Valuation of Our Non-Voting Membership Units

Overview:

Nutrithority LLC is a health supplement startup specializing in dietary supplements. As a seed-stage company, it operates in a dynamic and competitive market, providing a range of products to meet the growing demand for health and wellness solutions.

Financial Overview and Projected Revenue in 2024:

- 2022 Annual Sales: $1.8 million (Net Profit: $29,430)
- 2023 Annual Sales: $1.5 million (Net Profit: $43,048)
- 2024 Projected Revenue: $2.5 million (Growth attributed to increased sales and marketing efforts in 2024)

Price-to-Sales (P/S) Ratio:

The P/S ratio is a key metric used to assess the company's valuation in relation to its annual sales. For Nutrithority LLC, a conservative P/S ratio of 2.5-3.5 will be applied, considering its status as a seed-stage startup in the dietary supplements sector.

Valuation Calculation:

- Implied Valuation (Low End): $$6,250,000 = 2.5 \times $2,500,000$
- Implied Valuation (High End): $$8,750,000 = 3.5 \times $2,500,000$

Implied Valuation Range:

Based on the P/S ratio method, the implied valuation for Nutrithority LLC is estimated to be in the range of $6.25 to $8.75 million.

It's important to note that the calculations provided are based on assumptions and industry benchmarks and should not be considered a definitive valuation. We strongly advise engaging financial experts and industry advisors for a comprehensive valuation process. A more detailed market analysis and the application of additional valuation methods are crucial for obtaining a more accurate assessment. Furthermore, acquiring precise financial projections for future years is essential to enhance the accuracy of the valuation. However, decisions and adjustments to these calculations are subject to the arbitrary discretion of the board of directors.

Factors Influencing the P/S Ratio:

The P/S ratio of 2.5-3.5 considers several factors:

- Product Differentiation: Nutrithority LLC's product offerings in the dietary supplements sector contribute to its valuation.
- Market Opportunity: The valuation considers the size and growth potential of the dietary supplements market. Nutrithority's ability to capture market share and address consumer needs impacts its valuation.

- Management Team: The expertise and vision of Nutrithority LLC's management team play a crucial role in investor confidence, positively influencing the company's growth prospects.
- Financial Performance: The positive net profit of Nutrithority LLC is a significant factor contributing to a higher valuation. Investors are likely to view the company favorably due to its ability to generate profits, indicating effective expense management and financial sustainability.
- Risk Assessment: Factors such as market competition, regulatory challenges, and industry uncertainties may influence the conservative nature of the P/S ratio.

While this valuation provides an approximate assessment of the company's market positioning and potential for growth within the specified market segment, investors should be aware that the figures presented are merely estimates based on current market conditions and represent subjective and arbitrary estimates by the board.

Non-Voting Per Membership Unit Valuation:

Considering the conservative P/S ratio of 2.5-3.5 for Nutrithority LLC in the dietary supplements sector, the estimated valuation stands at $6.25 to $8.75 million. Therefore, we choose a valuation of $7 million as the pre-money valuation for the whole company. Since the company has issued 10,000 Voting Membership Units, the valuation per Voting Membership Unit would be:

$$$7 \text{ million} / 10,000 = $700$$

Since the economic interest of each Non-Voting Membership Unit is one-seventh (1/7) of the economic interest of one Voting Membership Unit, the valuation per Non-Voting Membership Unit, for the securities offered in this offering, would be:

$$$700 / 7 = \underline{$100}$$

Methods for how the securities may be valued by the issuer in the future:

As Nutrithority LLC progresses and matures, the methods for valuing securities may evolve to provide a more nuanced and accurate representation of the company's financial health and potential. Two common valuation methods that can be considered as the company becomes more stable in income and cash flow are Price-to-Earnings (P/E) ratio and Discounted Cash Flow (DCF) analysis.

Price-to-Earnings (P/E) Ratio is a relevant metric for valuation as Nutrithority LLC establishes a more consistent earnings track record. The P/E ratio compares the company's stock price to its earnings per share (EPS), offering insight into the market's expectations for future earnings growth. Continuous monitoring and comparison of the P/E ratio with industry averages will help fine-tune the valuation as the company matures.

Discounted Cash Flow (DCF) Analysis becomes more applicable as Nutrithority LLC becomes predictable in generating cash flow. DCF estimates the present value of future cash flows, considering the time value of money. As the company grows, a DCF analysis provides a detailed insight into intrinsic value, accounting for the timing and risk associated with future cash flows. Engaging financial experts to determine an appropriate discount rate and conducting thorough due diligence will be essential for the accuracy of this valuation method.

22. What are the risks to purchasers of the securities relating to minority ownership in the issuer?

- Purchasers of the securities in this offering have limited rights to demand distributions (e.g. dividends) from the Issuer.
- The majority owner may make a decision that the Purchasers consider bad and puts Purchaser's interest in the Issuer at risk.
- Although, as Non-Voting Membership Units holders, the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.
- Since the securities in this offering are not publicly traded and are subject to restrictions on resale or transfer including holding period requirements, the securities in this offering are illiquid.
- The Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no voting rights and therefore they are not entitled to exert influence in the affairs of the company or the composition of its board of directors.
- The Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

23. What are the risks to purchasers associated with corporate actions:

a. Additional Issuances of Securities

Purchasers of the securities offered are entitled no anti-dilution rights (other than proportionate adjustments for stock splits and similar events) and therefore future equity financings may dilute their ownership percentage in the issuer.

b. Issuer Repurchases of Securities

The issuer could be authorized to repurchase the company's issued securities subject to the approval by the company's board of directors. Purchasers of the securities may not impede the issuer's right to repurchase its securities from other shareholders. Moreover, the repurchase could be made at a price much lower than company's business value or its fair valuation, which could be indicative of the resale price of the securities thereafter.

c. A Sale of the Issuer or of Assets of the Issuer

Although as Non-Voting Membership Units holders the Purchasers would be entitled to a share of any proceeds from a sale of the entire business, the Purchasers may not veto the sale even though the price of sale is below its fair valuation. Moreover, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

d. Transactions with Related Parties

Transactions with related parties are transactions between the issuer or any of its subsidiaries and a connected person. These transactions include both capital and revenue nature transactions. They may be one-off transactions or continuing transactions. Purchasers should be aware that these transactions may create conflicts of interests between themselves and the Issuer.

24. Describe the material terms of any indebtedness of the issuer:

N/A

25. What other exempt offerings has the issuer conducted within the past three years?

N/A

26. Was or is the issuer or any entities controlled by or under common control with the issuer a party to any transaction since the beginning of the issuer's last fiscal year, or any currently proposed transaction, where the amount involved exceeds five percent of the aggregate amount of capital raised by the issuer in reliance on Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act during the preceding 12-month period, including the amount the issuer seeks to raise in the current offering, in which any of the following persons had or is to have a direct or indirect material interest:

- a. any director or officer of the issuer;
- b. any person who is, as of the most recent practicable date, the beneficial owner of 20 percent or more of the issuer's outstanding voting equity securities, calculated on the basis of voting power;

- c. if the issuer was incorporated or organized within the past three years, any promoter of the issuer; or
- d. any immediate family member of any of the foregoing persons.

The Company has paid $104,702 and $143,571 to Jared Ragsdale as Guranteed Payment. Jared is Partner of R4 Ventures LLC the parent company of Nutrithority LLC.

IMPORTANT: THE FOLLOWING FINANCIAL FIGURES ARE UNAUDITED

Results of Operation

Revenue and Gross Profit:

In 2023, Nutrithority reported sales totaling $1,516,424, a decrease from the previous year's $1,812,432. This decline is mirrored in the gross profit, which stands at $679,308 in 2023, compared to $639,146 in 2022. While the decrease in sales might raise concerns, the company has managed to maintain a healthy gross profit margin, showcasing effective cost management in the production of goods.

Cost of Goods Sold (COGS):

The Cost of Goods Sold (COGS) for 2023 is $837,116, down from $1,173,287 in 2022. This reduction suggests improved efficiency in production and supply chain management, resulting in a positive impact on the gross profit margin.

Operating Expenses:

Nutrithority's operating expenses for 2023 amount to $636,260, a slight increase from the previous year's $609,716. Noteworthy expenses include advertising and promotion, payroll, and guaranteed payments to the director. The growth in operating expenses is indicative of the company's strategic investments in areas such as advertising and personnel, potentially contributing to the expansion of the business.

Operating Profit and Net Profit:

Despite the increase in operating expenses, Nutrithority achieved an operating profit of $43,048 in 2023, up from $29,430 in 2022. This demonstrates the company's ability to generate profit from its core operations. Net profit, which accounts for other expenses, remains consistent with the operating profit at $43,048 in 2023.

While the decrease in sales may be a concern, Nutrithority's emphasis on quality and transparency, coupled with a strategic approach to managing costs and investing in key areas, positions the company well for future growth. The slight increase in operating expenses indicates a proactive stance in expanding the brand and reaching a broader market.

In conclusion, Nutrithority's financial performance reflects a balance between revenue generation, cost management, and strategic investments. The company's commitment to quality and its diverse product line provide a solid foundation for navigating the dynamic landscape of the supplements industry. Ongoing efforts to optimize operations and adapt to market trends will likely contribute to sustained success in the future.

Cash flows

Operating Activities:

Net Income: Nutrithority reported a net income of $43,048 for the year 2023, showing an improvement from the previous year's figure of $29,430. This positive trend in net income is a promising indicator of the company's profitability and operational efficiency.

Depreciation: No depreciation expenses for both 2023 and 2022.

Changes in Working Capital:

Decrease in Inventory: Nutrithority experienced a decrease in inventory by $2,518 in 2023, compared to a decrease of $5,321 in 2022.

Increase (Decrease) in Trades Payables: The company witnessed a significant increase in trades payables by $38,883 in 2023, indicating that it extended its payment period to suppliers, an improvement in our operating cash flow.

Net Cash from Operating Activities: The net cash generated from operating activities for 2023 is $84,449, a substantial increase from the previous year's $30,886. This positive cash flow from operations suggests the company's ability to generate cash from its core business activities.

Investing Activities:

There was no cash flow from investing activities in both 2023 and 2022. This implies that Nutrithority did not engage in significant capital expenditures or divestitures during these periods.

Financing Activities:

Net Proceeds from Loan: The company did not report any net proceeds from loans in 2023 or 2022, indicating that it did not take on additional debt during these periods.

Capital Contribution/(Distribution): In 2022, Nutrithority reported a net cash outflow of $57,000 due to capital distribution. However, there were no such activities in 2023.

Net Cash from Financing Activities: The net cash from financing activities was zero in 2023, suggesting a stable financial structure without significant reliance on external financing.

Overall Cash Position:

The net increase in cash and cash equivalents for 2023 is $84,449, bringing the total cash and cash equivalents to $130,767 at the end of the year. This represents a substantial improvement from the beginning cash balance of $46,318. The increase in cash reserves positions Nutrithority favorably for potential future investments or to weather unexpected financial challenges.

Nutrithority's positive net income and strong cash flow from operating activities in 2023 are indicative of a financially healthy business. The absence of significant investing and financing activities reflects a cautious financial approach. The increase in cash reserves positions the company well for future growth, allowing flexibility for strategic investments or unforeseen circumstances. Overall, the company's cash flow statement aligns with a prudent financial strategy, emphasizing operational efficiency and stability.

Our historical results and cash flows are not representative of what investors should expect in the future.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Liquidity Position:

Cash and Cash Equivalents: Nutrithority's liquidity position has significantly improved, with cash and cash equivalents standing at $130,767 in 2023, compared to $46,318 in 2022. This increase in cash reserves provides the company with a strong liquidity cushion, enhancing its ability to meet short-term obligations and capitalize on potential business opportunities.

Inventory Management: Although there was a slight decrease in inventory from $255,740 in 2022 to $253,222 in 2023, Nutrithority still maintains a substantial amount of inventory. We will ensure efficient inventory management, which is crucial for maintaining liquidity. This strategy helps ensure that products are available to meet customer demand while avoiding excessive holding costs.

Capital Resources:

Property, Plant, and Equipment: Nutrithority reports fixed assets related to furniture with a net book value of $0 in both 2023 and 2022. The absence of significant fixed assets and accumulated depreciation suggests a focus on operational efficiency rather than heavy capital investments in tangible assets.

Members Capital: Total members' capital is $322,607 in 2023, compared to $279,558 in 2022.

The increase in members' capital indicates the accumulation of profits or additional contributions, contributing positively to the company's overall financial health.

Capital Distribution: In 2022, there was a capital distribution of $57,000, while in 2023, there is no reported capital distribution.

The absence of capital distribution in 2023 allows the company to retain more earnings internally, contributing to its capital base and potential for future investments.

Current Liabilities:

Payroll and Trade/Other Payables: Current liabilities include payroll liabilities of $4,460 and trade/other payables of $56,922, totaling $61,382 in 2023, compared to $22,500 in 2022.

The increase in current liabilities may be attributed to strategic decisions to extend payment terms with suppliers or other short-term financing arrangements.

Nutrithority's balance sheet reflects a positive liquidity position, with a substantial increase in cash and cash equivalents. The company's focus on managing inventory efficiently aligns with maintaining optimal liquidity levels. The absence of significant fixed assets and accumulated depreciation suggests a conservative approach to capital expenditures.

The increase in members' capital is a positive indicator of the company's ability to generate and retain earnings. Furthermore, the absence of capital distribution in 2023 provides Nutrithority with additional financial resources to reinvest in the business.

While current liabilities have increased, the company's strong liquidity position and positive capital resources indicate its ability to cover short-term obligations. Overall, Nutrithority is in a sound financial position, with ample liquidity and capital resources to support its operational and strategic needs.

Commitments

As of the date of issuance of financials, Feb 16, 2024, the company has no commitments or contingencies.

Future Financing and Sustainability

The Company expects to fund its operations and capital expenditure requirements through operating cash flows, cash and cash equivalents, proceeds from this offering, and credit facilities. We may seek additional funding through public or private equity offerings or debt financings; however, there can be no assurance that we will be able to secure such financing on acceptable terms, if at all.

New business developments or other unforeseen events may necessitate additional funding. There can be no assurances regarding business prospects with respect to any other opportunity. Any significant development would require us to obtain additional financing.

Although the Company anticipates revenue growth in the coming years, investors should be aware that historical results and cash flows may not be indicative of future performance.

The Company is seeking a minimum of $50,000 in this offering to improve liquidity and strengthen the balance sheet. However, receiving these funds, along with any additional funds, is not deemed essential for the business's viability over the next 12 months. We expect that the Company's available cash, along with the proceeds from the offering, will be sufficient to finance operations for the next 12 months.

Business Description

Nutrithority was founded in 2013 on the principles of quality and transparency along with over 30 years of industry experience. The goal with Nutrithority has always been to provide effective, high quality formulations that taste great and are easy to use for our customers. Our product line is meticulously formulated to support goals in fat loss and muscle gain, as well as health and wellness, meeting the demand for high-end effective supplements.

Birthing out of retail, we were initially focused on the retail market. In 2016 we started working with other retailers, selling our products and establishing exclusive agreements with retail store owners. Over time we've seen the power and necessity of growing an online customer base that we can market directly to, communicate more effectively with, and make a higher percentage of profit for each sale. We continue to work with our retail partners in different ways, moving in to distribution channels, removing exclusive agreements, and focusing on increasing our sales in retail stores. We have moved a large focus to our online presence - social media, paid marketing, website development, to connect with our customers on a more personal level and provide the level of service not found with other companies.

The post-covid era has been one of the most challenging for Nutrithority with drastic increases in cost of goods sold as well as transportation, while staying competitive in the marketplace with higher quality, more expensive products.

Nutrithority's target market is individuals between 25-45 in the United States. They're individuals looking to improve their health, gain muscle, and/or lose bodyfat. They are aware of supplements, may have used supplements in the past, and are interested in results for their effort. They value high quality products, great customer service, and doing business with a brand they can trust.

Trends to consider: The fitness and wellness market is seeing a consistent demand for transparent, high-quality products. Trust and results are key drivers of customer loyalty.

Competition: Major competitors include Ghost, Ryse, 1st Phorm, Alani Nu, Optimum Nutrition, Redcon 1. The market is saturated and brand differentiation is crucial.

Location:

Nutrithority operates out of 3550 N Comotara, Wichita KS. This is a 5000sq ft warehouse facility “flex space” with cheap rent to keep overhead low. This accommodates all of our needs to warehouse and fulfill our own products giving us more control over the process and a better chance to “wow” our customers.

Pricing Strategy:

All prices are set in-line with competitors to stay aggressive even with higher quality products, more expensive products. Our products are pushing the higher end of pricing vs our competitors.

Wholesale: To wholesale we adjust our prices so that the customer can make as close to 50% profit as possible. Our goal is to maintain a minimum of 30% profit margin when selling wholesale.

Distribution: Our recent agreement with Sportlife Distribution is a straight 20% profit margin across the board.

Website: Our prices on our website are higher than our retail partners, but only by 10% or $5. We want our retail partners to maintain the lowest prices on our products, while incentivizing our website customers with better deals for being loyal.

Website customers generate an ongoing 10% discount through our loyalty program, have access to exclusive deals through our email and sms list, and take advantage of regular discount specials.

Amazon: Our Amazon pricing is kept in line with our website, if not going slightly higher. Our Isothority was kept $5 more expensive than our website to encourage customers to purchase directly from us.

Company Advantages:

Nutrithority has the following advantages compared to competitors:

Customer Service: We're here to build relationships with customers, and know that how we treat them is paramount for our future relationship. We stress quick response times, working with our customers, and going the extra mile to ensure they're satisfied.

Knowledge: With over 30 years of insider industry experience, we have a lot to offer our customers to help them reach their goals - more specifically we know how to help them cut through the bad information.

Email List: Jared writes a daily (5x per week) email to our email list (about 6500 consistent openers) offering 'infotaining' stories, advice, and recommendations for sales.

High Quality Ingredients & Fully Dosed Formulations: It doesn't just take high quality ingredients, but using those ingredients at their full potential with a large dose. Most companies are using a very small amount of the ingredients we are putting in every container. By combining unique ingredients at high doses, we're offering what many companies are unwilling to offer.

90-Day Return Policy: Our website offers a 90 day return policy so that our customers can feel confident in trying our products. If they don't like them, they can send them back to us for a full refund within 90 days. We have very few returns - less than .5% per month.

Delivery Experience: We strive to ship our orders ASAP - within 1 business day - with a hand-written note thanking them for their order. We also add complementary sample packets for them to try with each order to increase cross-sales.

Sales and Marketing

Market Strategies:

Our target audience is 25-45 fitness enthusiasts that want to look better, feel better, and perform better. They value hard work and consistency. They want the results of the dedicated fitness athlete - less body fat, more muscle, and a healthier body. They want to go 'all in' but at the same time value balance. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" would be a way to describe the target audience. They are attracted to adventure, freedom, and fun.

Our goal is to appeal to this target audience as the high-quality, no BS experts that they enjoy doing business with. They should see our product offering as high quality, but down to earth. A mixture of authenticity and fun. Real products that will help them get real results. Demonstrating the tangible quality and taste differences of our products.

Our focus is on building trust and engagement with this target market, to build a long-term relationship that lasts for many years and is not a one-time purchase.

These customers can find our products at various gyms, retail locations, Amazon, and Nutrithority.com.

Sales Tactics:

We are utilizing influencer and affiliate relationships to increase sales and drive traffic and sales. We offer a first time order discount on our website of 10% off for signing up for our text messages. We offer stack items that are bundled and discounted for buying extra items. We also run sales every 6 weeks more aggressively across the website.

Sales to wholesale accounts are done through our in-house team. They will cold call, follow up, and build a relationship with a retail store. Sales are also done through Sportlife Distribution (a new partnership).

Marketing Plan:

Branding: The official brand message of Nutrithority is to Demand Excellence. Excellence from your products, and excellence from yourself. But excellence is not a one-size fits all approach. An excellent dad is (sometimes) different from an excellent businessman. To demand excellence we must define excellence for ourselves, and hold ourselves to that standard.

The Logo for Nutrithority is Black and Yellow, and homage to our roots in Wichita, Kansas (Wichita State Shockers). Yellow is not a common color in supplements, and helps our products to stand out.

Advertising:

We are utilizing paid advertising on Google PPC, Facebook and Instagram advertising. We strive with each ad to maintain a 2.0 ROAS or as close as possible. We are utilizing our sample packs - 9 flavors of Isothority - to let people try our products for a cheaper price ($9.99). This also brings them into our email list to build the relationship and cross-sell products.

Content Marketing: Excellence Academy is our informational platform. We have released two free courses: Know Your Macros, and The Beginner's Guide to Fat Loss. Each of these helps our customers to understand dieting and weight loss and utilize our suggestions for quick results. Of course, we are recommending Nutrithority products in these courses as well. In 2024 we will be releasing more content to help people reach their fitness goals. Our goal is to see the problems that are stopping our customers from working out, and to help them solve their problems and continue working out.

Email Marketing: Jared's private email list is our main source of email marketing. This consists of "infotainment" - to entertain and inform our customers to help them solve their own workout problems, and to sell other products or promote deals. This private email list is incredibly important for staying in contact with our customers, providing them something they want to read (short, entertaining, helpful), and building a long term relationship.

Social Media: We are on facebook, instagram, youtube, and tik tok. Instagram has been our main focus in the past, but we are expanding our social media reach drastically in 2023 and 2024.

In 2023 we launched The Nut Club Podcast to increase our reach, customer interaction, and content creation. The podcast clips will be repurposed into social media clips, even utilizing paid 'video view' campaigns on facebook to increase exposure of the brand. The ultimate goal to get customers to identify with us and get to know us through these video clips and podcast.

Fitness Events: We sponsor select bodybuilding shows and fitness events to gain further exposure with Nutrithority. Though we have found this to be hard to determine ROI.

Operations

Nutrithority products are produced in multiple contract manufacturing facilities across the United States. We formulate, design, and detail what we're looking for - and our contract manufacturers help us to flavor it and produce it. We use only GMP certified contract manufacturers in FDA inspected facilities.

Labels are produced directly by us with instruction and details from our contract manufacturers. Labels are produced with an in-house designer that handles all of our labels for a relatively cheap price.

All products are tested and third party tested for quality and contaminants. Upon receiving the products, every product is quarantined and tested separately by our staff to ensure consistency in quality and taste before shipping off to our customers.

Products are shipped to us from our contract manufacturer. Once received, they are quarantined and counted for accuracy. The products are then added to inventory according to FIFO.

Jon is our Operations Manager, and is in charge of maintaining inventory, tracking run rates, and ordering products with sufficient lead times to optimize our cash flow without running out of inventory.

Once a product is in stock in our warehouse, we ship it out ourselves. At busier times of the year we will have a part-time shipping associate to handle the volume of orders. At other times we utilize the staff on hand to get orders shipped in a timely manner.

All products are kept in inventory at our warehouse directly, and our inventory is done on a weekly basis to ensure we are keeping things up to date and not missing anything that needs to be ordered.

Every small parcel order we ship with USPS. It's cheaper, it's pretty quick, and the boxes are free. With the cost of boxes, we save nearly $1 with each small parcel shipment by utilizing USPS shipping.

For large parcel orders we ship with UPS or LTL freight shipping through a freight broker for our best pricing.

Appendix B - RISK FACTORS

Risks Relating to Our Business and Industry:

Market and Consumer Trends: Our success relies on accurately predicting and adapting to evolving market trends and consumer preferences. Changes in dietary habits, health fads, or shifts in consumer behavior may impact demand for our products.

Regulatory Compliance: Compliance with complex and evolving regulatory standards, including FDA guidelines, is vital. Any failure to meet these standards may result in legal consequences, product recalls, and reputational damage.

Intense Industry Competition: The nutritional supplement industry is highly competitive with numerous established and emerging players. Increased competition may lead to price wars, reduced profit margins, and challenges in gaining or maintaining market share.

Product Liability and Safety Concerns: As a provider of health-related products, we face the risk of product liability claims and safety concerns. Adverse health effects or contamination issues may lead to legal actions, reputational harm, and financial losses.

Supply Chain Disruptions: Our business is susceptible to disruptions in the supply chain, including but not limited to raw material shortages, transportation delays, or manufacturing issues. Such disruptions could affect product availability and financial performance.

Economic Downturns: Economic downturns or recessions may impact consumer spending on discretionary items, including nutritional supplements. Fluctuations in the economy could lead to reduced sales and financial challenges.

Intellectual Property Risks: Protecting our intellectual property, including formulations and branding, is critical for maintaining a competitive edge. Challenges or infringements to our intellectual property could harm our market position and profitability.

Dependency on Key Personnel: Our success is tied to the expertise and leadership of key individuals. The departure or incapacity of key personnel may negatively affect strategic decision-making and overall business operations.

Global Events and Pandemics: Unforeseen global events, natural disasters, or health pandemics can disrupt supply chains, influence consumer behavior, and create economic uncertainties. The aftermath of such events may adversely impact our business.

E-commerce and Online Presence: Our reliance on online platforms for sales exposes us to risks such as cyber-attacks, changes in e-commerce regulations, and disruptions to online operations. Any issues in the online space may affect revenue generation.

Quality Control and Product Recalls: Stringent quality control measures are essential to prevent product recalls and ensure the safety of our products. Any lapses in quality control may result in reputational damage, legal actions, and financial losses.

Dependency on Retail Partners: Our relationships with retail partners are critical for distribution. Changes in these relationships, retail industry challenges, or the closure of key retail partners could impact our sales channels.

Impact of Social Media and Public Perception: Our brand image can be significantly influenced by social media and public perception. Negative reviews, social media backlash, or misinformation could harm our reputation and brand equity.

RISKS RELATING TO THE OFFERING AND OUR SHARES:

Regulatory Compliance: This Regulation Crowdfunding offering is subject to specific SEC regulations. Non-compliance with these regulations may result in legal consequences and affect the offering process.

Market Risks: The success of the offering depends on market conditions and investor interest. Economic downturns or unfavorable market trends may impact the offering's outcome.

Lack of Liquidity: Investments in Regulation Crowdfunding offerings may lack liquidity. Shareholders may face challenges selling their shares, and the market for such shares may be limited.

Valuation Risks: Determining the valuation of the shares can be subjective and may not accurately represent the true value. Investors should carefully assess the risks associated with the offered valuation.

Business-Specific Risks: Risks associated with our business model, industry trends, and competitive landscape may impact the future success of the company and, consequently, the value of the shares.

No Public Market for Shares: There is currently no public market for the company's shares, and it is uncertain whether a public market will develop in the future. Investors may experience difficulty selling or transferring their shares due to the absence of liquidity in the secondary market.

Valuation Challenges: The valuation of the company is determined based on various factors, including projections and assumptions. Investors should be aware of the inherent challenges in valuing early-stage companies, and the actual value of the shares may differ from the initial valuation.

Limited Information Disclosure: The company is subject to disclosure requirements under Regulation Crowdfunding. However, the level of information disclosed may be limited compared to publicly traded companies. Investors should be prepared for a potentially reduced level of transparency in assessing the business and its risks.

High Risk of Business Failure: Early-stage companies, like Nutrithority LLC, face a high risk of business failure. The success of the company is dependent on various factors, including market acceptance, competition, and operational execution. Investors may lose their entire investment in the event of business failure.

Potential Dilution: Future capital raising efforts, including subsequent crowdfunding rounds or traditional financing, may result in the dilution of existing shareholders' ownership. This dilution could impact the value of the investment for current shareholders.

Limited Shareholder Rights: Investors participating in this Offering may have limited rights compared to traditional equity investments. Voting rights and governance influence may be restricted, potentially limiting the ability to influence corporate decisions.

Economic and Market Conditions: The success of Nutrithority LLC. is influenced by broader economic and market conditions. Economic downturns or unfavorable market trends could adversely impact the company's performance and the value of the investment.

No Assurance of Returns: Participation in the offering does not guarantee any return on investment. Investors should carefully assess the risks and rewards, considering the speculative nature of early-stage investments.
