

JPMORGAN CHASE & CO.

SYMBOL GUIDE FOR STRUCTURED PRODUCTS CATEGORIZATION

Structured products issued by JPMorgan Chase & Co. can be organized into different categories based on several characteristics, including investors' investment horizon, market outlook, desire for return of principal at maturity and investment objective and the underlying index. To help investors identify appropriate structured products for investment and how a specific structured product may be categorized, we have developed a set of symbols that may be used in offering documents relating to an offering of structured products by JPMorgan Chase & Co. These symbols are intended to visually represent generally some of the underlying characteristics of the relevant structured products. However, investors should not rely solely on these symbols in their investment decisions, and should read carefully the relevant prospectus, prospectus supplement, product supplement, underlying supplement, term sheet, pricing supplement and any other related documents, which will set forth important details about the particular structured products offered and the related risks.
