Soy un inversor ángel e invertí en Weltio por varias razones: Gran potencial de crecimiento: América Latina es una región con una gran población y un mercado financiero/de inversión subdesarrollado. Brecha significativa en la inclusión financiera en México y veo que Weltio puede brindar acceso a sectores de la población no atendidos por los jugadores tradicionales. Propuesta de producto de Weltio utilizando tecnologías innovadoras como inteligencia artificial, aprendizaje automático y análisis de datos. Estas tecnologías pueden marcar una gran diferencia con otros bancos en la región (yo trabajo en uno de ellos) Éxito de empresas de fintech en la región me empujaron a apostar por la industria/región. América Latina ya ha visto el éxito de varias empresas de fintech en los últimos años. Por ejemplo, Nubank, se ha convertido en uno de los unicornios más valiosos de la región. Otros ejemplos incluyen MercadoPago en Argentina y Clip en México. Estos casos de éxito demuestran el potencial de las empresas de fintech en América Latina y brindan una oportunidad atractiva para los inversores ángeles que buscan obtener retornos significativos. Marco regulatorio cada vez más favorable: Muchos países de América Latina han implementado regulaciones favorables para fomentar la innovación en el sector fintech.

I am an angel investor and I invested in Weltio for several reasons. Great growth potential. Latin America is a region with a large population and an underdeveloped financial/investment market. Significant gap in financial inclusion in Mexico and I see that Weltio can provide access to sectors of the population not served by traditional players. Weltio's product proposal using innovative technologies such as artificial intelligence, machine learning and data analysis. These technologies can make a big difference with other banks in the region (I work in one of them). The success of fintech companies in the region pushed me to bet on the industry/region. Latin America has already seen the success of several fintech companies in recent years. For example, Nubank has become one of the most valuable unicorns in the region. Other examples include MercadoPago in Argentina and Clip in Mexico. These success stories demonstrate the potential of fintech companies in Latin America and provide an attractive opportunity for angel investors looking to earn significant returns. Increasingly favorable regulatory framework: Many Latin American countries have implemented favorable regulations to encourage innovation in the fintech sector.

THE PROBLEM

The fundamentals of LatAm are not shaped for people to create generational wealth. For example, if you would have invested $10,000 USD in the S&P 500 around 30 years ago, you would have today more than 5x the invested amount. In a similar way, if you would have invested the MXN equivalent of $10,000 USD in the Mexican IPC or CETES (government bonds), you would end up with only around $3,000 USD. Weltio contributes to solve the problem by enabling access to global assets.

Current players have not been able to solve key pain points in the wealth management space in Mexico. Their digital solutions are still expensive and have not been successful in offering a broad suite of products with a user-first experience that provides guidance and support throughout their platforms.

WELTIO'S WEALTH MANAGEMENT ECOSYSTEM

Weltio is not a trading platform - it is an ecosystem that recognizes the need for educating and supporting users in their quest to generate and protect wealth through a full suite of banking services.

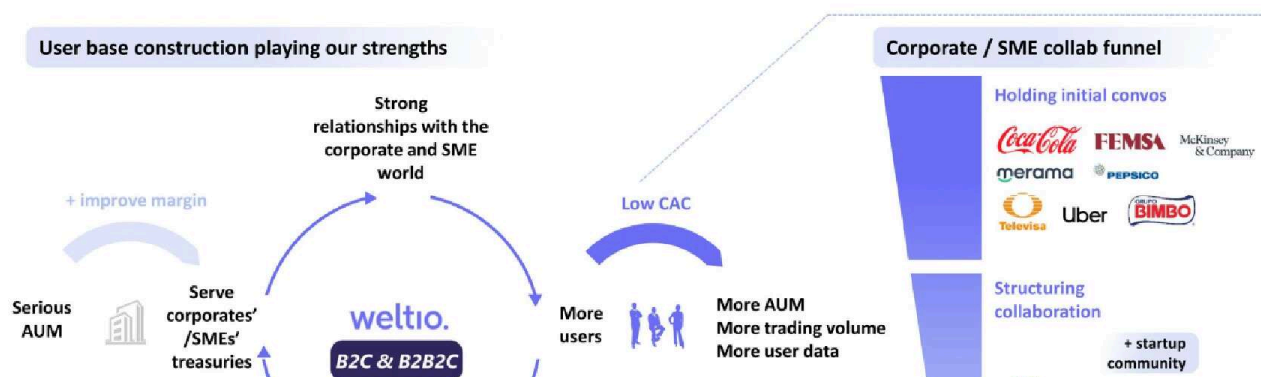

A lot has been achieved since inception – we've been focused on deeply understanding our users to develop and ship a high quality product

GO TO MARKET STRATEGY

Once our network grows, a flywheel will kick-in. We have an unfair advantage from having a large professional network that allows us to collaborate with Corporates and the startup ecosystem, using a B2B2C approach, with the ultimate goal of becoming part of their benefits program. A Below the Line marketing effort is running in parallel to build brand equity and reinforce the flywheel momentum.

TEAM

Weltio is led by a highly experienced team, supported by a group of senior advisors that include unicorn founders and recognized industry experts.
