OUR PROPRIETARY TECHNOLOGY

Recent Findings Uncover Surprising Properties of Fat Cells

Recent research highlights surprising properties of fat cells, specifically white and brown adipocytes. White cells store fat, while brown cells burn it for heat. Recent discoveries challenge the belief that brown cells are only in babies. It has been discovered that an ethanol extract of mustard sprouts induces browning of the skin fat tissue and thus is an ideal candidate to help in burning fat. This 'browning' process is a remarkable adaptation of adipose tissue.
