PROBLEM

MARKET GAP

People feel overwhelmed keeping up with volatility- inflation & supply chain issues, and most recently optimal health concerns. Solutions exist, but no simple pathway has been created to get there, aligned with modern consumer intentions (Healthy: Body, Community, Planet)

COSTS

People spend a lot on beauty products and health products they believe will make them healthier, yet also a lot on doctor visits when they get sick and large insurance payments every month regardless of how healthy they are.

SAVINGS

Now more than ever, people seek to naturally and sustainably strengthen their bodies & communities. They want to save time & money from having to research and travel to multiple places each week/month.

CUSTOMERS

The rise of farm-to-table restaurants, farmer's markets, home grocery/meal deliveries, and organic solutions- 82% of American adults use homeopathic medicines, supplements, or remedies* proves that there's peaking interest in natural health/life solutions.

How are we different?

No place in Kansas City has all that we do in 1 location

Our building has tradition, grand spaces for overflow or larger lead generation events

We use only naturally derived sustainable products from the earth. We do not use harsh chemicals or invasive treatments that are harmful to the body

We represent a “greater good” community mission, & focus on veterans, EMTs, PDs, FDs, teachers, heros

Our facility is condensed, simple and easy to use, allowing more personal interactions

We provide education and forums on health information not often broadcasted in the mainstream

COMPETITORS

Woodside Gym & Health Club
Many services, yet more expensive,
overwhelming, invasive treatments

Genesis Health Clubs
Chain atmosphere, impersonal, just fitness- not all inclusive

The Spa at the Elms
More expensive. Too far outside KC for frequent use. Not all inclusive

The Facial Bar KC
Affordable, but services isolated to just facials- no holistic wellness
