- If an issuer reaches the target offering amount prior to the deadline identified in its offering materials, it may close the offering early if it provides notice about the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to such new offering deadline (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment); and

NOTE: The term “accredited investor” means any person who comes within any of the categories set forth in Rule 501(a) of Regulation D, or who the seller reasonably believes comes within any of such categories, at the time of the sale of the securities to that person. The term “member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent” includes a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law of the purchaser, and includes adoptive relationships. The term “spousal equivalent” means a cohabitant occupying a relationship generally equivalent to that of a spouse.

17. What securities or classes of securities of the issuer are outstanding? Describe the material terms of any other outstanding securities or classes of securities of the issuer.

Class B Membership Units	20,000	0	NO	NO

18. How may the rights of the securities being offered be materially limited, diluted or qualified by the rights of any other class of security identified above?

No.

20. How could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 above affect the purchasers of the securities being offered?

The Purchasers of the securities offered, as holders of Class B Membership Units, have no voting rights over the affairs of the company.

The Purchasers (the “Investors”) of the securities offered, as holders of Class B Membership Units with no voting rights, may not have enough voting power to exert influence on the decisions made by the principal shareholders, with which the Investors disagree, or that negatively affect the value of the Purchasers’ securities in the Company. The Investors generally do not control day-to-day business decisions or management of the issuer and the Investors’ interests may conflict with those of the principal shareholders and there is no guarantee that the company will develop in a way that is advantageous to the Investors.

21. How are the securities being offered being valued? Include examples of methods for how such securities may be valued by the issuer in the future, including during subsequent corporate actions.

Methods for how the securities may be valued by the issuer in the future:

Unless our financial or business situation changes, we will value our equity securities by Discounted Cash Flow (Free Cash Flow) if we issue new equity securities in the future.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

- Purchasers of the securities in this offering have limited rights to demand distributions (e.g. dividends) from the Issuer.
- The majority owner may make a decision that the Purchasers consider bad and puts Purchaser's interest in the Issuer at risk.
- Although, as Class B Membership Units holders, the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.
- Since the securities in this offering are not publicly traded and are subject to restrictions on resale or transfer including holding period requirements, the securities in this offering are illiquid.

- The Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no voting rights and therefore they are not entitled to exert influence in the affairs of the company or the composition of its board of directors.
- The Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions:

a. Additional Issuances of Securities

Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

b. Issuer Repurchases of Securities

The issuer could be authorized to repurchase the company's issued securities subject to the approval by the company's board of directors. Purchasers of the securities may not impede the issuer's right to repurchase its securities from other shareholders. Moreover, the repurchase could be made at a price much lower than company's business value or its fair valuation, which could be indicative of the resale price of the securities thereafter.

c. A Sale of the Issuer or of Assets of the Issuer

Although as Class B Membership Units holders the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

d. Transactions with Related Parties

Transactions with related parties are transactions between the issuer or any of its subsidiaries and a connected person. These transactions include both capital and revenue nature transactions. They may be one-off transactions or continuing transactions.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE ISSUER

27. Does the issuer have an operating history?

Yes. Awesome Advertising LLC was formed on 14 May 22, 2009 and started to operate since then.

28. Describe the financial condition of the issuer, including, to the extent material, liquidity, capital resources and historical results of operations.

The following discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations should be read in conjunction with our consolidated financial statements and related notes that appear in this Form C. In addition to historical consolidated financial information, the following discussion contains forward-looking statements that reflect our plans, estimates, and beliefs. Our actual results could differ materially from those discussed in the forward-looking statements. Factors that could cause or contribute to these differences include those discussed below and elsewhere in this Form C, particularly in "Risk Factors."

IMPORTANT: THE FOLLOWING FINANCIAL FIGURES ARE UNAUDITED

Results of Operation in 2021

Awesome Advertising LLC performed well in 2021. Our gross sales increased 17% from $172,771 in 2020 to $202,050 in 2021. We recorded a net profit of $25,137, a growth of 33% when compared to 2020. Our Net profit margin increased from 10.9% in 2020 to 12.4% in 2021.

Revenues

Revenues in 2021 increased $29,279, or 17% compared to $172,771 in 2020. The increase was primarily due to our growth in our gross sales of wholesale nuts, dry fruits and seeds.

Cost of Goods Sold and Operating Expenses

Cost of Goods Sold

Our cost of goods sold consists primarily of expenses associated with the delivery and distribution of our products.

Cost of goods sold in 2021 increased $4,290, or 2.5% compared to $137,145 in 2020. The increase was primarily due to the increase in the inventory and direct cost associated with our sales of nuts, dry fruits and seeds products.

Operating Expenses

Total Expenses are the operating expenses, including car and truck expenses, contract labor, legal and professional costs, depreciation and office expenses.

Total operating expenses in 2021 were $28,200, increased $18,756 , or 197% compared to $9,444 in 2020. The increase was primarily due to car and truck expenses of $16,800 in 2021.

Net Income

We recorded a net profit of $25,137, a growth of 33% compared to 2020. Our net profit margin increased from 10.9% in 2020 to 12.4% in 2021.

Cash flows

In 2021, the cash flow from operating activities was $28,804, versus a cash flow of $88,904 in 2020. The decrease in operating cash flow was mainly due to the increase in current liabilities consisting of credit line and credit card in 2020, as explained in question 24.

The cash flow used by investing activities was $20,000 in 2021, versus a cash flow of $0 in 2020, which was due to the purchase of property and equipment.

Cash flow used by financing activities was $8,499 in 2021, versus a negative cash flow of $88,646 in 2020, due to lower negative net proceeds from capital contribution.

Our historical results and cash flows are not representative of what investors should expect in the future.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Our principal sources of liquidity are our cash and cash equivalents and cash generated from operations. Cash and cash equivalents consist primarily of cash on deposit with banks. Cash and cash equivalents totaled $563 as of December 31, 2021.

As of the date of issuance of financials, June 15, 2022, the company has no commitments or contingencies. The management has evaluated subsequent events through June 15, 2022, the date on which the financial statements were available to be issued.

The Company expects to fund its operations and capital expenditure requirements from operating cash flows, cash and cash equivalents, proceeds from this offering and credit facilities. We may raise additional funds through public or private equity offerings or debt financings, but there can be no assurance that we will be able to do so on acceptable terms or at all.

New business developments or other unforeseen events may occur, resulting in the need to raise additional funds. There can be no assurances regarding the business prospects with respect to any other opportunity. Any other development would require us to obtain additional financing.

Although the Company expects that there will be a growth in revenue in the coming years, investors should be aware that historical results and cash flows are not representative of the future.

The Company is seeking a minimum of $25,000 in this offering, which would improve the Company's liquidity and balance sheet, but whether or not receiving these funds and any other additional funds is not necessary to the viability of the business in the next 12 months and we expect that the Company's available cash together with the proceeds of the offering would be enough to finance its operation in the next 12 months.

The proceed of this offering will significantly improve our financial condition and liquidity, and will allow us to expand our business in the coming 2-3 years, though we believe the proceed of this offering does not affect the viability of our business as we believe the cash generated from operations is sufficient to finance our ongoing operations. But investors should be aware that our past records are not representative of the future.

Appendix A - BUSINESS AND ANTICIPATED BUSINESS PLAN

Executive Summary

Today, dry fruits and nuts have become a staple in every home. With the rising awareness of the health benefits of dry fruits and nuts, every household now stocks dry fruits and nuts as snacks.

Nuts and dried fruits make excellent snacks. This is because they have a very interesting nutritional profile. They contain many nutrients including fiber, unsaturated fats, vegetable protein, vitamins and minerals which may help reduce overall hunger which in turn may stop you from reaching for unhealthy sugary snacks.

Demand for Dry Fruits and Nuts

Until recently, dry fruits were just sold seasonally in special shops from select wholesalers and retailers. With the growing health awareness and its usage in baking, confectionery, dairy products, dry fruits and nuts have become a staple food item in every household. With the internet and its widespread use, it has now become a practical business proposition.

Health Benefits

Nutrient contribution of dried fruit and nuts and their effect on diet quality Three healthy dietary patterns are recommended by the 2015 Dietary Guidelines for Americans—a Healthy US-style Pattern, a Healthy Vegetarian Pattern, and a Healthy Mediterranean-style pattern. Fruits, nuts, and seeds play a prominent role in all three of these food-based dietary patterns, which recommend between 2 and 2 ½ cup equivalents of fruit a day and 4-7 oz equivalents per week of nuts and seeds.

Nuts and dried fruit have a complementary set of nutrients. Both are shelf-stable, portable, and accessible and, in many instances, they are consumed together as snacks or prepared foods. Yet, no study has evaluated the nutritional or health impact of nuts, seeds and dried fruit s consumed together. Emerging data support the potential of pairing tree nuts, seeds and dried fruit , such as pistachios and raisins, as a way to reduce cardiometabolic risk factors, improve glycemic control and decrease the risk of developing diabetes and/or cardiovascular disease.¹

Dry Fruits and Nuts Through Online Wholesale

The dry fruits business has been emerging in the form of online, retail and wholesale spaces because of the increasing health benefits of dry fruits, use in dairy and confectionery, use in the baking industry, use in the hospitality industry and massive use as a form of packaged gifts on the occasion of festive, celebrations and auspice. Moreover, because of large availability of dry fruits through wholesalers and massive distribution channels, the dry fruit business is likely to yield a reasonable profit margin with a minimal capital requirement and wide customer target base.

Shifting consumer preference for healthy and nutritious foods owing to the rise in obesity and growing aging population are driving the market for dried fruit. Furthermore, increased acceptance for nutritious packaged food and wide application of dried fruit in the dairy, bakery, snack, and confectionery industries have fueled the demand for dried fruit over the years. Demand for dried fruit has been influenced by research studies highlighting the role of the product in weight management and disease prevention. Numerous scientific studies have stated that certain types of dehydrated fruits and vegetables can help in lowering the risk of progression of specific cancers. For instance, in August 2019, Dried Fruit Intake and Cancer, a research study, suggested that the consumption of dried fruit may reduce the risk of developing certain types of cancers, including cancers of the prostate, pancreas, stomach, colon, and bladder. As a result, consumers have been including dried fruit in their diets.

Growing trend of on-the-go snacking is accelerating the growth of the market over the past few years. Characteristics such as less perishability and easy-to-carry have made dried fruits a popular healthy snack. In addition, dried fruit has gained significant popularity as an ingredient for salads, baked foods, oatmeal, snack, and desert. Over the past few years, raisins have gained significant popularity in the chocolate industry as they add a rich flavor and nutrition in chocolates. In order to appeal to such consumers, manufacturers such as Sun-Maid Growers of California are adopting point-of-purchase or POP display marketing strategy. Producers have been introducing innovative packaging of dried fruit. Furthermore, they have been including exotic and tropical fruits in their product line to attract more consumers. With the rising brand consciousness among consumers and strict international trade guidelines regarding packaging, dried fruit manufacturers have been increasingly investing in packaging.

Appendix B - RISK FACTORS

RISKS RELATING TO OUR BUSINESS

We rely on continuing efforts of Matthew Baron, the Founder of Awesome Advertising LLC / Wholesale Nuts And Dried Fruit

Our business relies mainly on the efforts of Matthew Baron as the founder of the company, to create new products, improve upon products, and oversee the operations of the company. If something happened to him the business may not be able to continue.

If we are unable to gain market acceptance or significant market share for the products we may introduce, then we will incur development, production and marketing costs which we would not be able to recover.

The development and introduction of our products, in particular, new products are keys to our expansion strategy. We are constantly introducing new packaging and new flavors of our nuts, seeds and dried fruit. For example, we may introduce new packaging for our nuts, seeds and dried fruit in the future. We may be introducing new flavors for our nuts, seeds and dried fruit. The success of the new products we introduce depends on our ability to anticipate the tastes and dietary habits of consumers and to offer products that appeal to their preferences. We intend to introduce new product lines including different flavors, different sizes and packaging. We cannot assure you that we will be able to gain market acceptance or significant market share for our products. Consumer preferences change, and any new products that we introduce may fail to meet the particular tastes or requirements of consumers, or may be unable to replace their existing preferences. Our failure to anticipate, identify or react to these particular tastes or changes could result in reduced demand for our products, which could in turn cause us to be unable to recover our development, production and marketing costs, thereby leading to a decline in our profitability.

Our results of operations may fluctuate due to seasonality.

Our sales are subject to seasonality. Although, we typically experience relatively stable sales throughout the year of nuts, seeds and dried fruit which are consumed primarily for their nutritional benefits. In general, we believe our sales peak during the months from November to January due to public holidays, including Thanksgiving and Christmas. Sales can also fluctuate during the course of a financial year for a number of other reasons, including weather conditions, timing of the launch of new products, and the timing of advertising and promotional campaigns. As a result of these reasons, our operating results may fluctuate. In addition, the seasonality of our results may be affected by unforeseen circumstances, such as production interruptions. Due to these fluctuations, comparisons of sales and operating results between the same periods within a single year, or between different periods in different financial years, are not necessarily meaningful and should not be relied on as indicators of our performance.

The production and packaging of our nuts, seeds and dried fruit rely significantly on third-party production equipment, packaging technology and packaging materials.

Our nuts, seeds, dried fruit and other snacks rely significantly on production equipment, packaging technology and packaging materials supplied by third-parties. The majority of these packaging materials which we use for most of our nuts, seeds, dried fruit and other snacks and which are fundamental to maintaining the quality and freshness of our products are manufactured by third-parties.

In the event these third-party suppliers fail to continue to supply such production equipment, packaging technology or packaging materials, we may be unable to find a comparable substitute supplier of equipment, packaging technology or packaging materials, which may impact upon our ability to maintain and upgrade our production facilities, lead to production interruptions and delays in the delivery of our products to customers, and may also prevent us from improving and updating the packaging of our products to meet changing market demands.

Our plans to improve our internal controls may not succeed.

Although we have adopted policies on internal controls for our main business cycles, including those relating to purchasing, sales, treasury, accounting, and sales provisioning, we plan to take steps to further improve our internal controls. If we encounter difficulties in improving our internal controls and management information systems, we may incur additional costs and management time in meeting our improvement goals. We cannot assure you that the measures taken to improve our internal controls will be effective.

We derive a substantial portion of our sales from the US.

Substantially all of our sales are generated from the US. We anticipate that sales of our products in the US will continue to represent a substantial proportion of our total sales in the near future. Any significant decline in the condition of the US economy could adversely affect consumer buying power and reduce consumption of our products, among other things, which in turn would have a material adverse effect on our business and financial condition.

Our operations are cash intensive, and our business could be adversely affected if we fail to maintain sufficient levels of working capital.

We will expend a significant amount of cash in our operations, principally to fund our nuts, seeds and dried fruit procurement. We generally fund most of our working capital requirements out of cash flow generated from operations. If we fail to generate sufficient sales from our sales, or if we suffer decreasing sales to customers as a result of ceasing to offer those customers credit terms, or if our suppliers stop to offer us credit terms, or if we were to experience difficulties in collecting our accounts receivables, we may not have sufficient cash flow to fund our operating costs and our business could be adversely affected.

We may not be able to maintain and increase the amount of sales of our products

We cannot guarantee that we will be able to maintain the number of sales for our products. This would affect sales and our ability to achieve our targeted growth and profitability for our business.

We could be adversely affected by a change in consumer preferences, perception and/or spending.

The snacks industry in the US is subject to changes in consumer preferences, perceptions and spending habits. Our performance depends on factors which may affect the level and patterns of consumer spending in the US. Such factors include consumer preferences, consumer confidence, consumer incomes, consumer perceptions of the safety and quality of our nuts, seeds and dried fruit, and consumer interest in diet and health issues. Media coverage regarding the safety or quality of, or diet or health issues relating to nuts, seeds, dried fruit, and other snacks, or the raw materials, ingredients or processes involved in their manufacturing or packaging, may damage consumer confidence in these products. A general decline in the consumption of our nuts, seeds and dried fruit could occur as a result of a change in consumer preferences, perceptions and spending habits at any time and future success will depend partly on our ability to anticipate or adapt to such changes and to offer, on a timely basis, new products that meet consumer preferences. Our failure to adapt our product offering to respond to such changes, may result in reduced demand and lower prices for our products and a decline in the market share of our products. Any changes in consumer preferences could result in lower sales of our products, put pressure on pricing or lead to increased levels of selling and promotional expenses, resulting in a material adverse effect on our sales volumes, sales and profits.

We may be unable to efficiently manage our inventory risks

If we fail to manage our inventory effectively, we may be subject to a heightened risk of inventory obsolescence, a decline in inventory values and significant inventory write-offs. High inventory levels may also require us to commit substantial capital resources, preventing us from using that capital for other important purposes. Any of the above may materially and adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.

We are subject to negative publicity

Our Company, management, or products could be subject to negative publicity, which may materially and adversely affect our brand, reputation and business.

Our historical financial and operating results are not indicative of future performance.

Our revenue, operating expenses and results of operations may vary from period to period and from year to year in response to a variety of factors beyond our control, including general business and economic conditions, employment rates, inflation and interest rates, and consumer discretionary income. Therefore our historical results may not be indicative of our future performance.

We face increasing competition from both domestic and foreign companies, which may affect our market share and profit margins.

The nuts, seeds and dried fruit market and the snacks industry in the US are highly competitive, and we expect them to continue to become even more competitive. Currently, there are many nuts, seeds, dried fruit or snacks enterprises operating in the US, including domestic and foreign-invested enterprises. Our ability to compete against these enterprises is, to a significant extent, dependent on our ability to distinguish our products from those of our competitors by providing high-quality products at reasonable prices that appeal to consumers' tastes and preferences. Some of our competitors may have been in business longer than we have, may have substantially greater financial and other resources than we have and may be better established in their markets. Our competitors in any particular market may also benefit from raw material sources or production facilities that are closer to such markets, which provide them with competitive advantages in terms of costs and proximity to consumers.

We cannot assure you that our current or potential competitors will not provide products comparable or superior to those we provide or adapt more quickly than we do to evolving industry trends or changing market requirements. It is also possible that there will be significant consolidation in the snacks industry among our competitors, alliances may develop among competitors and these alliances may rapidly acquire significant market share, and some of our distributors may commence production of products similar to those we sell to them. Furthermore, competition may lead competitors to substantially increase their advertising expenditures and promotional activities or to engage in irrational or predatory pricing behavior. We also cannot assure you that third parties will not actively engage in activities, whether legal or illegal, designed to undermine our brand name and product quality or to influence consumer confidence in our products. Increased competition may result in price reductions, reduced margins and loss of market share, any of which could materially adversely affect our profit margins. We cannot assure you that we will be able to compete effectively against current and future competitors.

No assurances of protection for proprietary rights and reliance on trade secrets

In certain cases, the Company may rely on trade secrets which the Company has developed or may develop in the future. There can be no assurances that secrecy obligations will be honored or that others will not independently develop similar or superior technology. The protection of proprietary rights through claims of trade secret status has been the subject of increasing claims and litigation by various companies both in order to protect proprietary rights as well as for competitive reasons even where proprietary claims are unsubstantiated. The prosecution of proprietary claims or the defense of such claims is costly and uncertain given the uncertainty and rapid development of the principles of law pertaining to this area. The Company, in common with other firms, may also be subject to claims by other parties with regard to the use of technology information and data, which may be deemed proprietary to others.

We may not be able to adequately protect our intellectual property, which could harm the value of our brands and adversely affect our business and operation.

We may face claims of infringement that could interfere with the use of our proprietary know-how, concepts, or trade secrets. Defending against such claims may be costly and, if we are unsuccessful, we may be prohibited from continuing to use such proprietary information in the future or be forced to pay damages, royalties or other fees for using such proprietary information, any of which could negatively affect our sales, profitability and prospects.

Our business depends on our brand and reputation

Our business depends on our brand and reputation as a provider of business coaching services. If we are not able to maintain the brand strength and reputation, our brand value, business and operating results could be materially and adversely affected. We believe that our brand “Wholesale Nuts and Dried Fruit” is instrumental to the success of our business. If the value of our brand or image and reputation is diminished, we may fail to continue to attract potential customers and our business, financial condition, and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected.

Advertising and increased marketing effort may not lead to higher sales or increase in our revenue

To increase public awareness of our business and enhance our brand, one of our business strategies is to advertise and run marketing campaigns on social media. Nonetheless, despite our efforts and substantial costs incurred in these marketing efforts and advertisements, it may not necessarily lead to higher sales of our products or an increase in our revenue.

We may need additional capital, and our ability to obtain additional capital is subject to uncertainties.

We believe that our current cash and cash equivalents, anticipated cash flow from operations and the proceeds from this offering will be sufficient to meet our anticipated cash needs, including our cash needs for working capital and capital expenditures, for at least the next 12 months. We may, however, require additional cash resources to finance our continued growth or other future developments, including any investments we may decide to pursue. The amount and timing of such additional financing needs will vary depending on investments in new facilities, decorations and the amount of cash flow from our operations. If our resources are insufficient to satisfy our cash requirements, we may seek additional financing by selling additional equity or debt securities or obtaining a credit facility.

Our business and reputation may be affected by product liability claims, litigation, complaints or adverse publicity in relation to our products.

Our sale of nuts, seeds and dried fruit products for human consumption involves an inherent risk of injury to consumers. These injuries may result from tampering by unauthorized third parties or product contamination or degeneration, including the presence of foreign contaminants, chemicals, substances or other agents or residues during the various stages of the procurement, production, transportation and storage processes. While we are subject to government inspections and regulations, in addition to our own quality control systems, we cannot assure you that consumption of our products will not cause a health-related illness in the future, or that we will not be subject to claims or lawsuits relating to such matters. In line with industry practice, we do not maintain product liability insurance, and we would be liable for the full amount of any damages awarded against us in any product liability claim.

Even if a product liability claim is unsuccessful or is not fully pursued, the negative publicity surrounding any assertion that our products caused personal injury or illness could adversely affect our reputation with customers and our corporate and brand image.

Under certain circumstances, we may be required to recall products. Even if a situation does not necessitate a product recall, we cannot assure you that product liability claims will not be asserted against us as a result. A product liability judgment against us, or a product recall could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial conditions or results of operations.

Our insurance coverage may not be sufficient to cover all losses or potential claims from our customers

We may become subject to liabilities against which we are not insured adequately or at all or liabilities against which cannot be insured. Should any significant property damage or personal injury occur in our facilities or to our employees due to accidents, natural disasters, or similar events which are not covered or inadequately covered by our insurance, our business may be adversely affected, potentially leading to a loss of assets, lawsuits, employee compensation obligations, or other form of economic loss. In addition, we have not maintained insurance policies against losses arising from our environmental liabilities, business interruption, industrial accidents, work stoppages, civil unrest, or other activities.

Any losses that we may incur which we are not insured against may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Independent Accountant's Review Report

The Board Of Directors
Awesome Advertising Llc
233 S 6Th Street Apt 1911
Philadelphia PA-19106

I have reviewed the accompanying financial statements of Awesome Advertising LLC which comprise the balance sheet as of December 31, 2021 and the related statements of income, changes in stockholders' equity, and cash flows for the year then ended and the related notes to the financial statement. A review includes primarily applying analytical procedures to management's financial data and making inquiries of company management. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements as a whole. Accordingly, I do not express such an opinion.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement whether due to fraud or error.

Accountant's Responsibility

My responsibility is to conduct the review engagements in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services promulgated by the Accounting and Review Services Committee of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Those standards require me to perform procedures to obtain limited assurance as a basis for reporting whether I am aware of any material modifications that should be made to the financial statements for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. I believe that the results of my procedures provide a reasonable basis for our report/conclusion.

Accountant's Conclusion

Based on my reviews, I am not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
