"Four years ago Becca approached me at an entrepreneurship conference with the idea of making non-alcoholic whiskey, certain this was a massive burgeoning opportunity. After 30 years building and investing in FinTech companies this was slightly outside my wheelhouse, but I was intrigued to say the least. I ended up writing NKD its first check, becoming its chairman and now biggest fan.

Over the past several years I've watched Becca and Carrie create unparalleled products and branding. What started as an idea is now a product in nearly 1000 outlets across the U.S. and this is just the beginning.

The company couldn't be at a more exciting juncture, and I'm honored to support Nkd Distillery in this next stage of growth. I encourage you to join us on this journey - It's been an incredible ride so far."
