore, we will be subject to the same new or revised accounting standards as other public companies that are not emerging growth companies.

Limited Operating History and Capital

Digital Currency Growth, LLC has almost no operating history upon which investors may base an evaluation of its performance; therefore, the Company is still subject to all of the risks incident to the creation and development of a new business. The Company plans to conduct closings of sales of its Membership Units as subscriptions are received. If less than $250,000 is received from the sale of its Membership Units, the Company may have insufficient cash to implement its business plans and investors who purchase its Membership Units shall be at heightened risk of loss of their investments. Bob take a look at this paragraph.

General Economic Conditions

The financial success of the Company may be sensitive to adverse changes in general economic conditions in the United States, such as recession, inflation, unemployment, and interest rates, and overseas, such as currency fluctuations. Such changing conditions could reduce demand in the marketplace for the Company’s products. Management believes that the impending growth of the market, mainstream market acceptance and the targeted product line of the Company will insulate the Company from excessive reduced demand. Nevertheless, the Company has no control over these changes.

Adverse changes in global and domestic economic conditions or a worsening of the United States economy, especially the retail and housing economies, could materially adversely affect us. Our sales and performance depend significantly on consumer confidence and discretionary spending, which are still under pressure from United States and global economic conditions. A worsening of the economic downturn and decrease in consumer spending, especially discretionary spending for retail clothing, may adversely impact our sales, ability to market our services and products, build customer loyalty, or otherwise implement our business strategy and further diversify the geographical concentration of our operations.

Digital Currency Growth, LLC has not established any revenues or operations that provides financial stability in the long term and without significant revenues the Company will not realize its plans on the projected timetable in order to reach sustainable or profitable operations. Any material deviation from the Company's timetable could require that the Company seek additional capital. Additional capital may not be available at reasonable cost or that it would not materially dilute the investment of investors in this Offering if additional capital is obtained.

Managing Growth

The Company’s anticipated growth could place a significant strain on the Company's management and operational and financial resources. Effective management of the anticipated growth shall require expanding the Company's management and financial controls, hiring additional appropriate personnel as required and developing additional expertise by existing management personnel. However, the Company may not be able to effectively implement these, or other measures designed

10,000 Class A Shares at $1 per Share
	# Of Units	Total Proceeds	Net Proceeds
Target Offering	10,000	$10,000	$9,200
Maximum Amount	1,000,000	$1,000,000	$920,000

to increase the Company's capability to manage such anticipated growth or to do so in a timely and cost-effective manner. Moreover, management of growth is especially challenging for a Company with a short operating history and limited financial resources and the failure to effectively manage growth could have a material adverse effect on the Company's operations.

Dependence on Key Personnel and Management

In the early stages of development, the Company's business will be significantly dependent on the Company's management team. The Company's success will be particularly dependent upon its officers. The loss of any one of these individuals could have a material adverse effect on the Company. Although the Company does not currently maintain a key-man life insurance policy insuring the life of its key executives, the Company intends to apply for such a life insurance policy upon the success of this Offering.

Inadequacy of Funds

Gross offering proceeds of $1,000,000 may be realized. Management believes that such proceeds will capitalize and sustain the Company sufficiently to allow for the implementation of the Company's business plans. If only a fraction of this Offering is sold, or if certain assumptions contained in management's business plans prove to be incorrect, the Company may have inadequate funds to fully develop its business and may need additional financing or other capital investment to fully implement the Company's business plans.

Risks Associated with Expansion

The Company plans on expanding its business through the introduction of a sophisticated and aggressive marketing campaign. Any expansion of operations the Company may undertake will entail risks. Such actions may involve specific operational activities, which may negatively impact the profitability of the Company. Consequently, Unit Holders must assume the risk that (i) such expansion may ultimately involve expenditures of funds beyond the resources available to the Company at that time, and (ii) management of such expanded operations may divert management's attention and resources away from its existing operations, all of which factors may have a material adverse effect on the Company's present and prospective business activities.

Customer Base and Market Acceptance

While the Company believes it can further develop the potential customer base, and develop a new customer base through its marketing and sales programs, the inability of the Company to further develop such a customer base could have a material adverse effect on the Company. Although the Company believes that its product matrix and its interactive website offer advantages over competitive companies and products, the Company's products and website may not attain a degree of market acceptance on a sustained basis or generate revenues sufficient for sustained profitable operations.

Changes in Consumer Behavior Could Reduce Profitability

The Company's success depends on its ability to successfully predict and adapt to changing behavior outside, as well as inside the United States. The Company will be adversely affected if the acceptance of digital currency by vendors does not develop in a timely manner.

Competition

Competition for the Company and its services will become more intense.

While there does exist some current competition, Management believes that the Company's services are unique in nature while offering greater value. However, there is the possibility that new competitors could seize upon the Company's business model and be better capitalized than the Company, which could give them a significant advantage. There is the possibility that the competitors could capture significant market share of the Company's intended market.

10,000 Class A Shares at $1 per Share
	# Of Units	Total Proceeds	Net Proceeds

Maximum Amount	1,000,000	$1,000,000	$920,000

Potential Fluctuations in Quarterly Revenue

Significant annual and quarterly fluctuations in the Company's revenue may be caused by, among other factors, the volume of revenues generated by the Company, the timing of new product or service announcements and releases by the Company and its competitors in the marketplace, and general economic conditions. The Company's level of revenues and profits, in any particular fiscal period, may be significantly higher or lower than in other fiscal periods, including comparable fiscal periods. The Company's expense levels are based, in part, on its expectations as to future revenues.

As a result, if future revenues are below expectations, net income or loss may be disproportionately affected by a reduction in revenues, as any corresponding reduction in expenses may not be proportionate to the reduction in revenues. As a result, the Company believes that period-to-period comparisons of its results of operations may not necessarily be meaningful and should not be relied upon as indications of future performance.

Risks of Borrowing

If the Company incurs indebtedness, a portion of its cash flow will have to be dedicated to the payment of principal and interest on such indebtedness. Typical loan agreements also might contain restrictive covenants, which may impair the Company's operating flexibility. Such loan agreements would also provide for default under certain circumstances, such as failure to meet certain financial covenants. A default under a loan agreement could result in the loan becoming immediately due and payable and, if unpaid, a judgment in favor of such lender which would be senior to the rights of Unit Holders of the Company. A judgment creditor would have the right to foreclose on any of the Company's assets resulting in a material adverse effect on the Company's business, operating results or financial condition.

Unanticipated Obstacles to Execution of the Business Plan

The Company's business plans may change significantly. Many of the Company's potential business endeavors are capital intensive and may be subject to statutory or regulatory requirements. Management believes that the Company's chosen activities and strategies are achievable in light of current economic and legal conditions with the skills, background, and knowledge of the Company's principals and advisors. Management reserves the right to make significant modifications to the Company's stated strategies depending on future events.

Management Discretion as to Use of Proceeds

The net proceeds from this Offering will be used for the purposes described under Item 2.0 "Use of Proceeds." The Company reserves the right to use the funds obtained from this Offering for other similar purposes not presently contemplated which it deems to be in the best interests of the Company and its Unit Holders in order to address changed circumstances or opportunities. As a result of the foregoing, the success of the Company will be substantially dependent upon the discretion and judgment of Management with respect to application and allocation of the net proceeds of this Offering. Investors for the Units offered hereby will be entrusting their funds to the Company's Management, upon whose judgment and discretion the investors must depend.

Lack of Management Control by Investors

The Company's Class B Unit Holders own 90% of the Company's outstanding Membership Units and have all of the voting rights in Company and upon completion of this Offering, the Company's Class A Unit Holders will still own 90% of the issued and outstanding Membership Units and will be able to continue to control the Company. Investors will become Class A non-voting Unit Holders of the Company but cannot take part in the management or control of the Company. The Company and its officers have wide latitude in making investment decisions. The Investors do not have such rights. The Investors will not have the ability to control the Company by a Unit Holder vote. The Company may require any Unit Holder at any time, to withdraw, in whole or in part, from the Company.

Return of Profits

The Company intends to retain some of its initial future earnings to fund operations and expand the Company's business. The Company also intends to distribute a portion of its coin earnings to Unit Holders on a periodic basis. The A Unit Holder will be entitled to receive profits proportionate to the amount of Membership Units held by that Unit Holder.

Target Offering	10,000	$10,000	$9,200

Notwithstanding the above the Company plans on providing a preferred distribution of its coin earnings that it elects to distribute at a rate of at least 50% of coins to all members of the A Class until each and every Unit Holder has received 35,000 coins for every $1000 they have invested.

The Company's Board of Directors will determine a profit distribution plan based upon the Company's results of operations, financial condition, capital requirements and other circumstances.

No Assurances of Protection for Proprietary Rights; Reliance on Trade Secrets

In certain cases, the Company may rely on trade secrets to protect intellectual property, proprietary technology and processes, which the Company has acquired, developed or may develop in the future. There is a risk that secrecy obligations may not be honored or that others will not independently develop similar or superior products or technology. The protection of intellectual property and/or proprietary technology through claims of trade secret status has been the subject of increasing claims and litigation by various companies both in order to protect proprietary rights as well as for competitive reasons even where proprietary claims are unsubstantiated. The prosecution of proprietary claims or the defense of such claims is costly and uncertain given the uncertainty and rapid development of the principles of law pertaining to this area. The Company, in common with other firms, may also be subject to claims by other parties with regard to the use of intellectual property, technology information and data, which may be deemed proprietary to others.

Legal and Regulatory Compliance

Failure to comply with applicable laws and regulations could harm our business and financial results. The Company intends to develop and implement policies and procedures designed to comply with all applicable federal and state laws, accounting and reporting requirements, tax rules and other regulations and requirements, including but not limited to those imposed by the SEC.

In addition to potential damage to our reputation and brand, failure to comply with the various laws and regulations, as well as changes in laws and regulations or the manner in which they are interpreted or applied, may result in civil and criminal liability, damages, fines and penalties, increased cost of regulatory compliance and restatements of our financial statements. Future laws or regulations, or the cost of complying with such laws, regulations or requirements, could also adversely affect our business and results of operations.

Projections: Forward Looking Information

Management has prepared projections regarding the Company's anticipated financial performance. The Company's projections are hypothetical and based upon a presumed financial performance of the Company, the addition of a sophisticated and well-funded marketing plan and other factors influencing the business of the Company. The projections are based on Management's best estimate of the probable results of operations of the Company, based on present circumstances, and have not been reviewed by the Company's independent accountants or auditors. These projections are based on several assumptions, set forth therein, which Management believes are reasonable. Some assumptions, upon which the projections are based, however, invariably will not materialize due to the inevitable occurrence of unanticipated events and circumstances beyond Management's control. Therefore, actual results of operations will vary from the projections, and such variances may be material. Assumptions regarding future changes in sales and revenues are necessarily speculative in nature. In addition, projections do not and cannot take into account such factors as general economic conditions, unforeseen regulatory changes, the entry into the Company's market of additional competitors, the terms and conditions of future capitalization, and other risks inherent to the Company's business. While Management believes that the projections accurately reflect possible future results of the Company's operations, those results cannot be guaranteed.

Technology Risks

Rapid Technological Changes May Adversely Affect the Company's Business

The ability of the Company to remain competitive may depend in part upon its ability to develop new and enhanced new products, services or distribution and to introduce these products or services in a timely and cost-effective manner. In

10,000 Class A Shares at $1 per Share
	# Of Units	Total Proceeds	Net Proceeds
Target Offering	10,000	$10,000	$9,200
Maximum Amount	1,000,000	$1,000,000	$920,000

addition, product and service introductions or enhancements by the Company's competitors, or the use of other technologies could cause a decline in sales or loss of market acceptance of the Company's existing products and services.

The success of the Company in developing, introducing, selling and supporting new and enhanced products or services depends upon a variety of factors, including timely and efficient completion of service and product design and development, as well as timely and efficient implementation of product and service offerings. Because new product and service commitments may be made well in advance of sales, new product or service decisions must anticipate changes in the industries served. The Company may not be successful in selecting, developing, and marketing new products and services or in enhancing its existing products or services. Failure to do so successfully may adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition and results of operations.

Dependence on Computer Infrastructure

The Company relies on Internet and computer technology to market and sell its products and services. Therefore, an Internet or major computer failure would adversely affect the performance of the Company. The Company presently has limited redundancy systems, relies on third party back up facilities and only a limited disaster recovery plan. Despite the implementation of network security measures by the Company, its servers may be vulnerable to computer viruses, physical or electronic break-ins and similar disruptive problems which could lead to interruptions, delays or stoppages in service to users of the Company's services and products which could cause a material adverse effect on the Company's business, operations and financial condition.

Website Security Risks

If the security measures the Company plans to use to protect the personal information of its website users, such as credit card numbers, are ineffective it could result in a reduction in revenues from decrease customer confidence, an increase in operating expenses, as well as possible liability and compliance costs.

Any breach in the Company's website security, whether intentional or unintentional, could cause our users to lose their confidence in our website and as a result stop using the website. This would result in reduced revenues and increased operating expenses, which would impair the Company from achieving profitability. Additionally, breaches of our users' personal information could expose the Company to possible liability as any involved user, or users may choose to sue the Company. Breaches resulting in disclosure of users' personal information may also result in regulatory fines for noncompliance with online privacy rules and regulations.

The Company plans to rely on encryption and authentication technology licensed from third parties whose area of expertise is to provide secure transmission of confidential information.

We believe that as a result of advances in computer capabilities, new discoveries in the field of cryptography and other developments, a compromise or breach of our security precautions may occur. A compromise in the Company's proposed security for its computer systems could severely harm our business because a party who is able to circumvent our proposed security measures could misappropriate proprietary information, including customer credit card information, or cause interruptions in the operation of our website. The Company may be required to spend significant funds and other resources to protect against the threat of security breaches or to alleviate problems caused by these breaches. However, protection may not be available at a reasonable price, or at all. Concerns regarding the security of e-commerce and the privacy of users may also inhibit the growth of the Internet as a means of conducting commercial transactions in general. The Company's users may have these concerns as well and this may result in a reduction in revenues and increase in our operating expenses, which would prevent us from achieving profitability.

Website Functionality

If the software on the Company's website contains undetected errors, the Company could lose the confidence of users, resulting in loss of customers and a reduction of revenue.

The Company's online systems, including but not limited to its websites, software applications and online sales for services and products, could contain undetected errors or "bugs" that could adversely affect their performance. The Company plans to regularly update and enhance all sales, websites and other online systems, as well as introduce new versions of our software products and applications. The occurrence of errors in any of these may cause the Company to lose market share, damage our reputation and brand name, and reduce our revenues.

Risks Related To The Offering

Limited Transferability and Liquidity

To satisfy the requirements of certain exemptions from registration under the Securities Act, and to conform with applicable state Securities laws, each investor must acquire his/her/its Securities for investment purposes only and not with a view towards distribution. Consequently, certain conditions of the Securities Act may need to be satisfied prior to any sale, transfer, or other disposition of the Securities. Some of these conditions may include a minimum holding period, availability of certain reports, including financial statements from the Company, limitations on the percentage of Securities sold and the manner in which they are sold. The Company can prohibit any sale, transfer or disposition unless it receives an opinion of counsel provided at the holder's expense, in a form satisfactory to the Company, stating that the proposed sale, transfer or other disposition will not result in a violation of applicable federal or state Securities laws and regulations. No public market exists for the Securities and no market is expected to develop. Consequently, owners of the Securities may have to hold their investment indefinitely and may not be able to liquidate their investments in the Company or pledge them as collateral for a loan in the event of an emergency.

Broker - Dealer Sales of Securities

The Company's Securities are not presently included for trading on any exchange, and there can be no assurances that the Company will ultimately be registered on any exchange. The NASDAQ Stock Market, Inc. has recently enacted certain changes to the entry and maintenance criteria for listing eligibility on the NASDAQ Small Cap Market. The entry standards require at least $4 million in net tangible assets or $750,000 net income in two of the last three years. The proposed entry standards would also require a public float of at least $1 million shares, $5 million value of public float, a minimum bid price of $2.00 per share, at least three market makers, and at least 300 members. The maintenance standards (as opposed to entry standards) require at least $2 million in net tangible assets or $500,000 in net income in two of the last three years, a public float of at least 500,000 shares, a $1 million market value of public float, a minimum bid price of $1.00 per share, at least two market makers, and at least 300 members.

The Company may never qualify for inclusion on the NASDAQ System or any other trading market until such time as the Principal holders of Membership Units deem it necessary. As a result, the Company's Membership Units are covered by a Securities and Exchange Commission rule that opposes additional sales practice requirements on broker-dealers who sell such Securities to persons other than established customers and accredited investors. For transactions covered by the rule, the broker-dealer must make a special suitability determination for the purchaser and receive the purchaser's written agreement to the transaction prior to the sale. Consequently, the rule may affect the ability of broker-dealers to sell the Company's Securities and will also affect the ability of holders of the Securities to sell their Securities in the secondary market.

Long Term Nature of the Investment

An investment in the Securities may be long term and illiquid. As discussed above, the offer and sale of the Securities will not be registered under the Securities Act or any foreign or state Securities laws by reason of exemptions from such registration, which depends in part on the investment intent of the investors. Prospective investors will be required to represent in writing that they are purchasing the Securities for their own account for long-term investment and not with a view towards resale or distribution. Accordingly, purchasers of Securities must be willing and able to bear the economic risk of their investment for an indefinite period of time. It is likely that investors will not be able to liquidate their investment in the event of an emergency.

Compliance with Securities Laws

The Securities are being offered for sale in reliance upon certain exemptions from the registration requirements of the Securities Act, applicable Florida State Securities Laws, and other applicable Securities laws. If the sale of Securities were to fail to qualify for these exemptions, purchasers may seek rescission of their purchases of Securities. If a number of purchasers were to obtain rescission, the Company would face significant financial demands, which could adversely affect the Company as a whole, as well as any non-rescinding purchasers.

Determination of the Offering Price

The offering price of the Membership Units has been arbitrarily established by the Company, considering such matters as the state of the Company's business development, the general condition of the industry in which the Company operates, the amount of funds sought from this Offering and the number of shares the Board of Directors is willing to issue in order to raise such funds. Accordingly, there is no relationship between the price of the Offering and the assets, earnings or book value of the Company, the market value of the Company's Membership Units or any other recognized criteria of value. As such, the price does not necessarily indicate the current value of the Company's Membership Units and should not be regarded as an indication of any future market price of the Company's Securities.

Lack of Firm Underwriter

The Securities are offered on a "best efforts" basis by the Company without compensation. The Company may, in the future, engage the services of certain FINRA registered broker-dealers to market the Securities on a "best efforts" basis which enter into Participating Broker-Dealer Agreements with the Company; however, the Company has not entered into any agreement with any FINRA registered broker-dealer. Accordingly, there is no assurance that the Company, or any FINRA broker-dealer, will sell the maximum Securities offered or any lesser amount.

Because there is no public trading market for our Membership Units, you may not be able to resell your Units.

We intend to register all Units sold through this offering. We intend to apply to have our Membership Units quoted on the OTC Markets or like service. This process takes at least 60 days and the application must be made on our behalf by a market maker. Our Securities may be listed or traded only to the extent that there is interest by broker-dealers in acting as a market maker. Despite our best efforts, it may not be able to convince any broker/dealers to act as market makers and make quotations on the OTC Markets or like service. We may consider pursuing a listing on the OTC Markets or like service after this registration becomes effective and we have completed our offering.

If our Membership Units become listed and a market for the Securities develops, the actual price of our Securities will be determined by prevailing market prices at the time of the sale.

A market for our Membership Units may not develop. Even if a market develops for our Membership Units, the trading of Securities on the OTC Markets or like service is often sporadic and investors may have difficulty buying and selling our Securities or obtaining market quotations for them, which may have a negative effect on the market price of our Membership Units. You may not be able to sell your Securities at their purchase price or at any price at all. Accordingly, you may have difficulty reselling any Securities you purchase from the selling security holders.

Investing in our company is highly speculative and could result in the entire loss of your investment.

Purchasing the offered Securities is highly speculative and involves significant risk. The offered Securities should not be purchased by any person who cannot afford to lose their entire investment. Our business objectives are also speculative, and it is possible that we would be unable to accomplish them. Our Security Holders may be unable to realize a substantial or any return on their purchase of the offered Securities and may lose their entire investment. For this reason, each prospective purchaser of the offered Securities should read this Memorandum and all of its exhibits carefully and consult with their attorney, business and/or investment advisor.

Investing in our company may result in an immediate loss because buyers will pay more for our Membership Units than what the pro rata portion of the assets are worth.

Target Offering	10,000	$10,000	$9,200
Maximum Amount	1,000,000	$1,000,000	$920,000

We have only been recently formed and have only a limited operating history with limited earnings; therefore, the price of the offered Securities is not based on any data. The offering price and other terms and conditions regarding our Securities have been arbitrarily determined and do not bear any relationship to assets, earnings, book value or any other objective criteria of value. No investment banker, appraiser or other independent third party has been consulted concerning the offering price for the Securities or the fairness of the offering price used for the Securities. The arbitrary offering price of $1.00 per Unit as determined herein is substantially higher than the net tangible book value per Unit of our Membership Units. Our assets do not substantiate a Unit price of $1.00 per Unit. This premium in share price applies to the terms of this offering. The offering price will not change for the duration of the offering even if we obtain a listing on any exchange or become quoted on the OTC Markets.

We have 5,000,000 Membership Units authorized of which only 374,150 Units are currently issued and outstanding and only maximum of 1,444,150 Units will be issued and outstanding after this offering terminates. Our management could, with the consent of the existing Unit Holders, issue substantially more Units, causing a large dilution in the equity position of our current Unit Holders.

If we file for or are forced into bankruptcy protection, investors will lose their entire investment.

If we file for bankruptcy protection or a petition for involuntary bankruptcy is filed by creditors against us, your funds will become part of the bankruptcy estate and administered according to the bankruptcy laws. As such, you will lose your investment and your funds will be used to pay creditors.

In the event that our Securities are traded, they may trade under $5.00 per Unit, and thus will be considered a penny stock. Trading penny stocks has many restrictions and these restrictions could severely affect the price and liquidity of our Units.

In the event that our Securities are traded, and our Securities trade below $5.00 per Unit, our Securities would be known as a “penny stock”, which is subject to various regulations involving disclosures to be given to you prior to the purchase of any penny stock. The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) has adopted regulations which generally define a “penny stock” to be any equity security that has a market price of less than $5.00 per Unit, subject to certain exceptions. Depending on market fluctuations, our Membership Units could be considered to be a “penny stock”. A penny stock is subject to rules that impose additional sales practice requirements on broker/dealers who sell these Securities to persons other than established customers and accredited investors. For transactions covered by these rules, the broker/dealer must make a special suitability determination for the purchase of these Securities. In addition, he must receive the purchaser’s written consent to the transaction prior to the purchase. He must also provide certain written disclosures to the purchaser. Consequently, the “penny stock” rules may restrict the ability of broker/dealers to sell our Securities, and may negatively affect the ability of holders of our Membership Units to resell them.

These disclosures require you to acknowledge that you understand the risks associated with buying penny stocks and that you can absorb the loss of your entire investment. Penny stocks are low priced Securities that do not have a very high trading volume. Consequently, the price of the stock is often volatile, and you may not be able to buy or sell the stock when you want to.

We have established a minimum offering of our Membership Units.

Because there is a minimum offering of our Membership Units, purchasers in this offering may be one of a few to purchase our Membership Units and management’s plans for the offering proceeds may not be met in which case the Company may be forced to curtail or cease its activities which would likely result in the loss to investors of all or a substantial portion of their investments.

Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”) sales practice requirements may also limit your ability to buy and sell our Membership Units, which could depress the price of our Units.

FINRA rules require broker-dealers to have reasonable grounds for believing that an investment is suitable for a customer before recommending that investment to the customer. Prior to recommending speculative low-priced Securities to their non-institutional customers, broker-dealers must make reasonable efforts to obtain information about the customer's financial status, tax status and investment objectives, among other things. Under interpretations of these rules, FINRA believes that there is a high probability such speculative low-priced Securities will not be suitable for at least some customers. Thus, FINRA requirements make it more difficult for broker-dealers to recommend that their customers buy our Membership Units, which may limit your ability to buy and sell our Units, have an adverse effect on the market for our Units, and thereby depress our Unit price.

You may face significant restriction on the resale of your Securities due to state "Blue Sky" laws.

Each state has its own Securities laws, often called "blue sky" laws, which (1) limit sales of Securities to a state's residents unless the Securities are registered in that state or qualify for an exemption from registration, and (2) govern the reporting requirements for broker-dealers doing business directly or indirectly in the state. Before a security is sold in a state, there must be a registration in place to cover the transaction, or it must be exempt from registration. The applicable broker-dealer must also be registered in that state.

We do not know whether our Securities will be registered or exempt from registration under the laws of any state. A determination regarding registration will be made by those broker-dealers, if any, who agree to serve as market makers for our Membership Units. We have not yet applied to have our Securities registered in any state and will not do so until we receive expressions of interest from investors resident in specific states after they have viewed this Memorandum. We will initially focus our offering in the State of Washington and will rely on exemptions found under Washington Law. There may be significant state blue-sky law restrictions on the ability of investors to sell, and on purchasers to buy, our Securities. You should therefore consider the resale market for our Membership Units to be limited, as you may be unable to resell your Units without the significant expense of state registration or qualification.

Need for Additional Financing

Assuming all Securities are sold in this Offering, we believe that the net proceeds from this agreement, together with its projected cash flow from operations, shall be sufficient to fund the operations of the Company as currently conducted for up to 18 months. Such belief, however, cannot give rise to an assumption that the Company's cost estimates are accurate or that unforeseen events would not occur that would require the Company to seek additional funding to meet its operational needs. In addition, the Company may not generate sufficient cash flow from operations to implement the Company's business objectives. As a result, the Company may require substantial additional financing in order to implement its business objectives.

The Company may not be able to obtain additional funding when needed, or that such funding, if available, shall be available on terms acceptable to the Company. In the event that the Company's operations do not generate sufficient cash flow, or the Company cannot acquire additional funds if and when needed, the Company may be forced to curtail or cease its activities which would likely result in the loss to investors of all or a substantial portion of their investments.

Limited Protection of Proprietary Rights; Potential Costs of Enforcement

The ability of the Company to compete effectively with other companies could depend, in part, on its ability to create and/or maintain the proprietary nature of its business method. We intend to apply for all applicable forms of intellectual property protection immediately upon receipt of funding, and the Company's success shall also depend, in part, on its ability to obtain this protection and then enforce the intellectual property protection for these assets in the United States and other countries. The Company, in such circumstances, may file applications for patents, copyrights and trademarks, as management deems appropriate; however, the protections offered by any intellectual property rights issued or licensed by the Company may not be available.

Our competitors, many of whom have substantial resources and substantial investments in competing technologies, may seek to apply for and obtain patents that shall prevent, limit or interfere with the Company's ability to make and sell its products and or services. In addition, the laws of certain countries would not protect the Company's proprietary rights to the same extent as do the laws of the United States. The defense and prosecution of patent suits may be both costly and time consuming even if the outcome is favorable to the Company. An adverse outcome could subject the Company to significant liabilities to third parties, require disputed rights to be licensed from third parties, or require the Company to cease from selling certain of its products.

The Company will also rely on proprietary technology such as customer analytics and business methods such as our sales process and management systems. Other companies may independently develop the same or similar technology, or otherwise obtain access to the Company's proprietary technology. Confidentiality agreements entered into by the Company's employees, agents, advisors, consultants and associates as well, as other staff, may provide meaningful protection for the Company's trade secrets, know-how or other proprietary information in the event of any unauthorized use or disclosure of such trade secrets, know-how or other proprietary information.

Attraction and Retention of Qualified Personnel

The ability of the Company to realize its objectives shall be dependent on its ability to attract and retain additional, qualified personnel. Competition for such personnel can be intense, and the Company's results may adversely affect the Company's ability to attract and/or retain qualified personnel. Furthermore, the Company plans on maintaining key-man life insurance on all senior management and to require all personnel to enter into confidentiality agreements as a condition of employment. The Company's management team has entered into employment agreements that include non-compete and confidentiality requirements. However, such agreements may not fully protect the Company from competitive injury if any of these individuals leave the Company.

Risks Related to Ownership of Our Membership Units

We Are an Emerging Growth Company

The reduced disclosure requirements applicable to emerging growth companies may make our Membership Units less attractive to investors. We are an emerging growth company as defined in the JOBS Act. For as long as we continue to be an emerging growth company, we intend to take advantage of some of the exemptions from the reporting requirements applicable to other public companies. It is possible that investors will find our Membership Units less attractive as a result of our reliance on these exemptions. If so, there may be a less active trading market for our Membership Units and our Unit price may be more volatile.

Risks Associated with Financial Projections

Our financial projections are based upon assumptions that the Company believes to be reasonable. Such assumptions may, however, be incomplete or inaccurate, and unanticipated events and circumstances may occur. For these reasons, actual results achieved during the periods covered may be materially and adversely different.

Even if the assumptions underlying our plans prove to be correct, the Company may incur substantial operating losses in attaining its goals. The Company's plans are based on the premise that the existing consumer demand for the Company's products and services shall continue. However, if any of the assumptions underlying its plans prove to be incorrect the Company will not realize its business objectives.

Investors should be aware that no independent market studies have been conducted by the Company regarding its business plan, nor are any such studies currently planned.

Our CEO Has Control over Key Decision Making

Our founders Robert Cefail, Anatolia Cefail, and Linda Batdorf own all of the Class B Units that have the voting rights in the Company. As a result, these four parties have the ability to control the management and affairs of the Company.

As a board member and officer, these four parties owe a fiduciary duty to our Unit Holders and must act in good faith in a manner he/she reasonably believes to be in the best interests of our Unit Holders.

Minimum Offering

The Company has established a minimum offering of 20,000 Units must be sold by the Company in order to move forward with our business plan. The Company may not raise sufficient funds in this Offering to carry out its business plan as proposed, or that the net proceeds from the initial subscriptions for Units shall be in an amount sufficient to enable the Company to continue operations in any meaningful manner.

Best Efforts Offering

The Company's Membership Units are offered by the Company on a "best efforts" basis. No individual, firm or corporation has agreed in advance to purchase any of the offered Units. All of the Membership Units may not be sold and the Company may have to cease operations putting investor's capital at risk.

Distribution Policy

Company management, in its sole discretion, may determine from time to time to declare and pay distributions out of any funds legally available therefore including digital currencies generated from its services.

No distributions to purchasers of our Securities are assured, nor are any returns on, or of, a purchaser's investment guaranteed. Cash distributions are subject to our ability to generate positive cash flow from operations. Digital currency distribution are not necessarily tied to positive cash flow. All distributions are further subject to the discretion of Company management. It is possible that we may have cash available for distributions, but management could determine that the reservation, and not distribution, of such cash by our Company would be in our best interest.

Unit Holders are only entitled to distributions or distributions proportionate to their shares of Membership Units (Ownership) when and if declared by the Company's Board of Directors out of funds legally available therefore except as described above regarding initial preferred distribution. Future distribution policies are subject to the discretion of the Board of Directors of the Company and will depend upon a number of factors, including among other things, the capital requirements and the financial condition of the Company.

Basis for Distributions

Our Company's ability, and our Class B Unit Holders' decisions, to issue distributions to our Unit Holders will be based upon the consolidated operating results of our Company and our subsidiaries. Although our Board of Directors has discretion over whether to declare and pay distributions to our Unit Holders, our Board of Directors does not intend, and has no reason to withhold distributions from our Unit Holders, except as may be necessary to fund reserves for our Company, or our subsidiaries, as deemed appropriate by our Board of Directors or required by any financing arrangements we may enter into.

Distributions and Reinvestment

The Company does not intend that any cash distributions that will be paid to the Members out of the Company's current cash earnings and profits, but rather that such income will be reinvested. Potential investors should keep this limitation in mind when determining whether or not an investment in the Company is suitable for their particular circumstances. The Company reserves the right to change such policy without the consent of the Members and in the event the Company changes its policy regarding distributions or distributions such distributions or distributions may be made in cash or in kind. Bob take a look at this paragraph.

The foregoing description is general and is not intended to be exhaustive. Investors must recognize that there are inherent limitations on all descriptions of investment processes due to the complexity, confidentiality and subjectivity of such processes.

Liquidation Preferences

Upon the dissolution, liquidation or winding up of the Company, the assets legally available for distribution to the holders of all series of the Company's Membership Units will be distributed ratably among the Unit Holders in proportion to their holdings of Membership Units.

We have used an arbitrary offering price. The offering price per unit was arbitrarily determined by the Company and is unrelated to specific investment criteria, such as the assets or past results of the Company's operations. In determining the offering price, the Company considered such factors as the prospects, if any, of similar companies, the previous experience of management, the Company's anticipated results of operations, and the likelihood of acceptance of this offering. Please review any financial or other information contained in this offering with qualified persons to determine its suitability as an investment before purchasing any shares in this offering.

Management has broad discretion as to the use of proceeds. The net proceeds from this Securities Offering will be used for the purposes described under "USE OF PROCEEDS." The Company reserves the right to use the funds obtained from this Offering for other similar purposes not presently contemplated, which it deems to be in the best interests of the Company in order to address changed circumstances or opportunities. This poses a risk to an investor should they be relying on current use of proceeds forecasts for the investment as business conditions may require a change of the use of these funds.

Public health epidemics or outbreaks could adversely impact our business. In December 2019, a novel strain of coronavirus (COVID-19) emerged in Wuhan, Hubei Province, China. While initially the outbreak was largely concentrated in China and caused significant disruptions to its economy, it has now spread to several other countries and infections have been reported globally. The extent to which the coronavirus impacts our operations will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted with confidence, including the duration of the outbreak, new information which may emerge concerning the severity of the coronavirus and the actions to contain the coronavirus or treat its impact, among others. In particular, the continued spread of the coronavirus globally could adversely impact our operations, and could have an adverse impact on our business and our financial results.

If we make mistakes or have unforeseen things happen to us, our suppliers, partners, vendors, etc, or the world, we can make little or no profit and can be driven out of business.

THE BOTTOM LINE:

Investment in the securities of smaller companies can involve greater risk than is generally associated with investment in larger, more established companies. All investments can result in significant or total loss of your loan and/or investment. If we do well, the stock should do well also, yet life offers no guarantees and neither can we. If we make mistakes or have unforeseen things happen to us, our suppliers or the world, we can make little or no profit and can be driven out of business. We cannot guarantee success, return on investment, or repayment of loans.

Please only invest what you can afford to lose.

21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

The valuation of the company has been performed based on the issuers' qualitative and financial information, including but not limited to: 1. the quality, size and experience of the management team; 2.- the market of reference and business model; 3. the product/service and customers' feedback; 4. - the presence of strategic partnerships as well as external investors; 5. - the presence of relevant IP and/or legal risks; 6. - the current financial performance of the company; 7. - the projected financial performance of the company.

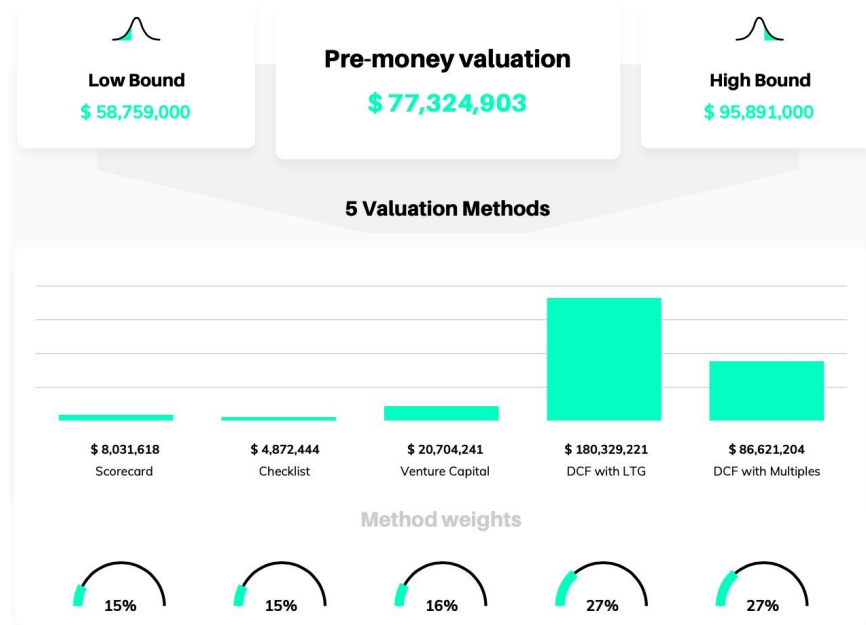

This information is combined with market-industry data, provided by a comprehensive valuation software, to come up with a comprehensive valuation estimate based on 5 different valuation models, 2 based on a qualitative assessment (named Scorecard and Check-List) and 3 based financial projections (namely: VC method, Discounted Cash Flows with Multiples, and Discounted Cash Flows with Long-Term Growth).

These methods are combined in a weighted average that applies the weights (see above image) according to the stage of development of the company (assessed by the valuation software), giving more emphasis on the 2 qualitative methods for early-stage businesses, and vice versa.

The full valuation report (17 pages) is part of this offering and is to be found in the Offering's Documents Section.

The valuation was calculated at pre money $77,324,903.

The company has elected to go with a slightly more conservative valuation of $27,000,000.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

The right to demand current distributions from an operating business is limited. A majority owner, if she is committed to avoiding any distributions to a minority owner, can usually avoid making any distributions of profits. By establishing generous reserves for future expenses, paying a salary to herself or her relatives at the high range of what is reasonable, pre-paying expenses, investing in new business or new equipment, leasing expensive cars, etc., a majority owner can spend enough that there are rarely any profits to be distributed. So long as the expenses are not grossly unreasonable, the investor, probably, won't be able to force the company to allow you to share in any of the current income of the company.

No right to participate in any management decisions of the company. The majority owner may make a decision that the investor think is bad and puts your interest in the company at risk. The investor may see the majority owner running the company into the ground. The investor can try to convince him that it is the wrong decision, but he doesn't have to take your calls.

The investor has limited rights, if any, to have your interest bought out. You may want to cash out your interest and do other things with the money. State law may give you the right to force the company to buy you out, but these rights are limited.

Target Offering	10,000	$10,000	$9,200
Maximum Amount	1,000,000	$1,000,000	$920,000

While the investor would be entitled to a share of any profits on sale of the entire business, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions including:

- Additional issuances of securities:

Following the investor's investment in the Company, the Company may sell interest to additional investors, which will dilute the percentage interest of the investor in the Company. The Investor might have the opportunity to increase its investment in the Company in such transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional capital needed by the Company, if any, will depend upon the maturity and the objectives of the Company.

- Issuer repurchases of securities:

The company may have the authority to repurchase its securities from shareholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests held by other similarly situated investors to the Investor, and create pressure on the investor to sell its securities to the Company concurrently.

- A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer:

As a minority owner of the Company, the Investor will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Company or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, the investor will rely upon the executive management of the Company and the Board of Directors of the Company to manage the Company so as to maximize value for shareholders.

- Transactions with related parties:

The Investor should be aware that there will be occasions when the Company may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management and the Board of Directors of the Company will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Company's best interests. The Company may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Company to its shareholders. By acquiring an interest in the company, the investor will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

- (1) any director or officer of the issuer;
- (2) any person who is, as of the most recent practicable date, the beneficial owner of 20 percent or more of the issuer's outstanding voting equity securities, calculated on the basis of voting power;
- (3) if the issuer was incorporated or organized within the past three years, any promoter of the issuer; or
- (4) any immediate family member of any of the foregoing persons.

Within the past 12 months, Robert Cefail participated as the CEO for a Reg CF offering for a separate company, American Stories Entertainment, Inc. The Form C for this offering was filed on January 15, 2021, and the offering ceased taking new investments on January 20, 2022.

As of March 7, 2022, some of the investments committed in that offering were still being finalized. The final amount of funds raised for that offering will not exceed $735,000.

In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the Company's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, I express no such opinion.

Notes to the Financial Statements

Those notes are an integral part of these financial statements

As of 31 December 2021

NOTE 1 – ORGANIZATION AND NATURE OF OPERATIONS

Digital Frontier Marketing LLC (DFM), previously named Digital Currency Growth LLC, is registered in Florida since September 2017. DFM focuses its efforts on the long term well-being and expansion of its crypto currency clients and the management of its celebrity based NFT sales platform www.celebrium.com. Its primary services are designed to increase the willingness of the public and businesses to accept the client's currencies as well as purchase NFTs. In addition DFM focuses on assisting its clients to gain broad public use of their currencies in retail outlets. DFM "does not" get involved in the direct promotion of ICOs (initial coin offerings) or sale of coins on behalf of our clients.

DFM utilizes celebrities through social media and public relations using media interviews to draw significant public attention to our digital currency clients and to Celebrium.com. Celebrities will also promote DFM clients through a unique PR strategy through the celebrity social network profiles often times to millions of followers during each campaign.

The most unique aspect of DFM is that rather than collect strictly cash based payment the company accepts the client currencies and customer cryptocurrency payments as the major form of payment for services rendered. This is because of the confidence DFM has in its ability to increase the value of client currencies through basic awareness campaigns about the companies (not promotions of their currency).
