THE COMPANY AND ITS BUSINESS

Company Overview

Rootless was started in 2021 by Sachi Singh, who wanted to transform the global food system by getting more people to eat and grow sustainable seaweed. After earning a Masters in Environmental Management from Yale University and over a decade of international work in think tanks, academia, and nonprofits on climate solutions, she quit her full-time job in philanthropy to start Rootless. Early on in her seaweed discovery process, Sachi recognized that eating seaweed is not only good for people's health, but creating more consumer demand for sustainable seaweed - which is a regenerative, zero input crop - can help the planet's health as well.

Through her research, Sachi learned that cultures in which seaweed is consumed daily as a dietary staple, such as in Japanese, Okinawan and Korean diets, people tend to live longer, healthier lives. As one of the most nutrient-dense and nutrient-diverse foods on the planet, seaweed is rich in vitamins, minerals, trace minerals, polyphenols and bioactives that are lacking in Western diets. Seaweed is also the most natural, potent source of iodine, a mineral which our bodies require to produce thyroid hormones. Iodine, which most Americans are deficient in, can only be obtained through food and supplements. As American diets become increasingly plant based and lack other sources of iodine such as iodized salt, dairy, eggs, and seafood, the US population has become iodine deficient.

And for the first time in recent history, women of reproductive age in the US are iodine deficient, which can have severe health implications during times of hormonal changes like when pregnant, breastfeeding or transitioning into perimenopause and post-menopause. Rootless is harnessing the power of seaweed and is on a mission to help millions of women reclaim their hormonal health with this time-tested superfood. By making foundational nutrition, educational nourishment, and community connection more accessible, Rootless helps women feel valid, empowered, and seen - particularly as they enter perimenopause - and reclaim their bodies, health, and identities at all ages. Simply put, we want women to feel good knowing that doing one thing for themselves each day is self, community, and planetary care.

Products

Rootless is making it easy to tap into seaweed's nutritional benefits with our hero product, the Daily Bite, a tasty, whole food supplement made with the optimal daily dose of seaweed, plus almonds, dates, and seeds. As seaweed can be an unfamiliar and unpleasant flavor, texture, or aroma for some, the Daily Bite was created to deliver seaweed conveniently in an innovative, bioavailable form without having to "taste the sea." The Daily Bite is currently available in 5 delicious flavors and sold in home-compostable pouches that are designed to be sustainable and keep the product fresh:

- Double Strawberry
- Orange Pistachio
- Coconut Chai
- Cacao Crunch
- Cinnamon Crunch

Made with carefully-sourced, clean, whole-food ingredients, the Daily Bites are vegan, gluten-free, have no added sugar, and are less than 45 calories per serving. There are more than 40 essential nutrients and bioactives in each bite, and they are recommended to be taken daily to get 130% of your daily dose of iodine. The product development team at Rootless thoughtfully designed the Daily Bite to provide the optimal daily dose of iodine from seaweed by considering which species of seaweed is not too high in iodine based on FDA recommendations. We source our USDA-certified organic seaweed from the clean, unpolluted waters off the coast of Maine and Ireland. It is sustainably harvested and rigorously lab-tested for quality and nutrition. In addition to providing reliable livelihood to harvesters and coastal communities, these thriving seaweeds help heal the surrounding ocean by absorbing carbon from the water and air.

Market Analysis

80% of women suffer from symptoms of hormonal imbalance during puberty, pre- and post-pregnancy, and menopause. Menopause has been the most neglected, yet everyone with female hormones will experience it. By 2025, over 1 billion women will be experiencing menopause, 75% of whom will experience symptoms rooted in hormonal changes, which can be severe and debilitating. The menopause market represents a $600 billion opportunity, and has received increasing attention this year due to celebrities, mainstream media, the White House introducing a Women's Health Initiative, and the Menopause Research and Equity Act being introduced to Congress. Currently, a fraction (under 1%) of the NIH's budget funds menopause research. According to the AARP, 85% of internal medical residents do not feel equipped to talk about, and therefore treat, menopause.

Rootless does not have any direct competitors that are leveraging seaweed-powered, whole foods solutions to alleviating menopause symptoms. The major players in this space are large pharmaceutical companies that are developing nutraceutical solutions to alleviate menopause symptoms, including Pfizer Inc, Novo Nordisk A/S, Allergan plc, etc.

Today, more women are seeking both hormonal and non-hormonal solutions for menopause symptom alleviation, including natural, herbal remedies, clean supplements and beauty products, mental health and mindfulness services, telemedicine, etc. Rootless has a competitive advantage in the use of an effective, novel ingredient (minimally-processed, sustainably sourced seaweed) presented in a new and innovative delivery mechanism and form factor. Rootless' sourcing team has built a moat around its sustainably sourced seaweed supply chain and processing, and is continuing to invest in a brand-and-community-led moat.

Marketing and Sales Strategy

Rootless started as a Direct-to-Consumer business with a subscription model, and are planning to expand into offline retail to continue growth. Through the Rootless' Shopify website, consumers can either purchase one-time or recurring monthly subscriptions. Using supplement pricing as a benchmark (~$1/day), one-time (or a month supply) purchases of Rootless Daily Bites are $44 + $7.99 flat rate shipping to anywhere in the US, and subscribers save 10% ($39.60) and get free shipping. First-time purchases and subscriptions receive a free refillable countertop tin, which consumers love to place somewhere like their nightstand or on their desks as a reminder of the ritual to take their bites daily. All subsequent subscription shipments receive the compostable pouches and can refill their tin.

In 2022, Rootless launched three initial flavors of the Daily Bite (Coconut Chai, Double Strawberry, and Orange Pistachio) mostly distributed using word-of-mouth and organic marketing. In early 2023, Rootless launched two additional flavors of the Daily Bite (Cacao Crunch and Toasted Hazelnut) which were developed with consumer feedback through a program called Rootless Labs. Also around this time, Rootless scaled their marketing spend and distribution on Meta, Google, Brand Marketing, and Affiliate Marketing. In 2023, marketing spend was focused on 50% acquisition and 50% retention with the following channel revenue attribution (26% Meta, 6% Google, 18% Email, and 2% Affiliate).

In mid-2023, Rootless launched their offline retail expansion with a focus on wellness hubs where there tends to be more ability to engage in consumer education. Rootless plans to scale this sales channel in 2024 and beyond. Toasted Hazelnut was discontinued towards the end of 2023, and Rootless launched a new flavor Cinnamon Crunch in January 2024.

CO-ISSUER

This Offering has the following co-issuer(s): SeaRasa CF SPV, LLC (the “Co-Issuer”), a Delaware limited liability company with an address at 971 Eddy Street, 605, San Francisco, CA 94109, United States. There is no website for the Co-Issuer.

The Company has formed the Co-Issuer solely for issuing the Securities under this Offering. The Co-Issuer will serve merely as a conduit for investors to invest in the Company and will not have a separate business purpose. An investment in the Co-Issuer will allow investors to achieve the same economic exposure, voting power (which is none) and ability to assert State and Federal law rights and achieve the same disclosures as if they had invested directly in the Company. The Co-Issuer will maintain a one-to-one relationship between the number, denomination, type and rights of Company securities it owns and the number, denomination, type and rights of its securities outstanding. The Co-Issuer cannot borrow or raise funds on its own account. There will be no material difference between an investment in the Company and the Co-Issuer.

RISK FACTORS

The SEC requires the company to identify risks that are specific to its business and its financial condition. The Company is still subject to all of the same risks that all companies in its business, and all companies in the economy, are exposed to. These include risks related to economic downturns, political and economic events and technological developments (such as hacking and the ability to prevent hacking.) Additionally, early-stage companies are inherently more risky than more developed companies. You should consider general risks as well as specific risks when deciding whether to invest.

These are the risks that relate to the Company:

Uncertain Risk

An investment in the Company involves a high degree of risk and should only be considered by those who can afford the loss of their entire investment. Furthermore, the purchase of any securities should only be undertaken by persons whose financial resources are sufficient to enable them to indefinitely retain an illiquid investment. Each investor in the company should research thoroughly any offering before making an investment decision and consider all of the information provided regarding the company as well as the following risk factors, in addition to the other information in the Company's Form C. The following risk factors are not intended, and shall not be deemed to be, a complete description of the commercial, financial, and other risks inherent in the investment in the Company.

Any valuation is difficult to assess

The valuation for the Offering was established by the Company. Unlike listed companies that are independently valued through market-driven stock prices, the valuation of private companies, especially startups, is difficult to assess, may not be exact, and you may risk overpaying for your investment. The Offering price was not established in a competitive market. We have arbitrarily set the price of the Securities with reference to the general status of the securities market, the Company's performance, and other relevant factors. The Offering price for the Securities should not be considered an indication of the actual value of the Securities and is not based on our asset value, net worth, revenues or other established criteria of value. Rather, the price of the Securities was derived as a result of internal decisions based upon various factors including prevailing market conditions, the Company's future prospects and needs, research on other companies that have been acquired that is not scientific and is anecdotal only and the Company's capital structure. These prices do not necessarily accurately reflect the actual value of the Securities or the price that may be realized upon disposition of the Securities, or at which the Securities might trade in a marketplace, if one develops. We cannot guarantee that the Securities can be resold at the Offering price or at any other price.

The transferability of the securities you are buying is limited

You should be prepared to hold this investment for several years or longer. For the 12 months following your investment, there will be restrictions on how you can resell the securities you receive. More importantly, there are limited established markets for these securities. As a result, if you decide to sell these securities in the future, you may not be able to find, or may have difficulty finding a buyer, and you may have to locate an interested buyer when you do seek to resell your investment. The Company may be acquired by an existing player in the same or a similar industry. However, that may never happen or it may happen at a price that results in you losing money on this investment.

Your investment could be illiquid for a long time

You should be prepared to hold this investment for several years or longer. For the 12 months following the investment, there will be restrictions on how you can resell the securities you receive. More importantly, there are limited established markets for these securities. As a result, if you decide to sell these securities in the future, you may not be able to find a buyer. The Company may be acquired by an existing player in the same or a similar industry. However, that may never happen or it may happen at a price that results in you losing money on this investment.

The Company may undergo a future change that could affect your investment

The Company may change its business, management or advisory team, IP portfolio, location of its principal place of business or production facilities, or other changes which may result in adverse effects on your investment. Additionally, the Company may alter its corporate structure through a merger, acquisition, consolidation, or other restructuring of its current corporate entity structure. Should such a future change occur, it would be based on the management's review and determination that it is in the best interests of the Company.

Your information rights are limited with post-closing disclosures

The Company is required to disclose certain information about the Company, its business plan, and its anticipated use of the proceeds, among other things, in this Offering. Early-stage companies may be able to provide only limited information about their business plan and operations because it does not have fully developed operations or a long history to provide more disclosure. The Company is only obligated to file information annually regarding its business, including financial statements. In contrast to publicly listed companies, Investors will only be entitled to that post-Offering information that is required to be disclosed to them pursuant to applicable law or regulation, including Regulation CF. Such disclosure generally requires only that the Company issue an annual report via a Form C-AR. Investors are generally not entitled to interim updates or financial information.

Management's discretion as to Use of Proceeds

Our success will be substantially dependent upon the discretion and judgment of our management team with respect to the application and allocation of the proceeds for this Offering. The Use of Proceeds described below is an estimate based on our current business plan. We, however, may find it necessary or advisable to reallocate portions of the net proceeds reserved for one category or another, and we will have broad discretion in doing so.

Projections: Forward Looking Information

Any projections or forward-looking statements regarding our anticipated financial or operational performance are hypothetical and are based on management's best estimate of the probable results of our operations and may not have been reviewed by our independent accountants. These projections are based on assumptions that management believes are reasonable. Some assumptions invariably will not materialize due to unanticipated events and circumstances beyond management's control. Therefore, actual results of operations will vary from such projections, and such variances may be material. Any projected results cannot be guaranteed.

The amount raised in this Offering may include investments from Company insiders or immediate family members. Officers, directors, executives, and existing owners with a controlling stake in the company (or their immediate family members) may make investments in this offering. Any such investments will be included in the raised amount reflected in the campaign page.

Supply Chain and Logistics Risks

The availability of raw materials, transportation costs, and supply chain disruptions can all impact the ability to manufacture and distribute products and services, leading to lost revenue or increased costs. Products and services that are not available when consumers need them can lead to lost sales and damage to the brand's reputation.

Quality and Safety of our Product and Service

The quality of a product or service can vary depending on the manufacturer or provider. Poor quality can result in customer dissatisfaction, returns, and lost revenue. Furthermore, products and services that are not safe can cause harm to customers and result in liability for the manufacturer or provider. Safety issues can arise from design flaws, manufacturing defects, or improper use.

Minority Holder; Securities with No Voting Rights

The Securities offered herein constitute LLC membership interests of the Co-Issuer, which equal up to the same number of Common Stock issued by the Company on a one-to-one basis. Therefore, the Securities do not have voting rights in the Company unless otherwise provided for by the Company. This means that you will have no rights in dictating how the Company will be run. You are trusting in management's discretion in making good business decisions that will grow your investments. Furthermore, in the event of a liquidation of our Company, you will only be paid out if there is cash remaining after all of the creditors and after holders of preferred stock of our Company have been paid out.

You are trusting that management will make the best decision for the company

You are trusting in management's discretion. You are buying securities as a minority holder, and therefore must trust the management of the company to make good business decisions that grow your investment.

This Offering involves “rolling closings,” which may mean that earlier investors may not have the benefit of information that later investors have.

Once we meet our target amount for this Offering, we may request the Escrow Agent to disburse Offering funds to us. At this point, investors whose subscription agreements have been accepted will become our investors. All early-stage companies are subject to a number of risks and uncertainties, and it is not uncommon for material changes to be made to the offering terms, or to companies’ business plans, or prospects, sometimes with little or no notice. When such changes happen during the course of an offering, we must file an amendment to our Form C with the SEC, and investors whose subscriptions have not yet been accepted will have the right to withdraw their subscriptions and get their money back. Investors whose subscriptions have already been accepted, however, will already be our investors and will have no such right.

Vulnerability to Economic Conditions

Economic conditions, both globally and within specific markets, can significantly influence the success of early-stage startups. Downturns or recessions may lead to reduced consumer spending, limited access to capital, and decreased demand for the company’s products or services. Additionally, factors such as inflation, interest rates, and exchange rate fluctuations can affect the cost of raw materials, operational expenses, and profitability, potentially impacting the company’s ability to operate.

The loss of one or more of the Company’s key personnel, or their failure to attract and retain other highly qualified personnel in the future, could harm the business.

The Company’s business depends on the ability to attract, retain, and develop highly skilled and qualified employees. As it grows, they will need to continue to attract and hire additional employees in various areas, including sales, marketing, design, operations, finance, legal, and human resources. However, they may face competition for qualified candidates, and they cannot guarantee that they will be successful in recruiting or retaining suitable employees. Additionally, if they make hiring mistakes or fail to develop and train their employees adequately, it could have a negative impact on the business, financial condition, or operating results. They may also need to compete with other companies in their industry for highly skilled and qualified employees. If they are unable to attract and retain the right talent, it may impact their ability to execute the business plan successfully, which could adversely affect the value of your investment. Furthermore, the economic environment may affect their ability to hire qualified candidates, and they cannot predict whether they will be able to find the right employees when they need them. This would likely adversely impact the value of your investment.

The ability to sell the Company’s product or service is dependent on outside government regulation which can be subject to change at any time.

The ability to sell the Company’s products is subject to various government regulations, including but not limited to, regulations related to the manufacturing, labeling, distribution, handling and sale of its products. Changes in these regulations, or the enactment of new regulations, could impact the ability to sell its products or increase its compliance costs. Furthermore, the regulatory landscape is subject to regular change, and they may face challenges in adapting to such changes, which could adversely affect their business, financial condition, or operating results. In addition to government regulations, they may also be subject to other laws and regulations related to their products, including intellectual property laws, data privacy laws, and consumer protection laws. Non-compliance with these laws and regulations could result in legal and financial liabilities, reputational damage, and regulatory fines and penalties. It is also possible that changes in public perceptions or cultural norms regarding their products may impact demand for their products, which could adversely affect the business and financial performance, which may adversely affect your investment.

The Company relies on third parties to provide services essential to the success of its business.

The business relies on a variety of third-party vendors and service providers, including but not limited to manufacturers, shippers, accountants, lawyers, public relations firms, advertisers, retailers and distributors. The ability to maintain high quality operations and services depends on these third-party vendors and service providers, and any failure or delay in their performance could have a material adverse effect on the business, financial condition, and operating results. The Company may have limited control over the actions of these third-party vendors and service providers, and these vendors may be subject to their own operational, financial, and reputational risks. The company may also be subject to contractual or legal limitations in their ability to terminate relationships with these vendors or service providers or seek legal recourse for their actions. Additionally, the company may face challenges in finding suitable replacements for these vendors and service providers, which could cause delays or disruptions to their operations. The loss of key or other critical vendors or service providers could materially and adversely affect the business, financial condition, and operating results, and as a result, your investment could be adversely impacted by the company's reliance on these third-party vendors and service providers.

Economic and market conditions

The Company's business may be affected by economic and market conditions, including changes in interest rates, inflation, consumer demand, and competition, which could adversely affect the Company's business, financial condition, and operating results.

Force majeure events

The Company's operations may be affected by force majeure events, such as natural disasters, pandemics, acts of terrorism, war, or other unforeseeable events, which could disrupt the Company's business and operations and adversely affect its financial condition and operating results.

Adverse publicity

The Company's business may be negatively impacted by adverse publicity, negative reviews, or social media campaigns that could harm the Company's reputation, business, financial condition, and operating results.

Constraints on the Menopause Market

Despite the considerable growth potential in the market, various factors, including concerns about safety, limited awareness and societal stigma, regulatory obstacles, and insufficient research and development, may impede its expansion. Menopause remains a sensitive and taboo topic in numerous countries, contributing to a lack of understanding about its impact on women's health, potentially reducing demand and complicating the promotion of menopause-related products and services. Despite the increasing demand for efficient treatments, the limited research and development in the field pose a hindrance to the availability of effective solutions. These factors collectively contribute to the potential limitations on the market's growth.

Seaweed supply chain risks

Environmental risks in climate change like changes in ocean temperatures and acidity levels can impact seaweed growth and quality. Natural Disasters like storms, hurricanes, or other extreme weather events can damage seaweed farms or harvesting areas, and natural factors such as disease, pests, or suboptimal growth conditions can impact seaweed yields. Reliance on specific technologies for farming, processing, or preserving seaweed leaves the business vulnerable to technological failures. Compliance with regulations related to seaweed farming and harvesting can be complex and may vary by location. Stricter regulations regarding the environmental impact of seaweed farming can affect operations. Ensuring consistent quality and preventing contamination is crucial for seaweed products. Seaweed can absorb pollutants and toxins from the water, posing risks if not properly monitored. The market prices for seaweed products may vary, affecting revenue and profitability. Furthermore, delays or disruptions in transportation and logistics can affect the timely delivery of products. Consumer acceptance of seaweed products may be influenced by cultural factors, taste preferences, or misconceptions, affecting market penetration.

Rights and Restrictions on the Securities

Voting and Control Rights

Since Investor makes investment through the Co-Issuer, the Securities do not have voting rights unless otherwise provided for by the Company. Moreover, each Investor who purchases the Securities is not entitled to vote on any matter or to call for an annual or special shareholders meeting. As a result of purchasing Securities in this Offering, the Investors will have no voting or control over any corporate matters of the Company, including additional issuance of securities, Company repurchase of securities, a sale of the Company or its significant assets, or Company transactions with related parties. Investors in the Co-Issuer will indirectly hold Common Stock of the Company and are completely passive investors. Investors should not purchase the Securities if they are not comfortable with this lack of voting and control.

Dilution

The Securities do not have anti-dilution rights, which means that future equity issuances and other events will dilute the ownership percentage that Investors may eventually have in the Company. Investors should understand and expect the potential for dilution. The Investor's stake in the Company could be diluted due to the Company issuing additional shares of stock or other convertible securities to other parties. In other words, when the Company issues more shares, the percentage of the Company that you own will go down, even though the value of the Company may go up (there is no guarantee that it will). You will own a smaller piece of a larger Company (or, if the value goes down, then a smaller piece of a smaller company). This increase in number of shares outstanding could result from a stock offering (such as an initial public offering, another crowdfunding round, a venture capital round or angel investment), employees exercising stock options, or by conversion of certain instruments (e.g. convertible bonds, preferred shares or warrants) into stock. If the Company decides to issue more shares, an investor could experience value dilution, with each share being worth less than before, and control dilution, with the total percentage an investor owns being less than before.

Transferability of Securities

The Securities being offered may not be transferred by any purchaser of such Securities during the one (1) year period beginning when the Securities were issued, unless such Securities are transferred:

- (1) to the Issuer;
- (2) to an accredited investor;
- (3) as part of an offering registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission; or
- (4) to a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the purchaser or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the purchaser or other similar circumstance.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Please see the financial information listed on the cover page of this Form C and attached hereto in addition to the following information. Financial statements are attached hereto as Exhibit D.

You should read the following discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of our operations together with our financial statements and related notes appearing at the end of this Offering Statement. This discussion contains forward-looking statements reflecting our current expectations that involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results and the timing of events may differ materially from those contained in these forward-looking statements due to a number of factors, including those discussed in the section entitled “Risk Factors” and elsewhere in this Offering Statement.

Results of Operations

Circumstances which led to the performance of financial statements:

Revenue

Revenue for the fiscal year 2021 was $5,136 compared to $132,332 in fiscal year 2022.

The increase in revenue was largely due to the fact that the Company was started in 2021 and only recognized revenue in the month of December 2021, and in 2022, there were 12 months of revenue, both one-time purchases and recurring revenue with subscriptions. Revenue began to increase towards the end of 2022 with the first spent on paid social media.

Cost of sales

Cost of Sales for fiscal year 2021 was $31,356 compared to $232,420 in fiscal year 2022. The increase in Cost of Goods Sold (COGS) was largely due to increased cost of professional services, the need for more supplies and materials as the company grew, and increased cost of 3PL partner to ship products to consumers.

Gross Margins

Gross margins for fiscal year 2021 were ($26,220) compared to ($137,471) in fiscal year 2022. Even though the company grew its revenue in 2022, their costs also increased.

Expenses

Expenses for the fiscal year 2021 were $526,812 compared to $660,678 in fiscal year 2022. The increase in expenses was largely due to an increase in payroll with an added full-time employee to run operations and product development, increased facilities costs, travel, software, administrative, and professional fees. R&D and marketing costs decreased in 2022 compared to 2021.

Historical results and cash flows

The Company is currently in the growth stage and has been generating revenue since 2021. We are of the opinion the historical cash flows will be slightly lower than the revenue and cash flows expected for the future because we are scaling our operations to lower our operating costs, increasing marketing spend to increase revenue, and expect a higher gross margin as we continue to scale the business. Past cash was primarily generated through customer sales directly from our website. Our goal is to add additional retailers to allow us to scale the business and improve our bottom line.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

1. What capital resources are currently available to the company? (Cash on hand, existing lines of credit, shareholder loans, etc.)

As of March 4, 2024, the Company has capital resources available in the form of $ 365,107.54 in cash on hand.

2. How do the funds of this campaign factor into your financial resources? (Are these funds critical to your company operations? Or do you have other funds or capital resources available?)

We believe the funds of this campaign are critical to the Company's operations and ability to scale. We may have other funds and capital resources available to us in addition to this Regulation Crowdfunding campaign.

3. Are the funds from this campaign necessary to the viability of the company? (Of the total funds that your company has, how much of that will be made up of funds raised from the crowdfunding campaign?)

We believe the funds of this campaign are not necessary to the viability of the Company but will allow us to grow and scale faster than we have been by funding our own internal growth thus far. Of the total funds that the Company has, 74% will be made up of the funds raised from the Offering if we are able to raise Maximum Offering Amount.

4. How long will you be able to operate the company if you raise your minimum? What expenses is this estimate based on?

The Company will scale down marketing spend and expenses to have a year of runway, during which we will focus on profitability so we can be self-sustaining without external capital.

5. How long will you be able to operate the company if you raise your maximum funding goal?

The Company will be able to operate for many years to come, as it is projected to reach profitability in Q1 2025 and can self-sustain. This capital raised via this Offering will be used to scale and achieve breakeven in 2024.

6. Are there any additional future sources of capital available to your company? (Required capital contributions, lines of credit, contemplated future capital raises, etc.)

The Company plans to raise a venture round for Series A in 2025.

Post-Money Valuation: $13,000,000
