Annual Review Notes Linked to the S&P 500® Index due August 31, 2011

General

- The notes are designed for investors who seek early exit prior to maturity at a premium if, on any one of the three annual Review Dates, the S&P 500® Index is at or above the Call Level applicable to that Review Date. If the notes are not called, investors are protected against up to a 10% decline of the Index on the final Review Date but will lose some or all of their principal if the Index declines by more than 10%. Investors in the notes should be willing to accept this risk of loss, and be willing to forgo interest and dividend payments, in exchange for the opportunity to receive a premium payment if the notes are called.
- The first Review Date, and therefore the earliest date on which a call may be initiated, is September 3, 2009.
- Senior unsecured obligations of JPMorgan Chase & Co. maturing August 31, 2011[†].
- Minimum denominations of $1,000 and integral multiples thereof.
- The notes are expected to price on or about August 22, 2008 and are expected to settle on or about August 27, 2008.

To the extent the information contained in footnotes (1) and (2) below and in "Supplemental Use of Proceeds" in this term sheet differs from or conflicts with the disclosure set forth under "Use of Proceeds" in product supplement no. 20-I, the information in the footnotes (1) and (2) below and in "Supplemental Use of Proceeds" in this term sheet controls.

	Price to Public (1)	Fees and Commissions (2)	Proceeds to Us
Per note	$	$	$
Total	$	$	$

(1) The price to the public includes the estimated cost of hedging our obligations under the notes through one or more of our affiliates.

(2) If the notes priced today, and assuming the call premium for each Review Date is at the low end of the applicable range specified above, J.P. Morgan Securities Inc., which we refer to as JPMSI, acting as agent for JPMorgan Chase & Co., would receive a commission of approximately $38.50 per $1,000 principal amount note and would use a portion of that commission to allow selling concessions to other dealers of approximately $17.50 per $1,000 principal amount note. This commission includes the projected profits that our affiliates expect to realize in consideration for assuming risks inherent in hedging our obligations under the notes. The actual commission received by JPMSI may be less than $38.50 and will depend on market conditions on the pricing date. In no event will the commission received by JPMSI, which includes concessions to be allowed to other dealers, exceed $38.50 per $1,000 principal amount note. See "Underwriting" beginning on page PS-20 of the accompanying product supplement no. 20-I.

The notes are not bank deposits and are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other governmental agency, nor are they obligations of, or guaranteed by, a bank.

Selected Purchase Considerations

- APPRECIATION POTENTIAL — If the Index closing level is greater than or equal to the Call Level on a Review Date, your investment will yield a payment per note of $1,000 plus: (i) a percentage that will not be less than 8.00%* or greater than 10.00%* x $1,000 if called on the first Review Date; (ii) a percentage that will not be less than 16.00%* or greater than 20.00%* x $1,000 if called on the second Review Date; or (iii) a percentage that will not be less than 24.00%* or greater than 30.00%* x $1,000 if called on the final Review Date. Because the notes are our senior unsecured obligations, payment of any amount if called or at maturity is subject to our ability to pay our obligations as they become due.
*The actual percentage applicable to the first, second and final Review Dates will be determined on the pricing date and will be within the applicable range specified above.
- POTENTIAL EARLY EXIT WITH APPRECIATION AS A RESULT OF AUTOMATIC CALL FEATURE — While the original term of the notes is just over three years, the notes will be called before maturity if the Index closing level is at or above the Call Level on a Review Date and you will be entitled to the applicable payment corresponding to that Review Date set forth on the cover of this term sheet.
- LIMITED PROTECTION AGAINST LOSS — If the notes are not called and the Ending Index Level declines by no more than 10% as compared to the Initial Index Level, you will be entitled to receive the full principal amount of your notes at maturity. If the Ending Index Level declines by more than 10%, for every 1% decline of the Index beyond 10% you will lose an amount equal to 1.1111% of the principal amount of your notes.
- POTENTIAL FOR EARLY EXIT AND A RETURN OF BETWEEN 8.00% AND 10.00% IN YEAR ONE, EVEN IF THE INDEX RETURN IS NEGATIVE ON THE FIRST REVIEW DATE — The Call Level for the first Review Date is set at 90% of the Initial Index Level. Accordingly, you will receive a payment of not less than $1,080 or greater than $1,100 per $1,000 principal amount note after the first Review Date, even if the Index closing level on the first Review Date reflects a decline of up to 10% from the Initial Index Level.
 The actual percentage and call payment applicable to the first Review Date will be determined on the pricing date and will be within the applicable range specified above.
- DIVERSIFICATION OF THE S&P 500® INDEX — The return on the notes is linked to the S&P 500® Index. The S&P 500® Index consists of 500 component stocks selected to provide a performance benchmark for the U.S. equity markets. For additional information about the Index, see the information set forth under “The S&P 500® Index” in the accompanying product supplement no. 20-I.

- CAPITAL GAINS TAX TREATMENT — You should review carefully the section entitled “Certain U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences” in the accompanying product supplement no. 20-I. Subject to the limitations described therein, and based on certain factual representations received from us, in the opinion of our special tax counsel, Davis Polk & Wardwell, it is reasonable to treat your notes as “open transactions” for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Assuming this characterization is respected, your gain or loss on the notes should be treated as long-term capital gain or loss if you hold the notes for more than a year, whether or not you are an initial purchaser of notes at the issue price. However, the Internal Revenue Service (the “IRS”) or a court may not respect this characterization or treatment of the notes, in which case the timing and character of any income or loss on the notes could be significantly and adversely affected. In addition, on December 7, 2007, Treasury and the IRS released a notice requesting comments on the U.S. federal income tax treatment of “prepaid forward contracts” and similar instruments, such as the notes. The notice focuses in particular on whether to require holders of these instruments to accrue income over the term of their investment. It also asks for comments on a number of related topics, including the character of income or loss with respect to these instruments; the relevance of factors such as the nature of the underlying property to which the instruments are linked; the degree, if any, to which income (including any mandated accruals) realized by Non-U.S. Holders should be subject to withholding tax; and whether these instruments are or should be subject to the “constructive ownership” regime, which very generally can operate to recharacterize certain long-term capital gain as ordinary income that is subject to an interest charge. While the notice requests comments on appropriate transition rules and effective dates, any Treasury regulations or other guidance promulgated after consideration of these issues could materially and adversely affect the tax consequences of an investment in the notes, possibly with retroactive effect. Both U.S. and Non-U.S. Holders should consult their tax advisers regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the notes, including possible alternative treatments and the issues presented by this notice.

Selected Risk Considerations

An investment in the notes involves significant risks. Investing in the notes is not equivalent to investing directly in the Index or any of the component stocks of the Index. These risks are explained in more detail in the “Risk Factors” section of the accompanying product supplement no. 20-I dated March 21, 2006.

- YOUR INVESTMENT IN THE NOTES MAY RESULT IN A LOSS — If the notes are not called and the Ending Index Level declines by more than 10% compared to the Initial Index Level, you will lose 1.111% of your principal amount for every 1% decline in the Ending Index Level compared to the Initial Index Level beyond the 10% buffer.
- LIMITED RETURN ON THE NOTES — Your potential gain on the notes will be limited to the call premium applicable for a Review Date, as set forth on the cover of this term sheet, regardless of the appreciation in the Index, which may be significant. Because the Index closing level at various times during the term of the notes could be higher than on the Review Dates and at maturity, you may receive a lower payment if called or at maturity, as the case may be, than you would have if you had invested directly in the Index.
- NO INTEREST OR DIVIDEND PAYMENTS OR VOTING RIGHTS — As a holder of the notes, you will not receive interest payments, and you will not have voting rights or rights to receive cash dividends or other distributions or other rights that holders of securities composing the S&P 500® Index would have.
- CERTAIN BUILT-IN COSTS ARE LIKELY TO ADVERSELY AFFECT THE VALUE OF THE NOTES PRIOR TO MATURITY — While the payment on any Review Date or at maturity described in this term sheet is based on the full principal amount of your notes, the original issue price of the notes includes the agent’s commission and the estimated cost of hedging our obligations under the notes through one or more of our affiliates. As a result, and as a general matter, the price, if any, at which JPMSI will be willing to purchase notes from you in secondary market transactions, if at all, will likely be lower than the original issue price and any sale prior to the maturity date could result in a substantial loss to you. This secondary market price will also be affected by a number of factors aside from the agent’s commission and hedging costs, including those set forth under “Many Economic and Market Factors Will Impact the Value of the Notes” below.
The notes are not designed to be short-term trading instruments. Accordingly, you should be able and willing to hold your notes to maturity.

- LACK OF LIQUIDITY — The notes will not be listed on any securities exchange. JPMSI intends to offer to purchase the notes in the secondary market but is not required to do so. Even if there is a secondary market, it may not provide enough liquidity to allow you to trade or sell the notes easily. Because other dealers are not likely to make a secondary market for the notes, the price at which you may be able to trade your notes is likely to depend on the price, if any, at which JPMSI is willing to buy the notes.
- POTENTIAL CONFLICTS — We and our affiliates play a variety of roles in connection with the issuance of the notes, including acting as calculation agent and hedging our obligations under the notes. In performing these duties, the economic interests of the calculation agent and other affiliates of ours are potentially adverse to your interests as an investor in the notes. In addition, we are currently one of the companies that make up the Index. We will not have any obligation to consider your interests as a holder of the notes in taking any corporate action that might affect the value of the Index and the notes.
- MANY ECONOMIC AND MARKET FACTORS WILL IMPACT THE VALUE OF THE NOTES — In addition to the level of the Index on any day, the value of the notes will be affected by a number of economic and market factors that may either offset or magnify each other, including:
 - the expected volatility of the Index;
 - the time to maturity of the notes;
 - the dividend rate on the common stocks underlying the Index;
 - interest and yield rates in the market generally;
 - a variety of economic, financial, political, regulatory or judicial events; and
 - our creditworthiness, including actual or anticipated downgrades in our credit ratings.

Hypothetical Examples of Amounts Payable upon Automatic Call or at Maturity

The following table illustrates the hypothetical simple total return (i.e., not compounded) on the notes that could be realized on the applicable Review Date for a range of movements in the Index as shown under the column “Index Level Appreciation/Depreciation at Review Date.” The following table assumes a Call Level of 1170 on the first Review Date and a Call Level equal to a hypothetical Initial Index Level of 1300 on the second and final Review Dates. The table assumes that the percentages used to calculate the call price applicable to the first, second and final Review Dates are 8.00%, 16.00% and 24.00%, respectively, regardless of the appreciation of the Index, which may be significant. The actual percentages will be determined on the pricing date and will be within the applicable range specified on the front cover of this term sheet. There will be only one payment on the notes whether called or at maturity. An entry of “N/A” indicates that the notes would not be called on the applicable Review Date and no payment would be made for such date. The hypothetical returns set forth below are for illustrative purposes only and may not be the actual total returns applicable to a purchaser of the notes.

0.00	-100%	N/A	N/A	-100.00%

The following examples illustrate how the total returns set forth in the table on the previous page are calculated.

Example 1: The level of the Index decreases from the Initial Index Level of 1300 to an Index closing level of 1235 on the first Review Date. Because the Index closing level on the first Review Date of 1235 is greater than the corresponding Call Level of 1170, the notes are automatically called, and the investor receives a single payment of $1,080 per $1,000 principal amount note.

Example 2: The level of the Index decreases from the Initial Index Level of 1300 to an Index closing level of 1105 on the first Review Date, 1235 on the second Review Date, and 1170 on the final Review Date. Because (a) the Index closing level on the first Review Date (1105) is less than the corresponding Call Level of 1170, (b) the Index closing level of the Index on each of the other Review Dates (1235 and 1170) is less than the corresponding Call Level of 1300, and (c) the Ending Index Level has not declined by more than 10% from the Initial Index Level, the notes are not called and the payment at maturity is the principal amount of $1,000 per $1,000 principal amount note.

Example 3: The level of the Index decreases from the Initial Index Level of 1300 to an Index closing level of 1105 on the first Review Date, 1170 on the second Review Date, and 1040 on the final Review Date. Because (a) the Index closing level on the first Review Date (1105) is less than the corresponding Call Level of 1170, (b) the Index closing level on each of the other Review Dates (1170 and 1040) is less than the corresponding Call Level of 1300, and (c) the Ending Index Level is more than 10% below the Initial Index Level, the notes are not called and the investor receives a payment at maturity that is less than the principal amount for each $1,000 principal amount note, calculated as follows:

$$$1,000 + [$1,000 \times (-20\% + 10\%) \times 1.1111] = $888.89$$
