JPMorgan Chase & Co.

$315,000

Callable Step-Up Fixed Rate Notes due October 30, 2027

General

- Senior unsecured obligations of JPMorgan Chase & Co. maturing October 30, 2027, subject to postponement as described below.
- The notes are designed for investors who seek semiannual interest payments at a fixed rate that will increase over the term of the notes and return of their principal at maturity or upon early redemption at our option, as applicable. Any payment on the notes is subject to the credit risk of JPMorgan Chase & Co.
- Interest on the notes will be payable semiannually on each Interest Payment Date in arrears at a rate per annum equal to (a) for the first year to the fifth year, an interest rate equal to 2.75% per annum, (b) for the sixth year to the tenth year, an interest rate equal to 3.375% per annum, (c) for the eleventh year to the thirteenth year, an interest rate equal to 4.00% per annum, (d) for the fourteenth year, an interest rate equal to 4.50% per annum, and (e) for the fifteenth year, an interest rate equal to 5.00% per annum.
- Unless general interest rates rise significantly, you should not expect to earn the highest scheduled Interest Rate below because the notes are likely to be called prior to maturity if interest rates remain the same or fall during the term of notes. Additionally, the interest rate on the notes does not step up significantly until later of the term of the notes. See "Selected Risk Considerations" in this reopening supplement.
- These notes, which have a relatively long term, may be more risky than notes with a shorter term. See "Selected Risk Considerations" in this reopening supplement.
- Minimum denominations of $1,000 and integral multiples thereof.
- At our option, we may redeem the notes, in whole but not in part, on any of the Redemption Dates specified below.
- The purpose of this reopening supplement no. 1 to pricing supplement no. 786 is to offer additional notes with an aggregate principal amount of $315,000, which we refer to as the "reopened notes." $15,210,000 aggregate principal amount of notes were originally issued on October 30, 2012, which we refer to as the "original notes." The reopened notes will constitute a further issuance of, and will be consolidated with and form a single tranche with, the original notes.

Selected Purchase Considerations

- PRESERVATION OF CAPITAL — You will receive at least 100% of the principal amount of your notes if you hold the notes to maturity or to the Redemption Date, if any, on which we elect to call the notes. Because the notes are our senior unsecured obligations, payment of any amount at maturity or upon early redemption is subject to our ability to pay our obligations as they become due.
- SEMIANNUAL INTEREST PAYMENTS — The notes offer semiannual interest payments which will accrue at a rate equal to the applicable Interest Rate and will be payable semiannual in arrears on the 30th calendar day of April and October of each year, commencing April 30, 2013, to and including the Interest Payment Date corresponding to the Maturity Date, or, if the notes have been redeemed, the applicable Redemption Date, to the holders of record at the close of business on the business day immediately preceding the applicable Interest Payment Date. If an Interest Payment Date is not a business day, payment will be made on the business day immediately following such day. No additional interest will be paid with respect to a postponement of the Interest Payment Date.
- POTENTIAL SEMIANNUAL REDEMPTION BY US AT OUR OPTION — At our option, we may redeem the notes, in whole but not in part, on the 30th calendar day of April and October of each year (each such date, a "Redemption Date"), commencing on October 30, 2017, for a cash payment equal to $1,000 for each $1,000 principal amount note plus any accrued and unpaid interest on notes. Such amount will be paid to the person who is the holder of record of such notes at the close of business on the business day immediately preceding the applicable Redemption Date. If a Redemption Date is not a business day, payment will be made on the business day immediately following such day. No additional interest will be paid with respect to a postponement of the Redemption Date.
- U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS RELATING TO REOPENING — Since the reopened notes offered by this reopening supplement (1) have the same credit and payment terms as the original notes, which were issued by us on or about October 30, 2012, and (2) would otherwise be issued with no more than a de minimis amount of original issue discount, the reopened notes offered by this reopening supplement should be treated as part of the same "issue" as the original notes for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Accordingly, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, the issue price and issue date of the reopened notes offered by this reopening supplement should be the same as those of the original notes.
- TAX TREATMENT — You should review carefully the section entitled "Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences" in the accompanying product supplement no. 1-I. Except to the extent of original issue discount, if any, during the term of the notes, interest paid on the notes will generally be taxable to you as ordinary interest income at the time it accrues or is received in accordance with your method of accounting for U.S. federal income tax purposes. In addition, a U.S. Holder (as defined in the accompanying product supplement) must include original issue discount, if any, in income as ordinary interest as it accrues, generally in advance of receipt of cash attributable to such income. In general, gain or loss realized on the sale, exchange or other disposition of the notes will be capital gain or loss. Prospective purchasers are urged to consult their own tax advisers regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the notes. Purchasers who are not initial purchasers of notes at their issue price on the issue date should consult their tax advisers with respect to the tax consequences of an investment in the notes, and the potential application of special rules.

Subject to certain assumptions and representations received from us, the discussion in this section entitled "Tax Treatment", when read in combination with the section entitled "Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences" in the accompanying product supplement, constitutes the full opinion of Sidley Austin LLP regarding the material U.S. federal income tax treatment of owning and disposing of the notes.

Selected Risk Considerations

An investment in the notes involves significant risks. These risks are explained in more detail in the "Risk Factors" section of the accompanying product supplement no. 1-I dated November 14, 2011.

- THE NOTES ARE SUBJECT TO EARLY REDEMPTION PRIOR TO MATURITY – The notes are subject to redemption at the sole discretion of the Issuer on the specified Redemption Dates indicated above. If the notes are redeemed prior to maturity, you will receive the principal amount of your notes plus accrued and unpaid interest to, but excluding the applicable Redemption Date. This amount will be less than you would have received had the notes not been called early and continued to pay interest over the full term of the notes. We may choose to redeem the notes early or choose not to redeem the notes early on any Redemption Date, in our sole discretion. If we elect to redeem the notes early, your return may be less than the return you would have earned on your investment had the notes been held to maturity, and you may not be able to reinvest your funds at the same rate as the notes. We may choose to redeem the notes early, for example, if U.S. interest rates decrease significantly or if the volatility of U.S. interest rates decreases significantly.
- THE NOTES ARE NOT ORDINARY DEBT SECURITIES; THE STEP-UP FEATURE PRESENTS DIFFERENT INVESTMENT CONSIDERATIONS THAN FIXED RATE NOTES — The rate of interest paid by us on the notes will increase upward from the initial stated rate of interest of the notes. The notes are callable by us, in whole but not in part, prior to maturity and, therefore, contain the redemption risk described above. If we do not call the notes, the interest rate will step-up as described on the cover of this reopening supplement. Unless general interest rates rise significantly, you should not expect to earn the highest scheduled Interest Rate set forth on the front cover because the notes are likely to be called prior to maturity if interest rates remain the same or fall during the term of your notes. When determining whether to invest in a stepped-up rate note, you should not focus on the highest stated Interest Rate, which usually is the final step-up rate of interest. You should instead focus on, among other things, the overall annual percentage rate of interest to maturity or call as compared to other equivalent investment alternatives.
- THE INTEREST RATE OF THE NOTES DOES NOT STEP UP SIGNIFICANTLY UNTIL LATER IN THE TERM OF THE NOTES — Unless general interest rates rise significantly, you should not expect to earn the highest scheduled Interest Rate set forth on the front cover because the notes are likely to be called prior to maturity if interest rates remain the same or fall during the term of your notes. Additionally, the interest rate on the notes does not step up significantly until later in the term of the notes. If interest rates rise faster than the incremental increases in the interest rates of the notes, the notes may have an interest rate that is significantly lower than the interest rates at that time and the secondary market value of the notes may be significantly lower than other instruments with a similar term but higher interest rates. In other words, you should only purchase the notes if you are comfortable receiving the stated Interest Rates set forth on the front cover of this reopening supplement for the entire term of the notes.
- CREDIT RISK OF JPMORGAN CHASE & CO. — The notes are subject to the credit risk of JPMorgan Chase & Co., and our credit ratings and credit spreads may adversely affect the market value of the notes. Investors are dependent on JPMorgan Chase & Co.'s ability to pay all amounts due on the notes, and therefore investors are subject to our credit risk and to changes in the market's view of our creditworthiness. Any decline in our credit ratings or increase in the credit spreads charged by the market for taking our credit risk is likely to adversely affect the value of the notes. If we were to default on our payment obligations, you may not receive any amounts owed to you under the notes and you could lose your entire investment. Recent events affecting us have led to heightened regulatory scrutiny, may lead to additional regulatory or legal proceedings against us and may adversely affect our credit ratings and credit spreads and, as a result, the market value of the notes. See "Executive Overview — Recent Developments," "Liquidity Risk Management — Credit Ratings," "Item 4. Controls and Procedures" and "Part II. Other Information — Item 1A. Risk Factors" in our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended June 30, 2012.
- POTENTIAL CONFLICTS — We and our affiliates play a variety of roles in connection with the issuance of the notes, including acting as calculation agent and hedging our obligations under the notes. In performing these duties, our economic interests and the economic interests of the calculation agent and other affiliates of ours are potentially adverse to your interests as an investor in the notes. In addition, our business activities, including hedging and trading activities for our own accounts or on behalf of customers, could cause our economic interests to be adverse to yours and could adversely affect any payments on the notes and the value of the notes. It is possible that hedging or trading activities of ours or our affiliates could result in substantial returns for us or our affiliates while the value of the notes declines. Please refer to "Risk Factors — Risks Relating to the Notes Generally" in the accompanying product supplement for additional information about these risks.
- THESE NOTES MAY BE MORE RISKY THAN NOTES WITH A SHORTER TERM — By purchasing a note with a longer term, you are more exposed to fluctuations in interest rates than if you purchased a note with a shorter term. Specifically, you may be negatively affected if certain interest rate scenarios occur. For example, if interest rates begin to rise, the market value of your notes will decline because the likelihood of us calling your notes will decline and the Interest Rate applicable to that specific Interest Period may be less than a note issued at such time. For example, if the Interest Rate applicable to your notes at such time was 2.75% per annum, but a debt security issued in the then current market could yield an interest rate of 5.00% per annum, your note would be less valuable if you tried to sell it in the secondary market.
- CERTAIN BUILT-IN COSTS ARE LIKELY TO ADVERSELY AFFECT THE VALUE OF THE NOTES PRIOR TO MATURITY — While the payment at maturity or upon early redemption, as applicable, described in this reopening supplement is based on the full principal amount of your notes, the original issue price of the notes includes the estimated cost of hedging our obligations under the notes. As a result, the price, if any, at which JPMS will be willing to purchase notes from you in secondary market transactions, if at all, will likely be lower than the original issue price, and any sale prior to the maturity date could result in a substantial loss to you. The notes are not designed to be short-term trading instruments. Accordingly, you should be able and willing to hold your notes to maturity.
- LACK OF LIQUIDITY — The notes will not be listed on any securities exchange. JPMS intends to offer to purchase the notes in the secondary market but is not required to do so. Even if there is a secondary market, it may not provide enough liquidity to allow you to trade or sell the notes easily. Because other dealers are not likely to make a secondary market for the notes, the price at which you may be able to trade your notes is likely to depend on the price, if any, at which JPMS is willing to buy the notes.

- MANY ECONOMIC AND MARKET FACTORS WILL IMPACT THE VALUE OF THE NOTES — The notes will be affected by a number of economic and market factors that may either offset or magnify each other, including but not limited to:
 - the time to maturity of the notes;
 - interest and yield rates in the market generally, as well as the volatility of those rates;
 - the likelihood, or expectation, that the notes will be redeemed by us, based on prevailing market interest rates or otherwise; and
 - our creditworthiness, including actual or anticipated downgrades in our credit ratings.
